

SULZER IS ASKED TO REPEAT HIS STORY TO THE GRAND JURORS

Accuses Murphy of Part in Work of "Bag Man."

Testimony Given Under Oath in John Doe Investigation.

"Evidence Speaks for Itself," Declares District Attorney.

New York, Jan. 22.—William Sulzer's story of "graft, graft, graft" everywhere, as sketched by him at the John Doe inquiry yesterday, assumed a grand jury phase today. Having sworn yesterday that United States Senator O'Gorman described James E. Garfield as "Murphy's chief bagman," who tried to "hold up" my friend, Stewart, for $100,000, the ex-governor was invited to go over these charges in more detail before the grand jury. Later, it was thought, Senator O'Gorman might be called.

The Stewart mentioned is James Stewart, a state highway contractor. Garfield is a prominent politician, contractor and business associate of the leader of Tammany Hall.

On the stand Sulzer testified Senator O'Gorman had said to him: "Don't you know Garfield? He is the man who held up my client, James E. Stewart, for over $100,000? And he could have got away with it if Stewart had not come to me, and I went to Murphy and I read the riot act, telling him I would not stand for that kind of politics."

Sulzer reviewed the clash with Murphy, which led to his (Sulzer's) impeachment, describing Murphy's alleged threats to wreck his administration if Garfield was not named state commissioner of highways.

The John Doe inquiry, with Sulzer again on the stand, will be resumed tomorrow.

"Evidence Speaks for Itself." "The evidence given by Sulzer speaks for itself," said District Attorney Whitman today. "It was given under oath and should be judged accordingly. The public may rest assured that if a crime has been committed in this country, I shall do my duty, no matter who the offender may be."

BISHOP WALDEN OF M. E. CHURCH IS DEAD

Was Thirty-Third Degree Mason and Served in the Civil War.

Daytona, Fla., Jan. 22.—Bishop John M. Walden of Cincinnati, who for some days had been critically ill, here, died last night. He was 83 years old and is said to have been one of the oldest active bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Bishop Walden, after many years in various fields of church work, was chosen to a bishopric in 1884. He was born at Lebanon, Ohio, Dec. 11, 1831. In 1858 he entered the Methodist Episcopal ministry as a member of the Cincinnati conference.

Bishop Walden had made episcopal visits to every state in the Methodist missions of Europe, Asia, South Africa and Mexico.

Thirty-Third Degree Mason. Bishop John Morgan Walden, D. D., L. L. D., after graduating from a local college, was a reported editor of papers in Illinois and Kansas, and was active in politics. He was elected to the legislature, and later was a member of the Leavenworth prison board.

In 1885 he was elected superintendent of public instruction in Kansas. He was a thirty-third degree Mason and a Knight Templar.

Bishop Walden, after leaving college, was a septic in religious matters, but was converted to the Christian religion in Cincinnati after his political career ended. When the Civil war began he was on trial as a pastor, and was appointed chaplain of the First Kentucky regiment. He was commissioned lieutenant colonel of the Fifth Kentucky regiment of Home Guards for his work in procuring recruits, and was in active service during the Kirby-Smith and John Morgan raids.

After the war Bishop Walden's interests were widely diversified, and he held numerous positions as a clergyman and educator until elected a bishop in 1884.

CELEBRATE MEMORY OF "BLOODY SUNDAY"

St. Petersburg Workmen Dispersed With Swords By Police.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 22.—The police today with drawn swords dispersed crowds of demonstrators observing the anniversary of "Bloody Sunday," Jan. 22, 1905, when the troops killed many striking women as they were marching, led by Father Gapon, to the Palace square to present to the emperor a petition formulating their political and economical demands.

The workmen today declared a general strike, and with bands playing they proceeded along Nevsky Prospekt, singing revolutionary songs, until the police scattered them. Considerable damage is reported to have been done by the demonstrators, a number of whom were arrested.

More Pay for 2000. Webster, Mass., Jan. 22.—An increase of 5 per cent in the wages of 2,000 operatives in the cotton mills of the Grosvenordale company was announced today.

SAYS HE IS THROUGH WITH POLITICAL GAME

ROBERT F. WAGNER, Lieutenant Governor of New York.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Lieutenant Governor Robert F. Wagner, who for years was the Tammany leader on the floor of the state senate, announced today that he will retire permanently from politics at the close of his present term this year.

"I am tired of office holding," he declared. "Nothing can induce me to run again. The last year has kept me here almost continuously and I cannot afford to neglect my business to that extent."

Wagner is a practicing attorney in New York, and was a leader in the movement to oust Sulzer as governor.

SECRET UNION SEAL STOLEN

Rodda Tells Story of Robbery on Train—Lured By Telegram.

A. F. of L. Subject of Bitter Attacks in Mine Workers' Meeting.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—Light on the attack on W. Rodda on a Baltimore & Ohio train early Monday was given in the convention of the United Mine Workers of America today.

Rodda, who is president of a secret local union at Prossburg, Md., told his story of the attack. He said he received a telegram signed by William Ford, who organized the local and was in Indianapolis to represent the district, asking him to bring the seal of the local and the books containing the names of the membership to Indianapolis.

The Maryland miner said that while playing cards on the train he was grasped from behind and then hit over the head.

My cries awake the car, but my assailants escaped," said Rodda, one going out the rear door and the other out the front.

This herd, the largest in the United States now, includes 70 head of yearlings, 55 head of 2-year-olds, and 275 head of 3-year-olds and older. These are all full-bloods, most of them born in captivity.

NO HEARING ON JAP BILL

House Committee Acts Regarding Raker Exclusion Measure.

Makino's Speech in Tokio Fails to Clear the Air.

Washington, Jan. 22.—After an executive conference, the house immigration committee today declined to open hearings on the Raker bill to bar Asiatic immigrants. Further consideration finally was postponed until Jan. 29.

Secretary Bryan was optimistic in commenting on the situation. "We are hopeful of a satisfactory solution soon," said Mr. Bryan, who declined, however, to indicate the basis of his hope.

He explained that no exchanges between the Japanese embassy here and the state department had followed the delivery of Baron Makino's address before the Japanese parliament yesterday, but that an understanding had been reached between the Japanese foreign office and the state department whereby the details of the extensive correspondence between the two governments should not be disclosed.

Difference of Opinion. The speech of Baron Makino, the Japanese foreign minister, explaining to the Japanese parliament the status of negotiations with the United States over the California alien land laws has served to develop a radical difference of opinion between the principals as to the responsibility for the next step.

Although Baron Makino referred to the fact that the Japanese foreign office had received no answer from the United States to its note of Aug. 18, 1913, evidently intimating that one was expected, the state department regarded the negotiations as practically closed at that point, argument on each side having been exhausted.

Discussed New Treaty. A new treaty to define the rights of Japanese in America, treating particularly of ownership of land, was discussed today.

ONE DEAD IN WRECK AT PEMBROKE, ONT.

Fifteen Injured, Seven Seriously—North Dakota Rumor False.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 22.—Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie train No. 19, which left Montreal at 10:30 last night, was wrecked by the spreading of a rail at Meath, ten miles east of Pembroke, Ont., early today. One woman passenger was killed and about fifteen injured, seven seriously.

The woman killed was Mrs. J. J. Samson of Sudbury, Ont.

No North Dakota Wreck. St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports of a serious wreck near Pembroke, N. D., given by dispatches from Grand Forks, N. D., and Winnipeg, Minn., which stated no such disaster had occurred in that vicinity.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The nomination of H. M. Pindell of Peoria to be ambassador to Russia was ordered favorably reported today by the senate foreign relations committee.

ALASKA BILL VOTE LIKELY TO PASS IT

Senate Is Expected to Act on Non-Partisan Basis.

Much Power Given to President By the Measure.

Plan Is in First Stages of Debate in the House.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The project for a government-owned and operated railway in Alaska was up for a vote in the senate today after nearly two weeks of debate. By unanimous consent it had been agreed to begin the roll call at 4 o'clock after Senators Pittman and Dillingham concluded their announced speeches on the bill, and senate leaders were confident it would pass by an overwhelming non-partisan vote.

The subject is yet in the first stages of debate in the house, where Delegate Wickersham of Alaska has offered a measure virtually the same as the Chamberlain bill. Several weeks may elapse before the house acts.

Much Power in President. The subject is yet in the first stages of debate in the house, where Delegate Wickersham of Alaska has offered a measure virtually the same as the Chamberlain bill. Several weeks may elapse before the house acts.

The Chamberlain bill, as amended in committee, would authorize the president to construct about a thousand miles of railway at a cost not to exceed $25,000,000 to connect some point on the Pacific coast of Alaska with the interior of the territory. Full discretion is left with the president to select the route.

Efforts to amend the bill to include a government steamship line from the terminal of the railroad to Pacific coast ports, and to provide for government operation of coal mines in Alaska, were expected to be renewed on the floor.

Four Republican senators—Jones, Borah, Poindexter and Kenyon—supported the bill in lengthy arguments during the debate, and Senator Norris also indicated an intention to vote for it. Two Democrats, Williams and Bankhead, opposed it. Virtually all opposition was based on objection to government ownership of railways.

Leave Amendment Urged. It was expected that before the vote, effort would be made to amend the provision permitting the president to lease the line to be constructed. If, in his judgment, better results could be obtained by private enterprise, several senators have said that if the government was to go into railway building, it should also operate the line, that a fair test of government ownership might be had.

ITALIAN MURDERER IRONED AT DOCK.

New York, Jan. 22.—Antonio Cupertino, an Italian emigrant who became violently insane and shot and killed Dr. Arrigo Giannone, an Italian government emigrant inspector, while the steamship Berlin was approaching Gibraltar on Jan. 12, last, was brought into court today in irons when the Berlin docked. The assassin will be deported.

Dr. Giannone was assigned to duty as inspector to accompany steamers carrying steerage passengers to America. He had a fine record in the navy, having served in Abyssinia and Tripoli. The Berlin will go to Newport News to drydock before resuming her service to Italy.

"WHITE HOPE" WINTER GETS FIRST FALL.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Shelby M. Cullom, former senator from Illinois and chairman of the Lincoln memorial commission, dangerously ill at his home here, was better today than at any time since he took to his bed more than a week ago.

Because of Mr. Cullom's advanced age, his physicians were doubtful that he would live long. His heart and lungs began responding more favorably to treatment, and today the former senator asked for a hearty breakfast. If heart and lungs continue in favorable condition, it was said he might live a week or a month.

Although he is practically helpless physically, Mr. Cullom's mental faculties are not impaired and his constant wish is that he may live to see the completion of the national memorial to Lincoln, who was his personal friend.

JUMBLE IS WONDERFUL

Charts Show Magnificent Incongruity of the State's Government.

Problem Being Worked Out By the Efficiency Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charts have been drawn for the efficiency commission showing the various boards and commissions that handle the state's business. A. E. Fritz, public examiner, made one that looks a good deal like the seating arrangement of the house of representatives, with the board of control in the middle and the institutions it manages, sixteen of them in a semicircle, flanked by a batch of miscellaneous boards on either wing and a fringe of little boards that haven't much to do with the state except exercise snippets of its authority on the border. A tangle of paths from one board to another shows the interlocking of functions. Or it looks like one of those tivolli boards one used to roll a marble through to bump from pin to pin in its devious course. Mr. Fritz got a hundred compartments on his chart and, since he has occasion to visit nearly every one of them, he overlooked very few.

Dr. Durand, statistician for the university, has also been making some charts. He didn't try to get everything on one sheet. One shows the various boards that enter into the department of public domain. If such a department is established, another of the institutions under the board of control, a third the educational system. Each of the three has all the many weaving that can very well be accommodated on a sheet of paper twice the size of this page; to carry out the whole plan on the same scale will take a dozen such sheets.

Of course neither of these charts pretends to go into details, merely a sketchy outline.

Both charts are alike in exhibiting the magnificent incongruity of the state's government.

Outlines for Study. Along with the charts a series of outlines is being prepared for the commission to study. Each one shows a makeup of a single unit in the government. How the board or commission is organized, to whom it reports.

CULLOM IS BETTER AND MIND IS CLEAR

Aged Ex-Senator May Live for Another Month.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Shelby M. Cullom, former senator from Illinois and chairman of the Lincoln memorial commission, dangerously ill at his home here, was better today than at any time since he took to his bed more than a week ago.

Because of Mr. Cullom's advanced age, his physicians were doubtful that he would live long. His heart and lungs began responding more favorably to treatment, and today the former senator asked for a hearty breakfast. Tied to Tail of Kite. New Britain, Conn., Jan. 22.—Charles K. Hamilton, the aviator, a native of this city, who died suddenly in New York today, had his first taste of flying when he was a boy. He was a member of the North River, New York, This was on the occasion of a visit to that city of Prince Henry of Prussia in 1902. Four years later he made ascensions in a dirigible balloon at Coney Island and in 1909 made, in the West, his first flight in an aeroplane.

Subsequently he made flights in various quarters of the globe, touring China and Japan, and making a flight in the latter country was received by the mikado. He was associated with the International Aviators, composed of several daring spirits who came to grief when their funds gave out in Mexico. Hamilton was thrown into prison incommunicado, but obtained his release by bribing his jailer.

FINNISH SOCIALIST NEWSPAPER OWNERS ARRESTED FOR RIOTS

Are Accused of Inciting Riots in the Copper Country.

Grand Jury Report on Daily House Shooting Delayed.

Coroner's Jury Refuses to Fix Blame for the Affair.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two William Topparia, president of the corporation which publishes the Finnish Socialist paper, Tyonies, and Andrew Sare, a stockholder, were arrested in Hancock early today by Sheriff Cruise on the recent warrant charging them with inciting to riot through published statements. The two men were released under $1,000 bonds.

Publication of an editorial charging deputies with responsibility for the Italian hall disaster at Calumet on Christmas eve, was the basis of the complaint against the men. Five employees of Tyonies already had been arrested under the warrant.

Huhta Arrested Again. Charged with carrying concealed weapons, John Huhta, recording secretary of the South Range local of the Western Federation of Miners, and Niek Verbena were arrested early today and held in jail here. Huhta was one of the thirty-seven men indicted jointly with Charles Meyer last Thursday on the charge of conspiracy, and was out under bond. Deputies heard a succession of pistol shots at South Range late in the night, and some time afterwards they encountered a sleigh. The men were searched and in their pockets, the deputies said, were found two revolvers. Huhta said this morning that he and Verbena were "just celebrating."

WRECK BANK VAULT; GET FIFTEEN CENTS

Louisiana Yeggmen Use Too Heavy Charge of Explosive.

Madisonville, La., Jan. 22.—A muffled explosion, followed by a fusillade of shots and the whir of a disappearing automobile, brought citizens from their beds before daylight today to find that the vault of the Madisonville State bank had been broken open by robbers. A too heavy charge so wrecked the vault that the robbers could not enter, and they fled, leaving the cash drawer of three nickels. Money in the vault was found intact.

Officials believe the shots were fired by a picket to distract the attention of the town marshals.

SWIFT & CO. ACCUSED OF TAKING REBATES

Federal Grand Jury Begins Inquiry Into Ann Arbor Road Deals.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Investigation of charges that Swift & Co., packers, of Chicago, profited to the extent of $60,000 by what is said to have been an effect of rebating arrangement with the Ann Arbor Railroad company, was begun by the federal grand jury today. A dozen packing houses and railroad men were among the witnesses brought before the "industrial body."

The shipments involved are said to have been carried by other roads, not involved in the charges, to points on the Ann Arbor road, the main line of which runs from Toledo, Ohio, to Frankfort, Mich. This road is alleged to have hauled consignments of beef of less than a carload at carload rates. The beef was "peddled" from town to town along the line, it is alleged.

Most of the beef was consigned to the Saginaw Beef company at Saginaw, Mich. One shipment to Owosso, Mich., has been closely investigated by government agents.

Attorney Edward E. Gann of the interstate commerce commission is acting with District Attorney Wilkerson in the case. The inquiry may require a week or more.

WHOLE FAMILY DIE FLEEING FROM FIRE

Five Bodies Found Together in North Dakota Home.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The entire family of George Belser, including his wife and three children, burned to death early this morning at their home near Harwood, N. D. The family lived on a farm twelve miles from Fargo, and a neighbor saw the house on fire. He ran to the place, but the flames had gained such headway he could not get near the burning building. Later it was found that all five were dead and had evidently been overcome by smoke while attempting to escape from the flames. All were huddled together on the floor some distance from their beds.

An investigation is being made, but the fire was undoubtedly of accidental origin.

L. GOLDISH RETURNS WITH FISH CARGO.

The fishing craft, L. Goldish, which has been up-lake on a mid-winter fishing trip, docked here at 11 o'clock this forenoon with forty tons of fish. The

TO COLLECT ON IMPROVEMENT

Council Will Accept Two-Thirds of Fourth Street Assessment.

Remainder Will Be Sufficient to Cover Sum Under Litigation.

The city council will meet this afternoon to pass a resolution authorizing the treasurer to accept two-thirds of the assessment levied for the improvement of Fourth street between Fourteenth and Twenty-third avenues east.

By this arrangement Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss hopes to collect part of the money which is due the city for that improvement. Some of the property owners have announced their intention of taking an appeal from the assessment on the ground that the street railway company should pay for the paving between its tracks.

Commissioner Voss and City Assessor Scott estimate that one-third is a liberal allowance for the share of the street car company. The resolution will direct that the city legal department begin an action against the company to collect for the paving between its tracks. This action will, of course, be independent of that started to annul the company's franchise, but the determination of that action is likely to govern the new action. If the city wins, it is said that the company will be obliged to pay for the paving, but in order to take no chances the second suit will be instituted. Should the city lose, the remaining one-third of the assessment will be collected from the property owners.

The approximate cost of paving that part of Fourth street was $60,000. If two-thirds of the assessment can be collected the city will be able to use the money for improvements to be made the coming season.

INDIAN HOSPITAL IN ST. LOUIS COUNTY

Miller Inserts Provision in Indian Appropriation Bill.

From The Herald Washington Bureau. Washington, Jan. 22.—At the suggestion of Representative Miller, the committee on Indian affairs today inserted a paragraph in the Indian appropriation bill providing for one hospital for the Indians on the Leech lake or Red lake reservation, and another to be located probably at some place in St. Louis county to care for the Fond du Lac, Nett Lake and Grand Portage Chippewas. The hospitals are to cost $20,000 each.

KILLED BY TREE HE CUTS DOWN.

Sheboygan, Wis., Jan. 22.—Charles Peck, former president of the village of Sheboygan Falls, member of the county board and one of the most prominent men in Sheboygan county, was instantly killed on his farm near Sheboygan Falls today when a tree which he was cutting down fell on him.

SEWERS BY DAY LABOR

City Commission Will Provide Work for the Unemployed.

Preference to Men With Families If Applicants Are Numerous.

To assist unemployed men in the city the council this morning passed a resolution authorizing the works division to construct two sewers by day labor.

The commissioners said that while their investigation has not shown that an aggravated condition exists because of unemployment the situation is sufficiently serious to warrant this winter work.

Commissioner Murchison was confident that the lessened cost of the labor would offset any extra expense due to frost. He said that experienced men would be put in charge of the work to insure that it would be properly done. In hiring men he said preference would be given to those having families to support.

The sanitary sewers ordered were in Second street from a point seventy-five feet east of Fourteenth avenue west to Thirtieth avenue and in Thirtieth avenue to First street, and in Vernon alley, from the west line of Bryan's addition to Atlantic avenue with an outlet in Chestnut street. The cost of the work, estimated at $1,200, will be assessed to the property owners.

At a recent meeting of the council it was proposed to reopen the rock crusher at Fourteenth avenue west but this project was abandoned as it was decided that more benefits would be obtained by constructing sewers or doing other special improvement work.

Ordinances appropriating $600 for two 100-gallon oil storage tanks were given their third reading and passed.

An ordinance appropriating $168 for the purchase of a typewriter with an adding machine attachment, to be used by the city assessor, was given its first reading.

The paving of West First street between Twentieth and Thirtieth avenues was ordered to be done by contract. The kind of paving has not been determined and probably will not be settled until the property owners have had an opportunity to express their preference.

MME. GAIN ON THE STAND

The January grand jury is delving into the contents of Madame Gain's so-called "graft book" today. She was called before the jury this morning and all of the forenoon session was devoted to listening to her testimony. It is on this "graft book" that the charges of wholesale graft which have been laid at the door of the police department largely rest.

In view of the fact that she has kept out of the city during the greater portion of the past four or five years, it is considered doubtful if anything will be revealed by her which will reflect in any way on the present administration of police affairs.

RAINY RIVER FISH KILLED BY POLLUTION

State Game Commission Complains to Joint Commission.

From The Herald Washington Bureau. Washington, Jan. 22.—The Minnesota game and fish commission has filed a complaint with the international joint commission, of which James A. Tawney is chairman, alleging that the fish in Rainy river are being exterminated because the refuse from the paper mills at Fort Frances is being dumped into that stream. Mr. Tawney will inform the state game commission that the sanitary experts of the commission recently found that the refuse from the paper mills at Fort Frances and International Falls, and the sewage from those towns, Mr. Tawney indicated that the remedy from the conditions lies in legislation by the United States and Canadian governments.

LIMITED BY ORDINANCE

Department of Works Cannot Give Permit to Violate Ordinance.

Ruling on Street Rights Made in Personal Damage Suit.

That the city department of public works has no right or authority to grant privileges to contractors who are expressly prohibited in a city ordinance covering the granting of permits to occupy the public streets was held by Judge Dancer this morning at the trial of the $7,500 damage suit brought against George H. Lounsbury, contractor, and the Cudaby Packing company, by Bertha Gronlund, who is seeking to recover for the alleged wrongful death of her husband.

Gronlund was killed in a collision between a wagon belonging to the packing company and one which he himself was driving. The accident took place on Michigan street under the Lake avenue viaduct on Nov. 29, 1912. Gronlund, the contractor, is alleged to have dumped a pile of plaster and debris into the street, the pile occupying fourteen feet of a thirty-three-foot roadway. The pile, it is claimed, obstructed the street and was one of the causes of the fatal accident.

The contractor, through his attorneys, Abbott, McHerrin, Lewis & Gilbert, claims that although his permit to occupy the street expired ten days before the accident occurred, he had a verbal agreement for an extension. He also claims that although it was with the consent of the board of public works that he occupied more than one-third of the street, the amount allotted in the ordinance, Mr. Lounsbury was handling the contract on the fidelity building and had applied to the city for permits to occupy the street in front of the building on Superior street and in the rear on Michigan street. He claims he was refused the permit for Superior street with the understanding that he might occupy more than was allowed on Michigan street.

A point will also be raised at the trial as to whether or not liability attaches to the contractor in the case. The court will be asked to pass upon whether the contractor is liable or the city is liable when the former is occupying the street under a permit.

An array of legal talent is connected with the case. The packing company, the other defendant in the action, is represented by Washington, Bailey & Mitchell and the plaintiff is represented by Edgar J. Benson, Judge Charles L. Lewis and Neil E. Benton.

BULL MOOSERS ARE HOLDING MEETING

Political Gathering at Fargo With Many Rumors Flying About.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald).—There is a large attendance at the meeting of the North Dakota Progressive Republicans here today. The forenoon session was short. Four committees were named. Fowler of Grand Forks on resolutions and Stanton of Mandan on finance and audit. An adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock. Chief interest attaches to the question of candidate for governor.

Candidates on Ground.
Miller and Burdick, the two most formidable men for the Progressive Republican senatorial nomination, are both here today. Burdick's friends assert his private law practice and his ranching interests at Williston are such that he cannot afford to accept the governorship at this time. The Progressive Republicans are endeavoring to induce Attorney General Miller to abandon his candidacy for United States senate against Cronna, and enter the race for governor.

Considerable significance is attached to the presence of W. V. L. Houser, La Follette's campaign manager. He made a speech before the livestock convention today but is reported also to be looking after the interests of the Wisconsin senator in the Progressive Republican meeting.

Work Farm Does Not Appeal to Professional Vagrants.

Police Report That Many Well Known Faces Are Missing.

The new work farm is gradually driving the undesirable, those whose names have been on the police blotter for many years, out of the city.

Many of the old-timers, who have been arrested during the last three weeks, were sent to the new work farm, where they are compelled to clear the land and assist about the farm. No more do they have an easy time of it, serving a short, idle term of a month or two in a warm, comfortable jail.

Because of this, many of those usually seen about the saloons and street corners are being missed by the police, and it is their belief that the old "regulars" are gradually leaving the city. The work farm does not appeal to them at all and realizing that they will be sent there in the future, they are taking no chances.

The latest of the old guard to be sent to the farm was William Linn, who has been arrested so many times for drunkenness that it is impossible to get a complete record. He was taken into custody last evening and this morning pleaded guilty before Judge Cutting, who sentenced him to serve thirty days on the farm.

According to the old-timers who get out, they are going to leave the city and get as far away from it as they can. The work farm does not appeal to them at all, they say, whereas the old jail was a real haven during the winter months.

MORMONS COMPLAIN OF "WHITE SLAVERY."

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 22.—Thomas Major, a young Scotchman, was arrested here yesterday for violation of the Mann act, but will not be prosecuted here, Albert Schooner, United States district attorney, announced.

He will be held, however, awaiting advice from Salt Lake City police, because the information upon which he was arrested came, the authorities say, from leaders of the Mormon church who live there.

Major was charged with paying the fare of Nellie Hawthorne from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles, in violation of the Mann act. The girl, who came from Scotland, was employed as a maid in the home of one of the bishops of one of the Mormon churches.

Woman the Informant.
Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 22.—Mormon church officials here said Nellie Hawthorne, who was alleged to have gone to Los Angeles on money furnished by Thomas Major, was formerly a domestic in the home of Bishop Walter J. Beattie, but was never of Joseph Smith's household. Information regarding the alleged violation of the white slave act was sent to the Los Angeles officials by Mrs. W. W. Ritter, a prominent Mormon woman.

Much interest is manifested among beauty specialists in the new, patented treatment for superfluous hairs. This is a little powdered detanant and water applied to the objectionable hairs for about 3 or 4 minutes, then rubbed off. Following this treatment the skin should be washed to remove the remaining paste and it will be left free from hair or blemish. Care should be used to see that it is detanant you get, otherwise the result may be disappointing.

OUT OF WORK AND HANGRY

Colored Physician Says He Passed Worthless Check to Buy Food.

Has Family in South—Says He Studied in England.

Waiving examination when arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon, J. Walter McDonald, Jr., the colored man who claims to be a physician, was arrested Tuesday afternoon on a charge of passing a worthless check in payment for a diamond ring at the Henriksen Jewelry company's store, was bound over to the present grand jury.

McDonald, who is 23 years old, admitted to The Herald yesterday afternoon that he had passed the check in the local jewelry house, but declared that he was driven to it by necessity. He had been unable to secure work anywhere and this was his only way to keep from starving, he asserted.

"I come from a very well-to-do family in Mississippi and am a graduate of a medical college in England," said McDonald in defense of himself. "I married against my parents' wishes while at college and have since been on unfriendly terms with those at home. My wife and two children are now living in a small town about fifty miles from Jackson.

"This is the first wrong I have ever done and I guess I'll have to pay the penalty. It is a good lesson for me and I am not kicking at all. But what could a fellow do when he is unable to find work and it gets to the point where he must get something to eat and find some place to sleep? It's sure no joke, for I know."

Asked if the report that he had passed eight checks in Minneapolis before coming here, was true, McDonald said no, but admitted having passed two checks on the Commercial National Bank of Minneapolis. He found the check book, he said, and merely took this course of obtaining money. The check made to the Henriksen jewelry company was also payable on the Minneapolis bank.

Early Tuesday afternoon McDonald purchased a $120 diamond ring at the Henriksen store and paid for the sparkler with a check. Having several Minneapolis people as references, he later went to the Keystone Loan office and tried to buy another ring. When he gave a check in payment for the jewel, the promoter sensed something wrong and asked McDonald to secure references.

It was then that McDonald left, saying he would return shortly. He was followed by A. J. Henrichsen, proprietor of the store, who later caused the arrest of the negro, after the latter had gone to the Keystone Loan office and tried to pawn the ring he had purchased earlier in the afternoon at the Henriksen store.

McDonald will probably plead guilty, said the grand jury return an indictment against him on a charge of passing worthless checks.

ACCUSED AS CHIEF OF WHITE SLAVERS

Wealthy San Franciscan Who Defied Authorities Is Arrested.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 22.—Emile G. Ducin, said by the police to be the leader of a white slave ring that has operated in San Francisco for the last two years, was arrested here late last night in his handsomely furnished residence. He was charged with the sale of white slaves and spent the night in a cell.

Ducin is said to have amassed a fortune of $300,000 in a short time. According to the police, he openly boasted that he was enjoying police protection, and defied the white slave squad to arrest him.

Ducin is alleged to have traded extensively in European women of the underworld, preventing their deportation by marrying them off to respectable men who then changed their names to the women for a payment of $100.

GETS THREE MONTHS.
Snatched Sixty Cents and Is Given Severe Sentence.

For stealing 60 cents, which Charles Fisher had placed on the bar in payment for drinks, Gust Miller will have to spend the next three months in the county jail.

Miller was arrested Tuesday afternoon on the complaint of Fisher, who claimed that the former had taken the 60 cents and then made a dash out of the saloon. Miller was caught by Patrolman Danielson after a chase down the street.

In police court yesterday morning Miller pleaded not guilty to the charge and his trial was set for the afternoon. He was found guilty and fined $100 or three months.

MISTRIAL IN BIG COMMISSION SUIT.

New York, Jan. 22.—A mistrial was declared today in the suit of George H. Robinson to recover $500,000 from Alva J. Johnson for services in finding a purchaser for the Baldwin Locomotive works, of which Johnson was president. Federal Judge Learned Hand, after hearing evidence since Jan. 16, stopped the trial on the ground that much of the evidence was prejudicial to the defendant's case and extraneous and irrelevant. He said he would allow the plaintiff to file an amended complaint and grant a new trial shortly.

Robinson alleged that he had arranged to sell the locomotive works to Kahn, Loeb and Co. of New York, when Johnson, without his knowledge, effected a sale to a less advantageous price to Drexel & Co. of Philadelphia and White, Weld & Co. of New York.

PASS NINE JURORS IN ALASKA CASE.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 22.—Nine jurors had been passed for cause when the case of the United States vs. Charles F. Munday and Annie Shiels was resumed in court this morning. It was expected that the whole day would be consumed in permanently filling the box.

Boat Lost; Crew Safe.
Gloucester, Mass., Jan. 22.—The schooner "Eglantine" off the Nova Scotia coast became known today as the "Lisbon" when it was driven ashore yesterday near Liscomb, and will be a total loss. The eighteen men in the crew were rescued.

LICENSES FOR BARTENDERS

City Commissioners Will Likely Pass Ordinance Requiring Them.

Approved at Informal Conference; Regulation Rather Than Revenues.

The city commission will license bartenders, a step unique in the country's history of saloon regulation.

Commissioner William A. Hicken, head of the safety division, submitted the proposition to his colleagues at a conference held at the mayor's office this morning. Commissioner Hicken explained that the purpose was for regulation rather than for revenue and it met with the approval of the other members of the city council. The fee suggested was $5 a year, but this was not definitely decided.

It is likely that an ordinance embodying this requirement will be submitted by Commissioner Hicken at an early meeting of the council. It would seem that there is no doubt of its passage after the informal meeting today. It was explained that some of the men who are working behind bars are of an irresponsible disposition. The belief is that if they are licensed it will afford means to weed them out. It was also pointed out that under present conditions the full responsibility falls upon the shoulders of the man holding the license, and that if bartenders are licensed the responsibility will be spread. It is impossible for the man conducting a saloon to be present from 5 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night. While absent the saloon is in the hands of employees and the feeling of the commissioners was that if the bartender has something at stake he will not take chances of selling to minors, loose women or other undesirable customers as he might under present conditions.

Superior

BANQUET FOR PENNINGTON

President of Soo Railroad Guest of Superior Business Men.

About 200 representative men of Superior were present last night at a banquet given by the Rotary club in honor of President Edmund Pennington and General Manager G. R. Huntington of the Soo railway, at the Broadway apartments. The banquet was served at 8:30 o'clock by the women of St. Alban's Episcopal church.

President Pennington, who was the guest of honor, spoke of the banquet last year to Howard Elliott, then head of the Northern Pacific. He then introduced Judge Charles Smith as toastmaster.

J. C. Crowley in an address on "Superior," lauded the city for its enterprise and great activity, emphasizing the amount of business transacted through the city.

Judge Fridley responded with a toast, "The City and the Railroads." He then spoke of the importance of the program was a poem on the recent investigation held in Superior.

President Pennington, who was the last speaker, said that Superior was destined to become one of the greatest cities in the West. He said that it was important that railroads increase their rates so that they could afford to make necessary improvements.

DRAFT GAME BILL.

Aim of Measure to Protect Hunters and Song Birds.

A bill now being drafted for the next legislature for the protection of birds is meeting with hearty support in Douglas county, and it is believed that a movement will be started here to have the measure adopted. Another feature of the bill will be to offer greater protection to hunters.

The measure provides for making each owner of farm lands a game warden without pay, authorizing him to make arrests of persons violating the game laws while hunting on his land.

RELIEF FOR LABOR.

Cold Weather Takes Idle Men Into the Woods.

The cold weather has brought great relief to laboring men in Superior. Work in the woods is now on again in earnest, and the labor offices are busy booking and shipping out men to Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota. The small loggers have suffered this season because of the lack of snow. The large loggers have made ice roads, but the small competitor has been unable to make roads because of the cost. The police station has taken care of more loggers this season than ever before, but conditions now are greatly relieved.

COUNCIL ORDERS PAVING CONTRACTS.

The city council in its session yesterday afternoon passed resolutions for the paving of Ogden avenue from North Fifth street to Holman street and Tower avenue from Sixteenth street to the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic right-of-way. The transfer of two saloon licenses was ordered. The license of John M. Klinger to the Crow Liquor company.

Railroads

LOOKS FOR GOOD BUSINESS YEAR

Erie Road Official Expects Heavy Freight Movement in 1914.

J. W. Adams, general Northwestern agent of the Erie, is in the city today on business. Mr. Adams has his headquarters at Minneapolis and came up to the Head of the Lakes to look over the general business of the Erie.

D. A. Small, freight agent of the Erie, is also in the city today.

"All of the roads of the country are simply checking up at this time, you might say," said Mr. Small. "This is the best and brightest season—or it has been, for the business of the railroads is just beginning to increase, the freight business, you understand."

"This looks like a very good year. Generally speaking the railroad men believe that there will be a very large amount of freight tonnage moved during the year. In the territory of the Erie everything is looking promising."

TO SPEND $3,300,000.
Northern Pacific Railway Plans on Doing Lot of Work.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22.—The Northern Pacific road, which was reported some months ago to have stopped all expenditure on new lines, will put $3,300,000 into improvement work in 1914, according to a statement emanating from the office of president J. M. Hammarford. It will mean, the report indicates, that railway activity in the West will be greater this year by far than was the prediction when the new year began. The Northern Pacific will complete its Point Defiance line between Tacoma and Tenino, Wash., will build viaducts in Tacoma, several new bridges, some enlarged terminals in West coast cities and will improve the line between Easton and Lester, Wash., at a cost of $2,000,000.

LAST YEAR SET RECORD

President of Lake Carriers Makes His Annual Report.

Year Unprecedented in Volume of Business and Disaster.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22.—The year 1913 was a record-breaker for the Lake Carriers' association, both in volume of business and in disaster, according to the report of William Livingston, president of the organization, submitted at the annual meeting today. President Livingston in his report also referred to the Wilson-La Follette seamen's bill, which, if passed, he said, would "work great hardship on the lake fleet."

The second week in November was responsible for the great casualty record of the year. During that time 235 lives were lost in the series of storms that swept all the lakes, according to the report. "More coal and grain were moved in 1913, than have ever been moved before," said Mr. Livingston, "and the rates were such that the business was profitably handled. The movement totaled 45,071,412 gross tons, which was 1,634,701 more than the movement of 1912."

Up to November, casualties had been few and unimportant. No modern vessels had been destroyed and the loss of life was the lowest in years, namely nine.

GERMANY PLANNING CIGARETTE MONOPOLY.
Berlin, Jan. 22.—According to the Tagblatt, the search of the premises and archives of German cigarette concerns which has been going on for several days by government officials will be followed by steps for the creation of a government cigarette monopoly. Nearly a score of factories have been searched thus far, and it is understood that evidence has been found to show that many firms which heretofore were supposed to be independent are owned by the tobacco trust.

WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

One Hundred Duluthians Will See Alice Lloyd as Herald's Guests.

Free Lesson in Tango Dancing Also on the Program.

One hundred Duluthians will attend the opening performance by the Alice Lloyd company at the Lyceum Friday afternoon, and receive in addition a tango lesson from the members of the Alice Lloyd company as guests of The Herald.

In the Alice Lloyd contest, which closed last evening, more than 300 letters were received, containing suggestions for advertisements of Herald want ads. The Herald announced that it would give away fifty pairs of seats for the Alice Lloyd show to the fifty persons writing the best advertisements. These advertisements, The Herald reserved the privilege of keeping and using as it saw fit.

Many letters arrived after 6 o'clock last evening, and were not considered. Out of the 300 letters many violated the rules and had to be thrown out, although some of these were excellent. About 250 letters were left to be considered. Of these about fifty were plainly not worth consideration, and were thrown aside first. Then began the difficult task of picking out fifty from the 250.

The prize winners may receive their tickets by calling at The Herald office any time tomorrow. They may be called upon to tell briefly what their letter contained. If they are not known, in order to avoid any possibility of personal claiming a prize he is not entitled to.

No "strings" to it. There were no "strings" to the contest. The fifty winners simply receive as prizes for ad writing two tickets apiece to the Alice Lloyd show for Friday afternoon. A tango lesson will be given on the stage after the performance, and The Herald prize winners may stay with the rest of the audience if they wish.

The list of prize winners follows:

Venice, Jan. 22.—Cardinal Aristide Cavallari, the successor of the present pope as patriarch of Venice, has issued a decree forbidding the tango, which he considers to be a most disgraceful and immoral dance.

In a previous letter he had referred to the tango as "moral turpitude," and in this latest decree he has said that the tango is a disgraceful and immoral dance, and that it is a moral turpitude.

Two Boys Awarded Medals
By Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 22.—Individual acts of heroism which the Carnegie Hero Fund commission has recognized since it was established ten years ago were brought up to a total of 871 yesterday when thirty names were added to the honor roll.

The commission held its tenth annual meeting here yesterday afternoon. The awards announced were fewer than has been the case in previous occasions, and although in the past ten years sixteen gold medals have been awarded for extraordinary cases, none appear in this class in the latest list.

In eleven cases silver medals were awarded; in nineteen cases, bronze medals. Seventeen of the heroes lost their lives.

THE DOCTOR'S HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M.D.

Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

WHICH IS THE BEST CLIMATE—FLORIDA, TEXAS, CALIFORNIA OR "WHERE?"

An Ohio lady of 40 years has asked me the above question. Further along in her letter she says: "I wrote you before regarding chronic constipation, and you told me to take 5 grains of calomel, dividing the dose into one-tenth of a grain every half hour, and the next morning they had to lift me out of bed and fan me to keep me from fainting. But I still think if I would keep on taking calomel it would clean my system out and I would be relieved of an aching side, which I think is rheumatism or nervousness. Please tell me, could 5 grains do me any harm? I am not well enough to do any work. The doctors say there is nothing wrong with me, and that I should go out and forget it. But I have a pain in my left side like a toothache near the backbone and waist line. I have not menstruated for four years, and every spare dollar goes for the bills of my physicians. I am getting discouraged. Won't you please advise me what I shall do?"

This is a rather difficult question for me to answer intelligently, as I have never seen you to examine your system myself. Most of my colleagues don't think much of my calomel and castor oil gross quantity dosage. Like your doctor they think my dosage is too large. However, each physician has to decide for himself. And my own practical experience has taught me some very vital truths.

My counsel to you is that so long as you are employing a physician STICK TO HIS ADVICE. That is what you are paying for. He is on the ground studying your case and ought to know what is best for you. Sticking to Calomel alone will not cure constipation. It merely cleanses the system and permits a fresh start.

About the best climate which you ask for, as to whether it is Texas, Florida, California or "where," as your letter asks so earnestly, I should personally prefer the northern latitudes. My wife likes Florida, where she has lived for many seasons. I used to like the West Indies during winter, but when I lived in the Philippines for awhile, I grew so hungry to get back to where I could feel the "nip" of some frosty air and see snow and enjoy some real ice skating—that the Pennsylvania latitude is my preference. A very dear friend of mine prefers Texas—and a very warm where you live, STICK TO YOUR HOME CLIMATE. Your health recovery will depend upon getting your internal apparatus properly adjusted. The chemistry of the internal body is very complex, but it can be nicely adjusted if the study of this phase of your trouble is conducted in a comprehensive and thorough spirit. I would have to see your condition as a consultant to give any specific advice.

committee here investigating charges of official misconduct against Judge Speer. The committee is composed of members of the bar, and the disputation of a bankrupt estate, of high-handed and tyrannical methods, of favoritism, of a free use of contempt citations, of discourtesy to the public, and of having a reputation of being approachable by "underground" wiretaps. In previous testimony he was accused of being addicted to the use of drugs.

STEADY REVIVAL IN STEEL TRADE

Improvement Since December Amounts to Between 10 and 15 Per Cent.

Slow but gradual revival is noted in the iron and steel industry. In the Pittsburgh district it is estimated that the improvement since December amounts to between 10 and 15 per cent. Both there and in the Chicago district steel makers almost without exception report better inquiry from all sections and sources. The rail department of the mills is said to be still the most hesitant, but in that situation is improving, as the large railroad systems are showing an inclination to come into the market with substantial orders.

Bars, plates and shapes are ordered to a marked extent. Prices in these are generally firmer and deliveries are not being guaranteed beyond three or four months. If orders are accepted for that length of time, the price of the material is estimated to be operating around 60 per cent of capacity and it is expected that 70 per cent will soon be in operation.

It is believed that in the event of the interstate commerce commission granting permission to the Eastern railroads to advance their freight rates, a period of activity will be expected to place orders for rails and supplies that have been held back for months.

General operations this week at the Republic Iron & Steel company's mill at Youngstown, Ohio, are said to be the best in more than a month. Three miles of Carnegie's twisted company's plant at Sharon, Pa., which had been idle for several weeks, have started up, placing the entire plant in operation once more.

The Indiana steel company at Chicago reports operations at 75 per cent of capacity and orders at present prices not accepted beyond four months.

EXPLAINS CURRENCY BILL TO BANKERS

Treasury Department Issues Statement as to Time Limit.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Misunderstanding among many bankers as to that part of the currency act which provides when banks shall enter the reserve system has led treasury officials to issue a statement designed to clear up the situation and to reduce inquiries. The statement says in part:

"A number of banks appear to be under the impression that only banks located in reserve cities are required as a matter of law to signify their acceptance of the Federal reserve act within sixty days from its passage. All national banks are required to signify their acceptance, and non-acceptance of the terms of the act within sixty days, irrespective of their location."

"It is not compulsory that state banks and trust companies shall signify within sixty days from the passage of the act their intentions in the matter."

Apply by Feb. 22. Some 4,000 banks have made legal applications for membership in the new system, and it is anticipated that to reach the treasury at the present rate there will be close to 8,000 by the end of the week. There are only 7,600 national banks in the United States, and the vast majority of the applicants are national banks, indications point to but few remaining without the sys-

According to treasury officials, the total capital of the national banks which have formally applied, represents about 70 per cent of the total capital of all the nation's banks.

Eighty-two state banks and trust companies have applied for membership, and since the approval of the reserve act Dec. 23, sixty-four such institutions have expressed their desire to become national banks.

A New Evangel

(By Samard.)

Washington, Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ford Motor company is located in Detroit, Mich. It is an enormous concern and its profits reach into stupendous figures. The other day the company started the commercial, financial, political and social world with the declaration that its profits should be bounteously shared with the labor that produces its wares, and that during the year 1914 the pay envelopes of its employees shall be lined with $10,000,000 above the regular wage scale, that the lowest wage shall be $5 per diem, and that eight hours shall constitute a day's work.

It is the biggest event that has occurred in this country since the Civil war's close, and it is a good omen that it comes with the completion of the Panama canal. Maybe it is the beginning of a social and industrial revolution that shall herald a millennium which means universal peace and concord between capital and labor. Maybe the long expected Pope Angelica is near at hand.

Here is what the president of the company, Henry Ford, says:

"We believe in making 20,000 men prosperous and contented, rather than follow the plan of making a few slave-drivers in our establishment multi-millionaires."

Here is what the secretary-treasurer, James Couzens, says:

"We believe that social justice begins at home. We want those who have helped us to produce this great institution and are helping to maintain it, to share our prosperity. We want them to have present profits and future prospects. Thrift, good service and sobriety will be encouraged and recognized."

That is not only exalted morality, but it is profoundest policy. No other similar establishment in this country will be able successfully to compete with this concern. Already it has received more and better advertising than a million dollars cash expended in the ordinary way would have fetched it. Not only is it in the news columns of every paper, but not one paper in a hundred will fail to make favorable editorial comment on this new evangel of peace in the shop, good will in the mart, brotherhood everywhere.

The most efficient, the most skillful, the most intelligent, the most desirable labor in its line will be at the disposal of the Ford company. That labor will be content, it will be cheerful, it will be diligent, it will exert its utmost energies, it will strive to do its best, for here labor is what it should be everywhere—the partner, and not the hireling, of capital. A strike will be an impossibility. Every one of those 22,000 employees will know that if he does his best his wage will increase accordingly, and he will do his best, striving every hour to do better.

On the other hand, labor in other shops that are run on the principle that all the profits of the concern are devoted to making a few men millionaires, will be discontented. Strikes will be numerous, slovenly work will be done, discount will be given the rule.

And then another thing—where is the man, what is he made of, that will not deal with this Ford company if he is offered as good wages at the same price, rather than with any rival concern operated on the old plan of per centage between capital and labor?

It may be objected that this concern, after driving all competitors out of the field, will become a grasping monopoly. I do not believe it. No company that is so just with its labor will ever prove extortionate in its dealings with its customer. The evangel it preaches is honesty from skin to marrow and from marrow to skin.

Now listen—sure as there is a difference between right and wrong, this enterprise is going to be successful beyond the most extravagant expectations and what is more and better.

It is to be noted that optimistic sentiment has been deepened through the refusal of the interstate commerce commission for the second time to require Duluth's rail rate cut. This city therefore retains its advantageous position as a distributing point by reason of its victory of last summer, and jobbers are thus enabled to lay plans for broadening their markets and to fear of anything now cropping up to upset their calculations in so far as freight rates are concerned.

Druggists Trade Active.
Bookings in retail druggists continue to make a favorable comparison with last year, according to F. A. Patrick & Co.

A feature comes in the volume of business being taken in the house's machinery and wool products department, in which eight salesmen are now covering the Eastern and Central states. Orders in those goods are coming in early and in great volume.

A busy season is assured at the factory. The house is completing its shipments of spring goods and salesmen are due to start out with their fall suits within three weeks.

Imported wools are now cheaper to the extent of the tariff reductions, but quotations on domestic wool fabrics are on the same basis as two years ago, though lower than at this time last year when they were abnormally high.

Liberal Groceries Orders.
Orders in staple groceries are advised by the Eastern and Central states of this city, and the Twenty-Elm Mercantile company of Superior is to come to hand in great volume.

With sales in this district making especially good showings.

The market for hams has steadied up at its present low level, apparently bearing out the indications of a week ago that prices have at last struck bottom.

Coffees are slightly steadier in line with a firmer situation in Europe. Receipts from Java and Sumatra are in much larger volume than last year, and that is leading jobbers to pursue a policy of buying only to cover current requirements. Trade in canned and dried fruits and vegetables is light at present, and quotations are about unchanged through the list.

Shoe Sales Better.
The Northern Shoe company reported current business in shoes has been showing marked improvement since Jan. 1, and that with the coming cold weather and snow in the West, retailers are reducing their stocks in heavy lines better than had been expected.

Shipments from the local factory are advised to be 50 per cent heavier than a year ago. As a result of the steadily advancing market in leather, prices in the higher grades of shoes are up 50 cents a pair from last year.

Furniture Jobbers Optimistic.
"We are feeling optimistic over the outlook for the year. Reports from our salesmen are showing a feeling of greater readiness on the part of the trade to discuss business, and forecasting the placing of liberal orders when the new furniture season opens in the spring," said C. E. DeWitt of the DeWitt-Seltz company today.

Shipments by the company to points in this district and through the West are said to be good for the off season.

Paper Market Firm.
Liberal orders in stationery from the range towns are noted by the Peyton Paper company. The mills are reported to be firm in their quotations in all lines of building and roofing papers, and they are looking forward to another active building season in this territory.

Among the outside buyers at the company's warehouse yesterday were: Mr. Nelson, Mahanville, Minn.; J. Mattison, Yankton, Minn.; and J. T. Tivert, Nashua, Wis.

Shirts Moving.
A largely increased aggregate of business over last year is reported by the Marshall-Wells Hardware company and the Kelley-How-Thompson company.

Shipments of shirts have been going out freely and orders in agricultural tools are now coming to hand in volume. The market is firming up in many lines of iron and steel products.

Wool Factory Busy.
W. A. Kehel, manager of the Duluth Clearing and Woolen company, has enlarged its territory in taking in the ground to East Grand Forks as well as the range of cows. The factory's output in its Elcora, Minnesota, brand is now being cleared, and is said to be on a larger basis than last year.

DURKEE ESTATE
"CLAIM" NO GOOD.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Warning is issued by the treasury department to American investors to beware of offering an interest in the estate of former Senator Charles Durkee of Wisconsin, who is alleged to have deposited $40,000 worth of bonds with the treasury, which have never been produced.

"It will be money thrown away," declared the department in a statement, "inasmuch as the estate of the late Senator Durkee had no claim against the government. The claim is said to have arisen out of the construction of several lines of the Pacific railroads when (Durkee) is supposed to have deposited bonds with the department."

FILES FOR THE STATE SENATE

The first man in St. Louis county to file for the legislature is Alex. McKnight of Duluth, who has just filed for the nomination for senator from the Fifty-seventh district.

Mr. McKnight is an attorney, who has taken an active part in local affairs. He is one of the leading members of the St. Paul club, an organization which has done much to develop local affairs with a supervisory object.

The senatorial situation in the Fifty-seventh has been in a conflictual position for some time. Senator W. Cheandle, it is understood, will not file again, and it is also claimed that Representative W. Warner will not file for either the house or the senate.

C. A. Condon, who, during his term as member of the state house of representatives, made a notable record, has been repeatedly urged to file for the senate, but has not yet consented.

Big Eaters Get KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all sorts of rich food. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissue clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night, if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about our famous Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush out and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates and to prevent thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because it cures a mistake many are making, having a good kidney flushing when the time. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross drug store, 13 West Superior street.

KEEP TRUST
BILLS PUBLIC Congressional Leaders Will Hold Hearings on Proposals.

Many Suggestions Made to Clear Up Debatable Ground.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Publicity of the tentative drafts of anti-trust legislation measures suggested by the president in his message to congress was determined upon by the legislative committees in the house and senate. All the bills will be introduced as soon as passed upon by the majority members of the committees, to be considered as working basis for full and free discussion in open hearings.

That there should be no attempt to rush the trust measures was asserted on all sides, the president having assured Senator Newlands, chairman of the judiciary committee, and Representative Adamson, chairman of the interstate and foreign commerce committee, that he was in full accord with the measure, and that all who have ideas might be heard.

Most Important Bill.
It was stated that an authoritative source that of the five bills under consideration, the measure which is requiring the deepest thought and which will be of greatest importance, in the minds of many, is that which will include Sherman law definitions, defining specifically what constitutes conspiracy in restraint of trade.

That is the measure proposed to reduce the "debatable ground" suggested by President Wilson as far as possible, and the suggestions being considered by the committees as to the meaning which should be given to Sherman law under the law are the following:

Attempts to restrain or prevent in any manner, either directly or indirectly, any vendee from purchasing any article obtained from some other person, whether such an attempt be made by contract or otherwise, expressed or implied, or be made by condition in the sale against such purchase, or by imposing any restriction upon the use of the article sold, or by making in the price any restriction forbidding the purchaser from dealing in such an article made by some other person.

Attempts to restrain or prevent competition by making discrimination in the price or other terms based upon whether the vendee purchases articles of particular quantity or aggregate price.

Attempts to prevent or restrain competition either by refusing to supply to any other person requiring the same, any article sold, or by consenting to supply the same only upon terms or conditions in some respect less favorable than accorded another person; by supplying or offering to supply to any person doing business in any particular territory, articles sold by him, upon terms or conditions in any respect more favorable than are accorded to other customers; by making any contract or arrangement under which a purchaser shall not sell any article in which he deals to certain persons or class of persons, or to those doing business in certain districts or territory by supplying or offering to supply any article without charge or below cost of production and distribution.

Some Other Proposals.
Other acts which may be laid down as violations of the Sherman law include: Spying upon the business of a competitor, securing information concerning his business through bribery of an agent, employee or a competitor, and fixing an unreasonably high price upon some raw material required for production of a competitive article.

These definitions have all been submitted to the house and senate committees and are under consideration in the proposed Sherman law definitions bill.

GOODS OFF MARKET.
Washington, Jan. 22.—Attorney General McReynolds has worked out plans for radical changes in the method of operating federal penitentiaries and in the handling of prisoners. Iodide of potassium, 2 drams, sodium salicylate, 2 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; comp. essence carbol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balsam, 1 oz.; and syrup sarsaparilla, 5 ozs. This is my favorite prescription for rheumatism.

"Charlotte" writes: "Some time ago you answered through your columns a question I asked you about a cold and cold. Will you kindly repeat the formula?"

"Answer: I shall be very glad to repeat the formula for you. Get from your druggist a 2-oz. package of essence menthol-lavender and mix with honey or home-made sugar syrup and take according to directions given on box. This is a very reliable remedy and will surely overcome your cold in a few days at most. It is absolutely safe for children. As they do not like to take it, they do not like to take it."

"Marie" writes: "I would like a remedy for a pimply, oily skin. I suffer from constipation, headache and indigestion."

"Answer: Get from your druggist 8-grain sulphur tablets and take according to directions. These tablets are packed in sealed tubes and contain full directions for using. I have found them to be the most reliable in such ailments as arise from constipation. They are made of sulphur, cream of tartar and herb medicines, and if taken regularly will relieve your constipation, purify the blood, thus causing your skin to become clear. These are fine for children, as they do not like to take it."

"Mary" writes: "You can easily correct your little girl of bedwetting by mixing 1 oz. of comp. fluid balsam, 2 drams tincture rhubarb, and any amount of tincture culbubs. Mix thoroughly and give in water about one hour before each meal, 5 to 15 drops."

"C. C. O." writes: "I am constantly hawking and spitting on account of a bad case of catarrh and would like your advice to overcome it."

"Answer: I always prescribe antiseptic vilane powder, which you can obtain in either a 2 or 8-ounce box with full directions. The results please all who try it."

"Sadie" writes: "I misplaced the prescription you sent me for dandruff and itching scalp. Will you please send it again?"

"Answer: There is nothing better for dandruff and itching scalp than plain yellow minoy, which is sold in 4 oz. jars at any well-stocked drug store. Use this according to directions and you will soon be relieved of all diseases of the hair and scalp."

"Mrs. R." writes: "Please advise me what to take to overcome extreme thinness. My arms and bust have no development; and my face is so thin that it is positively homely, although my features are regular."

"Answer: Many ladies would be much more beautiful if they were somewhat heavier, and as an increased weight is possible it is the duty of every woman to ask us how one can gain weight. I am too large, and last summer suffered on account of excessive fat. Can you advise a remedy, harmless and safe?"

"Answer: I have frequently prescribed a liquid remedy, but owing to its disagreeable taste, I am now prescribing the same form in a tablet form. It is called 8-grain arborene tablets and is sold by druggists in sealed tubes with directions for such difficulties, sold in sealed tubes with full directions for self administration."

"Mrs. De V." asks: "I should like to ask you how one can overcome weight. I am too large, and last summer suffered on account of excessive fat. Can you advise a remedy, harmless and safe?"

"Mrs. O." writes: "Kindly publish again the prescription for rheumatism which you gave to 'Ted' some time ago."

"Answer: I shall be very glad to repeat the formula for you. Get from your druggist a 2-oz. package of essence menthol-lavender and mix with honey or home-made sugar syrup and take according to directions given on box. This is a very reliable remedy and will surely overcome your cold in a few days at most. It is absolutely safe for children. As they do not like to take it, they do not like to take it."

Disbursements from the county treasury during the year 1913 exceeded those during 1912 by $426,554.32, according to figures now obtainable at the office of County Auditor Odin Halden. During the last year, the various public funds in the hands of County Treasurer George H. Vignea were drawn upon to the amount of $7,270,529.50 as compared with $6,843,975.18 for 1912. The increase was due to a number of smaller than that which appeared a year ago in a comparison of the 1912 and 1913 figures. The gain at that time was $225,860.62.

A comparatively small percentage of the total disbursements of public funds, however, went for the running expenses of the county or for public improvements in which the county government itself was interested. Of the $7,270,529.50 expended during the past year, $6,222,141.24 was turned over to the state and the various school and tax districts of the county, the county's collection agency. The amount of $6,222,141.24, with which the county has nothing to do except to collect and apportion, may be classified as follows: Road and school districts, $2,584,574.51; paid to cities, towns, villages and other tax districts, $2,346,581.37.

In 1912, out of $5,781,229.60 collected and apportioned to the state and the various tax and school districts, $1,355,552.46 was paid to the state government; $2,233,354.08 was apportioned to the schools of the county, and $2,191,323.06 was turned over to cities, towns, villages and other tax districts. During the year 1913, the total amount expended for county purposes totaled $1,048,355.26, as compared with $1,052,768.94 in 1912. The increase in the amount paid out to cities, towns, villages and other tax districts was $14,313.54.

The most notable increase for 1913 is shown in the amount paid out to the school districts, which was $351,240.68 more than in 1912. The increase in the amount paid out to cities, towns, villages and other tax districts was $14,313.54. For road improvement during the last year St. Louis county spent $135.16, as compared with $298,617.12 for 1912, or an increase of $147,981.96. A decrease of $135.16 is shown in the amount of the courthouse bonds taken up during 1913 as compared with 1912. During the coming year, however, the county expects to take up the Mesaba aid bonds, which were issued twenty years ago for $250,000. The entire issue will be retired next fall.

Unkept of Courts. It is interesting to note that slightly over 55 per cent of the money expended from the county revenue fund during the past year was for the upkeep of the courts. During the year the county auditor paid out warrants totaling $222,018.85. Of this amount, $62,349.13 was expended in maintaining the district court, the expense being divided between Duluth and Superior. The following: Duluth, $50,661.87; range division, $11,687.26.

ARGUMENTS ABOUT ENDED

Today will probably mark the close of the arguments in the street railway franchise suit, which were started before Judge Cant ten days ago. As soon as Oscar Mitchell, attorney for the street railway company has concluded his arguments in rebuttal this afternoon the case will be submitted to the court.

The court's attention to the testimony of certain witnesses as to the terms of the first line and argued that it was never intended in the franchise that if the company built a foot or a few inches of the required mile that the grant should be denied for non-compliance. He argued that the company had substantially complied with the terms of the franchise by practically a mile had been built, and that a car had been run over the tracks on the last day of the allotted year.

A DISAGREEMENT

Stans Sankoski Will Be

Tried Again for Burglary

Stans Sankoski will be retried in district court on a charge of burglary, the first jury being unable to agree after forty hours deliberation. Judge Engsen dismissed the jurors from further consideration of the case at 5 o'clock last evening.

The jury came in at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon and asked what the punishment would be if they convicted the prisoner. After the foreman has been informed that this was a matter for the court alone to decide, the jury was sent back.

Harry P. White, third assistant county attorney, tried the case for the state and J. Hoag represented the defendant.

FACE CHARGE OF ROBBERY

TEN MEN SUED FOR FOURTEEN MILLIONS

St. Louis, Jan. 22.—Sue to recover more than $14,000,000 was filed in the United States district court here today against ten men who were accused of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad robbery in 1910. The suit was filed by attorneys representing the receivers of the railroad.

The case of the state against Frank Jacobs, negro, charged with cutting A. J. Cummings, a Pullman conductor, on Nov. 22 last, went to the jury at noon today. Up to 2:30 o'clock no verdict had been reported.

The ten men named in the suit are B. F. Yokum, now a receiver of the Frisco directors at the time of the receivership; George Campbell, president of the North American company, which brought the receivership suit; William K. Bixby, now a receiver of the Frisco; C. W. Hilliard, former vice president of the Frisco; B. L. Winchell, former president of the Frisco; Frank Thayer, A. S. Grice, Frank Trumbull, Thomas H. Winchell, former president of the board of directors of the St. Louis Union Trust company, and Hans Winchell.

The petition says the men named were directors of the Frisco from Dec. 1, 1909 to June 1, 1910, and that during that time they were responsible for the robbery of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad was sold to the Frisco. The suit is based on the Brownsville deal, the details of which were disclosed during the recent interstate commerce commission investigation of the Frisco receivership.

Profits From That Industry Discussed at Tri-State Meeting.

Governor Eberhart Will Discuss Benefits of Country Life Betterment.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The benefit to farmers of the Northwest from raising livestock was the central theme of today's discussions at the Tri-State Grain and Stockgrowers' convention being held here and today's attendance was the largest to date.

The big auditorium was packed when President Worst called the convention to order. Thomas P. Cooper, secretary of the convention, called to order.

President Worst declared that farmers get 35 per cent and middlemen and transportation companies 65 per cent of the consumer dollar paid for farm produce. He said that there is a tremendous waste of foodstuffs due to false market reports or inadequate knowledge of conditions. Speculation in foodstuffs should be effectively outlawed by the federal government, he declared.

President George Vincent of the University of Minnesota was another prominent speaker at yesterday's sessions, which were presided over by Governor L. B. Hanna of North Dakota.

Federal's Program. Tomorrow will be an important day because of the reports of the committees appointed at this meeting and the standing committees named a year ago. The rural credits committee is expected to submit something of interest. The members have made a wide investigation. The committees on farm organization will also have something interesting.

The afternoon program will be devoted to the subjects of elevators, co-operative grain marketing, equity society matters and kindred subjects.

A. D. Scheik Tells Lumber Dealers Where They "Fall Down."

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 22.—A. D. Scheik of Des Moines, Iowa, who is manager of the association's advertising and selling service bureau, told the Northwestern retail lumber dealers in session here late yesterday that many of them were behind the times in their advertising.

"If anyone could stop advertising every once in a while, he said, would be the lumber dealers. But the department store keeps at it and grows tremendously and rapidly. The average lumber dealer, he said, takes what comes and blames the mail order house for cutting into his territory."

Power of Suggestion. "Suggestion is perhaps the greatest power in modern advertising," said Scheik. "Many a farmer gets along with a little suggestion."

ELY'S GREASE BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD—CATARRH GOES Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharges Stop, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely and dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves in the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and melts the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing; Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucus dripping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm"—and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

Aberdeen, S. D., spoke on "The Stability of Northwestern Agriculture." "Experience in Raising and Feeding Cattle" was the subject of the address by Frank Sanford of Valley City. Prof. Smith of the Minnesota Agricultural college spoke on "Beef Production in the Northwest," and Prof. Thomas Shaw of St. Paul on "The Dual Purpose Shorthorn."

The evening program consists of an address by President McVey of the North Dakota university on "Some Social and Industrial Problems in North Dakota," J. C. McDowell of the department of agriculture at Washington on "County Demonstration Work in Farm Management," Governor Eberhart of Minnesota on "The Social and Economic Value of Country Life Betterment."

For Federal Farm Marketing Bureau. A national bureau of farm marketing under control of the Federal government was the plan offered to improve rural life conditions by President J. H. Worst of the North Dakota agricultural college yesterday in his fifteenth annual address.

IT'S hard to write English. Here—wait a minute, we don't mean what you think we do; what we intended to say, is that it is difficult to write English the way the English speak it. It has to be drawn.

If we were able to write English the way the English speak it, it would be a pleasure to attempt to depict the agony the British sportsmen are going through at the present time. Since George Carpenter beat old Bomb Wells the pain has been poignant.

Here is one of the most heavenly almost alphas that was ever uttered.

In one of the English sporting papers that reached our desk we find that J. W. Douglas, who is the captain of the English cricket team now in the Antipodes, is able to lick Jack Johnson or any other boxer in sight. But of course it is out of the question to believe that Douglas would enter the ring. Quite out of the question. Therefore with brandy and soda some of the sportsmen of the night little lie can sit back and say, while sipping the ice with the spoon, that Douglas, old boy, could beat Johnson chap, but 'e wouldn't think of fighting. Thus do we see that in some small measure the pride of the British is sustained.

There is a moral to be gleaned from this. It simply goes to show that while the world is a dark and forbidding old place, that those who look sharpest can find some consolation some place.

Some Luscious House.

H. HERMAN, the famous sporting man of New York, who was here yesterday, stated that the Gibbons-McFarland quarrel might draw a house of the amplitude of $45,000. "Some of the bouts in the garden have lost money for Billy Gibbons," said Herman. "Some of the large ones have cleaned nicely. It is a mistaken notion that all of the fighters are getting the coin. The big town wants the big ones and will pay to see them."

Herman added that the metropolis was all wrought up over the forthcoming bout between two of the cleverest boxers in the world, and that the receipts promised to break all records since the days of the twenty round bouts under the Horton law.

Need Not Fear Hope.

ON the great afternoon day of yesterday an ambitious white hope had a personal wand, offering to lick any of his detractors. If he is like some of the hopes that have been shown in the vicinity of Duluth in the not too far removed past, his detractors need harbor little fear of the going forth to battle.

Lots of Appendicitis. ONE wondering wonders lots of things, among others, appendicitis is contagious and whether there are germs of the malady around Tom McCarey's arena at Vernon, Cal. Ad Volgast was taken down with the society emblem just the day before he was to have fought Freddy Welsh. This was where Willie Clarence Archibald Ritchie received his first chance on the big time.

But Anderson was also taken down with appendicitis just before he went into the ring with Leach Cross. The Medford youth showed that he was game even if he couldn't fight a great deal by going ahead with the engagement.

Now comes Sailor Petroskey. The seaman was to have fought Jimmy Clabby on Saturday. The appendicitis thing stepped in and stopped the bout. One might suggest that Uncle Tom have the arena, thoroughly fumigated.

Jarvin May Come.

SERIAL New York promoters are offering overtures to Alex Jarvin, the wonderful big Finnish wrestler, to come to this country and wrestle some of the good men. The huge Finnish giant has beaten some of the best men in the country, winning one of the big tournaments on the other side of the pond and is now looked upon as one of the greatest of all the European grapplers.

The Federal Moves.

BIG BILL BRENNAN, the former National league umpire, has been signed by the Federal league. Bill once played football in this town—against the high school team. Interestingly—St. Paul Central won by the score of 28 to 0. Chessie it.

Starting in the old Northern league William worked up to the Majors. His stature and booming voice made him command the attention of the fans throughout the large circuit. When Lynch was counted out there was some talk of Bill leaving. But no; we have it straight that Federal signed a contract. But from the Federal league came the offer of $18,000 in three years, and Bill came through.

Ford, Sweeney and others have signed. Every day it begins to look like grim battle. Even General Sherman would enjoy this kind of fighting. It requires money and lots of it—they say—to make a new league look pleasant. The first few months will tell more than the whole season of the winter league. The more the merrier. Think of what the fans will have to look forward to. There are some smart men in organized baseball and they will fight to the end.

CANADIANS LOOK STRONG

Port Arthur Hockey Team
Better Than Last Year.

Visitors Expect to Win Both Games From Duluth
Seven.

With practically all of the members of the hockey team that last year defeated the strong Duluth team in one of the games of the series, the hockey squad of the Canadian invaders arrived early today with thirteen men in the party. According to Capt. Wilson of the visitors, the Canadians expect to win both of the games to be played here as they figure the team is better than the one of last season.

Hockey lovers will recall the remarkable game played by the Port Arthur team in the second contest of last year. In the first game of the season the members of the visiting team were worn out by being up practically all of the night spent in making the trip here. On the second evening the team came back and played one of the greatest games that has ever been played here.

Canadians Are Strong Curling Club resented a win from Port Arthur late last night, in which it was stated that the team was in the very best of condition and ready to put up one great game against the Duluthians.

The wire was from Attorney McGovern of Port Arthur, who was here with the team last year, and stated that every member of the Canadian squad was in better shape than was the case a year ago. If these glowing reports are true, then the followers of the Duluth team have grave cause for apprehension, for the Port Arthur people gave us one grand exhibition of the game as it should be played upon the evening of their second contest here.

According to Capt. Linder, the Duluth team is in the best condition of the year at the present time. It was not at its best when it faced the Winnipeg Victorias. This is not given in

CENTRAL TO MEET RIVAL

With its lineup changed and with more practice in the finer points of the game, the Duluth Central high school basketball team will play its second game of the season tomorrow evening at the Washington school gymnasium, when it faces the strong team of the Superior normal school.

One of the peculiar phases of the contest will be that the first half of the contest will be played under the A. A. U. rules and the second half under the intercollegiate rules. This is arranged for with the idea of being fair to both teams. The Duluth team has been playing under the A. A. U. rules and the normals under the college rules.

Superior normal has one of the strongest teams in the state, and the game is coming over fully convinced of winning the contest. Coach Schilling announced that his team is in much better condition than before, so that the game should be close.

COULON WINS BY A SLIGHT SHADE

Racine, Wis., Jan. 22.—Johnny Coulon, basketball light champion, won by a shade from Young Sinner of Rock Island in a fast 19-round bout here last night.

Coulon's superior boxing entitles him to a margin, but it was a very slight lead indeed. The young Rock Islander led repeatedly and he frequently resorted to clinches that brought shouts from the crowd.

It was evident from the first minute of fighting that Johnny's cleverness would be a hard problem for Sinner, who stolidly followed Coulon about the ring, rather than dancing and feinting in an effort to draw an opening.

Repeatedly the champion showed his mastery in clean boxing, leading with wild rallies that Sinner seemed always ready to start.

It is stated that there are some of the club members wedded to the idea of returning to the National Ski association. Opposed to these few are those who believe, or at least profess to believe, that the National association is on the verge of disintegration.

GOTCH'S TITLE APPEARS IN NO GREAT DANGER

but with the knowledge he has of the American style of wrestling, strong and quick as Fristsensky is, our opinion is that he will be able to beat Gotch with the world's champion in condition.

In Martinson, Fristsensky was opposed by one of the best of the American heavyweights. It was the marvelous strength of the Bohemian that enabled him to defeat the Dane. With Gotch, as has been proven in the past, strength without remarkable skill is without avail.

Fristsensky is the man that Kennedy and others have selected as a challenger to beat Gotch, the search and better be taken up again, and this is not intimating that Fristsensky is not a wonderful athlete. It is directly intimating, however, that Gotch is and will be the champion of the world, and it will therefore take some extraordinary hard to dethrone him.

Martinson Works Hard. Martinson went after the big Bohemian in determined fashion, but the really superhuman strength of the Fristsensky fellow prevented Martinson going through with any hold he started. Fristsensky is like a cat in the ring, and he is not to be taken by surprise.

Those kind of wrestlers to hold. Fristsensky won the first fall in twenty-three minutes even, using a wrist lock and side arm hold to bring the shoulders of the struggling Dane to the mat.

The second and deciding fall came in 18:30. Fristsensky crushing his opponent to the mat with a waist lock, bagging him with nelson and then fastening on an arm hold and body lock.

BASEBALL WAR RAPIDLY REACHING FOCAL POINT

Signing of Killifer Immediately Following Gilmore's Warning Taken as Acceptance of Challenge —Legal Action Expected.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The decisive battle of the baseball war of 1914 must be fought in a Federal court. This was intimated by persons close to the promoters of the Federal league, who served notice that they would fight any attempt of clubs in organized baseball to sign their players.

The legality of the reserve clause in the contracts of National and American leagues, will be the point over which the battle will rage, but when where the contest will start, will not be made public. After delivering a challenge to organized ball, saying the Federal league would protect its players and their contract, President Gilmore of the new organization distributed plans for the conflict, if formed, have not become generally known.

The announcement of the signing of William Killifer by the Federal league, came so soon after the signing of the Quaker City club that the Federal league would fight if Killifer and Brennan were signed by it, that it looked to the Gilmore cohorts like the formal picking up of the gauntlet.

Federal leagueers are so confident that the reserve clause will be held illegal in determined fashion, that they are scrambling for signed ball players as soon as they can be obtained.

"If it comes to bidding for players we will be as strong as anybody," said Charles Weegman, president of the Chicago Federals.

"We know it has no legal right to sign our ball players," said Manager Tinker of the local club, "but we are going to try to make it so they can't play with us."

Fristsensky won the first fall in twenty-three minutes even, using a wrist lock and side arm hold to bring the shoulders of the struggling Dane to the mat.

The second and deciding fall came in 18:30. Fristsensky crushing his opponent to the mat with a waist lock, bagging him with nelson and then fastening on an arm hold and body lock.

do so, but when contracts held by the clubs of organized baseball are assailed by the Federal league or any other league, that party or parties, may expect organized baseball to make every endeavor to protect its contract in and out of every civil court if necessary.

As far as an organized baseball is concerned there is no worry on our part whatever over the Federal league, or any of its associates. We realize that we have certain contractual rights to our players and these we propose to protect at the proper time regardless of what the Federal league or any other league may say or do.

"In this connection I may add that wherever the Federal league has established a legal right to any ball players, there will be no interference on the part of the clubs connected with organized baseball.

"I wish to repeat, however, that the game is open to all. Anyone has a right to engage in it in any capacity that they please, without any interference on the part of those engaged in organized baseball, and I may add, there will be no interference unless it is done in a retaliatory way when contractual obligations or vested rights are illegally interfered with.

"College players, semi-professional players, free agents and the boys on the lot, when entering the profession can cast their lot within or without organized baseball."

"This is a privilege that cannot and will not be denied them. When, however, players have affixed their signatures to contracts that have been mutual, organized baseball will make an effort to make this matter plain before, and I hope now to have succeeded."

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

Mental work calls an unusual supply of blood to the brain; the process of digestion calls the blood to the stomach. Brain work immediately after a hearty meal often causes indigestion because the brain has first call on a quantity of blood that should be helping the stomach.

Wherever, in the economy of the body, there is a demand for blood, there is a demand for bright, red blood. Thin blood or blood dark with impurities will not do because it is the oxygen-bearing blood that carries the work and oxygen-bearing blood is bright and red. This life-sustaining blood is pumped up by the lungs, the air which meets in the lungs. Hence the great need of fresh air and fresh air is useless if the blood cannot take up the oxygen which it gives.

It is not enough that the blood takes blood to take up more oxygen because they increase the part of the blood that carries the oxygen. The blood that carries the oxygen is the red, shaly nerves and the pulse that are the results of thin, impure blood.

MARKET UP AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Bulges at End of Session on Good General Buying.

Flaxseed Is Strong With Continued Demand
From Crushers.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 22.—The market closed an uptick at the close. May wheat closed 5¢ up. Oats closed 5¢ up at 56 3/4¢. Rye closed unchanged at 52 1/2¢. The best grades, and barley unchanged at 44 1/2¢.

Futs on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 58 1/2¢ bid, and calls at 58 1/2¢ bid.

While trade was on the quiet order in the wheat market today, quotations were fractionally higher, attributable to improved Eastern inquiry and a stronger Argentine market. Live-pool cables were slightly up.

Considerable hard winter wheat was reported to have been bought for export at Duluth and Kansas City. Exporters were in the market, while the 12,744,000 bu. of wheat arrivals at Winnipeg today were just 52 cars against 267 last year.

May wheat opened unchanged at 58 1/2¢ and advanced 1/4¢ during the first three hours of trading. It then opened 1/4¢ up at 59 1/4¢ and held at that figure. There was fair trading in May durum. It opened unchanged at 57 1/2¢ and gained 1/4¢.

After a burst of buying at the opening, business was dull because the market was held steady. A sustaining factor in the market was the good bidding for the week's crop and light receipts at Duluth. Winnipeg was slightly up. Buenos Aires closed 1/4¢ off, London 1/4¢ off and Antwerp unchanged.

Price changes here during the session were only fractional. The export round-up in advance of 1/4¢ was shown. Flax opened 1/4¢ off at 51 1/4¢ and closed at 51 3/4¢ bid. The January option was closed at 51 1/4¢, nominally. At Winnipeg, January flax closed at 51 1/4¢ and May at 51 3/4¢.

Clearances are fairly large, which mostly are from the United States, which is badly out of condition.

NEW TRUST BILLS ARE INTRODUCED IN HOUSE; TERMS MADE PUBLIC

Directorates, Monopolies and Definitions All Are Covered.

Holding Company Prohibition to Be Provided Later On.

Extent of Such Legislation Is Not Yet Determined.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Administration leaders in congress settled down today to deliberations on the tentative anti-trust measures designed to supplement the Sherman act, in accordance with suggestions of President Wilson.

Measures prohibiting interlocking directorates, defining restraints of trade included within the meaning of terms of the Sherman act, and prohibiting "cut-throat" competition, were introduced in the house by Representative Clayton in the form agreed upon in conference.

Senator Newlands, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, planned to introduce them with the interstate trade commission bill, in the senate as soon as the Alaska railroad bill was out of the way.

No Holding Company Clause. In the trade relations measure no provision was made for the prohibition of holding companies, as suggested in President Wilson's message, but it was announced that the committee would further consider that phase of the trust regulation program and probably would add a restriction on the subject reference to that subject was because neither the president nor administration leaders had determined just how far the government should go.

Four of the proposed bills were made public last night, one of them the measure to create an interstate trade commission, having been introduced during the day in the house by (Continued on page 8, second column.)

SHORT WEIGHT IN WISCONSIN FLOUR

Evidence Is Found By State Inspector in Northern Cities.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 23.—Evidence of short weight in flour from one of the mills was found by Chief Inspector Fred P. Downing of the weights and measures department on a recent trip to northern Wisconsin.

Mr. Downing's report today says that in a flouring mill having a capacity of 600 barrels per day, he discovered a shortage of from three-fourths of a pound to one pound on every sack.

The shortage, which was nearly ready for shipment, was held up until the sacks were opened and the full weight given. It is estimated that this mill was able to save $10,000 a year through this method of filling the sacks.

WEST POINTERS IN COASTING ACCIDENTS

One Is Dead, One May Die and Eight Are Injured.

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Three coasting accidents on Mill Brook hit in Highland Falls, near here, during the last twenty-four hours, caused one death and sent nine persons to the military hospital.

Harry J. Young, who died today, was a young private in the field music detachment at the military academy. His home was in Baltimore. Young was steersman on a bobbed loader with soldiers which ran into a telephone pole last night. Private Russell C. Elliott, also a musician, suffered a fracture of the skull and probably will die. Three other privates were slightly injured.

Lieut. James Gordon Steese of the engineering corps, an instructor at the military academy, suffered a broken leg yesterday afternoon when a bobbed loader carrying a party of officers and their wives collided with an ice wagon. Mrs. George Vidmer, wife of a cavalry captain, and Capt. Frederick B. Downing of the engineering corps also were badly hurt in this accident.

Charles Champlin, 12 years old, had his arm broken on the same hill.

MUTINY ABOARD BRITISH STEAMER

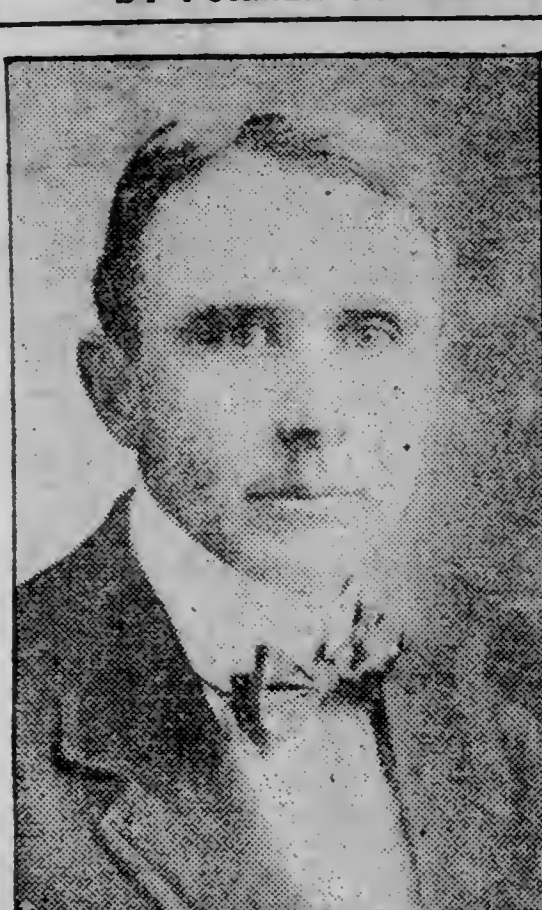

Union Seamen Refuse to Work With Non-Union Men.

Liverpool, Jan. 23.—Mutiny broke out on board the steamship Devonian shortly after she left Liverpool yesterday for Boston, and she was compelled to put back to Holyhead, where nineteen of her crew were arrested.

The outbreak was caused by trouble between the union and non-union seamen. The crew was a mixed one, and a few hours after the vessel left here the union sailors refused to obey the orders of the ship's officers until the non-union men had been put ashore.

The captain thereupon decided to run back to Holyhead, where the steamer came into port with putty signals flying. A detachment of local police responded and arrested nineteen union seamen.

DENIES STORY TOLD BY FORMER GOVERNOR

JOHN H. DELANEY.

WOULD MAKE IMMIGRANTS MEET ARMY REQUIREMENTS

Secretary Wilson Says It Would Solve Asiatic Problem.

Suggests Physical Basis for Those From All Countries.

Washington, Jan. 23.—After a conference today with Commissioner General Caminetti, Secretary Wilson of the department of labor advised Speaker Clark that the problem of Asiatic immigration could be solved by acts raising the standard of admission for aliens those persons not able to pass the physical test now required of the United States army.

"Inasmuch as the vast majority of the present immigrants must earn a livelihood, if at all, by performing manual labor, it is reasonable to require that they should be able to do so," said the speaker.

The views of the department of labor, including the immigration bureau, are expressed in a letter to Speaker Clark, in which Secretary Wilson says that the method suggested would not only meet the Asiatic immigration issue, but also immigration generally of a laboring element without violating the "most favored nation" or other similar treaties which the United States has entered into with many countries.

The secretary also says that, in view of the understanding with the Japanese government on immigration, there should be incorporated in pending legislation an exception with respect to existing agreements as to passports.

Alderman Sentenced to Prison. Valley City, N. D., Jan. 23.—Alderman Mackey, who was convicted of criminal assault, was sentenced to five years and five days in the penitentiary.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE. Met at noon. Still working on the legislative day of yesterday, resumed debate on the Alaska railroad bill.

HOUSE. Met at noon. House minutes committee continued hearings on proposed withdrawal of radium lands from the public domain.

Secretary Wilson of the department of labor wrote Speaker Clark recommending legislation for the exclusion of Asiatic immigration and proposing standardization of the immigration laws.

Representative Moore asked a committee to hear Philadelphians who want a new drydock located there.

Indiana boy corn raisers appeared before the agricultural committee.

SULZER LIED, SAYS DELANEY

New York Economy Commissioner Enters John Doe Inquiry.

Murphy Will Be Called as Witness—Also Denounces Sulzer.

New York, Jan. 23.—Further sensational developments in the John Doe inquiry into state highway graft were prompted today.

John H. Delaney, state commissioner of efficiency and economy, came down from Albany and asked the district attorney's permission to appear as a witness and give his version of statements made Wednesday by William Sulzer, the former governor.

These statements, Delaney declared, are false.

At the conclusion of Sulzer's testimony before the special grand jury yesterday, the foreman congratulated him warmly. Sulzer was averse today to discussing the things touched upon by him before the grand jury, but from a friend to whom he had unbundled himself, it became known that he had not finished his testimony and probably would be called again next week.

Sulzer Used Dictaphone. There are reports that Sulzer had a dictaphone device installed in the governor's mansion at Albany, and that by means of records thus obtained he plans to substantiate many of his charges.

COPPER MINERS AND EMPLOYERS WELCOME PROBE BY CONGRESS

Companies Will Demand Source of Report Made By Palmer.

House Likely to Approve Caucus Action Favoring Inquiry.

Houghton Authorities Seek Owner of Deadly Explosive.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Union leaders in the copper district seemed pleased today at the prospect of a Federal investigation of the strike of the miners which has been in progress since last summer.

The strikers declared they had nothing to fear from an investigation by a committee of the house of representatives, such as was agreed on last night by a caucus of the Democratic members of the house.

Authorities today continued their investigation of the leaving of a can of nitro-glycerin in a clump of bushes near the power plant of the Ahmeek mine in Keweenaw county, but no arrests had been made. The supposed infernal machine was discovered yesterday.

A large number of men have been imported recently to work in the Ahmeek mine.

Some of the company officials claim the mines in this district are producing approximately 20,000 tons of copper ore per day. This is said to be about 75 per cent of the normal production. They also claim more than 1,000 men are at work in the mines. On the other hand, union leaders say (Continued on page 8, fourth column.)

THREE-FOOT RADISH SHIPPED TO BRYAN

Product of Southern California Japanese Is Gift to Secretary.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 23.—A white radish, three feet long, thirty-six inches in circumference and weighing twelve pounds, was forwarded today from Los Angeles to William J. Bryan, secretary of state, at Washington.

The radish, which is said to be the largest ever produced in Southern California, was discovered by the secretary of a produce concern, who, knowing Mr. Bryan's fondness for white radishes, decided to ship it to him.

The vegetable was grown by Japanese truck gardeners, and is one year old.

FAMILY QUARREL ENDS IN MURDER.

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 23.—After having been stabbed by Fred Putnam last night, Louis Foster staggered out into the back yard of his home and died. The body was discovered today.

A family quarrel was the cause of the murder. Putnam gave himself up.

Yesterday jail physicians believed the prisoner's condition was such that he could withstand an operation, and the piece of lead was removed.

House Likely to Approve Caucus Action Favoring Inquiry.

Houghton Authorities Seek Owner of Deadly Explosive.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Union leaders in the copper district seemed pleased today at the prospect of a Federal investigation of the strike of the miners which has been in progress since last summer.

The strikers declared they had nothing to fear from an investigation by a committee of the house of representatives, such as was agreed on last night by a caucus of the Democratic members of the house.

Authorities today continued their investigation of the leaving of a can of nitro-glycerin in a clump of bushes near the power plant of the Ahmeek mine in Keweenaw county, but no arrests had been made. The supposed infernal machine was discovered yesterday.

A large number of men have been imported recently to work in the Ahmeek mine.

Some of the company officials claim the mines in this district are producing approximately 20,000 tons of copper ore per day. This is said to be about 75 per cent of the normal production. They also claim more than 1,000 men are at work in the mines. On the other hand, union leaders say (Continued on page 8, fourth column.)

LIFE TERM GIVEN SLAYER OF WOMAN

Harry Dorow Is Sentenced By Judge in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 23.—Harry Dorow was today sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary by Municipal Judge A. C. Backus after a new trial had been refused.

Dorow was convicted of murdering Mrs. Emily Will, sister of Lieut. William Maas of the police department, on the night of Oct. 19, with a piece of lead pipe.

The charge was that Dorow, who was a member of the "Black Legion," had been hired by Maas to murder his sister.

The jury in the third trial of William Flagg, accused of murdering his sister, Louise, returned a verdict today, finding him guilty of manslaughter.

PRINCESS CLEMENTINE.

Brussels, Jan. 23.—An heir to Prince Victor Napoleon, the official pretender to the imperial throne of France, was born here today. Prince Victor Napoleon, who is in his fifty-second year, was married in 1913 to Princess Clementine of Belgium. A daughter was born on March 20, 1912.

Fifty-Seven Passengers Have Almost Miraculous Escape From Injury.

Hole Torn in Street Car Is Only Damage Done.

Spectator Says Brakeman Was to Blame for the Collision.

Fifty-seven passengers on a Duluth bound interurban street car were given the scare of their lives shortly before 8 o'clock this morning by a careless brakeman on the Northern Pacific railroad at the railroad crossing at 500 Garfield avenue. After having given the street car a sign of clear track the brakeman signalled his switch engine to back up, resulting in the flat car on the end of his train crashing into the center of the street car. It seems almost miraculous that many of the passengers were not killed or injured.

Duluth-Superior car No. 190 arrived at this crossing at 7:50 a. m. and had stopped at the southern side of the railroad in order to give the conductor an opportunity to flag the intersection. On the west side of the street stood the brakeman at the end of a flat car and a string of cars. A signal is said to have been passed by the brakeman indicating that it was all right for the street car to pass and believing that everything was all right the conductor gave his signal to his motorman.

Directorates, Monopolies and Definitions All Are Covered.

Holding Company Prohibition to Be Provided Later On.

Extent of Such Legislation Is Not Yet Determined.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Administration leaders in congress settled down today to deliberations on the tentative anti-trust measures designed to supplement the Sherman act in accordance with suggestions of President Wilson.

Measures prohibiting interlocking directorates, defining restraints of trade included within the meaning of terms of the Sherman act, and prohibiting "out-throat" competition, were introduced in the house by Representative Clayton in the form agreed upon in conference.

Senator Newlands, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, planned to introduce them, with the interstate trade commission bill, in the senate as soon as the Alaska railroad bill was out of the way.

No Holding Company Clause. In the trade relations measure no provision was made for the prohibition of holding companies, as suggested in President Wilson's message, but it was announced that the committee would further consider that phase of the trust legislation.

Four of the proposed bills were made public last night, one of them the measure for prohibition of interstate trade commission, having been introduced during the day in the house by

SHORT WEIGHT IN WISCONSIN FLOUR

Evidence Is Found By State Inspector in Northern Cities.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 23.—Evidence of short weight in the sale of flour from mills was found by Chief Inspector Fred P. Downing of the weights and measures department on a recent trip to Northern Wisconsin.

Mr. Downing, in his report today, says that in a flouring mill he discovered a shortage of one pound on every sack, by his directions the whole carload, totaling nearly 100,000 sacks, was held up until the sacks were opened and the full weight given. It is estimated that this mill was able to save $2,500 a year through this method of filling the sacks.

WEST POINTERS IN COASTING ACCIDENTS

One Is Dead, One May Die and Eight Are Injured.

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Three coasting accidents on Mile Rock Hill, in Highland Falls, near here, during the last twenty-four hours, caused one death and sent nine persons to the military hospital.

Harry J. Young, who died today, was a young private in the field music detachment at the military academy. His home was in Baltimore. Young was steersman on a bobbed loaded with soldiers which ran into the water pole last night. Private Russell C. Elliott, also a musician, suffered a fracture of the skull and probably will die. Three other privates were slightly injured.

Lieut. James Gordon Steese of the engineering corps, an instructor at the military academy, suffered a broken leg yesterday afternoon when a bobbed carrying a party of officers and their wives collided with an ice wagon. Mrs. George Vidner, wife of a cavalry captain, and Capt. Frederick B. Dwyer, of the engineering corps also were badly hurt in this accident.

Charles Champlain, 12 years old, had his arm broken on the same hill.

MUTINY ABOARD BRITISH STEAMER

Union Seamen Refuse to Work With Non-Union Men.

Liverpool, Jan. 23.—Mutiny broke out on board the steamship Devonian shortly after she left Liverpool yesterday for Boston, and she was compelled to put back to Holyhead, where nineteen of her crew were arrested. The outbreak was caused by trouble between the union and non-union seamen. The crew was a mixed one, and a few hours after the vessel left here the union sailors refused to obey the orders of the ship's officers until the non-union men had been put ashore. The captain thereupon decided to run back to Holyhead, where the steamer came into port with muffled signals flying. A detachment of local police responded and arrested nineteen union seamen.

JOHN H. DELANEY.

WOULD MAKE IMMIGRANTS MEET ARMY REQUIREMENTS

Secretary Wilson Says It Would Solve Asiatic Problem.

Suggests Physical Basis for Those From All Countries.

Washington, Jan. 23.—After a conference today with Commissioner General Caminetti, Secretary Wilson of the department of labor advised Speaker Clark that the problem of Asiatic immigration could be solved by acts raising the standard of admission so as to include in the list of those who are "expressed persons" not only the physical test now required of recruits for the United States army, but also the standard of the "most favored nation" or other similar clauses contained in existing treaties.

The views of the department of labor, including the immigration bureau, are expressed in a letter to Speaker Clark, in which Secretary Wilson says the method suggested would not only solve the Asiatic immigration issue, but also immigration generally of a laboring "element" without violating the "most favored nation" or other similar clauses contained in existing treaties.

Cities Canadian Action. Secretary Wilson says that a concerted movement exists in India and elsewhere to gain admission to the United States. That Canada has legislation in even more drastic manner than is provided in bills now pending in congress, and that if the Hindu movement is not checked by legislation, not only California and the West will be affected, but also the industrial and agricultural sections of the Southern states and other sections of the Union.

The secretary also says that, in view of the understanding with the Japanese government on immigration, there should be incorporated in pending legislation an exception with respect to existing agreements as to passports.

Alderman Sentenced to Prison. Valley City, N. D., Jan. 23.—Alderman Mackey, who was convicted of criminal assault, was sentenced to five years and five days in the penitentiary.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE. Still working on the legislative day of yesterday, resumed debate on the Alaska railroad bill.

Democrat leaders continued conferences over the trust legislation program.

HOUSE. Met at noon. House mines committee continued hearings on proposed withdrawal of railroad lands from the public domain.

Secretary Wilson of the department of labor wrote Speaker Clark recommending legislation for the exclusion of Asiatic immigration and proposing standards.

Representative Moore asked naval committee to hear Philadelphia sailors who want a new drydock located there.

Indians boy corn raisers appeared before the agricultural committee.

SULZER LIED, SAYS DELANEY

New York Economy Commissioner Enters John Doe Inquiry.

Murphy Will Be Called as Witness—Also Denounces Sulzcr.

New York, Jan. 23.—Further sensational developments in the John Doe inquiry into state highway graft were promised today.

John H. Delaney, state commissioner of efficiency and economy, came down from Albany and asked the district attorney's permission to appear as a witness and give his version of statements made Wednesday by William Sulzcr, the former governor.

These statements, Delaney declared, are false.

At the conclusion of Sulzcr's testimony before the special grand jury yesterday, the foreman congratulated him warmly. Sulzcr was averse today to discussing the things touched upon by him before the grand jury, but from a friend to whom he had unbearably himself, it became known that he had not finished his testimony and probably would be called again next week.

Sulzcr Used Dictaphone. There are reports that Sulzcr had a telephone device installed in the governor's mansion at Albany, and that by means of records thus obtained he plans to substantiate many of his charges.

DEATH ENDS CHICAGO AUTHORITIES' PUZZLE

Man Faced Either Lunacy or Trial for Murder.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Andrew Olson, who for four months has faced hopeless lunacy, died today at Cook county jail, thereby concluding one of the most difficult cases ever before Cook county authorities.

After having, it is alleged, murdered his wife last September, Olson fired a bullet into his brain. Since that time he has been in a comatose condition, with a portion of the bullet imbedded in his brain.

Physicians said he would remain a hopeless lunatic if the bullet was not removed. Other physicians said the removal of the bullet would mean almost sure death. If the bullet had been removed and he had recovered, Olson would have faced trial for murder.

Yesterday jail physicians believed the prisoner's condition was such that he could withstand an operation, and the piece of lead was removed.

ASK POWER OF COMPELSION

Commerce Commissioners Find Witness Who Will Not Answer.

Ellis of Armour Interests Halts Car Line Inquiry.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Edward Hines, special attorney for the interstate commerce commission, left here for Washington to prepare a petition to the federal court that will establish one of the most important precedents ever put into effect to fix the powers of the commission to force answers from unwilling witnesses.

The commission's petition to Federal Judge Landis to compel E. W. Ellis, vice president of the Armour Refrigerator Car Lines, to answer questions in the rate hearing here will be filed Tuesday. Mr. Hines said he expected immediate action on it.

"Halling on our petition will establish how far witnesses may go in refusing to testify," said Mr. Hines. "This question is new. In a previous application for a ruling E. H. Harriman was allowed to decline to testify, but the ground taken then was that the commission did not contemplate making a complaint, but merely was seeking information on which to base recommendations."

Product of Southern California Japan Is Gift to Secretary.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 23.—A white radish, three feet long, thirty-six inches in circumference and weighing twelve pounds, was forwarded today from Los Angeles to William J. Bryan, secretary of state, at Washington.

The radish, which is said to be the largest ever produced in Southern California, was discovered by the secretary of a produce concern, who, knowing Mr. Bryan's fondness for white radishes, decided to ship it to him.

The vegetable was grown by Japanese truck gardeners, and is one year old.

FAMILY QUARREL ENDS IN MURDER.

Claims of Production. Some of the company officials claim the mines in this district are producing approximately 20,000 tons of copper ore per day. This is said to be about 75 per cent of the normal production. They also claim more than 11,000 men are at work in the mines. LIFE TERM GIVEN SLAYER OF WOMAN

Harry Dorow Is Sentenced By Judge in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 23.—Harry Dorow was today sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary by Municipal Judge A. C. Backus after a new trial had been refused.

Dorow was convicted of murdering Mrs. Emily Will, a sister of Lieut. William Maas of the police department, on the night of Oct. 19, with a piece of lead pipe.

Awakens Pullman Passengers While Robber Keeps Him Covered.

Holdup Man Gets Under $300 Near Jackson, Mich.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—With the assistance of two reluctant but badly scared porters, a bandit came to the aid of four passengers on the rear sleeper of the Michigan Central passenger train due here from Detroit at 7:30 o'clock this morning. It was a serio-comic affair, which netted the bandit something under $300.

The robber entered the train at Jackson, Mich., and left it about fifteen minutes later when Louis Thombs, one of the porters, signaled for the emergency brakes.

T. Merritt, porter of the car attacked, was the first to view the robber, who pointed a pistol at him and handed him a bag.

Made Porter Help Him. "Here," said the intruder, who was dressed in a black and white check suit and wore a cap pulled down over his eyes, "you go ahead and wake the passengers. Tell 'em there's a robber wants their money. No monkey business." (Continued on page 8, second column.)

AUTO THIEVES ARE BEING ROUNDED UP

Two Captures Quickly Made By New York Sleuths.

New York, Jan. 23.—Fifteen detectives, disguised as mechanics, started out in three automobiles early today, expecting to round up members of a band of automobile thieves suspected of operating here and in other cities and with stealing machines valued at $100,000 in New York alone.

They were taken. They described themselves as John W. Sherwood, an adjuster for a Philadelphia insurance company with offices here, and Charles Rully, a chauffeur. Both were held on charges of grand larceny.

BRITISH LINES NOT IN OCEAN AGREEMENT

Are Not Engaged in War on the Hamburg-American.

London, Jan. 23.—The British transatlantic steamship lines announced today that they are not parties to the newly formed North Atlantic Steamship association, organized at the shipping conference in Paris.

There has been a widespread impression on the subject here, and dispatches from Paris had been taken to mean that the lines had combined against the Hamburg-American. The Cunard company yesterday made a statement declaring that the new association consists solely of the North German Lloyd, the Red Star and the Holland-American lines, and that the Cunard and other British lines have nothing to do with it.

Place Guilty of Manslaughter. Pender, Neb., Jan. 23.—The jury in the third trial of William Flege, accused of murdering his sister, Louise, returned a verdict today, finding him guilty of manslaughter.

When court convened this morning the special prosecutors in the Western Fuel company immediately took the steps necessary to have the charges against Howard's name wiped out.

Besides his office with the coal company, Mr. Howard was president of the Beet Sugar Manufacturers of America and was associated in many other enterprises.

Howard was stricken with apoplexy at his home in Oakland after returning from the trial. The stroke occurred within an hour after the trial, and the government had closed its case against him and his associates. He never recovered consciousness.

Howard was born in Philadelphia 60 years ago and came to California in 1879. He was a member of the Masonic order and the Pacific union and belonged to many clubs in San Francisco. He is survived by a widow and son, John L. Howard, Jr.

COTTON CROP IS SECOND LARGEST

Census Bureau Report Indicates Over 14,000,000 Bales.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Announcement by the census bureau today that 13,889,771 bales of cotton, exclusive of lintels, had been ginned prior to Jan. 16, officially established the fact that the 1913-14 cotton crop is the second in size the country has grown.

Lintels obtained to Jan. 1 amounted to 386,834 bales, bringing the total cotton ginned, as far as official figures show, to 13,886,105 running bales. This amount will be increased by ginnings during the remainder of the season, so that the final figures will show a crop of more than 14,000,000 bales.

The preliminary figures will not be announced until March 20, when the census bureau will make its report showing the ginnings to Feb. 28.

FORMER SENATOR CULLOM STRONGER.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Former Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois, critically ill here, passed a good night, his physicians said, and was stronger this morning than at any time since his present illness began.

About noon today Mr. Cullom had a sinking spell and his family were prepared for the end. He rallied, however, and although his respiration had at one time fallen as low as 6, his physician said that his wonderful vitality gave promise that life would be prolonged for some time.

"WISHED ON" THE SHERIFF

Meining's Duty to Take the Prisoners to the New Work Farm.

Controversy With the Police Is Settled By Attorney's Opinion.

Charles E. Adams, special attorney for St. Louis county, yesterday settled the controversy between the police department and the sheriff's office regarding the disposition of the prisoners sentenced to the new work farm by the judges of the municipal court. Mr. Adams found after a careful investigation that it is the duty of the sheriff's office to take the prisoners to the farm.

When the new work farm was opened the first week of this month, several prisoners were sentenced to serve terms there by Judge Cutting of the municipal court. It was found that the police had no conveyance with which to take the prisoners to the farm.

Chief Troyer began investigating the situation and declared that it was not the duty of his department to deliver the prisoners, but that of Sheriff Meining. This latter disputed and a controversy arose which continued until yesterday, when Mr. Adams wrote an answer to Sheriff Meining, stating that it is his duty and not that of the police department.

The letter written to Sheriff Meining, a copy of which was received yesterday by Judge Cutting, follows: "John E. Meining, sheriff, St. Louis county, Duluth, Minn.: "The municipal court of Duluth has committed certain prisoners to the joint city and county work farm, located near but outside the city of Duluth, and that these prisoners have been delivered to you as sheriff, with commitments directed to you as sheriff, commanding you to convey and deliver these prisoners to the superintendent of said work farm."

"You ask me whether it is your duty as sheriff to execute such commitments by conveying and delivering such prisoners to the work farm."

"I have given your inquiry careful consideration, and I advise you that it is my opinion that it is your statutory duty as sheriff to execute all process, writs, precepts and orders issued or made by lawful authority, and to him delivered. A commitment from the municipal court of Duluth would be included within such process or order as those referred to in said section 238."

"The municipal court act of the city of Duluth, Section 48, provides that it shall be the duty of the police officers of said city to serve all processes or other papers issued by said court in the course of criminal proceedings. All such processes shall be delivered to the chief of police, and it shall be his duty to see that all such processes shall be served. Where process is to be served outside the city limits, such process shall be served by the sheriff of the county of St. Louis or by a deputy sheriff, or by a constable, and the sheriff shall receive similar fees as are by law allowed to constables for like services. A commitment is a process of the municipal court, within the meaning of this section."

LIMIT UNION HEAD'S POWER

United Mine Workers Change Naming of Scale Committee.

Adopt Resolution in Favor of Political "Labor" Party.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 23.—The power of the international president of the United Mine Workers of America was curtailed by the convention today. After much discussion it was voted to vest the power of appointing the important scale committee, which formulates the demands to be submitted to operators, in the delegates. Heretofore this committee has been named by the president.

Under the resolution, the delegates from each district will caucus after their arrival in the convention city and select their number of the committee.

The purpose of the resolution, as explained on the floor, was to get men from the mines, rather than the district officers, on the committee.

Cheer Copper Trade Plan.

The resolution providing for Federal investigation of the strikes in Michigan and Colorado was sanctioned by the caucus of Democratic representatives at Washington last night was greeted with prolonged applause.

A telegram from Trinidad, Colo., telling of the breaking up of a parade of women protesting against the imprisonment of "Mother" Jones, was cheered.

Several resolutions directed against the United States government have been introduced, and another proposes that there be a general strike of miners in case an international war is engaged in by the United States.

For Six-Hour Day.

A number of resolutions dealing with the working conditions have been referred to the scale committee. One of these resolutions demands that the organization take a stand for a six-hour working day, on the contention that the mining industry is crowded, and in this way it is hoped to obtain work for all.

After several hours of heated debate, the convention late yesterday adopted a resolution declaring that the time had arrived, "owing to the present economic conditions and the machinations of the interests in many places, for the laboring people to come together in a political labor party."

No party was designated and no preparations for a new party were contemplated.

Several Socialist delegates attempted to introduce an endorsement of their party for the laboring classes. Others opposed the designating of any party and it was decided that they did not wish to have their political beliefs forced upon the union.

Lunch Room Woman Heard.

The delegates were stirred by a charge made by Thomas Robertson of Hobbs, Pa., that the temporary lunch room, located in one of the corridors of the hall, was unfair to union labor. He declared that non-union waitresses were employed there and that the provisions were delivered by non-union teamsters.

Miss E. J. Allen, who has the privilege for the lunch room, was called to the platform for an explanation. She said she was not regularly in the business; that the waitresses were merely her friends helping her out, and that she was doing it in an effort to pay off a mortgage on her home, which is due in March. She is a widow. She was loudly applauded and permitted to continue the lunch room.

Miss S. M. Franklin of Chicago, international secretary of the Woman's Trade Union league, and A. McAndrew, president of the Tobacco Workers' International union, addressed the delegates this afternoon.

Miss Franklin told of the troubles in trying to organize women. The main trouble, she said, is the fact that the girls take work only as a makeshift, as their ultimate aim is to become wives and there are not particularly interested in the labor movement.

McAndrew made a plea that the miners use only article bearing the union label, and a resolution to that effect was adopted.

Shows Bullet-Riddled Tent.

A small tent was erected on the platform, Frank J. Hayes, vice president, who had charge of the Colorado strike, said the tent was taken from the Forbes, Colo., tent colony, and that it contained the bullet holes made by a machine gun. He said one man was killed and nine times in the legs at the time the tent was riddled.

DAMAGE CASE IN JURY'S HANDS

Action Brought By Bertha Gronlund to Recover for Husband's Death.

The action for alleged wrongful death brought against the Cudahy Packing company and George H. Lounsbury, local vice conductor, by Bertha Gronlund, who is seeking to recover $7,500 as a result of the death of her husband, was taken by the jury by Judge Dancer in district court at 10:45 o'clock this morning.

Gronlund died from injuries received on Nov. 29, 1912, in a collision between two wagons on Michigan street under the same circumstances as one of the wagons belonged to the Cudahy Packing company. Lounsbury, the other defendant, is held liable because he is alleged to have blocked a part of the street at the point where the accident occurred, with a pile of rubbish.

END OF POLICE PROBE UNCERTAIN

Examinations Are Expected to Be Continued Into Next Week.

That the grand jury investigation of the police department which has been in progress for the past two weeks will not be concluded before Monday or Tuesday is the next week is announced as a probability by Warren E. Greene, county attorney, who is assisting the constitutional body in its work.

Madam Cain, former resort keeper, John W. Nagle, managing editor of the News Tribune, and B. M. Goldberg, attorney for Madam Cain, were the only witnesses examined before the grand jury yesterday. It is understood that the madam shook the jury her so-called "grand book."

Chief of Police C. H. Troyer was recalled as a witness this morning. The only other witnesses examined at the morning session were J. E. Whiteley and C. A. E. Finnson, two local attorneys.

CHANCELLOR SCORES GERMAN SOCIALISTS

Calls Zabern Inquirers "Underminers of the Throne."

Berlin, Jan. 23.—The Socialist deputies in the German imperial parliament were bitterly assailed today by the imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, when they put questions to him in connection with the acquittal by court-martial of the German army officers concerned in the recent incidents between military and civilians at Zabern, Alsace.

The chancellor told the Socialist representatives they were "underminers of the throne and preachers of republicanism." At the same time he praised the glories of the German army, "under whose protection Germany has become great and prosperous."

PREDICTS COLD

ON OLD THEORY.
"This is the time for everybody to get ready for a right smart spell of cold," said a man today as he hustled into one of the offices and bargained for a supply to be sent up to his house. "I was brought up on a farm in Canada," he added, "and when on a mild winter's day we saw fog all around us we immediately began banking up the barn and seeing that cracks in the barn and sheds were filled, for it was considered certain that real cold weather was about due."

Marine WATERWAY TO OCEAN

Senator Townsend Talks of It at Lake Carriers' Banquet.

Asserts That the Cost Is Nothing as Compared to Benefits.

Detroit, Jan. 23.—United States Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan told the members of the Lake Carriers' association at their annual banquet here last night that the annual volume of commerce on the Great Lakes would be ten times as great as "the most optimistic estimate" of annual commerce through the Panama canal, if the natural waterway course from the Head of the Lakes to the Gulf of St. Lawrence were sufficiently improved to enable ocean-going vessels to reach lake ports.

Senator Townsend discussed at length the waterway plan which he has advocated in congress and in addresses outside of Washington. He predicted the marine improvement, costing many millions of dollars eventually would be made "either by Canada alone, or by the United States and Canada," but urged co-operation by the two countries.

"There are three great possible obstacles to overcome," said Mr. Townsend. "They are the railroads, international complications, and the cost. It is a strange fact that certain railroad interests oppose practically every proposition to improve water transportation facilities. It is a fact for history has demonstrated over and over again that improved waterways have increased traffic not only on the water improved, but also on the competing railroads."

"There are international difficulties to overcome. Unfortunately, as it seems to me, there is no universal good feeling for the United States in Canada."

"The great practical question which will confront this project will be its cost. The United States has shown that to improve all the waters of the Great Lakes from their heads to Buffalo, so as to accommodate boats drawing 25 feet of water, would cost $25,000,000. Increase that amount three-fold and we would have more than the cost of a 35-foot channel. Already the Canadian government has expended by way of appropriation or authorization, for $60,000,000 in expended in enlarging the Welland canal to accommodate vessels of 30-foot draft, and has wisely provided such improvement shall be made with a view to ultimate enlargement to 35-foot depth."

Discussing the probable cost of improving the waterway from Lake Ontario to Montreal, Senator Townsend said he had no means of estimating the cost, but declared he did not believe it would cost $100,000,000.

"Whatever the cost is, it can be recovered in power value," he added, "assuming that an improved waterway would mean greater potential energy, and the power developed as a consequence if sold, could bring a revenue of several million dollars a year."

A number of other speakers were made. The speakers included Col. W. B. Eby, former chief of the United States department of marine and fisheries.

The only change made by the Lake Carriers in the annual election was the placing of J. S. Ashley of Cleveland on the executive committee to fill a vacancy.

The Lake Carriers' association officially lent its support to a movement to establish a government weather bureau on the Great Lakes. A resolution was adopted urging congress to establish a bureau at various lake points from which marine signals only should be displayed. Prominent vessel men who fostered the movement said it would add to the safety of navigation and would prevent a repetition of the disaster of the schooner last November. The association, in its annual report, however, declared the weather bureau was not to be blamed for the marine tragedies of last autumn.

Although members of the association informally expressed their opposition to the La Follette senator's bill, it was not made the subject of a resolution.

Amusement Notes.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Alice Lloyd, ORPHEUM—Vaudeville, IMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.
Alice Lloyd, the twinkling star of two continents, under the direction of William Morris, will be the attraction at the Lyceum tonight.

Miss Lloyd, who is known throughout the theatrical world as England's daintiest comedienne, will be seen in a new song repertoire, including "Parisian Crinolines," "Mother, Mother," "My Night Out," "When Mother Was Twenty-one," "Lady Policemen," "Ship Ahoy," "Wish Me," "Who Are You Getting At," "Never Introduce Your Bloke," "Stockings on the Line," "Tourist and the Maid," "Nothing Doing," "Mary Told the Soldier," "The Girls I Left Behind Me," and others.

A promising feature of the big all-star show will be a dance revue of all nations entitled "The World's Fair," featuring a realistic glimpse of the famous exposition at the New York theater, New York, together with a vivid interpretation of the cabaret life in New York and Paris.

Frank Fogarty, "The Dublin Bird," will be another big feature of the show. There will be twenty-two other features, including Ed Latell, Faaly and Young, Sidney Wood and Doraine Sisters, De Lisle and Vernon, Burdette and Ella, and the New Diamond and Mme. De Lavar, Cowboy Minstrels, "The Act Beautiful," and others.

While Gaby's "Dolls" is one of the most talked of actresses on this or the foreign stage, her costumes, always rare and exotic, come in for their share of comment. Gaby, who comes to this city Sunday night at the Lyceum theater, is not averse to this kind of interest, and realizes that she must give the public what it wants. Each summer, upon her return to Paris, she sets about designing new costumes and then having them fitted. This requires so much of her time that she employs a young woman, who has the same measurements as Gaby, to attend to the fitting.

Returning to America recently Gaby brought with her something like 150 complete changes of costumes. There were so many trunks full that she was compelled by the customs officers to send every trunk for them to the appraisers' store. There it took over a day for the officers and Gaby's two maids to go through the collection.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Castle will be seen in Duluth, not in person but through the medium of motion picture.

So great has been the demand for the services of the Castle, probably the most famous of the exponents of the modern dances, that they have been unable to fill out-leth of the engagements offered them. They finally consented to appear before the motion picture camera, for a very substantial fee, and the rights to this film were secured by Martin Beck, the managing director of the Orpheum circuit. The pictures will be shown at the Duluth Orpheum the week of

Feb. 8. Duluth will then have an opportunity of seeing the modern dances "as they should be danced."

This week's comedy bill is proving popular. Three more performances will be given, tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night. The new bill will open Sunday afternoon. It will be headlined by Miss Charlotte Parry, who gives a Protean sketch entitled "Into the Light." Among the other acts on the bill will be a Deerfoot Indian who has a unique act consisting of juggling and lariat throwing. The act has been acclaimed as one of the real novelties of the year in vaudeville. The Kaufman Brothers, two of the most popular blackface comedians who have ever been seen in Duluth, will return next week.

The Empress theater is advertising the musical comedy "The Duke of Durham," as being part and pretty. That describes it in a fairly accurate manner. The music is much above the average and the lyrics are good. The comedy that is producing it is capable and it puts the show over in a brisk and snappy way. Last night a large audience saw it and applauded liberally. The plot of the piece is a matter of ardent love, of course, and the introduction of a fake "duke" to cure an ambitionist's ailment of his desire to have the girl marry a title.

There is some good low comedy furnished by the phony duke. This part is enacted by quite a clever Dutch comedian. His dialect is mirth-producing and his energy evidently untiring. The love scenes are well acted and pleasing. The chorus is a good looking one and possesses some good voices. The piece affords a good deal of pleasure in the way of a number of good songs.

Some good motion pictures are also furnished, one being about the love affair of two tots and the other concerning a woman's insatiable desire for jewelry. As a whole the bill is good.

MOTHER! IT'S CRUEL TO FORCE OIL OR CALOMEL INTO A SICK CHILD.

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "physic" that mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they are doing to their children. Their children's revolt is well founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing give "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless fruit laxative handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow. It should be the first remedy given as it always does good, never any harm.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

U. S. CHARGE AIDS MEXICAN TO GET AWAY

O'Shaughnessy Smuggles Deputy Out of Huerta's Reach.

Mercado Is in Command of Camp of Refugees.

Mexico City, Jan. 23.—Jorge Vera Estanol, one of the 110 deputies thrown into jail by President Huerta on Oct. 10, 1913, has been smuggled out of town by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires, and sent safely on his way to Vera Cruz.

Senor Estanol is a prominent attorney and was minister of public instruction in the late President Madero's cabinet. He was released from the penitentiary by court order. Senor Estanol and his friends believing that his life was in danger, appealed to Mr. O'Shaughnessy, who secured a private car, and with great secrecy put Senor Estanol on board. The car was then attached to the regular train for Vera Cruz, from which port it is assumed Senor Estanol will sail at once.

Rumors had been current in the Federal capital for the last two days that Senor Estanol and Rodolfo Reyes, formerly provisional minister of justice, had been secretly executed. The latter, however, still is in the penitentiary.

Otto Winter Safe.—Washington, Jan. 23.—Otto Winter, the American ranch manager, reported in danger of death with Mexican Federalists camped on his property near Laredo, Texas, has been placed in command of the camp of his injured soldiers and refugees at Fort Bliss. As a token of his continued loyalty to the government at Mexico City, Gen. Mercado at once christened the main street of the camp "Avenida General Huerta." Although himself one of the interned refugees who are not permitted to leave the reservation, Gen. Mercado was selected by the United States army officials as best fitted to have personal supervision over his men.

Name Camp Street Huerta.—El Paso, Texas, Jan. 23.—Salvador Mercado, who commanded the Mexican Federal army which was routed from Ojinaga, Mexico, has been placed in command of the camp of his injured soldiers and refugees at Fort Bliss. As a token of his continued loyalty to the government at Mexico City, Gen. Mercado at once christened the main street of the camp "Avenida General Huerta." Although himself one of the interned refugees who are not permitted to leave the reservation, Gen. Mercado was selected by the United States army officials as best fitted to have personal supervision over his men.

Refugees Have to Bathe.—Water pipes were laid and all the Mexicans were told that they must bathe regularly. The Mexican consul in El Paso called at Fort Bliss to arrange to pay some of the back salaries of the Mexican soldiers. He at first refused to meet Gen. Mercado, but later, after a conference with him, the American officers said they had no authority to negotiate for the interned soldiers' salaries. The money said to be available for the interned soldiers is $70,000, which was taken from a Federal war master at Marfa, Texas, who attempted to drive through to Ojinaga, when told by the American border patrol to halt.

HOPES GOETHALS WILL HEAD GOTHAM POLICE

Mayor Mitchell Says George Perkins Has Urged Acceptance.

New York, Jan. 23.—Mayor Mitchell made a statement this afternoon carrying the suggestion that Col. George W. Goethals, chief engineer of the Panama canal, might be the next police commissioner of New York. "From the beginning," said the mayor, "I have wanted Col. Goethals to head the police department. Recently George W. Perkins urged him to accept the place. I am to have a personal interview with Mr. Perkins tomorrow, and until that time I can make no statement." Mr. Perkins sailed for Panama early in the month and had a conference with Col. Goethals. If the colonel accepts the position of police commissioner, it will be necessary for him to retire from the army.

"Incredible," Says Garrison.—Washington, Jan. 23.—If Col. Goethals intends to resign from the army to become police commissioner of New York, his plans are unknown at the White House and the War Department. It is generally understood here that President Wilson intends to make Col. Goethals the first governor of the canal zone.

WOMAN ATTACKS THE COLORADO MILITIA

Trouble Starts Over Detention of "Mother Jones" at Trinidad.

Trinidad, Colo., Jan. 23.—Twenty or more persons, including eight women, are under arrest and at least five are known to be suffering from slight injuries as the result of a serious street riot which took place here yesterday afternoon when the militia, under the personal direction of Gen. John Chase, broke up a mob of strikers and strike sympathizers which was attempting to march to San Rafael hospital, where "Mother Jones" is held under military arrest.

Stones, bottles and bricks were hurled at the militiamen by crowd of angry women, who precipitated the outbreak when they were ordered to turn back by the soldiers. Several soldiers, including Maj. H. M. Randolph, were assaulted, and not until the cavalrymen with drawn swords had charged the crowd several times was the mob dispersed. One soldier sustained a broken rib when his horse fell, and one of the rioters received a cut from a saber.

The riot followed a parade of wives and children of striking coal miners, which had been carefully planned by the union leader, Ben Peterson, to carry the plans out had been granted by Gen. Chase with the understanding that no effort would be made to march to the hospital.

Preliminary steps for the formation of a women's political organization to be known as the "women's voting association of Southern Colorado" were taken at a mass meeting. A telegram was drafted to be sent to President Wilson protesting against the incarceration of "Mother Jones" and the acts of state militia.

CHARGE CHANGED TO PETIT LARCENY

Reduction of Estimate on Value of Watch Helps Carl Nelson.

The case against Carl Nelson, 23 years old, who was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of grand larceny and who later pleaded not guilty, was dismissed this morning and a new charge of petit larceny brought against the prisoner. It was learned last night that the watch which Nelson is alleged to have stolen from Axel Olson is not worth $65, as claimed by the plaintiff, and the charge of the grand larceny was changed to the new charge this afternoon.

Nelson is accused of having stolen a watch some time Wednesday from Olson.

Mr. Gates, who arrived from Indianapolis, had equipped himself with a number of decisions, from Federal and other courts, involving ball players' contracts and the reserve clause.

CASES AGAINST GREEKS DROPPED

Drinks Donated in Celebrating Greek New Years on Jan. 14.

The cases against Louis Gattis, charged with selling liquor without a license at his restaurant, 213 West First street, and James Pappas, John Kallias, James Cummings, George Smith and Peter Apostolakis, the latter five charged with gambling at Gattis' place on Jan. 14, were dismissed in police court this morning at the motion of City Prosecutor Guerne, who declared there was not enough evidence to convict any of the defendants.

Hans B. Haroldson and Chauncey Colton appeared for Gattis, whose case was the first tried. Following the dismissal of his case, City Prosecutor Guerne made a motion for the dismissal of the other cases without trial.

According to the claims of the defendants, the Alexander the Great society, a local organization of Greeks, was celebrating the Greek New Year's eve on Jan. 14 and the beer and drinks served were purchased by the society for its members. The witnesses for the state testified that they drank several times during the evening, but that they did not pay for the drinks. Gattis declared that he had donated the beer to all those present in his restaurant on that evening.

Gattis and the others were arrested late that evening and were arraigned in police court the following morning. They pleaded not guilty and the trials were set for 10 o'clock this morning. When arrested Gattis was allowed to go on payment of $50 bail and others on payment of $15 each.

New York, Jan. 23.—After five weeks' struggle with storms and adverse winds, the Italian steamship Oceano reached port in tow of the German steamer Elizabeth. Her coal supply gave out, some of her boiler tubes were disabled and she was badly battered.

MEMBERSHIPS IN BOARD OF TRADE MAY BE TAXED

Ruling of Judge Dibell Upheld By the Supreme Court.

Affects 200 Members of Local Exchange; 1,000 in Minneapolis.

Memberships on a board of trade are taxable as an item of personal property, according to a decision handed down in the Minnesota supreme court today.

The ruling of the court is of great importance not only to the taxing officials of St. Louis and Hennepin counties but also to grain men trading in Duluth and Minneapolis.

The decision sustains in every particular the ruling of Former Judge Dibell of the district court who upheld the right of the St. Louis county taxing officials to place memberships on the Duluth board of trade on the assessment rolls as personal property. The lower court's findings and order for judgment were filed in personal property tax proceedings against Sidney A. McPhail, a local grain man and member of the Duluth board of trade. It was a test suit which involved a much disputed question as to the right of the taxing officials to assess memberships in a board of trade. The decision of the lower court was filed last March and an appeal to the supreme court was immediately taken.

The decision will mean that 200 memberships in the Duluth board of trade and 1,000 seats in the Minneapolis chamber of commerce will be taxed as personal property in the future. The ruling is deemed to be of great importance because, prior to 1911, the value of memberships had never been assessed by the supreme court. It has never before ruled on the question in so far as it directly defines the right which was recently assumed by the tax officials.

Taxed 200 "Seats."
On May 1, 1911, for the first time in the history of the state, City Assessor J. A. Scott placed on the tax rolls of St. Louis county the 200 memberships on the Duluth board of trade, assessing each at $500, or $100,000 for the whole. Prior to this, taxing officials had left them off the rolls. Taxes on these assessments fell due last March and were all paid under protest, except in one instance—that of Mr. McPhail. His case was selected for a test suit.

The local board of trade became interested in the matter and decided that a friendly test suit should be instituted to decide the question. On April 1, 1912, he tax against Mr. McPhail's seat became delinquent and proceedings were started to enforce collection. Francis W. Sullivan, attorney for the board of trade, filed an answer in which he disputed the right to assess the memberships. Charles E. Adams, special county counsel, represented the local taxing officials.

The taxing officials of Hennepin county placed the 1,000 seats on the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce on the assessment rolls shortly after City Assessor Scott of this city made the assessment of the Duluth board of trade memberships and a test action involving the same question was instituted in the Hennepin county courts. The case was never decided and the ruling in this case will govern.

In his decision, Judge Dibell found that the Duluth board of trade is a duly organized corporation under the laws of Minnesota without capital stock organized to furnish trading privileges to its members; that it owns land and buildings valued at $200,000 and $500,000 on which it pays in proportion to which other property taxes.

Value of "Seats."
The market value of the 200 memberships in the local board of trade was held by the court to have been between $250 and $500 on Jan. 1, 1911. The court further held that each membership was entitled to a 1-100th part of the value of the tangible property of the corporation and that the value of the memberships was above the value of its share in the tangible property amounted to between $500 and $500.

Judge Dibell held that the city assessor was fair and just in valuing the memberships at $500. On this basis the lower court ruled, memberships are subject to assessment and taxation as any other property assessed in the manner that personal property is taxed. Judgment was ordered against Mr. McPhail in favor of the state for $15.37, the amount of the 1911 tax on his membership, assessed at $500.

Supreme Court Ruling.
The supreme court, in an opinion written by Justice Bunn, affirms the ruling of Judge Dibell in the following language:

"A membership in the Duluth board of trade is property."

"It is property which the legislature, under the Constitution of the state, might by law tax."

"Revised Laws, 1905, Section 794, providing that all real and personal property in this state and all personal property of persons residing therein, except exempt property, is taxable, means that all personal property of whatever nature not exempt from taxation shall pay taxes under this section."

"The taxation of such a membership does not violate any provision of the Federal or state Constitutions." Charles E. Adams, who appeared in the case for the city and the assessor in both the district and supreme courts, today expressed his satisfaction in the decision, which he considered the case one of the most important tax cases tried in the local courts for years.

be prosecuted in the courts of the United States."

Mr. Taft said the list of outrages against aliens by mob violence reached from 1811 to the present and the failure of state authorities to punish offenders was no record to be proud of.

Of the necessity for such a measure, Mr. Taft said:

"While in the Eastern state courts criminal justice is generally meted out promptly, thoroughly and with an even hand, in the Western and Southern state courts this is not true, and the differences between the administration in the Federal courts and in the state courts in such states is well known to those who are likely to become criminals."

In support of this he cited the cases of train robbers who had refrained from touching mail trains in order to avoid contact with the Federal laws and courts.

Attorneys Ask $200,000
From the Higgins Land Company.

In two actions started in district court yesterday against the Higgins Land company, of which the late Governor Frank L. Higgins of New York was a leading spirit, attorneys fees aggregating $200,000 are demanded by Herbert R. Spencer and Alexander Marshall of the firm of Spencer & Marshall and Frank A. Barber.

Spencer & Marshall are suing for $150,000 for legal services performed between Jan. 1, 1910, and July 1, 1913, and Barber is seeking $50,000 for his services between July 1, 1909, and July 1, 1913. Spencer & Marshall claim that they had a contract with the company for a $100,000 fee for performing certain work with regard to the leasing of mining property owned by the company on the Mesaba range. The company refused to liquidate the contract, the attorneys ask for a fee of $150,000 as the reasonable value of their services.

RETURNS FROM

J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court, returned yesterday from a three weeks' sojourn in Southern Florida, where he visited at Port Myers, Punta Gorda, La Belle, Winter Haven and other points of interest.

Mr. Johnson declares that the winter tourist travel is at its height now and that every incoming train in the Florida country brings a load of people from the Northern part of the United States and from Canada. Johnson has a fruit farm in Florida and reports that crop conditions at the present time could not be better.

GIVEN CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD

Paroled Man May Work in Minneapolis to Support Family Here.

Brought into court because he indulged in intoxicants and violated the conditions of his parole, Abraham E. Levine, who pleaded guilty before Judge Foster on Oct. 8 to a charge of wife desertion, will be given another opportunity to make good.

The court gave him another chance for three months and told him that in view of the fact that he and his wife constantly quarreled and could not get along together that he might secure a position in Minneapolis and send back $20 a month to his family. Levine was directed to make regular weekly payments of $5 each to Probation Officer Resche.

Levine told the probation officer that he would rather go to the penitentiary than to be compelled to live with his wife. He was given a ticket for Minneapolis last evening by the officer. His family consists of a wife and four children.

Levine is paroled under a penitentiary sentence.

Carmady is said to have been experimenting with oil when the explosion occurred. The interior of the Roe was considerably damaged.

Two Minor Demands Denied.
Albany, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Of the minor demands of employees of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad company, two were denied by C. E. Burr, acting general superintendent, it has become known. About 5,000 engineers, conductors, telegraphers, firemen and trainmen were on strike for sixteen hours last Monday, principally because two discharged men were not reinstated. Union leaders who have been in conference with Mr. Burr since Monday declared last night that while his ultimatum was adverse to the strikers, they would stand by his decision. The demands dealt with questions of discipline and wages.

MUCH BUTTER BURNED.

Forty-Two Tubs Lost in Swanville, Minn., Creamery Fire.

Little Falls, Minn., Jan. 23.—The old Farmers' Co-operative creamery with old its contents burned to the ground Tuesday. All the machinery and forty-two tubs of butter and several barrels of salt were burned.

Walter Anderson, manager of the creamery, had gone to the lake with the ice inspector to look over the ice that was to be packed for use in the creamery. James Adams and Clarence Alesbury were in the creamery packing butter when the fire broke out in the engine room. The fire department was soon on the ground but they could not get water in time to save the creamery, but other buildings near the creamery were saved by the efficient work of the fire department.

The loss was covered by insurance. A new creamery will soon be in operation.

NEGRO PORTER FOUND GUILTY

May Serve From One to Five Years in Penitentiary.

Because Frank Jacobs, negro porter, lost his temper when A. D. Cummins, a Pullman conductor, upbraided him for being late for work on the evening of Nov. 22, and slashed the latter across the face with a knife, he will probably serve from one to five years in the state penitentiary. Jacobs was convicted of assault in the second degree in Judge Engstrom's division of the district court yesterday afternoon. He was charged with assault in the first degree. Jacobs was defended by James G. Thurman, a colored attorney of Superior. Mason M. Forbes, assistant county attorney, appeared for the state. The jury was out three hours.

LIVESTOCK MEN CLOSE SESSIONS.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 23.—The American National Livestock association closed its seventeenth annual convention here with the selection of San Francisco as the place for the 1915 meeting, and the reelection of H. Denver; attorney, Sam H. Cowan, Fort Worth, Texas; secretary, T. W. Tomlinson, Denver.

Resolutions were adopted concerning grazing and forestry regulations, advocating protection for American ranchmen in Texas and covering other matters of interest to stockmen.

HUMAN BRUTE LEFT DUMB BRUTE TO STARVE.

J. G. Luxon, special agent for the Duluth Humane society, in charge of the animal welfare work, had his attention directed yesterday to a white building which from all appearance had been locked in a vacant room in the Columbia building several days ago.

The dog evidently had had neither food nor drink for several days. It was taken to the police station, where it awaits a claimant.

SLEEP DISTURBING BLADDER WEAKNESS BACKACHE-RHEUMATISM, QUICKLY VANISH

Even Most Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After A Few Doses Are Taken

Backache, urinary disorders, and rheumatism, are caused from weak, inactive kidneys, which fail to filter out the impurities and keep the blood pure, and the only way on earth to permanently and positively cure such troubles, is to remove the cause.

The new discovery, Croxone, cures such conditions because it reaches the very roots of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped up, inactive kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering cells and glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism; it neutralizes the urine so it no longer irritates the tender membranes of the bladder, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped up, lifeless kidneys so they filter and sift all poisons from the blood, and drive it out of the system. So sure, so positive, so quick and lasting, are the results obtained from the use of Croxone, that three doses a day for a few days are often all that is required to cure the worst case of backache, regulate the most annoying bladder disorders, and overcome the numerous other similar conditions.

It is the most wonderful preparation ever made for the purpose. It is entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can obtain an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give desired results, regardless of how old you are, how long you have suffered, or what else has failed to cure you.

AEROPLANES FOR THE NAVY

Modern Fleet of Aerial War Craft to Be Developed.

Planned to Put American Navy Ahead of the World.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The aeronautical station ship Mississippi has been ordered to Pensacola, Fla., for permanent duty. To the average layman it means little or nothing. To the navy and to scientists engaged in the study of aerial navigation it is of tremendous significance.

The United States government will begin at once the development of a modern fleet of aerial war craft, able to navigate through the air at a speed of forty-five miles an hour or better, and to ride the water at almost the same speed. These airships will be equipped with appliances of the modern, superendowments of the navy, such as range finders, searchlights, and other apparatus. They also will carry bomb dropping devices.

At present the United States is far behind every foreign power in the development of air craft for military purposes. It is the purpose of Secretary Daniels and Capt. Washington I. Chambers, the father of aviation in the navy, to put the American navy ahead of the world, both in the science of aerial navigation and in the actual construction of the aeroplane in military operations.

Many High-Class Pilots. While the United States has been slow in developing a naval air fleet it has not been slow in training aerial navigators, either in the army or the navy. In the navy the training school at Annapolis for more than three years, working directly under the command of Capt. Chambers, will move the aviation school from Annapolis to Pensacola, Fla., with the Mississippi. Lieut. Commander H. C. Mustin will have charge of the aeronautical work aboard the Mississippi and will work in conjunction with Lieut. Towers.

As Capt. Chambers and Lieut. Towers work out theories Lieut. Towers will apply practically. The Mississippi will be used for making test flights from battleships. These flights will include the dispatching of a hydro-aeroplane from the deck of the Mississippi and receiving it aboard the vessel, and the working out of a plan for carrying and storing a number of aeroplanes aboard the battleships.

These experiments will be made under all weather and speed conditions. Lieut. Towers will be in charge of the development of the plans for the creation of an aerial fleet. As Capt. Chambers and Lieut. Towers work out theories Lieut. Towers will apply practically. The Mississippi will be used for making test flights from battleships. TAFT "SYMPATHIZES WITH BILL BRYAN."

The guests at the luncheon were former President William H. Taft, Oscar Straus and Seth Low. In the preface of an important speech Prof. Taft said: "I am beginning to have a great deal of sympathy for mother 'Bill' Bryan. Talk seems to be necessary to facilitate digestion. PRESIDENT WILSON MAY LOSE WIFE'S GIFT OF LAND Complicated Hearing Begun in Los Angeles Land Office.

Action Begun By Guarantor of Title—Fraud Is Charged.

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 23.—Sixty acres of date land in the Coachella valley in Southern California, deeded to President Wilson by his wife, was brought into contest yesterday in a complicated proceeding before the registrar and receiver of the United States land office here. Two persons claim the land—the president of the United States and Homer L. Goddard, a date planter—and three different sorts of entries were filed upon it.

The contest was brought by John T. King, a ranchman, who sold the land to Mrs. Margaret Axson Elliott, sister of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and wife of Edward Elliott, former dean of Princeton university, now a resident of Berkeley, Cal. Mrs. Elliott sold the property to Mrs. Wilson and the president. King charged that a conspiracy to commit fraud was carried out by Mrs. Maud Compton Hensie, of Los Angeles and her brother John L. Compton, editor of a newspaper in the Coachella valley. One of his chief exhibits is a deed naming President Wilson as the present owner of the land. If King's contest is successful he will remain owner, but an adverse decision will turn the land over to Homer L. Goddard, athletic director of the Los Angeles high school. In September last paid Mrs. Hensie $500 cash and gave her a note for $350 for her relinquishments of a claim.

The land, a 150-acre tract, lies in the region of the Salton sea and is 150 feet below ocean level. Originally King paid the state of California $102.76 for it. This was in 1903. Some time later, according to his statement of fact, Mrs. Axson Elliott, the president's sister-in-law, visited the valley to investigate its date-growing possibilities, and he sold her sixty acres, this she subsequently turned over to Mrs. Wilson, who deeded it to her husband. The remaining twenty acres were sold to another party, and in each instance King guaranteed title.

In the meantime King published notice of location and filing of claims in the Coachella Valley News. The land office found a typographical error in the legal notice, and ordered a republication. In his pleading King alleges that Compton, as owner of the News, failed to make republication, and in the interim advised his sister to file homestead entry on the land. Compton testified yesterday, however, that he was not editor of the News, which is at odds, but of the Coachella Submarine, published at Hermosa.

Before Mrs. Hensie filed her homestead claim King's sister had had a feuded King's claim. King declares he did not know this until Mrs. Hensie took possession. While he was preparing a contest, he alleges, Mrs. Hensie on Sept. 27, 1913, relinquished her homestead claim to Homer L. Goddard, who supplanted it with a desert land entry.

Points to Be Decided. The points to be decided by the land office officials are: Was King responsible for the failure to publish notice of the filing made by him, and did the government land officials the right to forfeit his claim? Mrs. Hensie and her brother testified there was no conspiracy between

ARE YOU BOUND BY DRINK?

TAKE AN INVENTORY AND SEE JUST WHERE YOU STAND.

"INCUBATOR BABY'S" KIDNAPER PARDONED

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 23.—F. H. Tillotson, a detective, who in 1909 kidnapped Marion Bleakley, the famous "incubator baby," was pardoned yesterday by Governor Hodges. He was under sentence of from one to five years in the Kansas penitentiary, but was at liberty on bond pending hearing of an appeal to the United States supreme court.

Tillotson took Marion from the home of a relative of Mrs. Lottie Bleakley in Topeka, and took the child to Kansas City, where he was adopted by Mrs. James G. Barclay of Moline, Ill. Mrs. Barclay and Mrs. Bleakley were fighting in the courts for the child's possession.

Marion was born in a St. Louis hospital in 1904. She was so small she did not resolve to reform. They realize that they are on the downward road. They have gone far enough to know it is no primrose path. They realize that to the drinker comes loss of employment, loss of reputation, loss of substance, loss of character, loss of the respect of friends and loss of self-respect. They know that the man who is a slave to his appetite for stimulants brings disgrace to his friends, poverty and privation to his family and ultimately degenerates in the bar room "bun" where no worse fate awaits him.

When a man realizes that he is on the downward grade it's time for him to stop, and he knows it. But when he tries to he finds that he can't. The craving for liquor has mastered him, and if no helping hand is held out to him, ninety-nine times out of a hundred he goes from bad to worse. What these men need is something that will destroy the craving for drink will do. It is the antidote to the appetite for strong liquor. It destroys it. It takes it away entirely. In fact, overaction and distaste for liquor takes its place. By taking the Neal Treatment, even the habitual drunkard becomes again his own master. It is simple. It requires only three days. It is absolutely effective and absolutely harmless. It involves no considerable loss of time. No hypodermic injections are given and no powerful or poisonous drugs are used. There are no bad after effects.

Our new booklet, "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction," telling the whole intensely interesting story, will be mailed to you on request, in a plain sealed cover. Write for it today. The Neal Institute, 887 West Seventh street, Superior, Wis.; St. Paul Institute, 676 Dayton avenue, Minneapolis Institute, 403 South Seventh street.

GOOD SUM GIVEN FOR NEW CHURCH

Gift of $525 By West End Mission Society An- nounced.

A sum of $525 was given to the building of the Trinity English Lutheran church by the West End Mission society, according to announcement made last night at the celebration of the first anniversary of the Ladies Aid society of the church and its reception to the pastor, Rev. P. O. Hanson, and Mrs. Hanson held in the parlors of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

The money was the balance that this society had in its treasury before the time most of its members joined the Trinity congregation and changed its name. The sum is given on condition that $100 of it be used for the purpose of installing a memorial window for Rev. J. D. Murphy and Mrs. Murphy, who were instrumental in organizing the society. Another small sum of the money will be used for the purchase of an organ to be used by the Sunday school of the new church. About 150 members of the church and their friends attended the reception last night. Mrs. E. C. Eash was toastmistress. The parlors of the church were prettily decorated with palms and evergreens. The program included several addresses and musical selections. Among those who spoke were Rev. P. O. Hanson, C. R. Magney, Prof. J. Gibson and Charles W. Erickson. Musical numbers were given by Mrs. Charles Eliasson and members of the Sunshine society. It was announced that the congregation would be able to use the basement of its new church now under construction at the corner of Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street about March 1. It is probable that the first sermon will be preached there on that date.

THOMPSON TO MEET COLLINS

Socialists Choose Milwaukee Man in Place of Morris Kaplan.

Carl D. Thompson, former city clerk of Milwaukee under the Seidel administration, and at present the head of the information department of the national socialist party, has been selected by the local Socialists to represent them in the debate with Peter W. Collins in place of Morris Kaplan, who challenged Mr. Collins.

Thompson is said to be one of the best debaters in the socialist movement and local Socialists profess to be confident that he will be able to hold his own with Mr. Collins.

The date for the debate has not been fixed. It is understood that the committee representing the Knights of Columbus and the Socialist party in Duluth will get together on this point in the near future.

George R. Kirkpatrick, author and lecturer, will be in Duluth on March 2, and deliver his lecture on "The Iron Era." The Socialists are bringing Kirkpatrick to this city.

The study class in Socialism met in the party headquarters last night. About fifty-five people attended. These more country life delegates at the evening with the exception of next week. It was settled without disputing that next week's meeting on Friday evening owing to the fact that Helen Keller, who is a member of the Socialist party, will deliver a lecture on Thursday evening.

DISPUTED BILL IS EXPENSIVE

North Dakota Must Pay
Ten Times Original Amount.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Herman Klug of Grand Forks county, must pay ten times as much for $15 worth of food, delivered to him while he was under quarantine at his farm home near Northwood, than he would have been compelled to pay had he settled without disputing the bill.

The supreme court yesterday decided that Klug must pay the merchandise bill, and the clerk's record of the case shows that costs have brought the total to $150, which is the amount Klug must now pay to square all accounts.

WHY CHURCHES FAIL.

M. E. District Superintendent Says
They Ignore Present Day Conditions.

Mankato, Minn., Jan. 23.—Declaring that if he had the chance he would tear down three-fourths of the churches in his district and supplant them with structures equipped for socializing the community, Rev. C. W. Lutz, superintendent of the Winona district of the Methodist church, yesterday attacked the lack of attention paid by the church to the social life of the city and country. He spoke before a country life delegation at the joint convention of the Southern Minnesota Development and Minnesota Improvement association and Blue Earth County Seed association.

This lack of attention, he said, is one of the principal causes of religious decay in America.

Rheumatic Blood—THE Story That Millions Tell—The Way to Prompt Recovery

There is a host of pills, powders, tablets and what-not for rheumatism, but they all lack the first essential to being a natural medicine. To begin with, rheumatism is simply a name given to designate a variety of pains, and can only be reached by irrigating the entire blood supply with a naturally assimilable antidote. True, the pains may be eased with narcotics or the acids may be neutralized for the time being. But such methods merely temporize and do not even lead to a cure. There is a standard rheumatism remedy, and is sold in all drug stores under the name of S. S. S. Attempts are often made to sell something claimed to be "just as good." Insist positively that you will have nothing but S. S. S.

It contains only purely vegetable elements and is absolutely free of mercury, iodine or potash or arsenic. The recoveries of all types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a tribute to the high efficiency of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally and just as well as the most acceptable food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. You will be astonished at the results. If your rheumatism is of such a nature that you would like to consult a specialist, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 307 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

TEMPERATURE ON TOBOGGAN

Another Cold Wave Said to Be on the Way to Duluth.

Another cold wave is coming—and this will be a real one. That was the assurance that H. W. Richardson, weather forecaster, gave by tomorrow morning, and beginning tonight, the temperature will fall to between 5 and 10 degrees below zero. Of course this is to be expected along about this time of year, but coupled with the below zero temperatures will be high winds. This will necessitate ear muffs, stocking caps, and hard stockings of the fur type.

until late last night, and this morning it was learned that the story taken up investigating another story of graft. This, it is stated, related to a contract for the city of Duluth, which was called for the payment of $300,000. Five per cent of this, or more than $15,000, it is charged, was paid to a Tammany politician by the subject of the story.

A grand jury investigation was begun yesterday into the story told by Sulzer that Charles F. Murphy sent a messenger to him during the trial of impeachment charges against him as governor and offered to call off the trial if Sulzer would quit his graft investigation into state departments.

Sulzer repeated before the grand jury that the whole story of his alleged dealings with the Tammany chief, and it was made known by District Attorney Whitman that this part of it and that relating to the alleged attempt of James E. Gaffney to exact a contribution of $100,000 from James C. Stewart, a state highway contractor, would be made the subject of a two-fold inquiry.

Murphy and O'Gorman.
Mr. Whitman said Murphy would be called as a witness in the John Doe inquiry, by which the district attorney has frequently adduced evidence for presentation to the grand jury.

Murphy denounced Sulzer's story as false, and said he was willing to testify and would waive immunity.

The district attorney also said that James E. Gaffney, who Sulzer testified, told him that Gaffney was Murphy's "chief bagman," also would be called.

"EXCUSE ME," SAYS PORTER, "A MAN WANTS YOUR MONEY"

ness! I've got three or four pals with me! Meritts took the bag—or hat, he is not sure which but he thinks it was a bag—and showed the first occupant of a berth he came to.

"Excuse me," said the porter. "But there's a man here who says give him your money."

"Aw, shut up! Quit your kidding and let me sleep," called the angry reply from the berth.

"Real robber with a gun."
"Tell him I'm a real robber with a gun," interposed the bandit, who pointed the weapon between the curtains where there was a tinkle of coins falling into the receptacle trembling in the porter's hands.

From A. M. Todd of Chicago the robbery of $138 from Herman Marko at Detroit, $100, and from F. L. Palmer of New York an unknown sum.

There were about twenty passengers in the car and most of them didn't know that anything had happened until they arose the morning. The robbery took place at 1:45 o'clock. There were no women in the car.

Representative Clayton, chairman of the judicial committee, prepared by the house judiciary sub-committee, for submission and consideration by the full committee were given to the public in accordance with the president's program of publicity. Hearings will be held on all of them.

The bills introduced today embrace the following subjects:
Prohibition of interlocking directorates of industrial corporations, railroads, banking or trust companies, to be effective two years after approval.

Definition of the terms of the Sherman anti-trust act, to specifically include within the meaning of "conspiracy in restraint of trade" every contract, combination in the form of a trust or otherwise within the meaning of the word "monopolize" as certain definite offenses, all of which would be prohibited, and fixing just inducements.

A trade relations measure, designed to prohibit "cut-throat" competition through price discrimination and rebates, territorial restrictions, etc., and giving to individuals injured by reason of anything forbidden in the Sherman act the right to bring suits in equity against corporations against which decrees have been obtained by the government.

The Sherman act definitions bill would include within the meaning of "conspiracy in restraint of trade" or "monopolize" in the act, any trade combination or agreement which poses:

chandise, produce, or any commodity. To make or enter into any arrangement or contract, directly or indirectly, by which they may prevent or restrict competition among themselves or among purchasers or consumers in the sale, production or transportation of any commodity.

Fine and Imprisonment.
All such contracts would be declared unlawful, punishable by a fine not exceeding $5,000, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both, in the discretion of the court.

The interlocking directorate bill would provide that after two years from the date of its approval, no person engaged as an individual member or partnership member of a corporation in the business of manufacturing or selling railroad cars or locomotives, rails, structural steel, or selling coal, or the conduct of a bank or trust company, shall act in any capacity as employee of any railroad or public service corporation doing an interstate business.

It would provide further that no person should at the same time be an employee in two or more of the banking associations or trust companies which are members of any railway or public utility holding company, or in a director in any state bank or trust company, not operating under the law, and in any bank eligible to be a director in any bank operating under the act.

For violations, a fine of $100 a day or imprisonment, not exceeding one year, or both.

Trade Relations Bill.
The trade relations bill would provide that it should be deemed an attempt to monopolize trade or commerce to discriminate in price on account of differences in grade, quality or quantity, or that makes only due allowance for differences in cost of production should not be prevented; and provided that nothing in the bill should prevent persons engaged in selling goods from selecting their own customers.

This latter provision would not authorize the owner or operator of a mine to refuse to sell to a responsible purchaser.

In all cases where any person is injured by any person or corporation because of anything forbidden under the act, and who, at the time of the act, and institution of a suit by the United States has cause of action, the bill provides that the statute of limitations applicable in such cases would be suspended during the pendency of the suit, and not again become operative until after the date of the final decree.

Job for Davies.
The commission proposed by the bill introduced yesterday, which would absorb the functions of the corporation and the commissioner of corporations and the commissioner of commerce commission. It also would act as an advisory board to the attorney general and the courts.

But its most important function is designed to assist business and the government in preventing violations of the Sherman act, in aiding the attorney general to terminate alleged unlawful conditions by agreements, such as have been entered into in the American Telephone & Telegraph company, and in the case of the Northern Pacific railroad.

In this capacity the commission would serve, in accordance with the suggestion of the president in his message, as the business agent of the "constitution of peace."

May Act of itself.
In clothing the commission with authority to be of service in forestalling conditions that might arise, the bill prescribes that the attorney general or upon its own initiative, investigate for the purpose of ascertaining whether there is a violation in the conduct of a corporation or in its relations to other corporations, or in the conduct of individuals, who violate the Sherman act. In case any such violation is found to exist, the bill provides that the commission shall report in full to the attorney general.

There is, however, no immunity with the terms of said act, and to aid the attorney general in the prosecution of the corporation affected or by suit, the unlawful conduct condition.

In the section of the measure providing for publicity conditions, the bill states that the commission shall, in the case of any corporation, investigate for the purpose of ascertaining whether there is a violation in the conduct of a corporation or in its relations to other corporations, or in the conduct of individuals, who violate the Sherman act. STREET CAR IS STRUCK BY FREIGHT TRAIN ON GARFIELD CROSSING was dead. Not even a window was cracked.

Hans Christianson, 501 Garfield avenue, who was standing on the corner at the time of the accident, said that the street car crew was in no way to blame for the accident. He said that the railroad crossing here was one of the most dangerous in the city owing to the heavy curve in the company's tracks and that often the train crews were careless in the manner of handling their trains. He said that the street car crew had given his signal another brakeman further back along the string of cars and that the latter and the engineer were unable to see what they were running into.

Many of the passengers on the street car became panic-stricken when the car was hit by the freight, and some of the women were on the verge of fainting.

The derailed flat car delayed traffic on the Superior bound track for about a half an hour but the car that was struck by the freight, to Superior street under its own power.

The miners are producing less than 35 million pounds of copper in 1913, less than 7,000 men are at work.

The Western Federation is spending $300,000 per week to keep the strikers and their families in food and clothing, according to information from union sources. Each man now is supplied with the equivalent of $1.62 per day, and the union is supplying the strikers with food and clothing.

Look For Grand Jury.
The grand jury which has been investigating strike disorders in Houghton county was expected to make its final report to Circuit Judge O'Brien this afternoon. No session of the court was held this morning.

Among the incidents the jury has had under consideration is the deportation of Charles H. Meyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, on the night of Dec. 26.

Welcomed by Companies.
Calumet, Mich., Jan. 23.—Special to The Herald.—The mining corporations will make no fight whatever against the proposed congressional investigation of conditions here, but will welcome the talk of negotiators and labor leaders. Everything will be thrown wide open to the congressional committee, and the companies will do everything possible to facilitate the investigation.

They will demand, however, that the books of the Western Federation of Miners be thrown open and that the sources of Palmer's information be disclosed. Among other things which will be thrown open to the congressional committee, the company officials claim, is the fact that the Western Federation of Miners has been engaged in a campaign to drive the company out of business.

Shaw Denies Election.
Boston, Mass., Jan. 23.—Quincy A. Shaw, president of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company, has made public by agreement with the state attorney, that the company has no intention of electing a new manager at Houghton, Mich., denying that the strikers at the company were being engaged in interstate commerce.

Plans Contempt Action.
George P. Boyle, attorney for the commission, announced he would bring contempt proceedings against 25 of the strikers who refused to give the desired information.

On the advice of attorneys for the company, Mr. Boyle refused to disclose the names of the strikers who refused to give the desired information.

Indications of the Republican gubernatorial candidate will come from Philadelphia or the eastern section of the state. The leaders propose to aid the candidacy of Judge Fraser of Pittsburgh for the supreme court, hoping to do so they will satisfy those supporting Speaker Alter, after the latter is elected.

If Governor Stuart can be induced to enter the primaries he would have the support of all the Republican leaders, it is said. He is about the only candidate now mentioned within the Vares who will be back.

Inasmuch as the vote in South Philadelphia is so overwhelmingly Republican and controlled by the Vares, it is said, it would be impossible to nominate any candidate for governor opposed by the South Philadelphia leaders.

It is the opinion of the lieutenant Penrose dare not attempt to slate a candidate not absolutely endorsed by the Vares. He said if this should be done, as it was four years ago, the Vares would carry their fight against Penrose.

Thus far the senator has not attempted to express a preference for governor, and probably will not do so until a few weeks before the primary.

Senator Penrose, although known to be a candidate for nomination in the Republican primaries, the first statewide contest of the kind, has never publicly declared he would seek another term. He has accepted an invitation to address the Young Men's tariff club at Pittsburgh on Jan. 29.

According to his friends, he will not only tell of the evils of the Democratic tariff, from his viewpoint, but will announce formally his candidacy for the senate.

Philadelphia, Jan. 23.—Charles Tower, former ambassador to Germany, is the latest suggestion for the Republican nomination for governor of Pennsylvania. The candidates most talked of by Republicans are Governor Stuart and Attorney General John C. Bell.

COLOMBIA NEARING IMPORTANT ELECTION

Statement Is Issued By Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Bogota, Colombia, Jan. 23.—The approaching election in Colombia is regarded here as the most important in the history of the republic. The four-year term of the president, Dr. Carlos F. Restrepo, expires on Aug. 7, this year. In connection with the election, the minister of foreign affairs today issued the following official circular:

"The election for president is to be held on Sunday, Feb. 8. Notwithstanding the enthusiasm for the candidates throughout the country, complete peace prevails, as the citizens of the republic desire to give proof of the progress and culture to which Colombia has attained, and to show to the world that the government is able to maintain order and to see public order disturbed."

"The government, for its part, promises to give complete legal guarantees and hopes that the electoral discussions will respect the plans made by it."

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota supreme court today rendered the following decisions:

St. Louis County.
In re personal property tax proceedings in St. Louis County, 1912, State of Minnesota, respondent, vs. S. A. McPhail, appellant.

1. A membership in the Duluth board of trade is property.
2. It is property which the legislature, under the constitution of the state, might by appropriate laws tax.
3. R. L. 1905, Sec. 734, providing that all real and personal property in this state and all personal property of persons residing therein, except exempt property, is taxable, means that all personal property of whatever nature not exempt from taxation shall pay taxes. Under this section a membership in the Duluth board of trade was properly taxed as personal property of the member.
4. R. L. Sec. 737, providing that "personal property shall be deemed to include" and naming eleven classes of property, does not exempt from taxation or render inoperative the taxation of personal property not included within any of the classes named.
5. There has been no such settled construction of the statutes referred to as to justify the application here of the doctrine of practical construction.
6. The taxation of such a membership does not violate any provision of the federal or state constitutions.

St. Louis County.
Simon Sulo, appellant, vs. Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company, respondent.

The appeal is from the judgment and is not rendered ineffective by the reference in the notice of appeal to non-applicable orders, or to the items claimed to have been erroneously omitted from the judgment.
An appeal lies from a judgment involving only the costs and disbursements where these accrued before the cause of action was settled, and are not trifling in amount.
Expenses for serving subpoenas by a private person are not taxable disbursements.
Nor are amounts paid for transcript of testimony obtained for the use of the attorney during the progress of the trial.
The expense for maps and photographs received in evidence is not necessarily an item of taxable disbursements. The trial court's determination that the map and photographs were not final and conclusive where the member had no notice and was not afforded an opportunity to be heard upon the question.
3. The rights of the parties are analogous to and controlled by the principles of law applicable to mutual benefit societies.
Findings of the trial court held sustained by the evidence.
Judgment affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

Memphis County.
Harold C. Stevenson, respondent, vs. Minneapolis Fire Department Relief association, appellant.

1. Where a member of the Minneapolis Fire Department Relief association, an organization formed under the general laws of the state for the relief of disabled members of the Minneapolis fire department, is determined by the association to be disabled within the meaning of its constitution and by-laws and is granted a pension as therein provided, his right to the pension is a vested legal right of which he cannot be deprived except by due process of law, namely, by notice and opportunity to be heard in any proceedings had by the association for the purpose of terminating his rights.
2. A determination by the association that a member thereof previously entered upon the pension rolls has fully recovered from his disability is not final and conclusive where the member had no notice and was not afforded an opportunity to be heard upon the question.
3. The rights of the parties are analogous to and controlled by the principles of law applicable to mutual benefit societies.
Findings of the trial court held sustained by the evidence.
Judgment affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

Rock County.
Joseph I. Magnuson, et al., respondents, vs. Robert Burgess, et al., appellants.

1. Where the sale of property is effected by fraud and the defrauded party may rescind the contract on discovering the fraud, or affirm the same and retain the property.
2. Where he elects to affirm the contract by retaining the property, the measure of his damages for the fraud is the difference between the actual value of the property and the price paid, together with such special damages as he may have suffered in consequence of the fraud.
3. Even though the property be sold for a particular use the defrauded party, where he affirms the contract, can have no recovery for depreciation in the value of the use of the property accruing after discovery of the fraud.
4. Evidence held to support the verdict and that there was no fraud in the exclusion or admission of evidence.
Affirmed on condition. BROWN, C. J.

Memphis County.
Hiram Harris, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway company, appellant.

In this action to recover damages alleged to have been caused to a carload of opera chairs while being transported from Minneapolis to Herman, Minn., the evidence showed that on the arrival of the carload at Herman the chairs were refused to be shipped, and it was returned to Minneapolis in the same car without being unloaded. It is held:
It was prejudicial error to exclude evidence of competent witnesses to prove that the chairs were in the same condition when the car arrived in Minneapolis on its return from Herman as they were when loaded for shipment.
Order reversed, and new trial granted. BROWN, C. J.

Ramsey County.
M. W. Svenson, as adm'r, appellant, vs. Peter Lindgren, respondent.

Offer to show incompetency of witness under G. S. 1913, Section 3878, to testify to conversations with the testator's intestate, on the ground of "interest in the event of the action," reason of agreement to pay the note sued on, held insufficient as importing merely a pious nuptialum.
Rejection of plaintiff's proffer of conversations had with defendant and his wife after maturity of the note in suit, involving admission of liability and tending to contradict and discredit their testimony, held reversible error.
Instruction held fatally erroneous as directing the jury, in effect, to disregard arguments of counsel.
Order reversed.
PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

Ramsey County.
Dana H. Jenkins, respondent, vs. Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway company, appellant.

Evidence in an action to recover damages for injuries sustained by the driver of a wagon in a railway crossing accident, considered and held sufficient to take the case to the jury as to defendant's negligence with reference to warning signals, speed of the train, and necessity for lights thereon.
Taking into account the view, dark color of the unlighted train, with background, and testimony with regard to failure to give warning signals of the train's signals, and other circumstances disclosed, plaintiff could not be held guilty of contributory negligence as a matter of law, though he did not stop his team before attempting to cross the bridge.
The burden of proof upon the issue of contributory negligence was controlled by the rule in this state, notwithstanding the accident occurred in another state.
Verdict as reduced by trial court sustained as against claim of excessiveness.
Order affirmed.
PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

Memphis County.
Thomas L. Quigley, respondent, vs. C. S. Brackett company, appellant.

An employee hired for no definite time was required to deposit a month's wages with the employer to guarantee that he would keep sober while at work. The jury, under proper instructions, found that the agreement relating to the deposit was not one for liquidated damages. The evidence supports the finding.
Order affirmed. HOLT, J.

Memphis County.
Minneapolis, St. Paul, Rochester & Dubuque Electric traction company, a corporation, respondent, vs. City of Minneapolis, appellant.

The city of Minneapolis has no power to enter into a contract with a company operating a commercial railway by which the city agrees to bear part of the expense of strengthening a city bridge which the railway company desires to cross with its cars, where the bridge is already of sufficient strength and construction to accommodate general travel, and the sole purpose of the improvement is to permit the operation of such railway cars thereover.
2. Plaintiff desires to cross this bridge in order to meet the line of the Minneapolis Street Railway company. The city, in lieu of permitting the plaintiff to cross the bridge, directed the city railway company to extend its line across the bridge to plaintiff's terminus. The public also has used the bridge for general travel. The city cannot impose no liability upon the city, since the contract was beyond the corporate power of the city and was not a negotiable ratification, but was wholly void.
Judgment reversed. HALLAM, J.

Blue Earth County.
State of Minnesota, respondent, vs. Henry E. Brand, appellant.

Defendant was convicted of selling liquor to a public prostitute, held:
1. That to establish that the woman was a public prostitute, evidence is admissible that such is her general reputation.
2. That the woman to whom the liquor was furnished was not an accomplice of the person selling the same.

His Life.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 23.—The collection of manuscripts and letters of Robert Louis Stevenson owned by the late Harry Elkins Widener of Philadelphia, a victim of the Titanic disaster, will be presented to Harvard university on completion of the Widener Memorial library, it was announced today.

Added to the collection, which is said to be the finest in existence, are fifty-seven letters written by Stevenson to Sir Sidney Colvin and purchased after the death of Mr. Widener by his grandfather, P. A. B. Widener. Twelve of the letters were written during Stevenson's voyages on the Pacific between July, 1888, and October, 1890, and forty-five during his residence in Samoa, between November, 1890 and November, 1894. Many of them range from 2,000 to 7,000 words in length, and, taken together, furnish a full and continuous record of the author's desires and feelings during the last seven years of his life.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 23.—It is being demonstrated to residents of Mount Healthy by Bill, who is Joe Stoeppel's horse, that a regular nose is quite a superfluous thing. When Bill's nose ceased to work well, so that it seemed that Bill would die of suffocation, Joe said it would be a shame to let such a nice horse go to the discard because he had not the use of his nose.

Stoeppel consulted a horse doctor, who told him to cease grieving because he could give Bill a new nose by way of his neck. The doctor made a hole in Bill's neck, opened the windpipe and put a tube in it. On cold days Bill's nose emits steam just like a regular horse's nose.

TOO MANY CHILDREN
are pale and frail—backward in studies—with pinched faces and poor blood—their minds and bodies are actually starved because their regular food does not nourish.

Such children need Scott's Emulsion above everything else; it contains nature's rarest life-giving fats; it is essentially food value—blood-food and bone-food, free from wine, alcohol or harmful drug.

Scott's Emulsion often builds many times its weight in solid flesh—it is medicinal, tonic and nutritive properties make all good food good.

IT IS NOT A PROP, BUT A FOUNDATION FOR STURDY GROWTH.

Every Druggist Has It. Avoid Substitutes.

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the social and political conditions of the city. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

SMALLPOX AND VACCINATION.

To the Editor of The Herald: In The Herald of Jan. 21 appeared a declaration by our health commissioner to the effect that no sympathy ought to be wasted on smallpox patients, as the disease can be prevented by vaccination.

If there is a law on compulsory vaccination the department should carry it into effect when needed. If people do not get vaccinated when necessary, it is either that the legislature has not passed such a law or that it is not enforced by the health department.

Hardly can an ignorant individual, who perhaps never heard of vaccination, be held responsible. If therefore a person unfortunately contracts the disease it seems entirely improper and even cruel to withhold from him sympathy and care. Even if it should happen to be by a person's own mistake, having unintentionally erred, what good would it do to abuse or mistreat him? It would be far better to give the patient the best care possible and use all efforts to attain a speedy cure, not only for the good of the individual but also the community.

Last winter we had many complaints about the treatment of smallpox patients.

Such complaints in addition to expressions similar to that by Dr. Webster do not tend to incline people, diseased with smallpox, to apply for admission to the institution for treatment. Respectfully,

VICTOR JOHNSON,
4225 Magellan street,
Duluth, Jan. 21.

EXPLAINS AIMS OF ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In last evening's Herald a communication in your Open Court column signed by one "I Give S." attracted my attention. Inasmuch as this is but one of a number of similar inquiries and criticisms directed at the Associated Charities, I shall endeavor to explain just what the Associated Charities stands for and what it is trying to accomplish in this city. In the first place, it should be made clear that the Associated Charities is not primarily a relief society, although it does considerable relief work and expends considerable relief money in efforts to bring about self help and independence in the individual. Its main function is to act as a clearing house and place of record and investigation for all of the other charitable organizations of the city and individuals as well. Its primary purpose is to make more efficient, more economical, and more permanent and lasting the results obtained with money now being spent for charitable purposes. It is relatively of the same importance to charity that a clearing house is to banks or a board of control is to a city. It, however, goes farther than either of these institutions in that it brings about changed conditions in the home and reconstructing men's and women's lives so as to induce independence instead of pauperism in the individual. The Associated Charities goes still farther and endeavors to reach back of the existing conditions and arrive at the causes of poverty and, as far as possible, through legislation or other means, to eliminate the causes of poverty.

The criticism that the overhead expense of the Associated Charities is out of proportion to money actually expended for relief is therefore met by the premise, that to secure results as outlined above is the work of intelligent and well directed effort on the part of competent and specially trained workers along this line rather than through money expended incidentally in bringing about these results. In fact, it should be to the credit of an organization that it can accomplish such far-reaching and satisfactory results on so small an expenditure of money. To illustrate this point, I refer to the annual report in which it appears that the total number of individuals in whom the Associated Charities interested itself during the year beginning Oct. 1, 1912, to Oct. 1, 1913, was 2,536, consisting of 792 women and 1,744 children. In each of these cases some help was given as the case required. This included salaries, office expense and actual relief money of $6,883.62, which seems to me a very small sum considering the results obtained.

Besides, there is so much that has been done and is being done that cannot be represented in dollars and cents, that I am sure that "I Give S." and all others who would take the trouble to investigate would be satisfied that the Associated Charities was well worth while. For instance, who would attempt to measure in dollars and cents the far-reaching and beneficial results of the housing ordinance which concerns itself with the health, morals and lives of a large proportion of our population?

How could it be hoped to measure in dollars and cents the lives saved and relief afforded by the visiting nurse in her daily rounds? Who can say how much is "saved" to citizens through exposure of impostors and elimination of the tramp or hobo from our streets? And would there be any equivalent in dollars and cents in a visiting housekeeper, whose duty it will be to visit the poor and less fortunate homes and instruct in cleanliness, sanitation, economy, and efficiency so as to secure the best results of the family income?

It is conceded that in dependence and self-help is much more to be desired than money spent in doing which only encourages pauperism. The most effective charity is that which removes the causes of poverty and sickness. The Associated Charities has been characterized as a "Social Repair Shop," and just as in private business a progressive manager seeks only the best and most profitable help he can secure, so it should be the aim of the Associated Charities of Duluth to secure the best and most profitable assistance it can to cope with the conditions that a city like Duluth presents. In fact, we could not hope to accomplish but a small part of the work we are now doing under less competent management or at less expense.

In conclusion, as president of the Associated Charities, I extend an earnest invitation to those not acquainted with the work we are doing to visit our offices at the courthouse, where they will be courteously and cordially provided with any information they may request. Instead of using the columns of the daily newspapers in unsigned communications, which many times do grave injustice to the society or individual criticized without any corresponding good results to themselves or the public at large. Respectfully yours,
E. A. SILBERSTEIN,
Duluth, Jan. 22.

NEW INCOME TAX REGULATIONS.

To the Editor of The Herald: I note in your issue of Jan. 14 a news item covering answer made by your attorney in regard to income tax returns for 1913, in which he states that only those whose income has equalled or exceeded $3,000 (or $4,000 for married parties) for the ten months ending Dec. 31, 1913, need file statement of income with the authorities. Permit me to call attention to the fact that the treasury department has issued a regulation on this point, to the effect that a return should be made by those having an income for the ten months of $2,500 or over (or $3,333.33 for married parties). There is undoubtedly room for argument favoring the answer made by your attorney when one takes the law literally, but to be on the safe side, it would be better to abide by the treasury department's regulation. Yours, EDW. L. MCBRIDE,
Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 22.

We thank Mr. McBride for again calling the attention of The Herald readers to this point. Mr. Robinson has received the regulation of the treasury department referred to by Mr. McBride, and in the issue of Jan. 20 he commented on it.—The Editor.

STREET LIGHTS.

To the Editor of The Herald: I have noticed in the Open Court that one man was much peeved as a result of losing the light in front of his house; more power to you, old man. Now this looks like a cooked up game for all of us taxpayers in this western part of the city. How is it that we have to lose our few lights that this great and prosperous city might save a few pennies? Now, why is it that we, who work for a living, have to find our way along the streets lighting matches while our big brothers of the East and with their swell automobiles, equipped with electric lights and a policeman on each side guarding them, have a light on every corner? But I suppose that Mr. Snyder has to do as he is told or lose his job, which the Electrical Workers' union got for him. This is a fair play from ONE WHO KNOWS.

MISSION VALUED AT $100,000 IS BURNED

Methodist Board Notified of Fire at Copenhagen.

New York, Jan. 22.—News of the destruction by fire of the social settlement church founded by the Methodist Episcopal church in Copenhagen reached the Methodist board of foreign missions here in a dispatch from the Danish capital. The church, with the parsonage and other attached buildings, was valued at $100,000. This group of buildings, known as Jerusalem church, was established by the American foreign missions in 1866 through a gift of the late Harriet Dorr, Danish consul general at New York. It was the only organization of kind in Denmark and its success was noted all over the continent. It maintained an employment bureau, a restaurant, a shelter for the homeless, two orphan homes, a kindergarten and a holiday colony for children from the slums of Copenhagen. Except for a small annual grant from the Methodist board, it was self-supporting.

TAMMANY MAN IS INDICTED AGAIN.

Riverhead, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Four individuals and a contracting company were indicted here yesterday by the extraordinary supreme court grand jury that for months has been investigating charges of graft in connection with contracts for highway construction in Sussex county.

Among the defendants is the Dunbar Contracting company, of which Bart Dunn, prominent local politician, is president. Dunn recently was convicted on a similar claim in Rockland county and sentenced to ten years in prison.

DULUTH MILLIONAIRES GO BACK TO THE SOIL

G. G. Hartley Says His Two Farms Mean More Than Business Interests—John G. Williams, George Stone and Others Indulge in "Farming."

Under the above heading the Minneapolis Tribune published the following interesting article on its front page: Millionaires of Duluth, where 'tis said a millionaire is produced every few minutes, are going back to the soil.

The vast majority of the millionaire colony of Duluth was born and reared on the farm.

Climbing the ladder. As boys they turned away from the soil. They climbed the big ladder, some mastered the bowels of the earth, taking the ore therefrom. Some became kings of lake traffic and carry the ore over the waters to countless ports. Another became a newspaper owner. In the same manner each chose his field of commercial battle and command.

They "Have Arrived." And now that they "have arrived" they have found it, they say, a somewhat empty triumph.

"What's the use," asked one. "The world which it was worth while to conquer we left behind us when as boys we left the farm."

G. G. Hartley, heavily interested in many other fields of industry, including a newspaper, has two farms which, he says, mean more to him than his business interests.

George Stone, head of a great wholesale grocery house which bears his name, vice president of a wholesale clothing business, is "showing the world" what can be done with cut-over lands.

John G. Williams, millionaire attorney, member of the board of regents of the state university, takes more pride in the fact that his Red Pole cow, "Pear," was the best producer in the entire United States than he does over his greatest legal victory.

Spreading Minnesota Gospel. They are just a few of the many Duluth millionaires who, as boys, loved not the farm, because they saw nothing but drudgery thereon. Incidentally, they are now spreading the fame of Minnesota throughout the land.

Take a scene in the Blackstone hotel, Chicago, for example. The waiter places a plate of celery on the table in front of G. G. Hartley of Duluth, Minn. Mr. Hartley glances at it.

"That's not celery; it's corn stalks. Like as not he says it came from Kalamazoo, Mich., famed as the celery city."

The manager steps up. He says it is the very best celery money can buy. Like as not he says it came from Kalamazoo, Mich., famed as the celery city.

"I'll ship you some real celery from my farm three miles from the Duluth city hall," he says.

"How much?" asks the manager, surprised that the traction man has celery to sell.

"Never mind the price," replies Mr. Hartley. "I'll ship celery. If you send me a check for near what it is worth I'll make money."

So does the Hartley celery travel over the land. Minnesota celery is sold in fashionable hotels from coast to coast.

Celery on Muskeg. Mr. Hartley likes celery and lettuce. When he tried to buy the high class article in Duluth a few years ago he invariably was disappointed in the quality. Investigation revealed that the producers likewise were complaining of the price.

Mr. Hartley, incidentally, had an abiding faith in muskeg or bog lands of Northern Minnesota.

So he bought a bog near the city limits. Today it is producing the best celery and lettuce, so the owner says, in all the land.

He has out-Kalamazooed Kalamazoo, declared one of his celery-loving friends.

Mr. Hartley has another farm as proof of his faith in muskeg swamps. This is called the island farm because he found it in the middle of the swamp an island high enough to put a house on. There are 3,000 acres to this swamp. It has cost a lot of money to put this muskeg into shape for cultivation, as high as $150 an acre. To do it over again would cost much less.

Mr. Hartley knows. He has discovered swamps of Northern Minnesota are not sour soil. Properly treated they are producers. On this farm he has a herd of thoroughbred Guernseys which supply a creamery at Hibbing. Also he produces oats and hay. This place is not breaking even, financially yet, but Mr. Hartley says it soon will be doing better than that. Anyway, he has conquered the muskeg and can show others how to do it for less money.

Using Cut-Over Land. Mr. Stone passed over the muskeg to prove that the cut-over lands offer splendid opportunities. Nineteen miles from Duluth, near Twig, St. Louis county, he purchased a big area of "cut-over" lands for almost nothing. He has 110 acres cleared now. As Mr. Stone wanted to live on the place a good deal himself he put in the best possible class of buildings. He figured that this portion of his expense should be charged up to luxury and not individual animals. "Pear, he says, is the greatest cow in the world. Incidentally, the farm output includes a health drink which Mr. Williams says puts a new lining in the stomach.

"Modern buildings cost more and I charged them to luxury," says Mr. Stone. "But I found that they needed not to be so charged, for they brought me the very highest class of help. They are worth while as a business proposition. It is common sense."

Mr. Williams is the proud master of the Jean Du Luth farms, which are close to Duluth. He has a big herd of thoroughbreds and puts in half an hour telling of the number of prizes they have taken, both as herd and individual animals. "Pear, he says, is the greatest cow in the world. Incidentally, the farm output includes a health drink which Mr. Williams says puts a new lining in the stomach.

"I do not know that the Duluth business and professional men who have gone back to the soil regret that they did not stick to the soil. But the fact is that we are finding it more interesting than any line of business in the world of commerce."

OFFICIAL REPORT CUTS DEATH LIST Japanese Volcanic Disaster Nowhere Near First Reports.

New York, Jan. 23.—An official report giving the casualties and damage caused by the eruption, earthquakes and tidal wave on the Japanese island of Sakurajima, has been received by the Japanese consul general here. The report says:

"On Sakurajima, nine villages, composed of 840 houses, were destroyed out of the total of 18 villages on the island. The number of deaths among the population was not so considerable as at first believed, and probably will prove unexpectedly small."

"In Kagoshima the deaths were 18; the severely injured 87 and the slightly hurt 71. Thirty-five houses collapsed, 118 were partly destroyed, and many others slightly damaged. The principal public buildings were not injured."

"In Kimotsu and Kira counties, the damage caused by falling ash and volcanic stones affected 20,000 people who will need relief."

"Nearly all fugitives have returned to Kagoshima, where order is being restored. The public schools are to be reopened in a few days."

"In regard to the famine in the northern island of Hokkaido, the conditions are about the same as in 1905, but no worse, and the rice crop of the entire country is expected to be above the average."

BUTTER NOW ON DECLINE

Market in Dairy Products and Eggs Is Becoming Easier.

With Exception of Beef, Prices of Meats Are Lower.

A cheapening in the cost of living to the extent of lower prices in butter and eggs will be appreciated by consumers today.

The market in these products has been steadily easing up during the last two weeks and the situation in them is still weak at all distributing points. Receipts of cream at receiving stations in Northern Minnesota are gradually increasing, according to the Bridgman-Russell company, with the result that the make of new butter is now more than sufficient to take care of current consumption. Butter imports are now a factor in the Eastern market, as for example, out of 10,000 tubs offered at New York the one day this week, 2,000 were reported to have been imported. Wholesale prices at Duluth are 2 cents off from a week ago, with fresh creamery butter at 22 and 23 cents a pound, and old butter at 21 and 22 cents.

The market in eggs is similarly down through increased receipts and the quotation in the fresh article is now off to 39 and 40 cents a dozen. At Chicago eggs are reported to have been sold at ten days' delivery down to 23 cents.

Falling an extended period of cold weather the trade does not look for a higher market in eggs. It is admitted though that in the event of a below-zero temperature running over ten days or two weeks, production and deliveries might be checked to such an extent that their figure could easily be advanced to 30 cents a dozen.

Cheese Market Firm. The market in cheese is not following the course of butter for the reason that the factories are closed down and will not be in operation again before next April. In the meantime there is a steady demand for the product, which has come to be regarded as a relatively cheap food.

Poultry prices are steady, through the list, with a good call reported for hens and turkeys. Receipts of turkeys, geese and ducks are now merely nominal and supplies are about limited to frozen stock. The same condition applies to broilers and fryers in chickens. The situation in poultry is regarded as strong by dealers in view of the fact that frozen supplies are much lighter than a year ago.

With the exception of beef, the market is decidedly weak. Veal, pork, lamb and mutton are off from 15 cent to a cent a pound, but beef figures are unchanged. Dealers are meeting with an improved inquiry for fresh foods as a result of the colder weather.

Oranges a Feature in Fruits. The range in California and Southern states in the fruit line. Oranges are reported firm by the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and higher prices are looked for on account of light shipments and a steady demand for the fruit. There has been a slight decline in grapefruit and that is tending to increase the consumption in it. The quality of the offerings on this market is said to be much above the average of other years. A heavy sale is being met with in apples and as a consequence, New York barrel stock is rapidly cleaning up. Prices are unchanged in box apples, but an advance is expected at any time.

Southern Vegetables Plentiful. The range in California and Southern states is regarded as good for the season. Celery and lettuce are the outstanding features in the list. The market in Minnesota potatoes is on a par with the Eastern market. Substantial shipments to the South and Southwest are reported from stations in this district. There is, however, no speculative inquiry in potatoes at present owing to the uncertainty as to the permanence of the embargo standing against Canadian imports. The admission of supplies from across the border, would, it is thought, inevitably lead to lower prices.

NEW YORK BONDS GO WITH RUSH AT $107.25

Wall Street Says It Means Money Situation Is Better.

New York, Jan. 23.—The $51,000,000 issue of New York state 4½ per cent bonds which were purchased by a Wall Street syndicate, highest bidders, at 106.77, were sold by the syndicate at 107.25, within one hour and a half after they were offered to the public. The demand far exceeded the supply, and is an indication of the financial district as an indicator of improvement in the financial situation.

But for all that was a case of love at first sight; both say so. Kreuze comes from Ottawa, Kan., and Mrs.

LIVING MAN IS LEGALLY DEAD

Missing Quarter of Century, His Wife Married Again.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 23.—Henry W. Steele, aged soldier in the Old Soldiers' Home at Chelsea, Mass., is legally dead. In his depositions read before a jury in Judge Perry's court, he stated that he was still living and in fairly good health for a man bordering on threescore and ten, but the jury declared him dead.

More than a quarter of a century ago the missing man met Mrs. Adelaide Steele, wife of Henry W. Steele, and became infatuated with her. She told him that she was married to Henry W. Steele, but that he had left her to go to the war in 1863, and never returned. She presumed he was dead, as he had not been heard from for nearly a quarter of a century.

She said they were married under the belief that Steele was dead, without going through the formality of having Mrs. Steele obtain a divorce. When Fisher died, a few years ago, he left all his property in a will to his wife, Mrs. Steele, and his daughter by her former husband, Steele.

Henry Fisher, a cousin of the missing man, contested the will on the ground that Mrs. Fisher had a living husband at the time of her marriage to Fisher. Judge Dixon decided against him and he appealed the case to the district court.

After the appeal was taken it was discovered that Steele was still living, and he gave depositions to that effect, but, under the instructions given by Judge Perry of the district court, the jury decided that Steele is dead so far as the marriage of Mrs. Fisher and the distribution of Fisher's estate are concerned. Had the jury decided in favor of Mrs. Fisher, Steele and the daughter would have been disinherited.

SEE MANY PHASES OF LIFE IN PERSIA. Pittstown, Pa., Jan. 23.—Edgar S. Cook has sailed for Persia, where their business will be to study the life of several years ago from the University of Pennsylvania, is the Hill school medical missionary. He is located in the province of Mazenderan, which, with a population of more than 1,000,000, has only one other foreign doctor, who is a Greek.

In a recent letter from Teheran Dr. Cook states that in the mountains near where he is stationed there are numerous wild dogs, tigers and leopards, and the sea there is famous for the finest sturgeon in the world. One man owns the monopoly of this trade, for which he pays the Persian government $100,000 annually. Because the Moslem religion prohibits caviar, there is little demand there for sturgeon.

COLD IN THE HEAD--CATARRH--BRONCHITIS? NO MATTER--USE HYOMEI

It Has Benefited Thousands of Sufferers and Will Do the Same for You or Money Refunded.

Hyomei is certainly the common sense treatment for head colds, catarrh, hoarseness, bronchitis or any trouble of the breathing organs—you breathe it—no stomach dosing. You wouldn't pour medicine into the stomach to heal a raw and inflamed burn or bruise, then why try to soothe and heal the sore and inflamed mucous membrane lining the air passages of the nose, throat and lungs by any process except the most direct right-to-the-spot way—that's the Hyomei method. When using Hyomei you breathe in an antiseptic and germicidal air that immediately and effectively reaches all the air cells, destroys the catarrh germs, stops the poisonous secretion and the irritation, soothes and heals the raw and inflamed membrane, and gives quick and permanent relief.

Just try it—and if not benefited Boyce drug store will refund the purchase price. Isn't that convincing proof that Hyomei is a remarkable healing and health-restoring power?

The constant snuffling, discharge from the nose, throat and lungs, watery eyes, clogged nostrils, and that choked-up feeling in the morning all make life a burden.

Do not suffer needlessly. Begin using Hyomei now—today—and see how quickly you get relief. All druggists sell it. Ask for the complete Hyomei outfit, $1.00 size. Extra bottles, if later needed 50 cents.

CROWN PRINCESS LIKES TO BE PHOTOGRAPHED

The future queen of Roumania is not the only crown princess who likes to be photographed. The crown princess of Germany, too, is fond of posing before the camera. She is pictured in the uniform of her regiment in fancy dress, on horse-back—in fact in dozens of ways every year and her picture always has a lively sale because she is very popular with her people. This picture just received from Berlin shows her ready for a fancy dress ball.

A DEEP EATER.

Chicago Record-Herald: Senator Frawley said in Albany of a corruptionist:

"He went in too deep. He was like the boy."

"Motoring one summer day in the country, I saw a boy who was going through a strange performance. He hopped up and down on his left foot while he held to his right ear a large stone, on which he tapped—tap, tap—with a smaller one."

"My boy," I said, "what on earth is the matter?"

"Water in my ear," the boy replied, and tapping.

"My own boyhood came back to me. I remembered doing just such things myself."

"Ah," I said, "I remember now. I, too, my boy, have hopped and jumped like that when I've been swimming and got water in my ear."

"I ain't been swimmin'," said the boy.

"But how on earth, then—I began."

"Been eatin' watermelon," he interrupted calmly.

THE WOMEN EXPECT BARGAINS NOW!

The Manufacturer Assumed a Terrific Loss Which Enables us to Give Values
Saturday and All Next Week That Beat All National Records

The policy which enabled The National to double our women's garment business in November and December was characteristic of the energetic National organization. Instead of buying a six-month's supply last September, as most stores do, The National has bought from time to time and has received a quantity of new styles during the past week.

The demoralizing trade difficulties of the past season have spelled ruin for many manufacturers, who, unable to meet their obligations or carry out financial agreements, were forced to abandon all thought of profit or original cost. "Give us part of the cost, now that the profit is lost," has been their cry—and this sale is the direct result of our purchases.

ASK RETURN OF PROPERTY

W. C. T. U. Would Use Lots
Given to Y. M. C. A. for Club House.

Want Building for Boys and Girls of West Duluth.

With a view of building in the near future a clubhouse for boys and girls of West Duluth, the West Duluth Women's Christian Temperance union will ask for the return of the deed to the lots it purchased several years ago.

and turned over to the Young Men's Christian association. A petition now being circulated among the men who gave money for the purchase of these lots, and asking that the property be returned to the W. C. T. U. will be placed before the directors of the Y. M. C. A. at their next meeting.

The members of the W. C. T. U. raised nearly $1,000 about nine years ago and purchased two lots on the southwest corner of Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street. After completing the purchase the organization turned the lots over to the Y. M. C. A. with the understanding that the latter association would build on the lots.

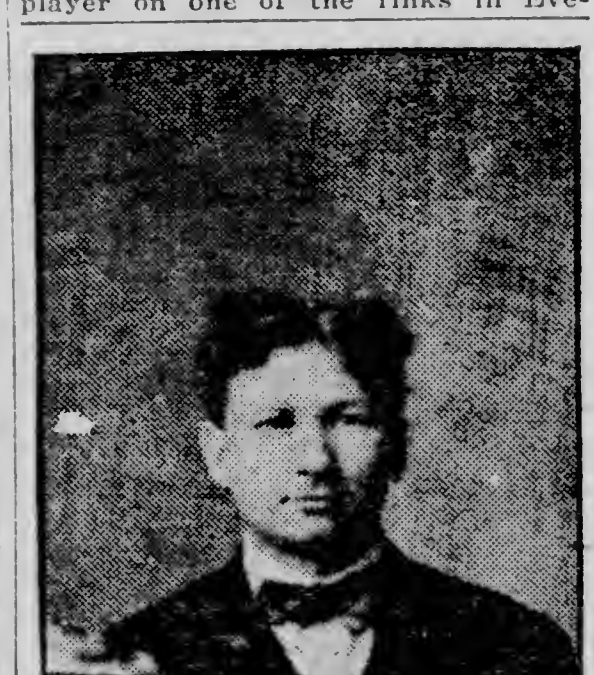

Members of the W. C. T. U. say that the uptown organization has now had several years in which to give a decision as to whether it would or would not build, and that none has yet been given. The women say that as long as that organization is not going to do anything it will have no use for the property and that they want the deed returned. It is said that the W. C. T. U. will erect a clubhouse on the lots in the near future which will be devoted to recreation for boys and girls.

If the lots are returned, members of the temperance union say that they will again take up its activities in the work started two years ago with the West Duluth Boys' and Girls' club. The lots are situated in about the most desirable part of the city for this

leth. He gained his reputation as a curler there by assisting his rink in winning a trophy last winter. The walloping administered the four Western Curling club's rinks when they came in contact with the Duluth rinks in the Manley-McLennan event last night has aroused the fighting blood of the local members. Firmly determined that the score will be reversed, the members say they will go into the contest this evening and walk off with the second game of the series.

Last night resulted in a victory for the uptown rinks by a score of 57 to 36. If the West Duluth rinks win this evening a coin will be tossed in order to determine where the third game of the series will be played.

A half block of property lying between Grand avenue and the Northern Pacific railroad is "said to have changed hands during the early part of this week, and the purchasers are reported to have secured it for the purpose of building a gas engine factory. The property has frontage on Grand avenue of about 300 feet and extends along the railroad tracks for about 200 feet.

The location is said to be one of the best in the western part of the city. It adjoins that recently purchased by the Western Rug company on which is now being constructed a large three-story factory.

Only meager information concerning the new company is obtainable, and the report has not been confirmed. The industry will, it is said, give employment to about 200 men, most of whom will be skilled workmen.

DUMPING GROUND FOR NEW DULUTH

Commissioner Hicken is planning to provide a dumping ground for New Duluth the coming season if it can be arranged without causing any great inconvenience. His idea is to secure a handy gulch which the owner might be glad to have filled. The dump would be operated in connection with the city garbage collection which is contemplated for the steel plant suburbs this spring. One wagon will be put into commission to make collections in that vicinity. Charges will be made for the service as is done in the downtown section.

METERS READ CONTINUOUSLY

New System of Paying Water Bills Now in Effect.

The water and light department has instituted its program of continuous reading of meters. The first bills have been sent out and collections are now being made under that arrangement.

The city has been divided into three districts. The first or middle district includes all residences between Garfield avenue and Tenth avenue east. The second district lies east of Tenth avenue east and third district is west of Garfield avenue.

All accounts in the downtown section must be paid on or before the tenth of the month. Those in the eastern district are due on the twentieth of each month and those in the third district are due on the thirtieth of each month. In this way the water and light department will distribute the office work and improve its efficiency. Under the former system all meters for water and gas were read at the end of each month. This necessitated taking men from their regular work. As this work is now being done the same men will read all meters and they will do nothing else. Payments of water and gas bills may still be made at the various pay stations in the city. Some persons have been under the impression that the new arrangement would result in the discontinuance of the pay stations but such is not the case.

NOTICED where Notre Dame has secured a game with Yale. Notice where Michigan has secured a game with Harvard. Notice where Minnesota has secured a game with Northwestern. Notice where Chicago has secured a game with the West progress according to their own lights and inclinations of the faculties. That makes it pretty nice for Notre Dame, does it not? Yes, it does, comes the answer bright and clear. Do you think Notre Dame has the fragment of a chance with Yale? Ans.—Yes.

You see, there are six hall teams down at the South Bend Catholic school. All of the boys in the school—almost—play the game. The priests get out and mingle with the boys, and if a youngster does not play, the proper spirit he is called and sharply, too. Yes, you go on.

The teams of the six halls play for the hall championship of the school. The winning team is given a trip. These games are just as vigorously played as the game the varsity plays. That is one of the reasons for the great teams that Notre Dame has produced. A boy with the jaundice is a miserable guy at Notre Dame.

Why won't any of the little fellows of the West let Notre Dame play in their yards? Well, you see, it is something like this: One year Michigan had some team. Dead it was some team. That was back in 1909. Michigan went down to South Bend for one of those so-called practice games and the "Mics" gave the Yostites a cleaning.

The Minnesota game was right after this. Minnesota and Minnesota in general, crowded gleefully and pictured the fun there would be in Minneapolis after the Gophers had triumphed over Friend Wolverines. Well they played, but Michigan won.

Now see how that placed Notre Dame. Those true sports, the numbers of the Western school faculties, came to the conclusion that any school that could turn out so good a team as the Notre Dame one, must be inured and thoroughly drilled. So all of the little conference schools were taken into the house and forbidden to play with the dirty little Urchin, Notre Dame.

Does that answer your question? Yes—but why won't Michigan play Notre Dame? That's difficult to say. Afraid is the best answer to send along the line. There is one thing in the football lane where the sportsmanship of Michigan can and should be thoroughly questioned. We right away impugn the honor of the Wolverine. Notre Dame is the best team in the West—so some say. Michigan is the best team in the West—so some say. Wouldn't it be just gr—ad if both of these teams could play and then all of us could say what was really the best team in the West.

And another thought. Some of us who are tired, sick and tired of this conference rottenness and the punk football of some of its teams, could hop the rattler and go to Chicago and see a game that would be some game. Notre Dame is going to play Carleton, Syracuse, West Point and Yale. It should worry.

Minnesota is going to play South Dakota, Nebraska, Northwestern and one or two others. It should worry.

Love Your Brother. STANISLAUS and Wladek Zbyski came out of the Paris catch-as-catch-can wrestling tournament at the top of the list of ninety-six of the best wrestlers on the other side of the pond. It was up to the Zbysko boys to meet and decide the winner of the tourney. Large brother Stanislaus came to the center of the ring and put his little arms around the neck of little brother Wladek (he weighs 235) and cried: "Can you wrestle against my own blood; let Wladek have the prize."

This do we see that young Wladek gets the championship on the other side of the pond and the larger prize of champion of the world is the lure that urges Stan on.

Curtains for Coulon. LOGAN SQUARE, which is in the city of Chicago, is in mourning today. Johnny Coulon, the champion bantam weight fighter of the world, is not the champion of old and the friends of one of the greatest of all the little men are consequently disconsolate and downcast.

Since the passing of Jimmy Barry there has not been a bantam weight of the boxing brilliance of Coulon. But the health of the little man has gone—and he is but twenty-four—and the end is in sight.

When a boy of the inexperience of Sinnet can box a virtual draw with Coulon, even the staunch friends of the little fellow will be forced to sorrowfully admit that Johnny had better be careful about making a match with Kid Williams.

Kelly and Gibbons. OFFICIALS of the Twin Ports club are angling for a contest between Kelly and Mike Gibbons. If the St. Paul Phantom will be at all reasonable in his demands, the contest may be staged. If Michael wants a large guarantee, the chances are not so likely.

Sig Abrams declares that he would like to stage one big contest and come up to the town across the bay, the fans are liable to see the two welterweights in action.

This About Pelkey. ABE FINKELSTEIN, from Winnipeg, declared yesterday that he wanted to bet on Gunboat Smith. The wish taking place in the city of Winnipeg, he went out and made inquiries. Finally after offering 3 to 1 on the chances of Smith the former Duluthian was able to coax a few dollars out of their hiding places.

This goes to show how much some of the Canadians thought of the chances of Pelkey.

THESE ARE NOT IN THE FEDERAL LEAGUE. Chicago, Jan. 23.—Measures relating to the invasion of their field by the Federal league may be taken up at today's meeting of owners and managers of the American association, who are here to select a committee to prepare the league's 1914 playing schedule.

The formal meeting was to have been held yesterday but was postponed because of the absence of "Mike" Cantillon of the Minneapolis club. Cantillon was reported at Federal headquarters making over a lease for a baseball park site to the Chicago club of that organization.

A plan to strengthen the Kansas City and Indianapolis teams, in whose fields the Federals will have rival clubs, was said to have been informally discussed yesterday.

A four-trip scheduled with 168 games seemed to be favored by the club owners but the details will be left entirely with the schedule committee.

James Galloway, an infielder from Waco, Tex., signed with Indianapolis yesterday and Leo Murphy, a young catcher, was signed by the Columbus club.

James Sheppard, the former Chicago club player, is expected to sign as manager of the Toledo club today.

 THESE ARE NOT IN THE FEDERAL LEAGUE. Chicago, Jan. 23.—Larry Quinn, former major league infielder, has signed to manage the Terre Haute Central league team. This was announced by Louis McHenry, president of the Central league.

HOLTER SAYS DULUTH IS IN WRONG ASSOCIATION

Secretary of National Ski Clubs Declares That Amateur Body Is Composed Only of St. Paul and Duluth Ski Riders.

The National Ski Association of America holds no animosity toward the Duluth Ski association, but has issued a stern and unrelenting ukase, declaring that there is no chance in the well-regulated order of things easily for the St. Paul Ski club to return to the protecting arms of the association.

This is the declaration of Akkel H. Holter, secretary of the National Ski association. The National Ski association is the Duluth and the St. Paul club is not in existence, and the Menomonee and Northfield clubs have withdrawn from the National Ski association.

"Duluth is in with the wrong outfit, and I am sure if the Duluth Ski club would remain absolutely independent, it would succeed far better than when it is in with the wrong outfit," Holter declared.

Following is the communication from Secretary Holter on the stand of the National association:

"Dear Sir:—In all fairness, I desire to call your attention to the ski situation. The National Ski association carries no ill feeling whatsoever towards Duluth's Ski club. The Duluth club is welcome any time it should get ready to come back. But St. Paul can never again become a member of the association, owing to improper conduct not becoming true sportsmen."

I refer to the present St. Paul Ski club. It is but fair to let the good people know that the only two clubs that have withdrawn from the National Ski association are the Duluth and the St. Paul club. The Menomonee and Northfield clubs have withdrawn from the National Ski association.

THE EMERALDS WIN FROM SPA QUINT.

Last evening the Emerald basket ball team won from the Spa quint by the score of 25 to 9. The game was played in the C. A. C. gymnasium and was witnessed by a large crowd. The team work and general superiority of the winning team were entirely too much for the Spa athletes. Each team has won a game and the third and deciding contest will be played in the near future. The line-up: Spa: Summers, Diers, Hestell, McDonald, Hinchfield, Conlon, "Nels" Neander, Benda, "Dillon." Emeralds: "Yip" Owens, "Nels" Neander, Benda, "Dillon."

"YIP" OWENS GOES TO FEDERAL LEAGUE

Former Minneapolis Catcher, Drafted By Washington, Gets Bonus for Quitting Organized Baseball.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 23.—Frank Owens, a former Minneapolis American association catcher, drafted by Washington of the American league at the close of last season, signed a three-year contract with the Federal league last night, according to an announcement here this morning. The amount of Owens' salary is not given, but it is stated that the former Miller is to receive a bonus of $2,500 for quitting organized baseball. Owens has been with the local team for four seasons. The statement by a local paper that Otis Clymer, a well-known Minneapolis outfielder, is considering a tempting offer from the Pittsburgh Federals, is denied by Clymer.

CANADIANS EXPECT TO DEFEAT DULUTH TWICE

Captain Wilson of Port Arthur Says His Team Is Fit.

Curling Club Team Will Play Desperately to Grab Both Games.

With one of the crack teams of Western Canada ready for the contest of this evening, the Port Arthur hockey players arrived yesterday so as to be in the very best of shape for the game with the Duluth Curling club seven.

On the Thunder Bay in better stand, are such players as Wellington, one of the best centers in the game today, and Wilson, the speedy star who electrified the spectators last season with the speed of his skating. Wilson is a player of the spectacular order of "Ham" Baker of the Winnipeg Victorias and he is expected to accomplish a lot of things for the members of the Duluth seven.

Visitors Are Confident. The members of the Port Arthur team are confident of winning the game of this evening, and also the one of Saturday evening.

Capt. Wilson of the Port Arthur team stated that his men are in better stand than last year, that the team has had more practice and that it should be fully 25 per cent stronger than when it appeared here a year ago.

Last season the Thunder Bay boys came down here and played a very ordinary game on the first night. The game of last season was a very much improved one. The team was founded by the revelation in the playing of the visitors. Capt. Wilson is of the opinion that the visitors will start off in the first game and show the same style of stuff that was pulled off in the final appearance of the Canadians here last season.

It should be one of the fastest games seen here in the two years that hockey has flourished. Port Arthur is out to show the fans here that it has one of the best teams in Western Canada, and after the two defeats at Houghton and one at the Canadian Soo, the members of the Duluth team will play desperately to win both of the games.

Duluth is in grand form at the present time, outside some of the severe bumps the boys received on the trip. The Duluth team will play desperately to win both of the games.

As the Port Arthur team is one of the greatest aggregations in the entire western portion of the Dominion, it will be seen at the first glance that Duluth is up against a hard proposition.

The lineup:—Duluth: Beleck, Nicholson, Lindner, Pryor, Wilson, Barkell, Whalen, "Nels" Neander, Bogan, Wellington, Kahler.

FRED B. ROSSOM DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Fred B. Rossom, 46 years old, prominent land dealer in this part of the state, died at 10:30 o'clock last evening at his residence, 2328 East Fourth street, following a week's illness from pneumonia.

Mr. Rossom was taken suddenly ill last Saturday, death coming rather unexpectedly last evening. He was attended during the week by Drs. Stewart and Ekland. Mrs. Rossom and three small children, Edna, Reuben and Bartley, were at his bedside when the end came.

A pathetic feature of Mr. Rossom's death at this time is the fact that he had planned to leave Saturday evening for Germany, where he had arranged to visit with his mother, who is 91 years old. Several weeks ago he wrote home to his mother and three sisters and a brother that he was coming for a visit, the first since he left Germany over a quarter of a century ago.

Mr. Rossom came to Duluth nearly four years ago from Virginia, where he was engaged in the land business for twenty years. He was very prominent on the range, being especially well known as a dealer and holder in large timber tracts. He was also interested in property in the South and Mexico. Ever since coming to Duluth he occupied offices in the Manhattan building.

Mr. Rossom was a member of the Elks' lodge, Macabees, and the Order of Vasa. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

J. C. R. IS MAN WITHOUT A STATE.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota will not accept J. C. R., from Illinois. He was discharged formally from the Rochester hospital today. C. J. Swenson of the board of control, who received a request from the Cook county, Illinois authorities, that J. C. R. be received at Rochester. On his return this morning he advised the board of the request, and definite action followed.
This does not mean that Minnesota would not care for J. C. R. should he be found within the state again, but that the state declined to take him from the hands of Illinois when he is being cared for at Oak Forest.

COULDN'T SEE THE OBJECT.
Portland Spectator: The Englishman was attending his first ball game. He seemed very uneasy after the fifth inning, and finally said to his American friend: "I say, old chap, when do they serve the tea?"
"They don't serve tea at a ball game," laughed the American.
"No tea between innings," gasped the Englishman. "Then what's the object of the blooming game?"

ACROSS THE GOBI DESERT

American Built Motor Car Taken to the Tasha Lama.

Ten Days Were Consumed
in Making the Difficult Trip.

Washington, Jan. 23.—An interesting account of the delivery of an American built motor car across the Gobi desert to the Tasha Lama of Mongolia is contained in a recent communication from Ethan C. Le Munyon to Gilbert H. Grosvenor, director and editor of the National Geographic society. The Tasha Lama is second only to the Dalai Lama of Tibet in importance in Mongolia. He is both the religious and the political head of the country and is recognized and venerated by all the inhabitants of Mongolia as sacred.

"Some months ago an American firm in Tientsin, China, was commissioned by the agent of the Tasha Lama to bring him a closed type of motor car, writes Le Munyon. After giving the matter due consideration as to the make of car best suited to his needs, a popular type of car having the planetary type of transmission and foot control, was selected as being near "fool-proof" as possible and best suited to the gods' needs. The car was chosen as being fitted to the country and because it could be easily maintained by people who had no mechi-cal knowledge whatever. It was ordered by cable from the Detroit manufacturers and was to be a regular stock car.

"The car eventually arrived in Tientsin and was shipped by rail to the Kalgan, the point nearest the Gobi desert, over which it was necessary to pass to reach Urgan. Leaving the city behind us, we now began the climb up the pass, the river bed serving as a road for about twenty miles.
The grade was so steep and the road so poor that we were forced to use low gear most of the way, and darkness overtook us before we had gone six miles.

The next day five bullocks were added to the equipment, to supplement the horsepower of the machine in threading its way through the almost impassable mass. A run was made for the last river to be crossed before the desert was reached, but the machine stuck in the center of the stream and had to be rescued with the aid of a block and tackle. Ten days were consumed in making the trip.

"About a week after our arrival the car was delivered to the god, who entertained us at lunch," continues Mr.
Le Munyon. "After the business of turning over the car had been completed the god presented me with a bolt of imperial yellow broadcloth silk.
He is about 40 years of age, has a bald head and a hard-looking face and seems more like a cut-throat than a holy pontiff. He is almost blind. He is said to be very susceptible to feminine charms.

"A Primitive Country.
"Mongolia is one of the most interesting and most primitive countries in the world today. Mongols look on the dead in a different light from the Chinese, and their dead are taken just outside the town and left on the ground. The dogs, sometimes, those from their own tent, soon make short work of them; in a couple of hours nothing is left. The natives believe that the quicker this happens, the better chance the spirit of the departed has in reaching Paradise. The Mongol is a great meat eater. It is not uncommon for him to consume ten pounds of mutton at one sitting. He eats mutton fat in his tea, of which thirty cups a day is not an uncommon amount for an adult to drink.
There are no regular hours for eating;
the natives eat when opportunity offers.

"This was the first time that a closed car had ever been driven across any desert country. No tire changes were made in the entire distance; leather treads protected the back-tires; the front ones ran bare; there was not even a puncture. Four months after our return from Urgan, we heard directly that the car was running and giving good satisfaction."

COMPULSORY COMPENSATION

Regarded as Backbone of Workmen's Act in Washington.

Olympia, Wash., Jan. 23.—Its compulsory nature is the backbone of the workmen's compensation act of the state of Washington, in the opinion of the state industrial insurance commission, as expressed in the foreword to its second annual report. This foreword says:

"Washington is still the only state of the twenty-two which have introduced the workmen's compensation act in some form to make the law compulsory. During the year we have been visited by committees from Oregon, Colorado and Missouri, and have been in correspondence with Wisconsin, New Jersey, New York, Idaho and other states, all of whom have sought information as to the practical working of our act.

"There is no question that the compulsory feature is the backbone of the law, and in our state the principle of industrial insurance has thus proved itself sound, whereas in the other states matters are still in an uncrystalized condition. All employers must be made to bring their employees under the law or the law is practically nullified in its effect.

"With accurate data on hand in regard to industrial accidents for the first time, it can be accurately stated just how much time is lost by injured men and just how great is the loss of earning power both of the employee as an individual and to the state as a unit, and how large is the list of fatalities. This information has led to an active effort on the part of employers to add safeguards to their work. Employers as a class have to pay for the accidents in their respective classes, and they are, therefore, anxious to reduce the accidents and cut the rate of insurance. Safeguards to life and limb are increasing all over the state, to the subsequent saving to the individual, the firm and the state."

MINER SURRENDERS TO SHERIFF CRUSE

Koski Will Face Charge of Assault With Intent to Kill.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Koski, financial secretary of the South Range local of the Western Federation of Miners, surrendered today to Sheriff Cruse on the warrant charging conspiracy, he being one of the thirty-eight men who were indicted by the grand jury on a felony warrant issued by the fifth secret felony indictment returned by the special grand jury on Jan. 15.

Assault with intent to murder is the charge against Koski under the indictment. It is based on the shooting of Deputy Sheriff Timothy Driscoll at South Range, Dec. 31, during a raid on the South Range Federation headquarters.

Koski was remanded to jail.

STENOGRAPHER GETS $1,475 HEART BALM.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 23.—Miss

Sophie Robinson, Chicago stenographer, who sued Henry Eder of Milwaukee for $2,000 for alleged breach of promise, was today awarded $1,475 in Judge Cummings' branch of the civil court.

BUREAUS MAY BE ELIMINATED

Plan of Consolidation Proposed for Agriculture Department.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Reorganization of the department of agriculture by abolishing all of the present thirteen bureaus and substituting four or five large offices, grouping all allied activities, is contemplated in a proposition carried in the agriculture appropriation bill, which the house committee on agriculture almost has completed.

While the details are left to the discretion of Secretary Houston, he and Representative Lever, chairman of the committee, have conferred over the plan for readjusting the work of the department so as to eliminate all lost energy that possibly can be corrected.
The only obstacle to the concentration plan is the possibility of a point of order being raised in the house on the ground that the provision constitutes new legislation that cannot be carried in an appropriation bill.

Readjustment is expected to include the concentration of divisions into four groups, each under a single official, as follows:

Regulatory, or quarantine, work, dealing with such matters as insecticides, meat inspection, etc.

Scientific and research work, to comprehend everything that comes under those general heads.

Demonstration or extension work for farmers, which is to be radically expanded.

Administration, to handle the department executive affairs, including the offices of the secretary and assistant secretary, chief clerk and disbursing officer and similar officials.

The agricultural bill also will carry an appropriation that will reach close to the $19,000 asked by Secretary Houston to enable him to acquire and diffuse information on subjects connected with the marketing and distribution of farm products, a project authorized by the Marketing and Distribution Act, and for farm management $275,000. For eradication of hog cholera $75,000 is sought.

SPOKANE COUNTY HAS GAME FARM

Will Attempt to Raise Hungarian Partridges and Pheasants.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 23.—Golden and silver pheasants and Hungarian partridges are to be raised on the county game farm, the only one in the state, and preparations to this end already have been started. Sixty buff bantams, reported to be ideal mothers, will be bought by the superintendent of the farm to carry the plan into effect.

At present on the farm there are six runs, 8 by 24 feet, 7 feet high, and six coops, 6 by 8 feet, with gangways between. Twenty-two golden pheasants between, and four silver pheasants are now on the farm. They were bought at Tacoma, and it is found that they will do well in this climate a large additional number of each species will be bought.

A shipment of between 800 and 1,000
Hungarian partridges is due from Pennsylvania, and to accommodate them eight runs, 8 by 12, and 2 feet high, are now being constructed. The birds will be kept shut up until spring and to make their quarters as much like the wild as possible, brush and sand will be arranged in the coops and runs and in a large tent. All the runs will be floored in order that they may be kept dry and comfortable for the birds.

It is expected that the Hungarian partridges will lay a great many eggs between the time they are received and the time they are liberated, so that the buff bantam hens will be kept busy.

In addition to the 1,000 Hungarian partridges the man in charge plans to place another large order and expects to receive the birds early in the summer. At that time they may be liberated immediately.

County Game Warden E. G. Dunlap and Game Commissioner Wiseman will leave shortly to make a tour of inspection of a 34,000-acre tract of land near Williams lake, which it is proposed to set aside for a refuge for upland game birds. The farmers who own the tract are anxious that the land be used for a preserve and have offered to lease it for a period of ten years at a nominal rental to the county.

Early in the spring the game commission will take steps to plant wild rice and celery in all the lakes of the county in an effort to attract the ducks to Spokane county once more. During the last few seasons the ducks and geese, knowing there is no food in the waters of Spokane county, have stopped here on their flight south only long enough for a rest. The commissioners hope by providing feed to make the ducks as plentiful as they were in the early days.

PLANS FOR FARM COURSE

Several Speakers Signed for Two-Weeks Course in March.

Practical Tests and Demonstrations in Farming Are Arranged.

Plans for the first annual short course at the Northeast Experimental station are rapidly taking form. The several speakers are being signed and their dates arranged for the two-week period, March 9 to 21. The announcements of the latter will be delayed for a short time.

One feature that will be emphasized will be to supplement the address of the official lecturer, which may be a trifle technical, with the relation of his experience to some successful local operator in the matter of soil, crop, herd, garden and farm management. Testing seeds for germination and purity will be done by students under the supervision of the new state inspection department.

A feature of the afternoon work will be the study of several farms in actual operation, while at the same time the students will be acquainted with the main characteristics of our dairy breeds and types.

The same applies to other kinds of domestic animals and poultry. The possibilities of the experimental station in the lake region working with cereals. The grading, selection of seed and treatment to resist disease will be emphasized in afternoon practice work.

In teaching the value of the organization the student body will be organized into a farmers' club and as such will conduct a practical management of the club at home. In this way the young man may become familiar with the practical management of the local club at home. The point of view of the whole session will be to make the student more helpful and efficient.

MICHIGAN GRAND JURY DELAYS REPORT—TRUE BILLS ARE EXPECTED

Moyer's Deportation Among the Subjects Considered at Houghton.

Governor Ferris Keeps Informed on Washington Movement.

Congressional Committee Likely to Go to Houghton.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald).—The special grand jury continued in session this morning without indicating that it was ready to make its final report. Circuit Judge O'Brien remained in chambers at the county courthouse in expectation of a summons from the jury, while the jury was in recess, that some report probably would be ready this afternoon. It was regarded as certain that a number of indictments will be returned.

Moyer Case Considered.
Indictments against persons said to have been involved in the deportation of Charles H. Moyer with the grand jury of the special grand jury, which has been investigating disorders in the copper region. The grand jury yesterday heard evidence relative to the shooting of Mary Fitzgerald, a young girl, and announced it would report to Judge O'Brien of the circuit court today. It is not known whether the jury will be discharged or whether it will be dismissed subject to the call of the court. Henry Koski, financial secretary of the South Range local of the Western Federation of Miners, in jail today charged with assault with intent to murder Deputy Sheriff Timothy Dismore, who was shot during a raid on the South Range Federation headquarters. Koski was wanted on a secret indictment and gave himself up last night.

Ferris Will Keep Posted.
Big Rapids, Mich., Jan. 24.—Governor Ferris, at his home here today, said he closed for all time on March 1, 1914, by an order of the board of police commissioners issued last night. The order is the result of a crusade begun here by the committee of 100 for the suppression of commercialized vice. It means the elimination from St. Louis of about 70 resorts and about 500 inmates.

Wife Out of the State.

Rossmore, Va., Jan. 24.—Rev. B. F. Landis, a Lutheran minister of Price's Fork, Va., was arrested by a deputy United States marshal upon a warrant charging him with violation of the white slave act. The minister was arraigned before a Federal commissioner at Floyd, Va., and his case set for Feb. 10.

Rev. Landis, the warrant charges, paid the transportation from Price's Fork to Bluefield, W. Va., of the wife of a neighbor named Jones. They registered at Bluefield hotel. Jones' brother and sister, remaining several days. The warrant further asserts Landis claims his "sister" was subject to epilepsy and required constant watching.

Rev. Mr. Landis was also principal of the Price's Fork high school.

London, Jan. 24.—That 10,000 coal carriers are on strike in London was brought home to the citizens today by a severe cold wave. The men left work on Thursday, demanding a 20 percent increase of 2 cents a ton for loading coal. They were arrested by a deputy United States marshal upon a warrant charging him with violation of the white slave act. The minister was arraigned before a Federal commissioner at Floyd, Va., and his case set for Feb. 10.

POSTOFFICE BILL RIDER STRUCK OUT

Assistant Postmasters Will Stay in the Classified Service.

Washington, Jan. 24.—A point of order late yesterday struck out of the annual postoffice appropriation bill the "rider" to exempt all of the country's 2,400 assistant postmasters from the civil service law. Advocates of this provision, which had drawn disapproval from President Wilson, made an ineffectual attempt to have reported a special rule to head off the point of order.

With a roll call in prospect on a provision to authorize a women's compensation scheme in the postoffice department, the house adjourned without final action on the appropriation bill.

CHICAGO SELLS FOODSTUFF AT COST TO THE POOR

First Municipal Store Is Opened—Others May Follow.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Chicago's first municipal store, which the city council recently authorized with an appropriation of $25,000, and at which groceries are sold at cost to the poor, was opened today.

If the market proves a success, meats and wearing apparel also will be sold, and other stores opened in different sections of the city.

"The municipal markets never will be opened in 'pauper' neighborhoods," said Joseph Meyer, county agent who is in charge of the enterprise, "because the county agents' office was created to give foodstuffs and clothing to persons without funds. The municipal markets are to help working people practice economy by purchasing their provisions at cost."

A large crowd gathered at the store and waited patiently until the doors were opened. Prices charged as compared with privately owned groceries in the neighborhood are given as follows:

LINCOLN BANK CLAIMS HEARD

Nebraska City.

Denver Is Next Place
Where They Will Stop.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 24.—Secretaries McAdoo and Houston of the regional bank reserve committee arrived today in Lincoln for a hearing with bankers from Lincoln and Omaha presenting arguments on location of the reserve bank. Lincoln's claims as a reserve city were presented by President P. L. Hall of the Central National bank and other businessmen. The city's position as the center of a rich agricultural district and its railroad facilities were made the basis of the argument.

Henry W. Yates, president of the Nebraska National bank and others spoke for Omaha.

Kansas City vs. St. Louis.
Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 24.—Governor George S. Hodges of Kansas, and former Governor W. R. Stubbs, appeared before the Federal reserve bank committee here yesterday and urged the establishment of a reserve bank at Kansas City. Governor Hodges told Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Houston that if there was any delinquency in the state laws of Kansas which would prevent state banks from coming into the reserve system, the next legislature would remedy it. He said that Kansas had shown a normal crop increase last year of $240,000,000.

Former Governor Stubbs told the committee that Kansas City is the center of the financial needs of Kansas and that the financial needs of Kansas would not be served by a bank located west of Kansas City.

GET WORK FARM FOR KANSAS CITY WOMEN

City Council Will Supply
ment Institution for Men.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 24.—Women municipal prisoners soon will be permitted to occupy their time in poultry raising, butter-making, gardening and other farm pursuits as a result of an action of the city council today appropriating money for a municipal farm for women.

Plans call for an institution similar to the municipal farm for men prisoners, conducted by the city for several years. The new plan was suggested by the Women's Prisoners' Club, and is in line with the work of the board of public welfare toward the substitution of helpful outdoor activity for the close confinement of the old workhouse plan.

Secretary Redfield Tells Prophets of Gloom to Look Around.

Declares Business Men Have Fully Met All Changes.

Believes Lessons in Common Interests Have Been Learned.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 24.—An affirmative view of business was the keynote of a speech Secretary Redfield made here today before the Chamber of Commerce. He praised American manufacturers for their ready adjustment to new conditions, and declared that the flood of foreign manufactures which it was predicted would overwhelm American markets with the passage of the new tariff had not materialized.

"Aye, but you say, look at the depression. Well, look at it," said Mr. Redfield. "Look at it sanely, without passion and without prejudice. What do you see?"

"But before you answer let me ask a second question: Where are you looking? Get the horizon big enough, else your picture will be but partial and may mislead. Where then is trade depression found? In India, in Argentina, in Brazil, in Germany, in England. Where is it least? In America! Where is the rising tide from such depression as exists felt first and most? Here, in America."

America's Best Off.
"Leave aside the parables of the prophets of evil who for political purposes preach national pain. Look calmly at the truth. America suffers from no disaster. She is better off than the world. From the bottom, which at most was not deep, she has already risen far and is rising. There was just cause for hesitation in that which has happened in the past. The reaction from the Balkan war, which had led the purse strings of Europe and shut down the mills, was naturally reflected here in some small degree."

"It was perfectly proper that business men should be alarmed."

PROTECTED FOWLS RUIN GRAIN FIELDS

Oregon Farmers Will Appeal to Wilson for Relief.

Pendleton, Or., Jan. 24.—Alarmed at reports of Federal investigation and possible prosecution for killing wild geese and ducks, Oregon farmers have already been destroyed, according to farmers, who say that as high as fifty acres of wheat covered with wild geese can be seen in the daytime, while at night immense flocks of mallard ducks ravage large grain areas.

"Dear Mr. Wilson," wrote little Isis Winans, "We have all heard of the terrible disaster that has just occurred in Japan. We have all contributed a nickel or dime towards saving the poor people. We haven't much money to spare, so some of us have run errands to earn the money. We hope it will get to Japan in time to help the poor girls and boys. We are also all interested in the Red Cross society, and would be much obliged if you would please send us a leaflet of their work."

President Wilson wrote a letter thanking the donors and turned the money order over to the American Red Cross.

GERMAN PARLIAMENT SEEKS TO CURB POWER OF MILITARY

Will Pass Legislation If Government Refuses to Act.

Berlin, Jan. 24.—The German imperial parliament today, in order to demonstrate its indignation over the recent incidents between the military and civilians at Zabern, adopted by a large majority a resolution demanding government action to prevent the use of troops against citizens unless at the request of the civil authorities.

The house thereafter took the first step toward the adoption of a law to prohibit such occurrences in case the government should fail to act. A bill was introduced by the Socialists, the intervention of troops without a requisition, and forbidding the use of arms by the military except in self-defense, to overcome actual resistance, to force the disarmament of armed persons, or in the arrest of fugitives. The bill was referred to a special committee.

Another bill, drafted by the Socialists, would subject members of the army and navy to the jurisdiction of the civil courts. It was also referred to the committee.

The house then adjourned until Jan. 28, breaking off its discussion of the imperial budget as a protest against the absence of the imperial chancellor, Von Bethmann-Hollweg, and the other ministers during the debate.

Declared.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 24.—Laws to prohibit further immigration until all surplus laborers in the United States are fully employed, were favored by a resolution today. The resolution was introduced by the Roslyn, Wash., union.

Another resolution expressing sympathy for the striking copper miners in Michigan was adopted without debate.

The abolition of international wars by means of a general strike was proposed in a resolution introduced by Duncan McDonald of Illinois. The resolution was adopted and referred to the International Mining congress. McDonald declared the burden of carrying on wars, both in money and life, fell on the laboring classes.

McDonald presented another resolution calling on the federal government to purchase coal for the battleships only from mines where "miners are employed eight hours a day and where humane conditions obtained."

The resolution states that the government for a number of years has been purchasing fuel for the navy from non-union mines of the Virginias, Maryland and West Virginia.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Washington, Jan. 24.—President Wilson today received a postoffice money order for $2.60 from pupils of the fifth grade in the Lincoln school at Anaconda, Mont., who asked him to send it to the suffering in Japan from the recent disaster.

"Dear Mr. Wilson," wrote little Isis Winans, "We have all heard of the terrible disaster that has just occurred in Japan. We have all contributed a nickel or dime towards saving the poor people. We haven't much money to spare, so some of us have run errands to earn the money. We hope it will get to Japan in time to help the poor girls and boys. GLASGOW BOTANICAL BUILDING WRECKED

Bomb Outrage in Crystal

Glasgow, Jan. 24.—A bomb outrage, believed by the police to have been carried out by militant suffragettes, today destroyed the extensive conservatory in the Glasgow botanical gardens known as the Kibble Crystal Palace. The great glass roofs and sides of the structure were blown to pieces. Many valuable plants were ruined.

A caretaker succeeded in severing the fuse of a second bomb just before the first one exploded. He narrowly escaped fatal injury from the flying splinters of metal and glass.

Foot prints and remains of food found in the bushes near the conservatory indicate that the perpetrators had hidden for some time awaiting an opportunity to set the fuses of the bombs.

Mayor Mitchel of New York
So Interprets Colonel's Letter.

Expects to Put Canal Builder Over Gotham's Police.

Army Retirement and Full Power Are Officer's Conditions.

New York, Jan. 24.—If Col. George W. Goethals should be offered the position of governor of canal zone by President Wilson, he will not accept. This is the interpretation Mayor John Purroy Mitchel placed today on Col. Goethals' present attitude toward the policy of commissionership of this city, which has been tendered him.

"If language means anything," said the mayor, "Col. Goethals will become police commissioner of New York city, provided two conditions which he imposed are fulfilled. I expect these conditions to be realized."

The mayor added that if occasion demanded, he would go to Washington to see President Wilson in the matter, and that he expected at any rate to get in touch with the president shortly.

He had no official knowledge, he said, of any intention on the part of the president to offer Col. Goethals the governorship of the canal zone, but he did expect that the president would grant the colonel's proposed request for retirement from the army. This, he intimated, would be the subject to be taken up with the president.

The two conditions imposed by Col. Goethals are his retirement from the army and the enactment of legislation which will give the police commissioner power to remove subordinates without court review.

Plans Legislative Action.
The mayor said his bill would be introduced in the legislature at Albany at once, giving the commissioner added powers and intimating that he would be willing to meet Col. Goethals' other conditions. He said that until the end of 1914, when the colonel's work on the isthmus shall have been completed, before the appointment became effective.

Mayor Mitchel, in making his announcement, gave out a letter from Col. Goethals to him and brought to him a copy of the letter. The letter, at the mayor's request, conferred with Col. Goethals on the subject in Panama, returning here with the canal building reply. The mayor did not make the commission ship open for a (Continued on page 5, second column.)

Missouri Robbers Get Away Safely With $5,000.

Ludlow, Mo., Jan. 24.—Robbers blew open the vault in the Farmers' bank here early today and escaped with $5,000, mostly silver. So quietly did they work the robbery was not disclosed until the bank was opened for the business of the day.

THINK ROBBERY MURDER MOTIVE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 24.—The police are convinced that robbery was the motive for the murder of Burton F. Parker, a young English photographer who died on the streets in the wholesale district Thursday night. Accordingly Mrs. Martha Davis, Gustav Konis and Carl Price, arrested yesterday on suspicion of having a knowledge of the crime, were released from custody today. No clue to the identity of highwaymen was obtained.

NO PUPILS IN TANGO CLASS

Duluthians Have Stage Fright and Lyceum Tango Lesson Is Failure.

Three Men and One Woman Volunteer and the Woman Flees.

Duluth doesn't care to tango. At least it doesn't think enough of the newest waltz craze to walk on the stage and take lessons from members of the Alice Lloyd troupe, who had agreed to show Duluthians the new steps free of charge. This was to be the main feature of the performance yesterday afternoon, for which arrangements had been made earlier in the week by the advance agent of the company. One hundred Duluthians, who were the hosts of the Herald at the matinee performance yesterday, having been the prize winners in the contest conducted this week, were told to remain after the show and receive the dancing lessons free of charge, together with any other members of the audience who cared to stay.

And yet, when Frank Fogarty, member of the company, stepped out on the stage and announced that the teachers were ready, but four persons had the nerve to step on the stage.

Then Mr. Fogarty grew impatient. "It is impossible to teach the tango and hesitation to pupils who are at least fifteen feet away," he said. "We must show you the steps and then dance with you." But still the audience hung back.

One Woman Flees. So the only thing left to do was to dance with the three young men and one young woman. Mr. Fogarty called for the music and the six instructors of the Alice Lloyd company stepped out and danced. Then they asked the young woman to step out in the center of the stage and dance, but she looked about and fled, returning to her friends in the audience. And out of the four only one young man was willing to dance.

The police Mr. Fogarty stepped out again and told the audience that if they would not come up on the stage the lesson would have to be stopped. It was impossible to go on without pupils.

Then the curtain went down and 100 Duluthians lost out in learning the latest dances from very competent instructors, because they had stage fright. And Alice Lloyd, the diminutive English star, was surprised at what happened. Of course, she takes with a English accent that cannot be reproduced in cold type, but this is what she said:

"I never heard of this before. Why out West and on the Coast, the people were wild about the dances. They flocked to the theatre day and night and often we would have to turn them down. On many occasions we were compelled to give extra lessons at 11 o'clock in the morning."

And so Duluth either doesn't really care to tango, or maybe it has what is known as stage fright. Who knows?

WOULD FOIL GRIM REAPER

Saloon Men Incorporating to Prevent License Lapsing With Death.

Because of the state law which provides that saloon licenses are automatically annulled by the death of the licensee, and the ruling of the city legal department that the law applies to partnership licenses as well as to those granted individuals, Duluth saloon men are adopting another method to protect their licenses. They are forming corporations to which they are asking that their licenses be granted.

The first move in this direction has been made by Martin Smith, the proprietor of several saloons in Duluth. He filed application with the city clerk yesterday afternoon that the license now in his name be transferred to the Martin Smith Liquor company, incorporated. Smith has been in ill health for several months, and this step is being taken as a precautionary measure.

Commissioner Hicken states that he believes this method to be in compliance with the law, as the licenses of corporations could be revoked as readily as those granted to individuals or partnerships, and employees required to obey the law as working otherwise be the case. Smith's application will be presented to the council at the Monday meeting, but will not be acted upon until two weeks later, because the law requires that all applications for saloon licenses or transfers shall be advertised for that length of time.

ACCUSED OF BURNING PARTNER TO DEATH.
Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 24.—An accident policy containing a clause on which he would profit to the extent of $100,000 in case William Gardner Wheeler, his business partner, died by fire, was found in the possession of Wilson F. Davis, a Civil war veteran. Davis is accused of having burned Wheeler to death Jan. 2, when the cottage they jointly occupied at Sawtelle was destroyed by fire.

The finding of the policy was made public by Frank Blair, deputy district attorney. Blair said several things, formerly the property of the dead man, were found in a box of goods which Davis had stored with a friend after the fire.

University Lectures Will Treat Current Problems in Sixteen Lectures.

Dr. Raymond Phelan of the state university has changed his plans so as to give in Duluth, beginning in February, his course on "Labor and Life." This course covers the rise of the modern labor problem, woman labor, including the minimum wage, child labor and mothers' pensions, industrial accidents and diseases, and unemployment. The course will run for sixteen weeks and will be given at the Commercial club auditorium every Tuesday evening. Many teachers and others have already registered for this course. Further registrations will be received by Miss Z. G. Kaiser at the public library.

Duluth people who took this course last year have been very enthusiastic about it.

BIG NEW YORK BANK TO JOIN

National City Probably Will Enter Federal Reserve System.

Rumors Have Said It Might Compete With Government Bank.

New York, Jan. 24.—That the National City bank, the largest institution of its kind in the country, will in all probability enter the Federal reserve system to be created by the new currency law, has been learned from officials of the bank. This put at rest rumors recently current to the effect that the National City bank contemplated surrendering its charter and merging with the Corn Exchange bank, the largest state institution. Such an institution would create a state bank whose combined resources would probably overshadow any regional reserve bank which might be established at this center.

It is probable no official statement will be made until the return of Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank, who is now in Paris conferring with James Stillman, the chairman of the board of directors.

Financiers not affiliated with the City National bank expressed surprise when informed of its intention, chiefly because of the opposition to the currency bill maintained by some of its leading officers. Moreover, the misunderstandings said to exist between the bank treasury department at Washington gave rise to the belief in some quarters that the bank was seriously considering the organization of an institution which would enable it to become a formidable competitor of the new reserve system.

The difference between the City bank and the treasury department began with the expulsion by the department of a woman employee of the bank, who for years gathered statistical material for the City bank.

That the City bank strongly favored the so-called Aldrich central bank idea was indicated by the views given by President Vanderlip before the national legislators. Later, as the Owen Glass bill assumed more definite shape, he expressed the opinion that it was 80 per cent good, while still objecting to some of its provisions. It is the opinion of other bankers that the attitude of the City bank assures the entrance of virtually all other national banks of importance in this section of the country, where opposition to the law has been most pronounced. Talk of a revolt from the national system by reason of the enactment of the new law has converged largely around the City bank and other banks with which it was known to possess a degree of influence through stock ownership by officials of the bank and interlocking directorates.

CARL BROWNE OF THE COXEY ARMY BURIED.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Escorted by a large delegation of friends and admirers, the body of Carl Browne, California labor knight and Socialist, was yesterday carried to a local cemetery and buried with simple ceremony. In tribute to their leader, Browne's comrades had planned to have the procession pass through the capitol grounds where Coxey's army, under Browne's command, marched twenty years ago. The police interfered, however, and the procession merely halted for an instant on the park border and then proceeded on its way.

Last Christmas day Browne succeeded in finishing his speech on the capitol steps, which was interrupted at the time of Coxey's demonstration.

DELANEY FAILS TO APPEAR AT INQUIRY.

New York, Jan. 24.—John Delaney, commissioner of the bureau of efficiency and economy at Albany, who was expected here yesterday to ask district Attorney Whitman's permission to testify at the John Doe inquiry into political graft and the alleged Tammany conspiracy against Governor Sulzer, did not put in an appearance. Whitman is not anxious to put Delaney on the stand, it was learned, until Sulzer has given further testimony. The deposed governor was to have testified yesterday, but until the arrival of documentary evidence which he has sent for the John Doe inquiry will mark time. It was temporarily adjourned until Monday.

SUNDAY WILL BE CHILD LABOR DAY

Some Churches Will Observe It—No Special Exercises in Duluth Public Schools on Monday.

Tomorrow is Child Labor day throughout the country, and, as has been the custom for the last ten years, it will be observed in some of the churches by short talks on child labor.

It has been planned by the National Child Labor committee to have special exercises in the public schools throughout the United States on Monday, but this will not be done in Duluth.

Supt. Denfeld was asked about it this morning.

"The matter will be explained to the children," he replied, "but there will be no exercises. We paid attention to every request of special exercises for this, that and the other occasion, or even half of them, pretty soon we would not have a day left for the regular business of teaching the children and hearing their lessons. No Child Labor day will not be observed by special exercises."

Child Labor day observance began in 1906 and much progress has been made in the matter of law revision in many of the states. The national committee is working with the object in view of getting a uniform labor law for children that will be adopted by all of the states. The national conference on child labor will be held in New Orleans in March and plans are under way for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the organization of the child labor committee which will be reached on April 14.

"AMERICAN FLAG AND BEETHOVEN GO TOGETHER"

David Mannes Gives Striking Talk on Music to School Children.

Pupils Pack First Methodist Church to Hear Free Concert.

"The American flag and Beethoven should go together."

"When musicians stop trying to be artists, music will be closer to the masses."

"When I am not playing, I try to forget that I am a musician."

"Music is a trade and practice, and is delightfully simple; some people try to frighten us by making us believe that it is terribly difficult."

"We have been cultivating ourselves from the eyebrows up; we want to get busy and educate the rest of ourselves."

"The more music there is in a municipality, the better will be the municipality."

"Women's clubs are the real music leaders in this country."

"The boy is taught to use tools; we should also teach him to use the fiddle or some other musical instrument."

"Music is for the people; when it becomes a profession it is an accident."

"Every person in the world loves music; the only trouble is that some of us are never given an opportunity of discovering the fact."

David Mannes has devoted his life to the teaching of the true precepts of music and his work in the Music School Settlement in New York has attracted national attention. He says most of the people have been radically and drastically mistaken regarding the true principles of one of the greatest moral influences of the world.

At the First Methodist church this morning Mr. and Mrs. Mannes gave a free concert to the school children of Duluth, under the auspices of the philanthropic department of the Matinee Musical Club. The spacious auditorium of the church was literally packed with the members of the seventh and eighth grades of the various schools of the city.

The children were arranged in sections, each school having a large banner to indicate the presence of its pupils. Following a short address by Superintendent Denfeld, the concert was given.

"Music has been one of the passions of my life," said Mr. Mannes, in explaining the beginning of his work that has acquired a wonderful influence and prestige in musical circles of the country. "I never had the opportunity to receive instruction. Therefore, I learned mainly through my own efforts. One of the most delightful experiences of youth is to find out facts. I found out that music wasn't difficult, wasn't dreadfully hard, but was natural and beautiful. That is one of the fundamental facts that we are endeavoring to impress upon the minds of children, teachers and the parents of the boys and girls of America.

"Give the children musical instruments. Instead of having some of the cheap trinkets in the play room, have a violin, a cello, or any musical instrument that the child naturally takes to. Let the children discover things for themselves. Children don't believe all the things they are told. They want to investigate. Let them discover something about music."

"We have educated ourselves from the eyebrows up. We should pay some attention to the rest of ourselves. We should educate the mind and body to work together. The body belongs to the mind and body is one of the crying necessities of the age."

"When must learn to use their bodies in boxing or in baseball. We must also teach the boy how to use his mind and body in playing the violin."

"One of the mistakes that has kept musicians and the ordinary people apart is the fact that some musicians have come to believe it is also necessary to be an artist. When the musician gets over this belief the people and the musician will be better understood and better appreciated."

"Every city is benefited morally by the influence of music. The various women's clubs in this country are having a tremendous influence in creating a desire for good music. It is our aim and our wish to reach that music that is simple, a natural expression only, and is part of the education of every man, woman and child."

Disappointed Soloists.
"It is a fact that the music soloists, and their view of music has often been misunderstood and their attitude is thus directly and vitally affected. The music soloist belongs to the only instructor for the child. We have been going at the thing entirely wrong. You can't get on your own; you must proceed from the beginning. The music soloist is beginning that music is beautiful, wonderful and natural; that it is not difficult, dreadful or mysterious."

"I wanted to have an instructor when I was a boy. I had an ardent longing has influenced my attitude toward the boys and girls of Duluth. I want to reach them to the instruction of the great principles, to endeavoring to supply what that came to me only in later years. Ysage was later my instructor, and I have been in the music business ever since."

"We must learn what music is to appreciate it. Many of the musicians are responsible for a mistaken idea of music. The music soloist belongs to the people and is for the people. It should be brought close to everyone. Everyone loves music. It is a tone deaf, despite what may be said. The concert this morning was a delightful one, the program being carefully chosen to appeal to such an audience."

MAYOR PRICE OPTIMISTIC Tells Hillside Club City Is Growing By Leaps and Bounds.

New Water Rates Are Approved; Engineer Wilson Is Praised.

That Duluth is growing by leaps and bounds and that the steel plant will bring at least 25,000 more people to the western part of the city, was the optimistic expression of Mayor W. J. Price last night at a meeting of the Central Hillside club at the Franklin school.

The mayor based his optimism on the reports of the building inspector, the receipts of the street car company and the statistics showing a big birth rate increase. Mayor Price said in part: "The works division of the city is building up very rapidly, and the steel corporation is putting in its own system of sewer, water and gas. The approved plans show that it can use water for drinking purposes from the city water supply. It also shows that the city can be secured from the bay. It also shows that the city can be secured from the bay. It also shows that the city can be secured from the bay."

The mayor spoke of the added problem that the commission has that the old form of government was not equipped with. He predicted for the Central Hillside district a large growth in the near future. He warmly commended the work of Engineer Wilson and said he knew him to be a hard working, faithful servant, and that he was almost certain that the city would not accept his resignation. The mayor's remarks were enthusiastically received.

Commissioner Merritt was present and explained the reason for reducing the rates of the small consumer to 15 cents and increasing the rates of the large consumer to 8 cents. He argued that the city would be far ahead if the large consumers who are now getting their water below cost would quit. If they continue the new rates are now using. It will be necessary during the next year to spend $60,000 to increase the capacity and the following year an additional $60,000. He said that there were about eighty people who are heard from and that about 80,000 have to be represented, and he was going to represent the 80,000. Ninety-nine per cent of the customers' rates have been lowered and the rates of 1 per cent have been increased. The total number of consumers raised are 74; the balance have had their rates decreased 1 per cent. He said that the spread between 2 1/2c and 15c cents is too great, and that in the near future it will be a serious question. He said that the quality of gas was being improved, and if those having trouble with their gas would report to the department the trouble would be corrected.

The club unanimously approved Commissioner Merritt's new rates. The question of comfort of the city was discussed, and the mayor assured the club that several had already been established in different parts of the city and that another location was being sought at Third avenue west and Superior street.

The club will extend an invitation to Commissioner Murchison and Engineer Wilson to be present at the next meeting. It is the intention of the club to have a Fifth street improved as soon as the people of that vicinity can get together and circulate a petition.

WOMAN TELLS TALE OF ABUSE
Came From Russia to Be Wife of Chisholm Man.

Says He Beat Her, Took Savings and Turned Her Out.

That she had come to this country two weeks ago at the request of Mike Kobich and that upon her arrival at Chisholm, Minn., she had been treated as a slave, was the story told by a woman, known as Mrs. Martha Polisky, a Russian woman, for several years a widow, who is now at the municipal hospital, suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

She was picked up by the proprietor of the Fifth Avenue hotel, who had been found in an exhausted condition on the corner of Fifth avenue west and Michigan street, Thursday night, and taken to the hospital.

HEROC GIRL TEACHER PLAYS ROLE OF NURSE

Closes Backwoods School to Attend Members of Stricken Family.

Family of Seven With Pneumonia More Important Than Three "R's."

Out in a backwoods country district, seventy miles from the nearest railroad station, a rural school was dismissed this week because Sigrid Kolvisto, an 18-year-old school mistress, felt that she was obeying a higher sense of duty by acting as nurse in the home of one of the home-steaders which had been invaded by disease and death.

A story of the heroism of the little school teacher was brought to the city last evening by H. D. McKelcher, humane agent. The family is now under the care of Dr. Crowe. The father, Mrs. Bergman, had taken it upon herself to care for the sick children, and she had been afflicted with pneumonia. A father and six children ranging in age from 2 to 12 years were found in bed.

Mrs. Bergman, mother of the sick children, died last Sunday morning.

At the time of her death, all of the other four months old family except a baby four months old were sick in bed with bad colds which have since developed into pneumonia. Miss Kolvisto was informed of conditions at the home and understood that the Bergmans were in need of medical attendance and the services of a nurse. She decided to dismiss her school for a week and give her attention to the stricken family. The children of the community were so notified. The school is No. 23 of the unorganized district.

Doctor Pays Visit.
When the Bergman family was first taken down with the sickness, Dr. Crowe of Virginia was called. He paid one visit to the family before Mrs. Bergman died, but did not return until Wednesday of this week, when he accompanied Hummel, Agent McKelcher, to the home-steaders home. Neighbors had removed the body of Mrs. Bergman and had taken it to Sand Lake, twenty miles away, for burial. At the request of the father of the children all the bedding which had been used by the mother was burned, but the bedding of the woman had been afflicted with a contagious disease.

Humane Agent McKelcher declares that he found Miss Kolvisto taking care of the children and the sick mother, recording hourly temperatures of each member of the family now under her care. The young woman told him that although she had no training as a nurse, she understood about some of the duties of a nurse. She is now under the care of Dr. Crowe. He has not yet accepted the engineer's resignation and all indications now point to the continuance of Mr. Wilson in the city employ.

Commissioner Murchison continues to receive indications of the work which has been done under the direction of the city engineer and approves the work. He has not yet accepted the engineer's resignation and all indications now point to the continuance of Mr. Wilson in the city employ.

Commissioner Murchison stated that if those who have been criticizing the engineer have any suggestions to make, they should do so in a proper manner. He said that he would be glad to hear from them, but that he would not be able to accept the resignation of the engineer.

PICKING LOST TRAILS IN THE MIDST OF THE SPORTING JUNGLE

Northland Golf Club Officers Look for Great Season During the Present Year—Curling Club Is Winter Sport Leader—Old Men in Search of Dollars Deserve Our Deep Sympathy.

BY BRUCE.

AMBITIOUS plans are being formulated for the 1914 golf season of the Northland club. With the greatest season in the history of the Country club marked upon the figurative ledger of 1913, and with the state tournament of the present year to be played off upon the links of the local club, President T. F. Cole and the other officers and the members of the club generally look forward to the one banner year in the history of the club.

With the players of the state in mind, alterations which have been contemplated for some time are being made and a large sum of money is being expended to improve the club house and course for the coming season.

The enlarging of the course to eighteen holes has worked the greatest general improvement in the local links, but other plans for the improvement of the course have been laid out under the supervision of Tom Bandolin, one of the best golf ground builders in the country, and these plans will be carried through before the time set for the holding of the state tournament.

Up through the obstructing film of obscurity has come the Northland Country club. Today it is looked upon as one of the leading clubs of the Northwest. During the past few years the efforts of the Northland club have placed golf upon the proper plane in this part of the state. Therefore with what appears upon the horizon of the future as the greatest season ever enjoyed by the club there is sound and reasonable basis for believing that 1914 will behold Duluth more than ever infatuated with golf.

Regarding Our Hockey.

IN the local field of local sports the efforts of the Duluth Curling club have supplied a long felt want. During the season when King Boris reigns Duluth is more or less thrown upon itself for amusement. Amusement in the way of the best kind of sport has been provided through the combined efforts of the officers and members of the club, and it is only when some of the people of this city think of the advantages in this respect that Duluth enjoys over the Twin Cities, that the effort upon the part of the curling club can be justly appreciated.

Some people will criticize anything and everything. One once thoroughly cultivates the habit, nothing is quite exempt. There has been a mild sort of criticism levelled at the club for bringing outside players here. This shows the utterly illogical methods of the man who detracts purely from habit.

Duluth wants the very best hockey that it can get. This is just what the curling club is endeavoring to give the people. Cleveland, Detroit, Houghton, Calumet and other cities have gotten together the best teams and these are the aggregations that Duluth must meet on even terms if the support of the public is to be hoped for.

The officers of the club have gone after the best players procurable upon fair and honorable terms. No money is paid to any of the players, according to the statement of those having the team in charge. Duluth has an amateur team and it wants the best amateur team in the United States if it is possible.

Local players have been given first chance. It requires years of training to make a first class hockey player, as it requires years to make a finished baseball player. At the present time Duluth has some young players that are developing into stars. The fastest hockey in the history of the city is being played here today.

However, to put a first class team into the running it has been necessary to gather some outside talent, and in going after the best players the officers of the curling club have been guided solely by the sentiment of the sport lovers of Duluth.

In sport matters the Duluth curling stands unrivalled. It has done more to make Duluth a winter sport center than any other institution. It is giving us good hockey at very reasonable prices. It has gathered a strong team in the only way possible. It is simply satisfying the fair lover of sport, and Bill, that is about all one can hope to do in this world.

Introducing a Stranger.

YESTERDAY Mr. La Chance of St. Paul was in our midst. Mr. La Chance used to play baseball with the North boys when they were all youngsters. No, he is not so very old; of course getting along some. The stranger in our midst is some boxing enthusiast, and as such we hasten to give his opinion of the forthcoming McFarland - Gibbons quarrel.

"Listen," said Mr. La Chance, "Mike will track him to where he lives. This McFarland will have no time to sleep in the ring. Gibbons will take that left of McFarland's and break it off. Mike ain't no house buster, understand me there, but he will just feel that Chicago guy out and then pop him about along in the fourth. Believe me or not. Make will make that guy bite the resin."

All of the above chatter would lead one to the belief that the friend of the North boys thinks rather well of the chances of the St. Paul boxer.

He Couldn't Resist.

WITH Messrs. McCoy, Fitzsimmons and Attell preparing to resume ring operations it is but natural that Tommy Tomato Burns should experience the call of the wild dollar and decide to try once more the fortunes of the padded mitt. We have been redly and gown fame, the large offers made for the proposed Johnson-Moran battle have been greatly overdrawn.

Some are low down and mean enough to state that the men are going to go through the twenty rounds for a percentage of the moving picture privilege. The story of the noble millionaires putting up the sinews of war, is scoffed at in some of the places where men gather and exchange greetings with another man dressed in a white apron.

PORT ARTHUR WINS FAST CONTEST FROM DULUTH

Canadians Overcome First Half Lead and Win Out 6 to 4.

Joe Linder Takes a Merry Swat at Visiting Judge of Play.

ONE OF THE CRACK PLAYERS OF THE STRONG PORT ARTHUR TEAM

E. P. SERVAIS.

Port Arthur came back in the second half of the hockey game of last evening and rushed the Duluth team off its feet and won by the score of 6 to 4. The half time found Duluth in the lead, 2 to 1, and outplaying the visitors in team play and general all-round play.

The Thunder Bay aggregation didn't seem to get started in the first half. In fact the contest looked sleepy and failed to stir. But when bell started the teams on their way for the second lap the spectators were given an exhibition of some of the fastest hockey that has been played here for a long time.

Port Arthur beat us by better work in the second half, better skating, superior defense and more aggressive play. It looked at one time as if we had the Canadian cousins beaten—but it is the score at the end of the contest that counts.

Roy Pryor gave one of the grandest little exhibitions of loafing that has ever been seen on the local ice. It is here humbly suggested that this player bring along a cot this evening.

Wellington is a star. Center Wellington for the visitors was a real star. He scored four of the six goals hung up by the visitors and otherwise comported himself in a manner highly commendable to Port Arthur.

One of the real stars of the Thunder Boys was Nicklin at cover-point. Some of the prettiest puck carrying of the game was done by this player, and he proved to be a real find.

Little Kahler was the star of the Duluth team. The speedy center shot the three of the four goals. Pryor got the other one, and we hasten to explain that he got it because fast puck happened to be bound to a certain spot where the young gentleman was resting. Give him credit—he promptly shot it in.

Some Tobacco Staff. Capt. Joe Linder qualified for the semi-windup of one of the contiguous fight clubs by swatting Judge of Play C. Servais somewhere in the vicinity of the point of the chin. It was one grand exhibition of headwork upon the part of the local leader and furnishes a fine example for the rest of his players.

Official Servais had put Joe off the ice for an offense that fair witnesses claim was just as much the fault of Capt. Wilson of the visitors. The official was disposed to place the blame of the odium upon the carelessly sloping shoulders of the Duluth captain—and then the referee started.

Brave men and cool rushed to the scene of impending disaster and drew into semi-seclusion the belligerent Linder. Joseph was told to stay on the ice for the remainder of the game. There is an old saying that you are no good on the ice.

Several enthusiastic people nearly did a tango when Kahler shot the first goal from a scrimmage in just three minutes after the start of the game. From the start the Duluth aggregation rushed the puck into the territory of the Canadians and remained there during the greater part of the first half.

Goal Nicholson was kept busy stopping some of the shots fired at the cage. While some valiant work was done by Nicklin, several goals were missed by narrow margins.

Just at nineteen minutes of play some one tried a shot that was blocked. The puck spun to the side of the net, quite a ways back. Pryor was standing there quite alone, and as the puck came gently toward him he shot it in for the final Duluth score of the opening half.

Wellington made the one score for the visitors in twenty-two minutes after the start of play, shooting the goal unaided after a pretty rush with the rubber.

Canadians Come Back. From the inception of the second half the visitors began to outplay the locals. The puck was in the Duluth territory the greater part of the time and the playing of the Port Arthur men was more aggressive. Only the remarkable goal tending of Belleck prevented the running up of the count.

The Duluth net guard made some truly marvelous stops. In sixteen minutes after the call of time, during which the spectators were treated to some of the fastest hockey of the season, Kahler brought the crowd to its feet by taking a pass from Barkall and shooting a neat goal.

In just one minute after this Wellington came down the ice with Whalen and taking a neat pass in front of the net, caged the puck in.

From then on the battle waged. At times the play was so fast that the lookers fairly marvelled at the endurance of the players. It seemed that the Port Arthur boys were everywhere, had every point covered. Three minutes after his second goal Wellington shot the third net and the score was tied.

Servais Get Long Shot. In three minutes after the score was knotted Servais got the puck off to the side, away from the scrimmage and shot an aerial one that Belleck never got his eyes on, for the reason that his view was shut off by several players.

Wellington took the puck for a pretty rush in just four minutes after the score of Servais and getting near to the net without being blocked, shot a wicked one by the vigilant guard of Belleck.

As the twenty-eight minutes of play was ticked off Kahler shot from a pretty pass the final goal of the Duluthians. With the shooting of this ret the hopes of the followers of the local seven were raised to a smiling degree.

The smile died a bornin' when Capt. Wilson of the visitors shot a clever goal just before the call of time. With the two point lead there was little hope, especially with the leader of the Duluth team cooling his temper on the fence.

The same teams will play the final game of the series this evening and it is expected that it will prove even more exciting than the one of last evening.

Duluth is out to win the game and if the visitors give another exhibition like that of the second half of the first game, there will be the kind of hockey to make the spectators stand up and open up the lung throttle.

The lineup and summary: Duluth—Belleck, 3 minutes; Pryor, Duluth, 19 minutes; Wellington, Port Arth., 22 minutes; Kahler, Duluth, 16 minutes; Wellington, Port Arth., 17 minutes; Servais, Port Arth., 20 minutes; Penalties—Duluth, 6 minutes; Port Arthur, 18 minutes. Referee—Deetz, Duluth; Judge of play—Servais, Port Arthur; Timekeeper—Larson, Duluth; and Penfold, Port Arthur. Scorer—Hale, Penalty man—Purtil.

A STANDBY OF THE FAST AND AGGRESSIVE PORT ARTHUR SEVEN

Quit on Second Tour. Dr. L. J. Cooke and his Minnesota basketball team left on their second trip of the season Thursday evening. Last night they played Illinois and today will play Northwestern. Despite the fact that the first trip of the Maroon and Gold team was anything but successful, the Gophers are not the least pessimistic as to the result of this defeat. The majority of the players came out of the contests with Wisconsin and Iowa in good condition.

Capt. Stadsvald was about the only performer to get bruised up, receiving some hard knocks and bumps in the game with the Hawkeyes. He will be able to make this trip.

The first trip resulted in two defeats for Minnesota; Wisconsin beat them the first night, and Iowa, 16 to 7, while on Monday evening, in one of the scrappiest games ever seen on an Iowa university floor, the Hawkeyes won out by a score of 16 to 14.

These defeats have taken some of the championship aspirations out of the minds of the Minnesota players and followers, but they still have a hope that the local boys will get in the running before the season has gone much further. Both teams that the boys of the Duluth trip are not noters and will be tough opponents for the Minnesota men.

The Gophers will be outweighed in both contests is expected, although the Northwestern quint is reported as not being much heavier than Dr. Cooke's five. The Purple, nevertheless, has plenty of speed, as was shown in the game already played.

The following men are making the trip: Stadsvald, Lawler, McKee, Lewis, Finn, Gilpin, Sawyer and Hall. Dr. Cooke and Manager McBean accompanied the squad. The party will get back to Minneapolis Sunday.

With one date on May 16 with Iowa as a nucleus, Manager McBean has started negotiations with different universities for the spring track schedule. Thus far the date with Iowa on May 16 is the only one definitely decided upon. Nebraska is holding back on the offer of May 9 as a date, but it is expected the "U" will finally sign the contract now in their hands, as that is the only date which Minnesota will offer. Missouri will in all probability be absent from the schedule of this spring's track team, as the respective managers are unable to fix a date suitable to both. Other dual meets with smaller schools will probably be arranged, but as yet no definite dates have been set. Coach Frank will report Feb. 1 to take up his new work with the team. Many of the candidates for this year's team are hard at work but not until Frank's arrival will serious practice be begun. Capt. Spink and others of the squad taking for extra are now in the northern woods pursuing their school work and incidentally training for the spring work.

Dr. George D. Head of the faculty of the medical school, Tuesday issued a challenge to all former members of Gopher baseball teams for a grand free-for-all nine-inning scramble between the alumni of the institution living in the Twin Cities and those from the rural districts, to be played on Northrop field June 10, as a star event in the festivities of commencement week.

Among the men available for a Twin Cities team, according to E. P. Johnson, secretary of the Alumni association, are: George K. Belden, Ward Hawley, Eugene Patterson, Bill Leary, Alfred Pillsbury, Walter C. Pooker, Clark, Hempstead, H. P. Ritchie, Grant Van Sant and George Rogers of the early days, and John P. McGovern, Henry Doerman, Leslie Pettibone, E. B. Pierce, Herman Kesting, Bobby Marshall, John Gleason, Mat, William and Michael Hurley of the twentieth century squad.

"DOC" COOKE MADE COACH

Will Train Varsity Baseball Squad During Coming Season.

Basket Ball Quint on Second Trip; Spring Track Schedule Begun.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. L. J. Cooke was elected baseball coach at the university for the coming season, Wednesday.

Archie Persons, former Wisconsin player and captain, was elected to the place last June, but he failed to accept a contract. Although he never sent in a formal resignation, the board of control took his silence as an indication that he did not want the position and the place was declared unfilled when the board met Wednesday. It was believed that Frosty Thomas, a former Minneapolis player, and now a Southern leaguer, would apply for the job, but he failed to put in an appearance.

Southern League Candidate.

Dr. Dennis Sullivan, who coached the Gophers last year, and the year before, was a Minneapolis last week, and he said Thomas wanted the place, and he believed that Frosty Thomas, a former Minneapolis player, and now a Southern leaguer, would apply for the job, but he failed to put in an appearance.

The new coach received his baseball experience at the University of Wisconsin, where he was a member of the varsity for a number of years, and has acted as basketball coach also, a position he now fills. The contract, however, he was for one year and calls for a salary of $500.

ITEMIZES COST OF 4,000-MILE TRIP

Kissel Kar Makes Journey Without Mishap and at Low Cost.

The following extract from a letter from T. A. Wanders of Oak Park to Manager H. D. Jones of the Chicago Kissel Kar branch, interestingly describes a trip to Newark, N. J., and return, and the condition of Mr. Wanders' Kissel Kar after 13,000 miles of service.

"We left Oak Park, a party of four grown people, the onenue crowded with a few suit cases and a heavy trunk in the rear. The tires which were on had covered about 7,000 miles. Our object in keeping the old tires on was to find out how they would go under the touring strain. At 7 p. m., after returning from a wash, we were caught by floods, we landed at Bryan, Ohio, 230 miles.

"After passing Toledo, the tires were giving away and at Buffalo, we were entirely reshod. The tires which were on had covered about 7,000 miles and this speaks very highly of the performance of the tires in the tires. When we neared the mountains in the state of New York, the road was so rough that the engine would perform under a reduced atmosphere pressure. We could not perceive any difference in the power that was given out by the engine, and it was equal to that which was given out in the state of Illinois. The ride through the state of New York was very comfortable, one, far surpassing the comfortable ones that we have on our boulevards. It took us two hours to cross the city of New York on Broadway, and we were very glad to get the ferry to New Jersey.

"We stayed in Newark about three weeks and then decided to take the southern route home. This took us through Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Gettysburg, Wheeling, Columbus, Indianapolis, Lafayette and Crown Point. The roads from Washington to Washington were very good and extra good scenery was to be had. Through the state of Pennsylvania the roads were very poor and the car was given a good test. The roads were very rough, sometimes through forests, up and down mountains, was the rule. The mountain roads had large water breaks built across them.

"On the down grades we used the engine to help the other brakes, not that we did not have enough, but to keep the brakes from burning. As it was, enough heat was developed to blister the paint on the brakebands. If the roads here were as good as those in New York, we would not have been bothered with the continuous application of the brakes.

"We could easily tell when we got into the state of Indiana, but we were not entirely sure. The roads were good because we were now leaving the good scenery behind.

"Starting in Indianapolis we met a new car, a 'six,' which wanted to race. We very easily lost the race. Our machine pulled better on the road and thus easily out-distanced them. The remainder of the trip was not interesting, since we had been to these parts before.

"That the daily rides, which averaged about 200 miles, were not tiresome a bit.

"The entire trip covered more than 4,000 miles without a single mishap, either the car or the engine. We had just 'one' puncture. The finish and paint stood up very well with no cracking at all.

"From the time we got home to Dec. 24 we covered an additional 3,000 miles and then decided to investigate the engine, the spark plug, the valves, the pistons and a pet cock, which we broke in taking the engine apart. The total cost of repairs was $4.04, the work being performed by us at our leisure time. The engine was in good condition.

"Itemized Cost Table showing the amount of oil and gasoline consumed:

Total gasoline.....	$57.00
Total oil.....	10.00
Total mileage covered.....	13,000
Total gallons gasoline.....	219
Total miles per gallon.....	59.36

"In Chicago we make over fourteen miles on a gallon of gasoline and use very little oil. The tires are of ample size and consequently we can get more mileage at a low cost.

"For the first time not counting depreciation of the car, it cost us nearly 4c a mile. This is the lowest cost of a car with seven to eight passengers. This is just one-fourth of the cost of using the railroad and paying 2c a mile. Besides we got to see things and have solid comfort. The second year the cost per mile was about 31c due to tires being cheaper. As this is the second year, it is a fair statement that we would not want a better car, and will always keep it. It is the best car I think is the cheapest. Our car is always ready, like the good old horse of olden days."

ROAD IMPROVEMENT. Expenditures More Than Double in Last Eight Years.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Of more than ordinary interest to motorists throughout the country is a comparison between the expenditure on public roads in the United States in 1904 and in 1912, compiled by the office of public roads of the agricultural department. In 1904 the total expenditure on all public roads in the United States was $2,774,417, but in 1912 the expenditures for this purpose amounted to $16,232,365.

The expenditure per mile of public roads in this country for 1912 was $24.72, but the expenditure per mile for the year 1912 had doubled, amounting to $49.44. The expenditure per inhabitant in 1904 was $1.05, but in 1912 it amounted to $1.73.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

"We have sold scores of Willys-Utility trucks in the last few weeks, literally because the purchasers were determined to beat the weather," said John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company and manufacturer of the three-quarter ton commercial vehicle which bears his name. "With the first general fall of snow in the United States, our dealers reported increases in sales. The Willys-Utility truck is being sold everywhere. From almost every direction, orders came pouring into our factory for immediate delivery. For the active business man, the Willys-Utility truck is a snow storm and slippery streets closed many a sale which had been pending for weeks during the good weather. It was a remarkable demonstration of the value of the commercial motor car under severe conditions, for the merchant and manufacturer who purchased during this rush time knew by bitter experience what to expect if they stuck to horse during the winter."

The work of turning out Ford cars abounds in minute details of production which save precious minutes. A unique method is used to test cylinders to ascertain if they have been bored accurately to a thousandth of an inch, this simply allowing for the movement of the piston head.

By old machine shop methods the cylinder was bored out and the piston head turned and then one was fitted to the other. When Ford production ran up into hundreds of cars a day it was obviously impossible to test in this way, as cylinders were bored in one portion of the plant while the pistons were being turned a great distance away.

A device was therefore worked out in which an electric globe is used to bore the cylinder and the piston head is bored to the correct size is slid over an electric globe. A piston gauge of the exact size of a piston head is then slid into the cylinder and the tester examines it carefully to ascertain if any light leaks around the gauge. If there is no sign of light it means that the cylinder has been bored properly, but if light shows, the cylinder is rejected as defective.

According to figures tabulated by Mitchell May, secretary of state of New York, the automobile bureau during the last ten months has transacted 24 per cent more business than was done in the corresponding period of 1912. The total net receipts from fees for licenses and registration certificates is $1,275,000, as compared with $1,060,000 in 1912 and $805,000 in 1911, and there were registered during 1913 up to Dec. 12 132,000 owners, 57,000 chauffeurs and 1,800 dealers, as against 105,000 owners, 45,000 chauffeurs and 1,700 dealers in 1912. In 1911 there were 83,000 owners, 35,000 chauffeurs and 1,300 dealers. The increased use of commercial cars is one of the most notable features, this type showing a gain of 61 per cent over last year, when 5,500 were registered. Approximately 50,000 cars of 25-horse power or less were licensed, as compared with 38,000 in 1912. There were 43,000 cars registered under 35-horse power, against 34,000 in 1912, and 17,000 machines of less than 50-horse power to 14,000 registered in 1912. A gain of only twenty cars is shown in the number of machines of 50-horse power or more, increasing from 1,300 to 1,380.

With a radiator capacity of about two gallons, two quarts of denatured alcohol at about 14 cents makes an inexpensive 25 per cent solution good for any temperature above zero, as an anti-freeze mixture. Of course, the owner given off from such a mixture is mainly alcohol, but if one takes the trouble to determine the height in the radiator at which the mixture should stand, so that when it is run through the relief pipe, the small necessary addition may be made from time to time of clear alcohol with practically no expense. Early in the fall and winter months when only the occasional frost is expected in the summer, if the machine is out of doors a mere trace of alcohol will save it. Up to the first of November per day) no effort is spent on turning the engine by ordinary means, but the rear wheels are placed on the floor pulleys, after the gears have been meshed. This soon starts the motor and when the first push of the exhaust announces that the engine is working itself, the car is released from the pulleys and runs out on the loading platform.

"The unprecedented success of the national automobile show at New York was a most gratifying prophecy," says President George A. Kissel of the Kissel Kar company.

"Never before has a national show witnessed so many actual sales, while the record-breaking attendance indicated unmistakably a lively spring market. Not less pleasing are the results in Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Milwaukee, where the dealers shows, held the week following the New York exhibition, set new marks for those cities in both attendance and sales."

San Francisco motorists have lost their fight for the right to stand for an unlimited period of time on the principal streets in the downtown retail district, and in the future merchants, professional men and shoppers who are accustomed to a stream of cars must limit their business to forty minutes and then move on to some other part of the street, where they may again have a forty-minute respite.

Plans are under way for an automobile tour in 1914 over the Twin Cities-Aberdeen-Yellowstone trail from Minneapolis to the park, similar to the A. A. A. tour last summer from Minneapolis to Glacier Park, Mont. Under what auspices the tour is to be made has not been determined, but the scheme is being promoted by Dr. H. F. Marston, chairman of the committee of the automobile club on entrants for the last national tour.

Although French exports of automobiles to the United States during the past year showed great losses, the gains made in other countries far outweighed them. According to the latest official statistics for the nine months to Oct. 1, last, the exports amounted to $34,417,000 as against $31,027,300 for the corresponding time of the previous year. France also showed an increase of imports during the same time from $2,001,000 to $2,936,000.

A motor bus company has been formed in Victoria in which every citizen may be a shareholder, the stock selling for $1 per share. Fares of from 2 to 5 cents may be charged, and the business men are back of the proposition, the reason for its existence being increased street car fares. The company will be capitalized at $50,000, with the shares having a par value of $1.

"Respect," "Caution," "Quiet," "Care"—these signs in glaring red letters will appear throughout Los Angeles shortly, in front of churches, schools, hospitals and fire stations, as a part of the campaign of the Automobile Club of Southern California to reduce motor car accidents.

The Kissel Motor car company is exhibiting a handsome new body model at the Chicago automobile show. It is a touring limousine for four passengers, mounted on a "6-48" chassis. Instead of the conventional two-passenger seat in front, individual seats are provided with an aisle between, thus permitting passage to the rear without leaving the car. The other seat is divided by an arm. The upholstery is of black hand-buffed leather and is very rich and beautiful. The most striking novelty about this "classy" carriage lies in the fact that there are only two entrances, big 26-inch door openings on either side. With but one compartment, this is sufficient to add greatly to the beauty of the car.

Plans to beautify the Lincoln highway, making it attractive in appearance as well as useful, are now being considered by the officers of the association. It is proposed next spring, on Arbor day, to have the children of public and parochial schools plant trees along the side of the road. William Miller, professor of horticulture of the state university of Illinois, and Edward C. Rumley of the Interlaken school, Rolling Prairie, Ind., have both endorsed the project.

During six years of residence in Germany the advantage of their system of growing trees along public highways interested me," says Prof. Rumley. "The state of Baden collects from $250,000 to $400,000 annually from the fruit of these trees and they also add greatly to the attractiveness of the highways. It should be possible to create further interest in the Lincoln highway by inducing the schools of the country adjacent to the highway to set aside a day next spring on which their children could plant trees. This would be an invaluable lesson in school work, as well as a contribution to the highway."

In a shower of flying sand, C. N. Weaver of San Francisco and a student of the University of California, by climbing the heretofore unscaled grade of "it it adds greatly to the beauty of the car."

You Think They Are Different— But Are They?

Too many people are fooled or misled by taking bare automobile prices as a positive indication of the intrinsic value of a car. This is exactly the wrong way to go about it. Because our article is priced higher than another it does not follow that that article has a greater value.

For instance:

- The $950 Overland has a wheel base of 114 inches.
- The wheel base of the average $1200 car is no longer than this—often shorter. So in this respect you get more for $950 than you do for $1200.
- The $950 Overland has a powerful 35 horsepower motor.
- No $1200 car has a larger motor than this. Here is equal value and, in most cases, more value for less money.
- The $950 Overland tires are 33 inches x 4 inches—all around.
- No $1200 car has larger tires. Again—equal value—our price $250 less.
- The $950 Overland has a complete set of electric lights—throughout—the same as on most $1200 cars. Some out-of-date cars still cling to the obsolete gas lamps. In the first instance the $950 electrically lighted Overland is the value equal of the $1200 car, and in the second instance has more value than the $1200 (gas lamp) car. In either case our price is $250 less.

Next comes the matter of equipment. The $950 Overland is complete—a jeweled speedometer, top, curtains, boot, windshield, electric horn—everything complete. No $1200 car made has more complete or better equipment.

And so on throughout the car. Point for point—specification for specification, the $950 Overland is, in every essential respect, the equal of any $1200 car on the market.

So we warn you. Ignore the prices. Compare the actual facts first. Then compare the facts with the prices and you get the intrinsic value.

We are making 50,000 cars this year—the largest production of its kind in the world. And every Overland purchaser will save at least 30% and get a superior car.

See the Overland dealer in your town today. Then see any competing car. Make the comparisons we suggest. Then you will better realize how hard a comparison of this kind is, on any other car costing in the neighborhood of $1200.

Phone our dealer for an appointment, while the matter is fresh in your mind.

Gaby Deslys, in all her beauty and charm and with her mace of new gowns fresh from the makers in Paris, and her precious jewels, will make her debut in this city at the Lyceum theatre, Sunday night, to fulfill an engagement of one night only, appearing under the direction of the Winter Garden company as the star in a modern three-act musical comedy entitled "The Little Parisienne" with book by Harold Atteridge and Joseph W. Fawcett.

Gaby, which comes from a foreign source, has been considerably amplified by the addition of numbers which are well suited to the style of singing and dancing of Gaby. Needless to say, she will both sing and speak in English, and throughout the three acts she will perform a number of specialties with her dancing partner, Harry Pilger. These are of the order which have entertained and captivated thousands of young women who, as a rule, save their smiles for the benign audiences of the New York Winter Garden.

Gaby will come to Duluth aboard her special car, bringing with her a marvelous collection of gowns and jewels, a personal retinue of attendants, a chef, maids, and what not, and her Victorian Legionnaire. She is slated to play in this city for the first time only, then turning back East headed toward the Winter Garden, while the theatregoers are naturally anxious to see her work as an artist, much interest is of course attached to her as the most expensively gowned woman on this or the foreign stage, and the fact that she receives the largest salary of any star. Gaby lives up to her reputation because she derives much pleasure and satisfaction from being able to wear the exotic gowns which the leading designers of the world turn out for her. This season she brings half a dozen gowns that have been designed by the famous artist, and executed by Paquin and Lanford. Her hats, too, are made by the same designer.

According to her contract with the Winter Garden management, she is to perform the same performance, and never wear the same gown twice in the same city. She is making one exception, however, "tiger coat" at every performance. She brings 150 gowns in all.

"The Little Parisienne" gives Gaby perhaps the widest scope for her talent than any piece in which she has ever played either in this country or Paris. The role gives her an opportunity to bring out in each of the three acts she does some specialty with Harry Pilger, her dancing partner, of the order which has made her famous in the leading varieties of the continent.

As the attraction at the Lyceum on next Friday and Saturday matinee and night the American Play company will present Bayard Veiller's dramatic American drama, "Within the Law," of which local theatregoers have heard and read a great deal recently because of the sensational success scored by this play in New York and Chicago, in both of which cities it was labeled by the critics as the "real dramatic triumph of the year." Its local engagement will bring here an acting organization of real strength, while the elaborate scenic adornment of "Within the Law" amply maintains the high standard of artistic excellence of the American Play company, the producers.

"Within the Law" is aptly described as a drama of daring in which the heroine is forced to begin warfare upon the law to protect herself from its machinations. Mary Turner, the central character, is falsely accused of theft of goods from the establishment in which she is employed, and sentenced to three years imprisonment. No amount of protest, no amount of logical, obviously truthful defense saves her. She serves her time. She tries to support herself honestly afterward but the police harass and "hound" her. When they have forced her out of several places by recalling her imprisonment, the girl, in desperation, defies them, and proclaims that as they have compelled her to a career of crime she will beat them, and stay "within the law."

Then retribution begins to shape itself. She becomes the leader of a band of crooks. Any scheme that can be profitably handled without overstepping the legal boundaries she takes up—beats a sharp unscrupulous swindler at his own game, steers skillfully between blackmail and perfectly proper compromise, explaining that it's all means to having a lawyer to make anything safe through the queer ethics of his profession. Meanwhile she avenges herself on the canting hypocrite who sent her unjustly to prison by marrying his son.

Then one of her associates, an ex-burglar, is tempted against her command into robbing the residence of the father of the man she has wedded. A "stool pigeon"—meaning a police informant, the venal character—arrives. The girl tries to save them, even after they have entered the house, but it is too late. In the rush the informer is killed. And when the police, the bank and wife are chattering nervously to stave off disaster.

Then comes the big thrill—the "third degree"—examination of all parties by a police inspector mad to get the murderer. In an intense scene, the guilty man finally confesses, partly because of nervous strain and partly because of his love for the girl. From this point the play in a series of arduous and snowy scenes, reaches a climax that is fairly nerve-grIPPING in its dramatic intensity.

Miss Jane Gordon, a beautiful young actress of genuine power, will portray the role of the harassed heroine, while the remainder of the excellent cast includes: Eileen Wilson, Marion Mainell, Robert Tabor, William Lambert, Wilson Reynolds, Daniel Sullivan and others.

Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, of whom it was said that he was the first man to introduce an oriental flavor into European politics and diplomacy, is the personality around which "Disraeli" is written. The play will be seen for the first time at the Lyceum, Feb. 3 and 4, under the management of the Liebler company. That play is now almost as well known as the character from which it was drawn and Mr. Arliss' interpretation has made the name of the eminent English statesman more famous than ever on this side of the Atlantic.

Disraeli has been dead only about thirty years, so that it was rather a daring thing to attempt to visualize him at a time when the man himself is more or less vividly remembered by many living persons. But the real Disraeli was a man of many eccentricities, a brilliant talker and a lover of dramatic effects, thus combining many elements of strong appeal for the dramatist and interesting portrait for the actor.

Mr. Parker shows the immortal premier at the zenith of his career. The most dramatic event of this period was his acquisition, for England, of the Suez canal. In this as in so many of his acts, his marvelous presence in foreign affairs was vindicated. No one else could have been so successful in preventing the control of the canal from falling into unfriendly hands. The Bank of England refused to aid him in his project, and only by going to the Jews for money, and by skilfully forestalling all moves made by his opponents, did he complete a task the fruits of which were recognized. All this in the play serves as a background for an attractive love story encouraged and fostered by Disraeli with the same cunning which he brought to bear in order to serve his purposes. Before the contemplated match of Lady Carlisle and the Viscount Bedford is consummated, Disraeli makes the young statesman realize the importance of dramatic purposes some liberties have been taken with the historic sequence of events of Disraeli's life. Mr. Parker has given the doting Lady Beaconsfield three more years of life, that his home environment at Hughdon might be offered in delightful contrast with the atmosphere of suspicion and intrigue that prevailed even his private office in the city.

It was the personality of Mr. Arliss that determined the period of Disraeli's life to be dealt with in the play and it is doubtful if Mr. Parker would ever have written his now famous comedy had not the only actor been available whose art, technique and personality fitted the titular role. Mr. Arliss' performance is said to be a many sided, graphic, polished and engrossing impersonation of the celebrated English premier.

The production is elaborate scenically and the costumes of the period—the early seventies—lend pictorial charm, particularly to the brilliant last act, which represents the reception hall in Downing street, just before the presentation to the queen.

Mr. Arliss' company includes such well known players as Violet Heming, Florence Arliss, Margaret Dale, Lella Reynolds, Lilla Campbell, Oscar Adye, Charles Harbury, Arthur Eldred and St. Clair Bayfield.

With the approaching completion of the Panama canal, the attention of the entire world is focused on this greatest engineering feat in history. Therefore Lyman H. Howe has chosen wisely in making this the big feature of his new program to be presented at the Lyceum early in February. A well-known writer describes the canal briefly thus: "The whole thing is stupendous, prodigious, overwhelming." And this is exactly the impression it will make on most of the mind of every spectator of Mr. Howe's reproduction. Wherever world interest centers—no matter where—Mr. Howe's photographs seem to always "get there." And what is more, they usually "come back" with reproductions on their films, which are easily the peer of all others. Even while these lines are being written, his men are carrying their motion cameras even further afield, and are seeking new worlds to conquer. Fast mail steamers bring back their precious negatives and skilled artists in their studios develop them into those film classics which distinguish Mr. Howe's Travel Festival from other exhibitions.

The whole world is its stage. Wherever history is being reconstructed, the world remodeled, and the plot which traces the progress of the world can be depended upon for reproducing it in a manner that is graphic beyond description. It must cost Mr. Howe vast sums to produce each recurring program, but apparently he hesitates at no expenditure, and that is the reason his productions constitute today more than ever, the real aristocracy of filmdom.

Rex

On Jan. 26, 27 and 28 "Our Mutual Girl" will visit at the Rex theater. This is an entirely new twentieth century idea in picture plays and the first of a series to be shown each week at the Rex.

The love story depicts the life of a young girl who comes from a small interior town to visit rich relatives and is launched by them into the whirl and fascination of New York society life. In part one she leaves her rural home at the invitation of her wealthy aunt. On her arrival in New York she is seen leaving the Pennsylvanian station and from there to the aunt's home where many queer little mannerisms and personalities are polished away.

The costume then demands attention. Gowns entirely suitable for Kalamazoo or Oshkosh Monday night socials are a long way from being "comme il faut" at Sherry's or the exclusive homes of the smart set. There are visits at a famous modiste's parlors where beautiful gowns are shown her on living models and the photography is so clear and fine that a splendid sketch of the gowns is made. Our mutual girl's wardrobe, when completed, is a liberal education in up-to-date dress in all its multitudinous details.

As a New York society bud she meets a large number of famous people of world celebrity, and the camera faithfully shows all their little everyday mannerisms, and how naturally she meets these favored ones in their daily life.

Social pleasures bring the girl to famous country places, which have been described the country over by the press—Madison Square gardens, Metropolitan opera house, grand hotels and famous city homes, and in fact, nearly every detail of metropolitan life among people whose incomes range from $100,000 to $1,000,000 a year, is entered in and shown by our mutual girl.

Daniel Frohman has sailed for Cuba accompanied by Bertha Kalich and a supporting company of thirty players, to make an elaborate film version of "Marta of the Lowlands," in which Madame Kalich will enact the title role.

It is reported that William A. Brady will shortly produce a big melodrama entitled "New York," containing sixteen scenes and employing in the neighborhood of 300 people. It is one of Thompson Buchanan's works.

The corps de ballet of the Grand opera at Mannheim, Germany, went on a strike because the director insisted on a clause in their contracts compelling them to dance in bare legs and feet.

It is said that "The Clever Woman," in which May Robson is at present starring on the road, is no other play than "A Rich Man's Son" under a disguised title.

Kitty Gordon, in Morosco's latest effort, "Pretty Miss Smith," will show in New York some time in March.

Henry Miller denies the rumor that he is to retire from the stage to go into the producing business.

The court-martial proceedings resulting from the disaster in the Alasco, form the basis of a play written by a former editor of the Ziegfeld Follies, and will be presented at the Fifty-seventh Street theater in New York by Adolf Philip, the latter part of this month. Surprising and sensational scenes are promised.

The authors of "The Ghost Breaker" have transferred the rights of the play to Sonner and Jordan. It is reported John Cort contemplates sending the piece on tour again with H. B. Keith houses.

"The Great Adventure," produced by Winthrop Ames early in the season, came to the end of its string at the Alasco, Washington. While the piece made a great success in London, it failed to duplicate over here.

Blanche Bates has completed arrangements for her conquest of the varieties, and her initial appearance in vaudeville will occur at the Majestic theater, Chicago. She will subsequently make a brief tour of the Keith houses. Her medium will be Barrie's "Half an Hour."

The new Cort theater in Boston will be opened with Joseph Stanley in "When Dreams Come True."

The performances given by Ruth St. Denis in St. Louis recently under the auspices of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra have met with severe criticism and appear in the column of a Catholic publication in that city.

Edith Wynne Matheson has opened in New York in "The Deadlock," a play by Margaret Farnham.

W. Somerset Maugham has sailed for London, where he will look after the production of his play "The Land of Promise."

David Belasco refused to sell the rights of "The Return of Peter Grimm" to Lady Gregory, intimating that David Warfield would probably make a European tour in the near future and "The Return of Peter Grimm" would be his repertoire.

By special arrangement with Charles Frohman, John Mason has been engaged by A. H. Woods for an important role in "The Yellow Ticket."

Martha Hedman, who took Grace George's part in Barrie's "Half an Hour," in this country recently, has made an impression in London in "The Attack."

Among the cast of the Ziegfeld "Follies" for 1914 will be Frederick V. Powers, who has spent this season in vaudeville.

Included in William Faversham's repertoire this season is "Othello," in which he has been engaged, and that opening will probably be postponed until early in September. The chorus, which had been engaged, was paid off, and the principals will go on a concert tour under the name of the Hammerstein Grand Opera company.

"The Honeymoon Express" has scored big in Chicago.

Oscar Hammerstein announces that his opera house on Fifth Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, will not be ready until March, and that opening will probably be postponed until early in September.

A New York film company announces that it has perfected a synchronizer which will enable them to produce musical comedies in pictures.

James T. Powers will enter the two-of Grimm's fairy tales and tells about the amazing adventures of two children. The producers have not overlooked an essential detail in preparing this delightful fairy story for the screen. The play is truly a masterpiece for a child's entertainment. Master Matly, the gifted child actor, and Baby Early, the remarkable baby actress, enact the leading roles of "Hansel and Gretel." The picture is acted by an exceptionally strong cast and is one that is sure to please the little folks.

a-day field with a sketch by Arch Colby entitled "Throwing the Ball." It is rumored that John Cort will in all likelihood star William Farnum next season in a Shakespeare repertoire.

Enough publicity has been given the moving picture called "The White Slave Trade" by police departments in almost every city where it was shown, that a great hushabout about it being too sensational, and then allowing the picture to be exhibited after all. The words "white slave" is a great stop-look-and-listen sign for the majority of the public, and press agents know it.

Grace George is rehearsing the new Thomas Buchanan dramatization of a novel by Desmond Coke, called "Hour of Life," to be presented by William A. Brady early next month.

Eva Tanguay has withdrawn from the spotlight for a few days to have an operation performed on her nose.

William H. Crane and Douglas Fairbanks will bring their engagement of "The New Henrietta" to an end on Jan. 31, after which they will begin a tour of the large cities.

Rose Melville, the original "Sis Hopkins," has entered vaudeville in a condensed version of the famous rural play by that name.

Trickie Frickana is playing vaudeville in a new act assisted by five people. She will play eight weeks in the big houses.

Leslie Faber, the leading man of "Romance," has purchased the English rights to "Help Wanted," a comedy by Jack Lait, which has made a tremendous hit in Chicago. Mr. Faber says the play and thinks it will be a big success across the pond. Mr. Faber is a son-in-law of Henry Arthur Jones, the well-known English playwright.

May Irwin has announced that she will hold a ragtime jubilee at her summer home on the St. Lawrence this summer. This means that Miss Irwin will have as her guests the classic creators of the most popular melodies of the day in America, but of the world. No star other could possibly accomplish this. To lasso the elusive, syncopated, ragtime composer requires an inspiration of May Irwin, the only singer of the day who delights the public with unerring refinement.

White Dry Mass on Crown of Head. Shed White Particles. Began to Spread. Lost Hair Rapidly. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

6039 Rhodes Ave., Chicago, Ill.—"Since infancy there has been on my scalp a rash which prevented my even combing my hair. It was a white dry mass on the very crown of my head and it continually shed white particles about as much as shake my head. It never decreased in size, in fact it began to spread. It made me very uncomfortable and caused me to lose my hair very rapidly. Many a night I stayed awake tormented by the terrible itching.

"I tried—and it softened the sore but did not remove it, only making it itch worse. Seeing the advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper I wrote for a sample and even with the sample I could tell I had the right thing. I bought one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment. I rubbed my head every night with the Cuticura Soap and washed it with the Cuticura Soap and ointment and the rash which I had a life-time disappeared. It took a month and a half for the cure." (Signed) Joseph Krueger, Sept. 5, 1913.

It costs nothing to learn how pure, sweet, effective and satisfying Cuticura Soap and Ointment are in the treatment of poor complexion, red, rough hands, itching scalp, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, because you need not buy them until you try them.

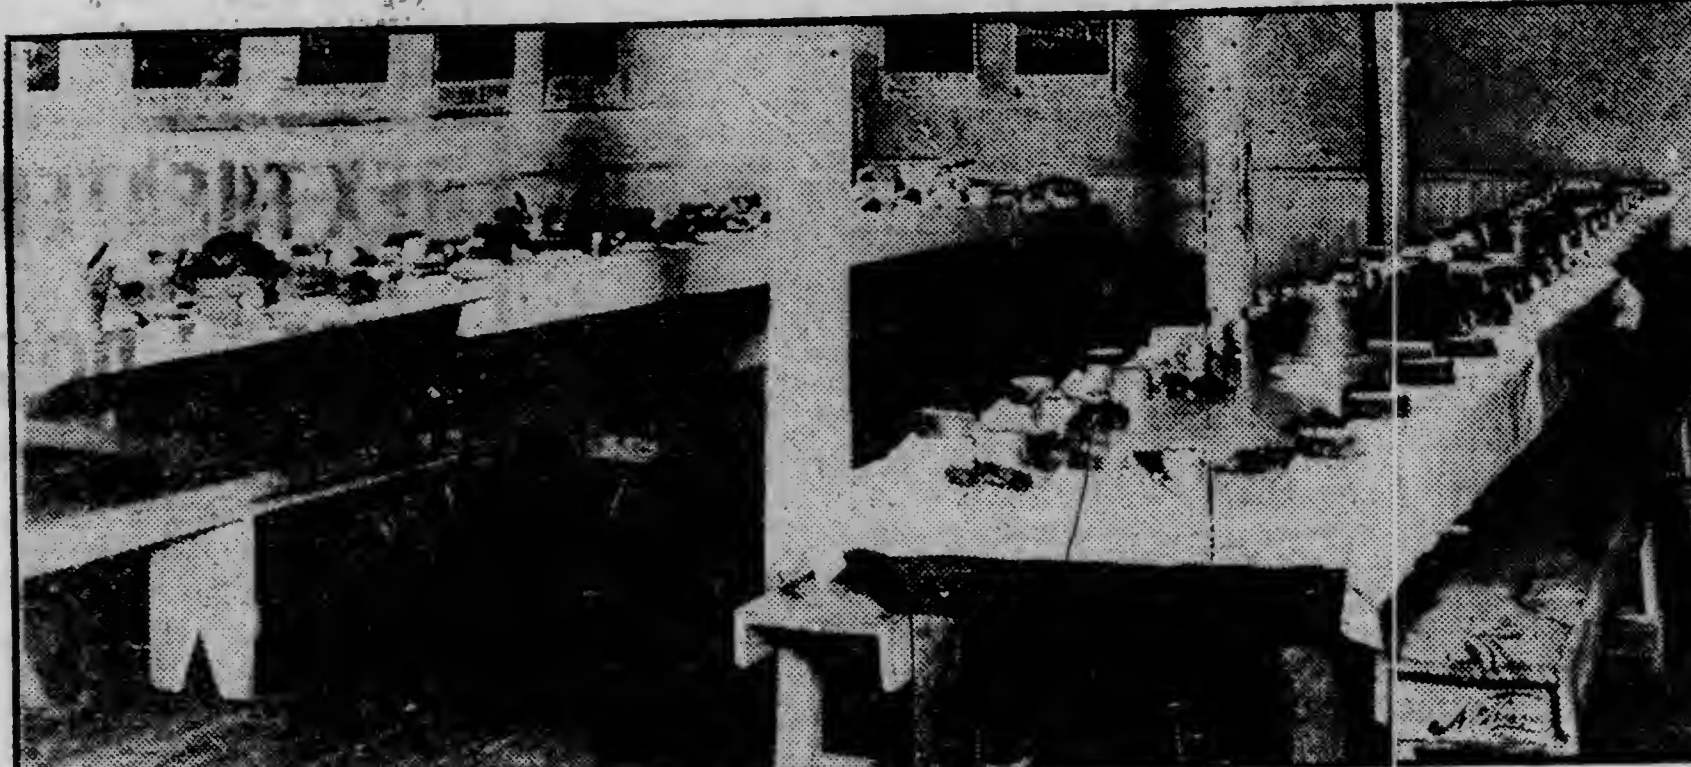

Although sold everywhere, sample of each will be mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

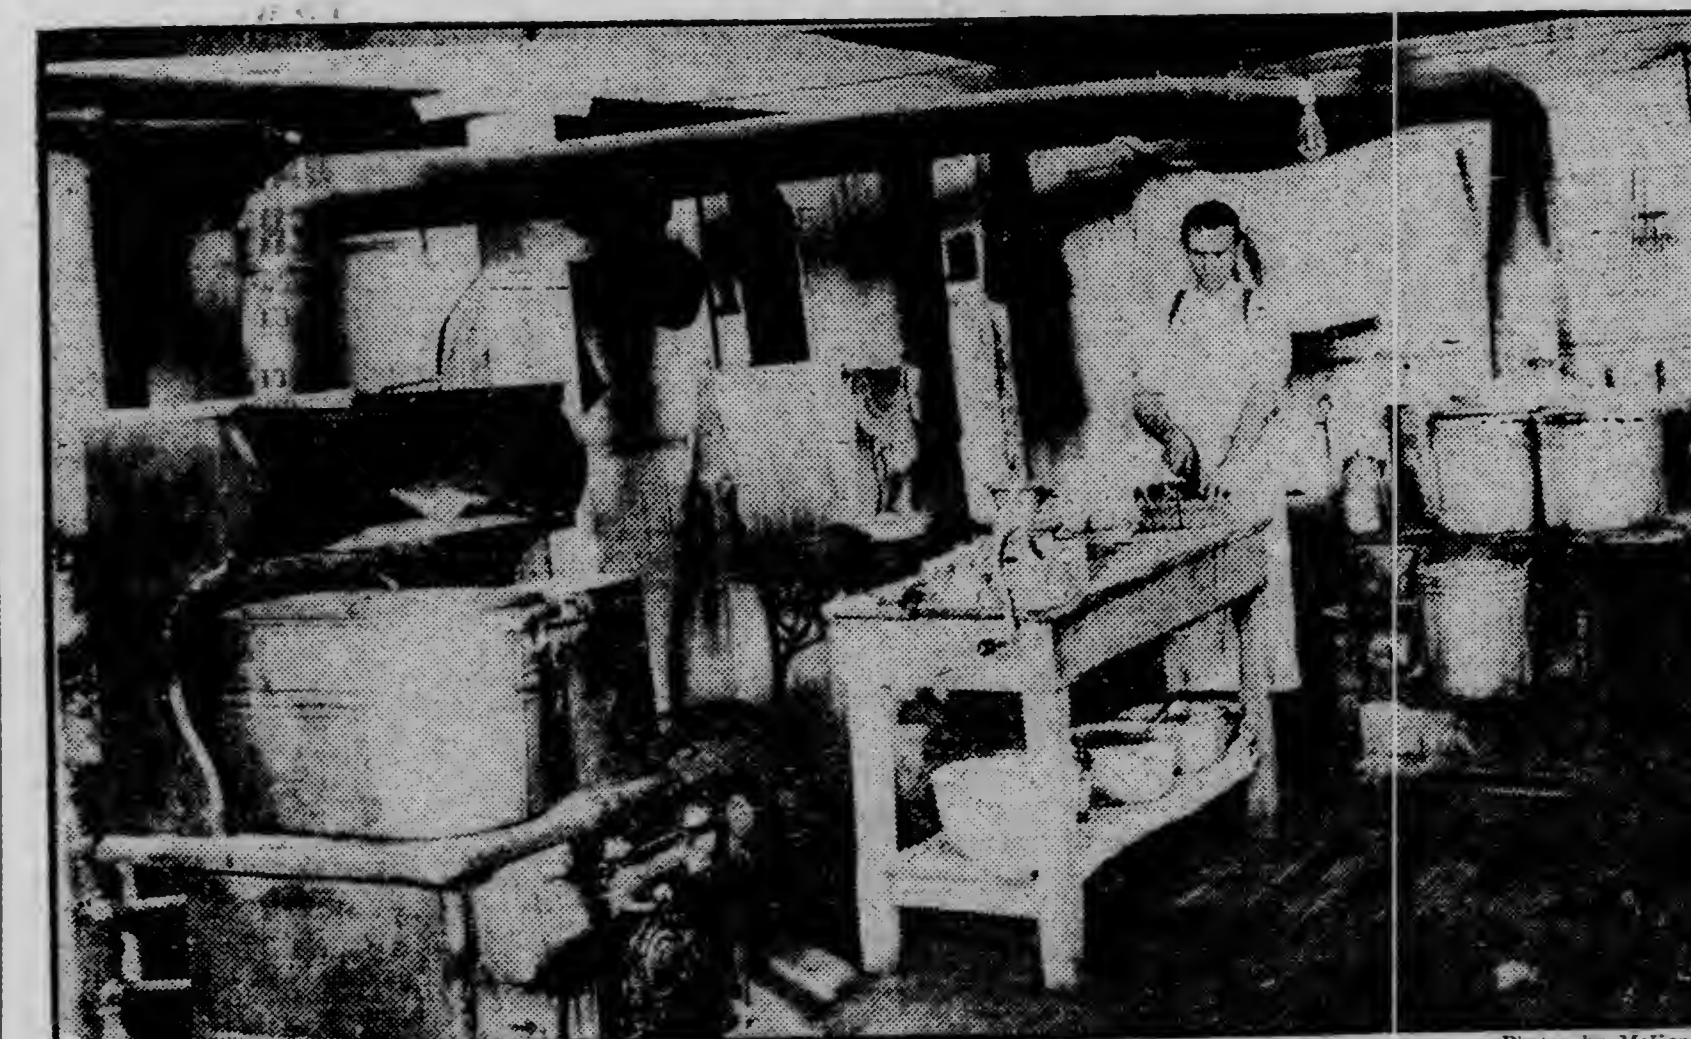

EVANGELISTS FINDING THEIR WAY TO SOULS OF IDLE MEN THROUGH EMPTY STOMACHS

ONE OF THE GOSPEL MEETINGS.

READY FOR THE HUNGRY.

THE KITCHEN AT THE MISSION.

Finding the way to a man's soul through his empty stomach is the work undertaken by Evangelist E. B. Plumb of the Duluth Gospel Mission on Lake Avenue South.

The only requirement needed to secure a meal and a "flop" is that the applicant listen to the Gospel expounded in the "good, old-fashioned way." Mr. Plumb feels that religion is as important as food and shelter to the men he is trying to serve.

More than 3,000 free meals were served during the month of December in the dining room of the mission at 102 Lake Avenue South, while during the same time nearly 800 free beds were given to those unable to obtain lodging anywhere in the city.

Although not instituted until Thanksgiving day, the free meal feature of the mission has become perhaps the most important at the local institution.

Costs Nothing. And the most interesting feature of the new dining room is that it is open to all. The large produce is constantly furnished the mission with the fruits, vegetables and staple articles of a little too old to be sold to retailers. They are merely given to the mission in place of being thrown away. The large bakeries furnish Mr.

Plumb with bread, cakes and rolls free of charge. Occasionally donations of socks of flour and such articles are made by the wholesale houses, so that the culinary department of the mission is never lacking supplies.

In addition to the free meals, which are given to about 100 men every day of the week, lodging is given to those few who are unable to pay for a room and who have no place to go. During December 277 lodgers were accommodated.

An interesting feature of the free meals is the fact that no man is allowed to eat at the mission unless he attends the noon-day service at 11 o'clock, which is conducted by Evangelist Plumb and his wife, who aids him in his work at the local institution. There were sixty-two meetings held during December, which were attended by 2,737 men, of whom Mr. Plumb claims thirty-one were converted.

The Duluth Gospel mission is a three-story frame structure, with a large assembly hall on the main floor, ten bedrooms on the second floor, and a kitchen, dining room and bathroom in the basement. The institution is kept up by pledges, which are paid monthly by some of the prominent business and professional men of the city. These amount to $85 each month, and together with the offerings at the regular mission meetings each evening and twice on Sunday, enough money is obtained to keep the institution running.

Mr. and Mrs. Plumb came to Duluth last May from North Dakota, where they were employed with the Salvation Army.

OVERHEAD CROSSINGS NEEDED AT GARFIELD AVENUE AND FIFTH AVENUE.

Only chance prevented a terrible loss of life yesterday when a freight car ran into a street car on Garfield avenue.

Had all or many of the fifty-seven people on the street car been killed or injured, the prospect of getting an overhead viaduct at this point would have been greatly improved.

Still the accident, fortunate though its outcome, points again the need that the city require the railroads to build viaducts, not only on Garfield avenue but at Fifth avenue west.

The right of the city to compel this to be done is well settled by law and judicial decisions. All that is necessary is for the city to show its need;
and that should be easy.

At Fifth avenue west teams and pedestrians cross the railroad tracks in large numbers. It is the only thoroughfare between the city and the Omaha station, several large wholesale houses and a boat landing at the foot of the avenue.

At Garfield avenue teams, pedestrians and street cars cross the railroad tracks in large numbers. It is the only thoroughfare between Duluth and Superior, as well as the large community and the many industries on Rice's Point.

There should be viaducts in both places, and the city cannot too soon begin proceedings that will compel the railroads to provide them.

It should not wait for a terrible sacrifice of human life to spur it to belated action.

At any rate it's easy not to let your left hand know what is in your right hand trousers pocket.

AN "APPRECIATION LEAGUE."

One William Vernon Backus of Cleveland has invented what he calls
"The Appreciation League," which he invites everybody to join.

He tells about it in a pamphlet—about the league and about its philosophy, which he calls "talosophy." "Talosophy" is organized and specialized appreciation. Talosophy is unselfishness made practical and easy of accomplishment. Talosophy is the creation of humanitarian impulses and the transforming of the same into happiness and prosperity.

"Talosophists apply to their everyday lives this formula: 'Ignore rudeness, but show appreciation of courtesy always.' Don't let rudeness get out of your nerves. You cannot have an unruffled mind for business, nor calm nerves for digestion, if you do.
Therefore ignore it. Don't see it.
Don't think of it."

"We always find what we are looking for in this world. Look for courtesy. You will find it—plenty of it. And when you find it, make the courteous act complete by practicing Appreciation. Is the coffee a trifle muddy at breakfast? Well, nobody made it that way on purpose and it doesn't often happen. Muddy coffee is a passing trifle, but to 'kick' about it and muddy the day for one's self, the family and business associates, is a crime. Forget it."

"Is the conductor, the corner policeman, or the clerk, polite, courteous, attentive or helpful? Appreciate it. Ask his name, tell him you are a Tal, and that it is part of your pleasant duty and privilege to report to the Appreciation League persons who are courteous, and that the Appreciation League will notify his employer."

Now that's nice—very nice indeed!
Most people are too all-fired secretive about their appreciation. "They make a mystery of it, hide it somewhere, and wouldn't under any circumstances let it get where it could do some good."

If any of us "take the number" of a policeman, a conductor or a clerk, it is to fire in a nasty complaint, that may or may not be justified, but that is pretty sure to make trouble for somebody who probably has all the trouble he needs already.

But who ever thinks of telling employers about it if a clerk or conductor or policeman is courteous and obliging?

Yet why not? When anybody you come in contact with is obliging and courteous, and you are pleased by it, why not thank that person, and then take his number or name and drop a line to his employer saying what you think?

There is a great risk that the employer will drop dead from the shock of so unusual an experience, but never mind that—take the risk.

Let The Herald begin by expressing its appreciation of the Appreciation League of 945 Engineers building, Cleveland, Ohio. The work it plans for itself is worth while, and needed—sorely needed. Even those of us who would most appreciate it if appreciation of our efforts should unexpectedly come to us by way of those who rule over our wages and jobs are prone to forget appreciation of others—because neglect of appreciation is the universal rule.

Though it might be a good idea to join this league and partake of its spirit, it isn't necessary. Anybody can form himself into an appreciation league all by himself.

And what a splendid—and most unusual—thing it would be to do!

The principal street in the refuge camp at Fort Bliss has been named "Avenue General Huerta." The natural supposition is that it has a sharp downhill slant.

THE HEART OF THE TRUST PROBLEM.

There was a little dismay when it was announced that Congressman Stanley, after a consultation with the president, had introduced a bill repealing the "rule of reason" as defined by the supreme court in the oil and tobacco cases.

It didn't sound at all like Wilson, however much it sounded like Stanley; but Stanley, apparently with deliberation, let it appear that his measure was the result of his conference with the president. However, it is not in the president's program, and it has no place there.

Such a law as Stanley proposes would, in effect, attempt to paralyze industrial progress of any kind, whether in form reasonable or unreasonable. Stanley had forgotten, perhaps, that in establishing its "rule of reason," the supreme court intimated that without it it would have to declare the whole law unconstitutional.
Or maybe he didn't care, being mainly interested in getting his name associated with a sensational measure.

Judge Lacombe gave an illustration of what Stanley is getting after with his case of the two expressmen "who have been driving rival express wagons between two villages in two contiguous states, and who enter into a combination to join forces and operate a single line." Stanley's bill would make that a criminal offense.

Should it be made a crime? The illustration is enlightening.
Suppose the two expressmen, weary of a cut-throat fight, agree to join forces and have but one line. There is nothing illegal in that. There should be nothing illegal in it, for this is no wrong to anybody, but a social good. It is good because if one express line will serve, it is better to release the unnecessary horses and wagons and drivers for use where they ARE needed.

If the two expressmen, in combination, then seek to take advantage of their apparent monopoly by exacting unfair prices, they simply tempt competitors to enter the field.
And here is where the law enters, and can enter with a clear duty and a high purpose.

If the expressmen in combination seek to drive out competitors by unfair means of any kind, then they are guilty of "unreasonable" restraint of trade, and they should be punished.
And the way to punish them is to send them to jail—not to burn their wagons or hamstring their horses—but to put the guilty conspirators themselves in the lockup.

Judge Lacombe's two expressmen afford so illuminating an example of what the anti-trust law is and ought to be that they may become historic.
Mr. Stanley's bill affords an equally illuminating example of what the law is not and ought not to be.

Now that Southern California has sent Secretary Bryan a three-foot radish, it would seem to be up to Lakeside and Woodland to make some offerings.

MINNESOTA AND THE PANAMA EXPOSITION.

Governor Eberhart has issued an appeal for advice about how to get Minnesota represented at the Panama exposition in San Francisco next year.

We wish we had some practical advice on that subject. We surely should put it along to the governor with our compliments.

The best we can do is to say that it would be a good thing if Minnesota could be properly represented at the Panama fair, and that if some means can be found to get the money and exhibits by private contributions, it would be a consummation devoutly to be wished.

Of course, however, it would be better to have no exhibit at all than to have one so inadequate that it would give a wrong impression of this state.

The legislature was appealed to for an appropriation for this purpose, and though it spent money very lavishly at its last session, it could find none for a Minnesota exhibit at San Francisco. And nobody who is informed as to the growth of Minnesota's state expenditures will criticize that failure.
Minnesota as a state is spending now much more than it should.

If the business interests of the state will raise enough money to provide an adequate exhibit of Minnesota's resources at Panama, it will be a good thing to do.

It seems to be up to the business interests.

Now it develops that the reason Queen Mary didn't want to leave her umbrella in the public rack was that she was afraid of germs. Heretofore it has been supposed that the only things the English were afraid of was the Germans.

THE WICKEDNESS OF THINGS.

Cardinal O'Connell of Boston came out the other day in a sweeping indictment of the sins of society. And we guess society had it coming.

The cardinal protested against bad plays, vulgar dances, immoral literature, coarse conversation and suggestive fashions in dress.

And certainly there are plays, dances, literature, talk and dress fashions that deserve the worst the cardinal could say about them.

But the New York Times thinks he went too far, and we should say that the Times was about right. It says:

But the moral reformer who goes too far in his denunciation of social vice is likely to defeat his own purpose. The present vogue of dancing as a social pastime is not indicative of the growth of immorality in society. Some dancing is indecent, just as some of the magazines are needlessly vulgar.
But only an insignificant minority of the men and women who make up contemporary society favor low amusements, dress without regard to decency, read vulgar books, and haunt those moving-picture shows which the police watch so closely.

O'Connell's indictment of society therefore is entirely too sweeping. We are not all bad, by any means. Not all of us are cloak-ing inherent evil propensities under a pretense of uplifting our fellow men by talking and writing about things evil. There are many good people in the world. There are many good things in the world. There are many good people in the world.
There are many good things in the world. There are many good people in the world. There are many good things in the world.

And we, for our part, suspect that there is no such wide difference of opinion between the cardinal and the Times as there would seem to be.

Two mistakes many well-meaning reformers make: First, to mistake the flagrant, the noisy and the obvious for the majority; second, to condemn THINGS because men make bad use of them.

No thing is evil except as human usage puts it to evil ends.
Dancing is not bad, though evil-minded men and women may turn it into badness.

The fact that playing-cards are often put to evil uses does not make card-playing essentially vile.

No thing is evil except as human
usage puts it to evil ends.
And there is nothing, however, good in itself, that cannot be put to evil uses.

To condemn all dancing and all cards because of the tango and draw-poker is precisely equivalent to condemning the Atlantic Monthly because Mr. Hearst puts out a magazine which panders to pruriency.

Even religion, the highest and holiest thing on earth, is bad when evil men use it as a cloak for wickedness.
But none should therefore condemn piety.

Charley Murphy offers to waive immunity if he can ever have the chance to say what he thinks about Sulzer.
It must be something painful to have a grouch like that.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF RADIUM.

It looks like radium is of high specific value in certain types of cancer.

The doctors aren't all sure about it yet, and they seem to be agreed that even though radium will cure surface cancers, it will not much help cancers inside the body. But on the whole, there is great encouragement from the experiments so far made with this rare and high-priced substance.

Cancer is a terrible affliction that kills seventy-five thousand people in this country every year, and that causes fearful suffering.

If radium supplies are allowed to go into private hands, somebody will be able to make an enormous amount of money out of it. If it does what is hoped for, sufferers from cancer
MUST have radium, whatever its cost.

That would be pleasant, doubtless,
for the owners of the radium supply —if they like money made out of the awful need of their fellow men. And some people seem to like money very much no matter how it is made.

But it is proposed now to empower the president to withdraw from sale or entry all radium-bearing ores on public lands, and have them treated for the production of radium under the public patronage for distribution either gratuitously or at cost.

Really, would it be better than letting somebody get hold of these ores and make a lot of money out of them? To be sure, it looks socialistic, and some of the Colorado people are against it. But neither of these things ought to interfere with a work of mercy like this.

Kansas people complained so much about the weather last summer that they got the habit and now they can't help finding fault with the winter for being so warm. They are preparing to kick on the coming spring.

A DISCREPANCY?

Kansas City Star: Is there not a discrepancy here that needs patching?
(1) If a railroad or other public utility sells its commodity (transportation, say) cheaper to one purchaser than another, it is punished.
(2) If several dealers in one line of ordinary trade do not have a varying scale of prices (so that one man can purchase cheaply and another the fact of uniform prices to everybody (so that nobody gets an advantage over another) is taken as evidence of a punishable act.
The facts of the two cases are not identical, but the discrepancy between them is in this: that in one case one price to all is regarded as right, and in the other one price to all is regarded as wrong.

The parallel limps a little. It would be clearer if it were between the fixed and uniform price of railroad transportation, without cutting by competition, and between the varying prices charged, say, for drygoods and groceries. The law does not require ordinary trade to discriminate between buyers; it does, on its face, require ordinary trade to refrain from fixing such uniform prices as the law requires for transportation.

And the difference is clear, of course. In the one case prices are regulated by governmental authority in the public interest; and when that is done uniformity of prices is legiti-mate and desirable.

But in ordinary trade there is no public regulation of prices to keep them at a fair level, so it is necessary to forbid dealers to conspire to fix uniform prices.

This would all be clear enough if it were not for such commodities as coal, say.

Why should there be a uniform price on coal, which is not one of the public utilities that are subject to public regulation?

Professor Taft says the western courts are not so good as those in the East. If he is trying to qualify for a non-judgeship he has found a reasonably good way to go about it.

CLOTHES AND THE MAN.

Light-fitting suits with unpadded shoulders, and overcoats with limono or bat-wing sleeves, and exhibiting a horse-blanket effect, are among the new departures in men's attire, proposed by the National Association of Clothing Designers.—New York World.

And there are many who will wear whatever the dictators of fashion or-dain, no matter how frivolous and foolish the effect.

What interests us is this: Do the framers of fashion for men and women, in issuing their decrees, stifle a covert smile at human gullibility?
Or do they just laugh right out?
Anyway, they must get a lot of fun out of it.

Also, profit; for those who wear clothes because they are in the fashion and not to keep them warm and decently covered, must make frequent appointments with the tailor and the mantuamaker.

If Secretary Wilson's plan to make all immigrants pass the army tests for physique should be adopted, think what a lot of recruits General Rosalie Jones might get for her next suffrage pilgrimage.

THE FLAW.

As a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, so a machine is no stronger or more efficient than its weakest and most inefficient part.

And so with a business enterprise:
its success depends on the efficiency of all its human factors.

An enterprise may be strong in its manufacturing end, but if it is weak in its selling end, it is a failure.

An enterprise may be the best selling force on earth, but if it is weak in its manufacturing department, it will fail.

Every weak, purposeless employee is a weak link in the chain. There is no workman whose task is too humble to weaken the effect of the whole if he lacks industry, purpose, ambition or loyalty.

And so it is, too, with the individual.
An individual, to reach his maximum of efficiency and achievement, must be equally strong and efficient in all his parts. Each weakness, each flaw, is so much handicap to be carried by his efficient parts. Physical health is a factor; a clear, broad vigorous mind is a factor; honesty and integrity are factors. And physical health, mental caliber, and integrity of soul are very likely to go together.

A man may be everything that he ought to be, except a fondness for drink; yet that indulgence is a weakening and corrupting influence and will be the flaw that will slowly undermine body, mind and soul, and sooner or later put an end to his efficiency, and finally to his usefulness.

Search out your flaws. Correct them. Put strength where weakness was. Develop your highest capacities of body, mind and soul. Be a complete human being, not an incomplete one—a whole man, not a part of a man.

You are no stronger in the tense contest of life than your weakest parts. It will be your weakness, not your vigor, the flaw in you, not the strength in you, that will finally write the verdict on your career.

Cardinal Cavallari says the laigo is "moral turpitude." Heretofore, its names have got no further than "immoral turpitude."

THE PROPHYLACTIC DOCTOR.

In China, it is said, doctors are paid when their patients are well, and pay ceases when sickness comes.

"That's upside down compared with Western methods, but doesn't it sound sensible?"

The ordinary thing in Europe and America is to do as our will and pleasure and vice's dictate until we get sick, and then turn the job of getting us well again over to a doctor.

In China it is to the doctor's interest to have people well. In Europe and America it is to the doctor's interest to have people sick, because otherwise he gets no fees.

That in spite of this, doctors work loyally for the public health is a great credit to the doctors; it is no credit to our system, which makes their interest lie the other way.

The World's Work tells of a Southern community, living on Knotts Island, North Carolina, that has a system something like the Chinese. This community of a hundred and fifty families hires a doctor in common, by a tax on each family, he is paid a fixed annual salary; and his duty is to keep the people well. Of course, if they get sick in spite of his efforts, it is also his duty to get them well again if he can.

"But," says the World's Work, "on Knotts Island sickness does not spell Opportunity for the doctor. And that is as it should be. In the cities the health departments practice preventive medicine on the whole community, and many family doctors try to keep their clients well, besides phys-icking them after they become sick.

Yet the whole organization of society has been built upon the idea that there is no need for a doctor until sickness has set in."

Both China and Knotts Island have an advantage over the rest of the world, for their plan is better than ours.

Maybe sometime society will get around to hiring doctors to keep folks well instead of waiting until they get sick. Theirs will not be an easy job, especially with customers who insist on eating and drinking and living generally in defiance to all laws of hygiene; but the plan will be a vast improvement over the present one.

Morning

Everett: As we proceeded, the timid approach of twilight became more perceptible, the intense blue of the sky began to soften, the smaller stars like little children went first to rest; the sister beams of the Pleiades soon melted together, but the bright constellations of the west and north remained unchanged. Steadily the wondrous transfiguration went on.

Hands of angels hidden from mortal eyes shifted the scenery of the heavens; the glories of night dissolved into the glories of the dawn. The blue sky now turned more softly gray; the great watch stars shut up their holy eyes; the east began to kindle. Faint streaks of purple soon blushed along the sky; the whole celestial concave was filled with the glowing tints of the morning light, which came pouring down from above in one great ocean of radiance, till at length, as we reached the Blue Hills, a flash of purple fire blazed out from above the horizon, and turned the dewy tear-drops of flower and leaf into rubies and diamonds. In a few seconds the everlasting gates of the morning were thrown wide open and the lord of day, arrayed in glories too severe for the gaze of man, began his state.

The Singer of Life.
They who sing life as forth they go
Across the varying stretch of Time,
Have need to flower each metered rhyme
With all the gems these stretches show.

The purity of falling snow
In place of palling chill, they sing;
The grandeur of old ocean ring
In line on line, though well they know
The deep sea's horrors. From the night
A singer curls but peacefully—
Ignoring darkness—the distress
O hearts that, aching, crave the light,
From good and evil, false and true,
But sweetest music swells for you.

Along life's barren wastes each song,
Like scent of verdure on the breeze,
From some green spot of pool and trees,
Comes to the heart with comfort strong,
Now seems the right to vanquish wrong.

The rhythmic voice such solace brings,
Such humor of delight it weaves,
That saddened hearts no more belong
In human bosoms. Yet the road,
For many a singer, leads to death;
He feels ofttimes starvation's goad—
His poems take a dying breath,
From dust and air, from stick and stone.

He wakes a joy to him unknown.

Matrimonial "Want" in Verse.

New York Mail: James O. Baldwin, husky lad, wants to marry, very bad.
He is 50, tall, feet, strong, and Caldwell, Jersey, long. Couldn't find a wife at home, so he sings this little poem:

Wanted—Write to clean and scrub, mend my socks and cook the grub. Must be handsome, bright and gay—if she's a daisy. Will make no objection one bit, neither, more preferred. She must have cash to spend; an intellect with learned front.
She must be a music lover; fond of use, and very other.
That is what my wife must be—hum-to-dum-to-dee-deede.

Progress, Peace and Prosperity

The Press on the President's Epithelial Message.

A Statesmanlike Approach.
Minneapolis Journal: There may be differences of opinion on Mr. Wilson's policies. But Mr. Wilson's statesmanlike approach to great issues compels the admiration of the nation. Constructive work is not for the cheap man. Mr. Wilson is in it earnest.

Consolidating a Popular Victory.
Chicago Tribune: Unquestionably the most significant thing about the President's message is its spirit.
Even a year ago the president would not have made an important public utterance in this spirit, nor perhaps would the public have been ready to receive it in such a spirit. In the last few months opinion has rapidly crystallized under the influence of events which in themselves were a culmination of forces at work for more than a decade.

The nation's struggles to overthrow the power of concentrated money are pretty well ended. The epoch of uncontrolled individualism, with its excesses of predatory enterprise, is drawing rapidly to a close. The enemy has capitulated, and the task recognized by virtually all today is the task of consolidating the popular victory.

A Remarkable Message.

Chicago Evening Post: President Wilson yesterday read to congress a remarkable message—as remarkable for the manner of its saying as for the matter of its program.

His identification of the government with the people in its approaching the detailed statement of legislation that is planned compels admiration as a bold and, we believe, sincere expression of conviction that he is the spokesman for the nation. The president assumes that he is simply giving voice to the wisdom and conscience of the country. It is not Democratic policy that is emphasized

A PHILANTHROPIST-ERRANT

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Sumner was a very extraordinary man who made and led a great deal of public thought of the country in our history. Of powerful intellect, of unbounded learning, of invincible moral courage, or unexceptional personal conduct, he was yet a narrow-minded fanatic, and set abroad a great deal of mischief. If he and such as he had let the South alone we would have avoided the big war, African slavery, etc. this, would have been a natural death and in our country there would not have arisen any race problem.

Jan. 6 is the anniversary of Charles Sumner's birth, and the event was celebrated in a Washington church. That is an incongruity, for it is notorious that Sumner rejected the Bible and had nothing but contempt for the Christian religion, and as he always went the whole hog, it is quite likely that he was an atheist, denying that there is a God and holding that there is no life after death.

Well, the pastor of this church made a violent speech in which he advised the negroes to buy guns and prepare for war, and he was enthusiastically applauded by the negroes in the audience who waved handkerchiefs and urged him to give them more. Whether the authorities will investigate and indict the minister for malicious incitement remains to be seen. As to that, however, it is not so important. Had there been no white folks there no attention would have been paid to the frenzy which I doubt not may properly be charged to cocaine.

But Mr. Oswald Garrison Villard of New York was present, and while he rebuked the preacher for his promptings to murder, he delivered himself of a speech that inflamed the discontent of the negroes, who demand social equality. Had there been no white men like Villard the negro would never have dreamed of such an equality. He would have been content with the place Almighty God gave him and cheerfully accepted the fact that he is inferior.

Now, Villard's ally and preacher that God was all wrong about it, that God made a awful mistake when he did not make the human family on the plan he made a flock of white pigeons—each precisely like and exactly the fellow of every other, and so Villard proceeds to run up and down the aisle in a vain endeavor to correct the mistakes of God and to that end he teaches the negro that he is the full equal of the white man. The white man, North and South, East and West, denies that, and as a result the negro is in a rage, and he has this negro preacher in the presence of Mr. Villard advising his flock to get guns and go out and murder the whites.

What is the row about? Every white man and every white woman in the departments—whether from North or South, whether Democrat or Republican—resents the mixing of the two races in the departments. A movement is on foot to segregate the negroes, and it was to protest against that, that fetched Villard down here. He is that most awful and terrible thing in human shape—a reformer that has a conscience exquisitely sensitive to the short-comings of others. Ben Tillman's sins give Villard unshared agony. He is miserable because Ben Tillman will not allow him to dictate to Ben Tillman how Ben Tillman shall behave. The man appears to be a super-egoist, and seems to fear that on the day of judgment he will be sent to hell for the sins he assumes Ben Tillman has done on earth.

There is nothing new in that sort of spirit—Cain acted it; it brought about the crucifixion on Calvary; it shed the hell of the martyrs; it set up 10,000 hells on earth. Always it is a rebel against Almighty God and devotes itself to polluting off all that it conceives with an optimism that grows through the world and fires the heart of the reader. Villard, yet she sees the glory of the world about her. Deaf, yet she hears the music of the spheres and the aspirations of human hopes and aspirations.

Dumb, yet she gives her message of hope and faith to cheer thousands afflicted. But far more despondent than she.

Why should Villard leave New York city to go south and tell us how to live? There is more crime committed in New York city every day than in all the South in a week. Human life is cheaper in New York city than in any precinct of any Southern state. Human life is more valued in New York than in any community of the entire South between the Potomac and the Rio Grande, and between the Ohio and the Gulf.

As for the money in your pocket, it is 10,000 times more secure anywhere at the South than in New York. Villard fix things at home instead of running down South to fix 'em? Let him bow his own ax while it is full of weeds. We can tend our crop without his aid, and that is what we intend to do.

The North hates the negro; a Northern white man will go ten squares in a blizzard to be shamed by a white barber sooner than patronize a negro. At the North the chief office of the negro is as a strike-breaker in a coal mine. At the North they will not allow him to work with his hands, but they insist he shall return South and be a statesman.

Perhaps that is what is the matter with Villard—too many negroes going North. If he can make them rulers down South maybe they will quit going North.

That's it—that's Villard's game. How many niggers have you in your employ, Mr. Villard?

A Message of Hope and Faith.

THE WORLD I LIVE IN. By Helen Keller. New York: The Century Company, 1913. $1.50.

Helen Keller was blind, deaf, dumb. She is still blind and deaf, though she has been educated. She has grown into the world and is a part of it—not a "shut-in," but a thinking, working factor in its affairs. Her story is a message of hope and faith to the afflicted. Though seemingly condemned to a life aloof from the affairs of the world, she has made her life useful in itself, and above all useful to the world, by her determination to a terrible fate, of supreme waiting for the end, bearing the burden as an example of what determination can do though heaped over with handicaps and obstacles.

Her book is a charming thing. Fifteen essays and a poem are included in its pages, and they are all written with an optimism that grows through the world and fires the heart of the reader. Blind, yet she sees the glory of the world about her. Deaf, yet she hears the music of the spheres and the aspirations of human hopes and aspirations.

Dumb, yet she gives her message of hope and faith to cheer thousands afflicted. But far more despondent than she.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

LULL IN BUILDING BUT THE OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT

Most Important Work in Sight Is Addition to Normal School.

Many Moderate Priced Homes Planned for the Western Suburbs.

Taking permits issued at the building inspectors' office for the new work coming out this week was in light proportions. The list numbered just five, with the cost of improvements placed at $4,425.

The largest permit in the list, $4,000, was taken out by J. J. Dwyer for the erection of a frame hotel on Ninety-ninth avenue, Gary. This hotel will be a two-story building, with a frame dwelling on Main street between Sixty-sixth and Sixty-seventh avenues west.

The most important new work in sight at present is the proposed addition to the Normal school, which plans have been prepared by W. A. Hunt, and bids will be received up along the line of the present school until Feb. 10. The addition will be a two-story building, with a frame dwelling on Main street between Sixty-sixth and Sixty-seventh avenues west.

The building season for the coming year is regarded by architects as most encouraging. With money now available for mortgage loans, considerable new construction that had been held in abeyance will be set on foot. In addition, several new propositions are known to be on the architect's table. Under that category is to be mentioned two business blocks, two warehouses and two factory structures, amounting up to large figures in the aggregate. It is also thought there will be considerable work in the building of high class homes and apartment buildings, which there has been a lull for four years.

Activity in the line of moderate priced dwellings is forecasted in West Duluth and in the steel plant districts by reason of the pressing need for additional housing accommodation owing to the industrial development in those sections of the city.

Already the building of sixteen new houses is under way at Gary, and excavation was started this week for a two-story business building on Ninety-ninth avenue, between Gary and Dickson streets. Preliminary work was also started on a thirty-six room hotel to be built by Mrs. Frank Berry. A Chicago investor, who bought a business corner this week at Gary street and from the Gary Land company, has announced his intention to build during the early spring.

In accordance with plans announced some time ago, by John A. Stephenson & Co., agents for the property, the Clarence Realty company has started to remodel for offices the premises at the corner of Third avenue west and Second street, lately occupied by the Kitchi-gami club. A passenger elevator and vaults will be installed, and title floors placed in the halls. Contracts for 25 per cent of the office space in the building have already been entered into.

Plans for remodeling the Ray home at the corner of Second street and Fourth avenue east, recently purchased by Roy M. Wolvin of Winnipeg, have been prepared by Heston & Sullivan, architects. According to them, the house will contain eleven flats or ten houses, each with a bath. It is expected that figures will be taken within a few days and the work proceeded with at once. The outlay of about $15,000 will be entailed.

The Lounsbury-McLennan company, is still employing over 250 men on its new closing plant in Minnesota Steel company's model town. In addition to the fifty-four buildings, nearly completed, work is proceeding in the erection of others for which foundations were put in late last fall.

The following permits were issued during the week at the office of the building inspector:

To C. Soderlund, addition, Sixty-sixth avenue west, between Raleigh and Polk streets, 400

To Thomson and Williams, tile floor, West Michigan street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues, 375

To G. J. Dwyer, addition, Ninety-ninth avenue west, between Second and Third avenues, 4,000

To H. W. Hoppervan, addition, West Second street, between Second and Third avenues, 150

To Johnson and Larson, frame dwelling, Ninety-ninth avenue west, between Sixty-sixth and Sixty-seventh avenues west, 1,500

Cost of improvements, $4,425

Number of permits, 5.

INQUIRY FOR ALL CLASSES OF REAL ESTATE IS INCREASING

Sale of Suffel Home Biggest Transaction Reported During Week.

Duluth Is Due for Substantial Growth, Says G. A. French.

While the number of real estate transfers recorded during the present week was comparatively small, inquiry for all classes of property is reported to be on the increase, and the closing up of some important deals is expected within the next few weeks.

The feature of the week came in the purchase of the W. J. Suffel home at 1321 East Superior street, by Samuel B. Shelton, superintendent of the Minnesota Steel company. The property is reported as one of the most desirable in the East end residence district, and the transaction is thought significant in that, taking into consideration other sales recently reported, it shows that many of the newer residents of the city are entering the market for the better class of homes. While the consideration of real estate transfers is not reported, it is understood to have been approximately $125,000. The sale was effected through G. A. French.

A high opinion regarding the investment opportunities, offering in Duluth realties was voiced today by G. A. French, with his partner, C. E. Bassett, a large holder of both business and residence property. "I think that Duluth is in for a substantial growth from now on," said Mr. French. "We may not have a boom, but if indications count for anything the city is going to add to its population yearly, and that of course will mean enhancement in property values. Duluth has always attracted outside attention through the mineral wealth of the territory tributary to it and on account of its shipping facilities. It has been recognized that there is an enormous volume of wealth here, and the fact that it has so many millionaires has been commented upon."

"The decision of the interstate commerce commission in the lake and rail freight case has done more than anything else to interest outsiders. Now that it is seen from the recent refusals of the commission to reopen the case that the rate decision is going to stand, I look for the extensive building of new industries here in the near future. It is recognized by those who have made investigations that our climate has an advantage in increasing the efficiency of labor. That fully compensates for any higher scale of wages that may prevail in some branches of industry here."

Mr. French, as chairman of the Commercial club's manufacturing committee, is in touch with the various negotiations now in progress. He expressed himself as sanguine that an agreement that would mean the establishing of at least one large new industry here will be reached within the next sixty days.

Big Mill City Deals.

Possibilities of an excellent placed realty investments, and which may be reproduced in Duluth within the next few years were evidenced in a transaction recently put through at Minneapolis in which the proposed corner of the "New England" corner changed hands at a consideration of $1,250,000. The Minneapolis and Duluth Realty company, which has been the purchasers, John W. Blodgett were the purchasers.

ranged for during the spring and early summer.

George Hanson & Sons advised the receipt of current money on sales of three residence properties in the West end.

The Bartlett & Pearson company is the latest entrant into the local real estate field, opening an office at room 504 First National bank building. The closing of a deal was reported by it today in the sale of a nine-acre tract at Cobsville for Mrs. Thomas Brian to R. S. Crogan.

VALIDITY OF GRAND JURY IN THE COPPER COUNTRY ATTACKED

Miners' Lawyers Move to Quash Conspiracy Indictments.

Moyer Not Present, But "Will Appear When Needed."

No True Bill Returned in the Deportation Cases.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A motion to quash the conspiracy indictments against copper mine strikers and officials of the Western Federation of Miners was filed today by attorneys for the accused men, when the men were arraigned for trial in the Houghton circuit court. Pleas will not be entered until the motion has been heard and passed on.

Counsel for the defendants, in their motion, attacked the legality of the grand jury. It was contended that the grand jury was illegally summoned and called, and therefore illegally served; that its deliberations were not conducted in secret, as required by law, and that the appointment of George E. Nichols as special prosecuting officer was void because no showing had been made authorizing such appointment, or claiming the want of capacity on the part of the duly elected prosecutor.

It is also moved, the motion read, "that this motion may have the same effect as a challenge to the array of said grand jury, all which defendants are ready and willing to verify."

Governor's Presence.—Governor W. N. Parsons of Michigan, Grant Fellows, attorney general, Special Prosecutor Nicholson and three photographers were named as persons present who were "not by law authorized to take part in the deliberations of the jury."

No time was agreed upon for this morning for a hearing on the motion. Angus W. Kerr, leading local counsel for the defendants, indicated that the form of the indictments also would be attacked. Mr. Kerr said that he would apply for a change of venue in the strike cases.

Most of the men who have been arrested on charges growing out of strike disorders appeared in court this morning. They were represented by counsel. Pleas of "not guilty" were entered in the cases which were not based on grand jury indictments. After answering to their names, the defendants were told to return next Monday, Feb. 2, under the same bonds. Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, did not answer to his name when the cases of the thirty-eight union men who were arrested on charges of conspiracy were called.

COAST CITIES ARE CUT OFF BY FLOODS

Santa Barbara, Ventura and Oxnard Hit By Terrific Rains.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 26.—Santa Barbara, Ventura and Oxnard have been cut off from the rest of the world for over fourteen hours at daylight this morning; the Southern Pacific had lost its coast line and the Valley branch south of Mojave, and suburban electric traffic around Los Angeles had been badly crippled in the deluge.

This morning began the third day of the worst storm Southern California has seen in years. Almost continuous rainfall Saturday night, with a slight lifting of the clouds during the day. On Sunday followed by even heavier downpours most of last night, brought the season's precipitation six inches and more above normal.

The bridge at Fillmore, a $40,000 structure, went out at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The rainfall for the storm measured 4.44 inches up to 8 o'clock this morning, but the weather bureau expects more during the ensuing twenty-four hours.

FOUR DEAD, DOZEN INJURED IN WRECK

Passenger and Freight Trains Collide Near Jackson, Mich.

Jackson, Mich., Jan. 26.—Four persons are dead and a dozen injured, some perhaps fatally, as the result of a head-on collision last night between a passenger train and a freight train on the Michigan Central railroad, three miles north of here. A misunderstanding of orders is believed to have been responsible for the accident.

The dead: CAL JOHNSON, Jackson, engineer on passenger train; and the following passengers: E. COCHRAN, Lansing, Mich.; THOMAS J. SCHOEGLE, Owosso, Mich.

J. B. BECK of this city. Car Completely Telescoped. Although a train was promptly raised from this city to the scene of the accident, it was three hours and fifty minutes after the crash when the first victim was removed from the wreckage. So great was the force of the collision that the smoking car was telescoped over the baggage car, one car completely enveloped the other.

The cries of the mangled and helpless victims within the car were plainly heard by the rescuers long before the relief corps was able to penetrate the twisted and jammed wreckage and render assistance.

The relief party was also greatly hampered by darkness. Except for the light from the two coaches which remained on the track, the rescue work had to be conducted in total darkness.

IS WILLING TO MARRY AN AMERICAN HEIRESS

DUKE OF WARREN-SURREY. New York, Jan. 26.—If any rich American girl wants a duke, there is one wandering around New York just now who says it will not be his fault if he does fall in love with a papal title. He describes himself as "Count Rene de Warren-Surrey, direct descendant of the counts de Warren-Surrey and a relative of the dukes of Normandy and a relative of the blood of the royal families of England and France." He wants it understood that he did not come to America to marry money; but he does not deny that he is perfectly willing to fall in love with a pretty American girl. The duke has excited great interest whenever he has walked up Fifth avenue.

DULUTH DUE FOR STORM

After Heavy Snowfall the Weather Man Promises Cold and Winds.

Duluth Never Has Blizzards, Says the Weather Forecaster.

Duluth, after the mild weather that has been handed out, is promised by Weather Forecaster Richardson a cold and blizzard today and tomorrow. The prediction will please those who have any sleighing or logging to do, more than most others.

Mr. Richardson says that up to noon today about an inch of snow had fallen, but tonight and tomorrow several more inches will descend, making a pretty good sleighing bed on top of the frozen ground. Then tomorrow afternoon and evening after a milder period this afternoon and tonight, during which it is expected that the lowest temperature will go to 15 below zero, the weather will begin to grow colder and will become quite sharp.

Besides this, during all of this time, there will be rather high winds so that caps and veils will be the proper thing in Duluth streets. Mr. Richardson was asked if the city would have a blizzard or anything like one.

"Maybe you are not aware of it," said he, "but Duluth never has blizzards. Duluth has a brand all its own, but it never reaches the proportions of a blizzard. Just make a note of that so that the curse that has been forced upon us at times by reckless wiring out of stories of blizzards may not be repeated. We will have brisk winds and maybe a little snow will fly if it be dry enough but that's all."

The cold wave of Saturday night and Sunday forced the thermometer down to 14 below during Saturday night and Sunday morning. During yesterday the mercury climbed to 5 degrees above, but toward nightfall went down again to 10 below. The thermometer registered 3 degrees above zero and will probably about 5 degrees above tonight and most of tomorrow after which, as has been said, another drop will occur.

CENSORSHIP OF THE MOVIES DENOUNCED

Pittsburg Show House Men Appeal to Toner Against Law.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 26.—Denouncing censorship as "the curse of the ages" eighty-eight owners and operators of motion picture theaters in Pittsburg today sent a committee to Harrisburg to place before Governor Tener a protest against the newly appointed state board of censors. The law, passed several years ago, was placed in operation last week.

AFTER REAL MONOPOLIES

President Wilson Talks About His Trust Law Program.

Would Not Make New Trade Commission Administrative.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Nothing in President Wilson's trust program against holding companies is intended to bar anything "that is not in nature and spirit a monopoly," the president declared today.

President Wilson today indicated this when, discussing the situation, it was pointed out that a sweeping prohibition of holding companies would naturally affect concerns which had been required to organize subsidiary companies to comply with certain state laws.

The president let it be known that where such a business was being carried on by practically the same corporation there would be no restriction on it. He emphasized as the governing principle in the whole question, that corporations organized and merged with others for purposes of monopoly or restraint of trade would be clearly barred, and that those which obviously did not interfere with interstate commerce would be left alone.

The purpose of the administration would be, the president declared, to let things grow that grow naturally and legitimately.

Trade Commission. With respect to the proposed interstate trade commission, the president cleared up various impressions of it by saying that it would be a purely administrative body, but one of publicity and information. He said it would have no possible conflict with any other department of the government because it would not have the right to act in the field of any other constituted authority.

Landlord's Wife Saves 15 Guests. Wraps Head in Blanket and Enters Burning Corridors.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 26.—Wrapping her head in a blanket, Mrs. Edward Walton, wife of the proprietor of the Hotel Walton in Homestead, a suburb, this morning heroically way through blazing corridors to awaken fifteen guests. They escaped in their night clothes before the hotel was totally destroyed with a loss of $35,000.

WILLS $1,000,000 TO HELP PEACE WORK

Edwin Ginn Has Provided for Continuance of Campaign.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 26.—The continuance of the work of the World Peace Foundation, established by Edwin Ginn in 1910, is assured by a provision of his will, made public today.

Mr. Ginn, who had contributed $50,000 annually for the foundation, bequeathed $1,000,000 for the same purpose, the income to be administered by the trustees of the foundation. The abolition of war through education in the advantages of peace, is the object of the foundation.

MINERS WANT SIX-HOUR DAY

Demand May Be Recognized By United Mine Workers.

Members Are Urged to Enter the Political Field.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 26.—The convention of the United Mine Workers of America entered on its second week here today with the reports of the scale and constitution and officers' reports committees still to be submitted. It was expected that the work would be completed by the end of the week.

Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and the fraternal delegates from that order were to address the convention today. The demands which local unions seek to have incorporated in the next agreements between the miners and operators are many and varied. Among them are demands for a six-hour work day, with a half holiday on Saturday, and a weekly payday.

Many resolutions contain demands for an increase of 10 per cent for all laborers in and about the mines. Sympathy for the miners and their families of Vancouver Island, a number of whom have been sentenced to long terms in prison at New Westminster, B. C., was expressed in a resolution introduced by Frank Farrington of Stratford, Ill. The resolution, which was adopted, also endorsed the efforts of the Canadian trades and labor congress.

HELD FOR DEATH OF NEW JERSEY ADMIRAL

EVELYN VANDERGRIFT. Trenton, N. J., Jan. 26.—Evelyn Vandergrift, aged 18, is held by the authorities here on a charge of manslaughter. She is accused of causing the death of Fred Richardson of this city.

Richardson, who was divorced, had been paying attention to the girl for some time. He died of a knife wound, and before his death he said he recognized it in a scuffle with Miss Vandergrift at her home Jan. 11. Miss Vandergrift showed no remorse in court, and has maintained a stoical attitude since.

PNEUMONIA HALTS RADIUM TREATMENTS

Cancer Victim Contracts Another Disease and Succumbs.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 26.—Erman Zook of Kennett Square, Pa., who was showing signs of improvement under the radium treatment for cancer died in the Hahnemann hospital here today from pneumonia.

Zook, who became ill with cancer nine months ago while employed as a civil engineer on the Panama railroad, was given radium treatment last week after it had been found the disease had progressed too far to perform an operation. Physicians declared today they believed they could have arrested the progress of the disease if pneumonia had not intervened.

CULLOM PASSES RESTLESS NIGHT.

WANTS PLUM TREE BOARD

Senator Works Advocates Commission on Public Officers.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Federal appointments were the subject of a speech in the senate today by Senator Works of California on his bill to provide for a commission, appointed by the president, to receive and pass upon all applications and recommendations for appointment to Federal office. The measure would forbid members of congress to recommend applicants or aid in obtaining positions.

Senator Works explained that his bill was intended to relieve the president and members of congress from the burdens of recommending and appointing the thousands of officers throughout the country; to bring about the appointment of more competent men and women, and to relieve the public service, as far as possible, from the "odious" of the present pernicious system of patronage. The time taken up by the president and members of congress in considering matters of patronage, he said, was enormous, and could be devoted to more important public service.

President Named 10,839. From figures given to the senate in compliance with a resolution of December, 1910, the senator showed the total number of officers and employees of the government at that time, exclusive of the appointments made under civil service and officers of the army and navy to be 148,716, of whom 10,839 are appointed by the president. These appointments, he said, had steadily increased since the time of that report, the number of postmasters to be appointed by the president having been increased by 433.

President Wilson, at the beginning of his administration, he said, had felt the necessity of some help as this bill would afford, but his effort to transfer to his heads of departments the duty of making appointments had proved a failure.

GOETHALS TO RULE IN ZONE

Colonel Has Been Unofficially Informed of That Plan.

May Afterward Head Construction of Alaskan Railroad.

Washington, Jan. 26.—President Wilson has not yet directly offered to Col. Goethals the civil governorship of the canal zone, and cannot do so until he issues an executive order for a permanent government of the zone.

The president has intended to appoint Col. Goethals, and the colonel has for some time been informally apprised of that intention. Secretary Garrison, on his recent visit to Panama is understood to have so informed Col. Goethals.

Several persons close to the administration, in commenting on reports that the chief engineer would eventually become commissioner of police of New York city, expressed the opinion that Goethals will be made civil governor of the canal zone, and when he gets through with his work there an effort will be made to get him to (Continued on page 10, second column.)

LAKE LINE ORDERED TO TIE SHIPMENTS OF BUTTER AND EGGS

Another Notable Transportation Victory Is Scored By Duluth.

Case Begun By Duluth Firm—Traffic Commission Helped.

Another notable transportation victory has just been scored by Duluth, the interstate commerce commission having just issued an order effective not later than March 30, to the Erie railroad lake line and other companies operating on the Great Lakes from Buffalo to accept butter, eggs and dressed poultry for shipment, which articles they have heretofore declined to accept on tariffs recently announced. According to a dispatch from The Herald Washington bureau, the commission in issuing the order, held that "while there doubtless are articles the respondents should not be forced to carry, butter, eggs and poultry do not fall within that class. The possible volume of traffic may not justify the installation of special refrigeration equipment on all boats."

"We believe," added the commission, "it fully justifies the experimental equipment on some of them."

This means that shipments of dairy products can be made by lake from Duluth beginning with the opening of navigation next spring.

Important Decision. This case, brought by Bridgman & Russell, later joined by the Northern Cold Storage company and by the traffic commission, the Commerce club, is far more important than appears on the face of it. It affects the whole of the Northwest, but particularly the northern part of that section and the shipping industry of Duluth, by its aggressive policy.

SHIPPERS PROTEST ANY RAISE IN RATES

Series of Commerce Commission Hearings Is Begun.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Scores of shippers and their lawyers prepared to protest against any increase of freight rates by the Eastern railroads, were present here today at the first hearing of a series which will continue more or less motion before the interstate commerce commission.

Today's hearing was devoted to shipments of petroleum, and with the exception of some of the greater classes, such as iron and steel, lumber and coal, each principal subject will have one day.

SOME RAPID FINANCING

Pastor of First M. E. Church Raises $24,000 in Twenty Minutes.

One Prominent Citizen Gives $9,000; Members Make Liberal Gifts.

The $24,000 debt on some of the property belonging to the First M. E. church, Third avenue west and Third street, was cleared at the rate of $1,200 a minute at the morning services yesterday.

The accomplishment was one of the most remarkable in the church annals of Duluth.

The church property itself is free of all obligations, but it also owns the corner directly back of the church, at Third avenue west and Second street. Two dwellings occupy the lots, standing below the alley and fronting the avenue. This property has been carrying a mortgage of $24,000.

Before the regular sermon the pastor, Rev. J. W. Hoffmann, explained the situation to the congregation. He made an earnest plea for subscriptions to free the shoulders of the church of this burden. The response was immediate and surprisingly gratifying. In twenty minutes the necessary $24,000 had been pledged. One of Duluth's prominent citizens had contributed $9,000 to head the subscription list. Others came forward willingly with subscriptions of a few dollars to $1,000 and $2,000.

The First M. E. church will now have clear title to the lots abutting Third avenue west from Second street to Third street. The property, among the most desirable in the city and is steadily increasing in value.

The plan of the church is to hold a part of the property for the further development of the work of the church in the downtown district and to lease a part to obtain revenue to carry on aggressive work in the heart of the city.

The church at present has a membership of 1,100. A contest will be started next Sunday between the First church and the Sunday school of this city and the Hennepin Avenue church and Sunday school of Minneapolis. The contest will be decided on attendances and all other work of a modern church and Sunday school.

GRAND JURY GETS TRUTH

Investigates the "Seven Burglaries in Seven Weeks" Story.

Burns Detective on the Stand—Police Probe Nears End.

False and inaccurate reports published this morning by the News Tribune with reference to the alleged recurrence of burglaries in the stores of two East Superior street merchants, will not mislead the January grand jury which is still engaged with its investigation of the police department by the News Tribune.

The morning paper, in a story printed this morning, represented that burglars and sneak thieves had successfully operated at the Coventry and Clifford stores seven times within the last seven weeks, were called before the inquisitorial body as witnesses this morning and it is believed that the real facts in the case which are widely at variance with the report circulated by the News Tribune.

ROAD WRECKED BY FINANCIERS

Cause of Frisco's Insolvency Told By Commerce Commission.

Speyer & Co. Criticized for Selling Bonds to Public.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Financial operations—not ordinary, railroad difficulties—were the cause of the receivership of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad system, according to an investigation, reported today at the direction of the senate.

Although the report says the senate resolution "does not call for expression of opinion or recommendation," it does declare, referring to the sale just before the receivership of $3,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds, French series, at 78 to Speyer & Co. of New York, "that the sale of securities to the investing public through bankers at a time when every appearance indicated the insolvency of the issuing company, invited and warrants the condemnation of all who assisted or participated in each sale."

"Speyer & Co. should have been made aware of the insolvency of the company and of its difficulties in obtaining funds."

"The insolvency of the Frisco, the report says, may be attributed to various causes, among them:

"Disproportionate capitalization."

"The financing by the Frisco of the New Orleans, Texas & Mexico railroad and other South Texas lines."

"The desire for entrance into Chicago, resulting in the assumption of heavy fixed charges in the acquisition of the stock of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad."

"The sale of its securities at prices so low as to indicate a deplorably weakened credit, or an extravagant arrangement with bankers to whom large profits accrued in the purchase of the bonds and the subsequent sale of same to the public."

"Dividends Despite Weakness."

"Miscellaneous causes, among which are the payment of dividends upon its preferred stock in spite of its weakened credit and need of money."

"Poor investment in the New Orleans Terminal company, stock in the Kirby Lumber company and rentals paid the Crawford Mining company."

THIEF RIVER FALLS HAS $100,000 FIRE

Charles Eagler, Fireman, Is Probably Fatally Injured.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Shortly before noon Sunday fire broke out in the basement of Loken's department store and in less than one hour the whole store was in flames. The damage is estimated at $100,000, partly covered by insurance. Several people were seriously injured by the falling walls.

As soon as the fire was discovered the alarm was given and the fire department responded promptly, but the fire had assumed such proportions that it was beyond all possibility of being checked.

The Loken block was a brick structure on the corner of Third street and Main avenue. The corner portion of the ground floor was occupied by the Citizens State bank, while the balance of the ground floor and the basement was occupied by Loken's department store. The building was only recently established in this city.

Professional Men Burned Out.

The second floor of the building was occupied by the following professional men: Wilhelm Micheli, Judge of probate, O. A. Naplin, attorney; Dr. C. A. Pomeroy, dentist; Dr. H. G. Hieber and Dr. P. L. Vistaint, physicians. Prof. J. J. Holstein's dancing academy was also on the second floor. None of the belongings were saved and very little was covered by insurance.

A frame building adjoining the Loken block, which was occupied by H. O. Loken as a harness shop, was also completely demolished, but the entire stock contained in this building was saved and quickly stored in a vacant building nearby. Almost all the windows in the front of the building across the street from the scene of the fire were broken by the intense heat.

One fireman, Fred Eagler, a conductor on the Soo railroad, and Charles Porter, a saloonkeeper, and several others were seriously injured by the falling of the brick walls. No lives were lost, as was first reported. Conductor Fred Eagler had his leg broken and received severe head wounds. His condition is critical.

GROCERY'S BURGLARIZED

Proprietor Also Victim of Sneak Thief on Dec. 13.

Story of Seven Robberies in Seven Weeks Was Untrue.

Two East Superior street merchants have been getting more than their fair share of attention from sneaky thieves and burglars, but the morning paper's report of seven robberies in seven weeks was untrue.

The merchants are John Coventry and R. B. Clifford. The former owns a meat market at 217 East Superior street, and Mr. Clifford a grocery and candy store at 219 East Superior street. The latter has been burglarized twice in the last seven weeks, and these times having been last Saturday evening. On Dec. 13, the thief having taken $30 from the cash register.

Mr. Clifford denied the report that his meat market had been entered and burglarized four times in the past seven weeks and that his watchdog was killed by being fed poisoned glass about a week ago. He said that the last time his store was burglarized was during the night of Aug. 5 last, while his dog was killed some time in October, about three months ago.

The records obtained at police headquarters this morning show all the burglaries that have been committed at the meat market and these include the last one on Aug. 5. The other three others were on Dec. 5, 1912, and Dec. 18, 1912. Mr. Clifford substantiated these reports in his interview this morning.

Recent Attempts.

An additional report at police headquarters shows an attempt was made to enter the meat market six weeks ago and again last Saturday evening, when the Clifford store was burglarized. Entrance was not gained either time according to the report and to Mr. Clifford. On Saturday night the burglars had broken the lock on the front door, but failed to get through the new automatic lock and burglar alarm, which Mr. Clifford installed last fall.

Mr. Clifford opened the grocery store at 219 East Superior street about two months ago and on Dec. 13, a man came into the store shortly after noon and told George Clifford, the former's brother, that an express package for him had by mistake become lost across the street. He returned in a few minutes and found that the package had been stolen during his absence and $50 taken from the till. A report this morning stated the man was taken.

The daylight robbery was reported to the police by George Clifford shortly after it was committed, but the former had no favorable description of the man. The case was reported in The Herald the following day.

On last Tuesday the grocery store was broken into by a man who took about $25 worth of groceries, cigars and candles taken. Entrance was gained through the front door and last Saturday evening burglars again entered the store and took about $50 worth of cigars and candles. The thieves gained entrance by opening a side window.

LAKE LINES ORDERED TO TAKE SHIPMENTS OF BUTTER AND EGGS

In fighting for rights, is doing for the Northwest as a whole.

Nearly a year ago, Bridgeman & Russell requested of the interstate commerce commission that the lake lines be required to suspend their prohibited list, in which were included dairy products and fresh fruit, and to allow the interstate commerce of these commodities. The Duluth interests contended that the lines had no right to refuse to accept articles except those that would prove dangerous to the vessels and the lines have no right to refuse the articles in question. It is a very important decision, and it is not only for Duluth and the immediate surroundings but for the whole of the Northwest. Minnesota is now a great dairy country, but this will make it a great fruit country, too.

Doughnuts

That will remain moist.

Every housewife who bakes her own bread knows that if a little potato is added to the sponge, the bread will not dry out as quickly. In this recipe potato is utilized to make doughnuts that will remain moist and fresh for several days.

K C Potato Doughnuts

By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, of Baking School fame.

3 cups flour; 2 eggs; 1 cup sugar; 1 level teaspoonful K C Baking Powder; 1/2 teaspoonful salt; 1/2 cup cold milk; 1/2 cup cold water; 1/2 cup cold milk; 1/2 cup cold water; 1/2 cup cold milk; 1/2 cup cold water.

Sift three times, the flour, salt, spice and baking powder. Beat eggs with rotary beater, then still using rotary beater, gradually add sugar, then work in the mashed potato with a spoon and alternately milk and flour mixture. Make a soft dough, roll into a sheet, cut into rounds, pinch a hole in the center with the finger and fry in deep fat.

Fat for frying should not be hot enough to brown the doughnut until it has risen. When the doughnut is dropped into the fat it sinks to the bottom. As soon as it comes up it should be turned and turned a number of times while cooking. This recipe is excellent for the fat in frying and will stay moist for days.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood and remove the waste matter from the body. If the kidneys are not working properly, the waste matter will build up in the body and cause various ailments.

ALASKA ROAD

BILL PASSED

Senate Votes $40,000,000 for Government-Owned Project.

President Given Full Power for Work—House Yet to Act.

Washington, Jan. 26.—By a vote of 46 to 16 the senate passed today the Alaska railway bill, directing the president to purchase or construct 1,000 miles of railroad in Alaska at a cost not to exceed $40,000,000.

Fifteen Republican senators and Senator Poindexter, Progressive, voted for the bill. Senators Bacon, Hoke Smith and Adams voted against it.

The bill places on the president responsibility for the election of the route from the tidewater to the interior of Alaska and the construction of the equipment and operation or leasing of such lines as he may construct or buy to constitute this route. The broader powers are conferred upon the president in carrying out his duties.

The bill provides for a redemption fund into which shall be paid 75 per cent of all monies derived from the sale of public lands in Alaska or of the mineral contents thereof. Machinery utilized for the construction of the canal is made available for the construction work of the project.

Tried to Cut Appropriation.

Unsuccessful efforts to reduce the $40,000,000 appropriation authorized by the work were made during the closing hours of the debate. Senator Hoke Smith sought to have the appropriation reduced to $25,000,000 and Smoot to $30,000,000.

Among other amendments defeated was the Norris amendment for government steamships to Alaska, the Poindexter amendment for the sale of Alaska coal to Pacific coast points, and the Cummins substitute limiting the construction of the railroad line.

With the consent of the territorial committee, the bill was amended before passage to require the secretary of the interior to report to the committee the good and bad of existing railroads; to give the secretary authority to give the government and limiting the construction of the railroad line.

A similar bill is pending in the house.

Celebration at Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 26.—As soon as news of the passage today of the Alaska railway bill by the senate in favor of the government-owned project was thrown into the air and a band and wagon bearing banners paraded through the business section. The banners announced that the senate had passed the bill and that the celebration was being prepared to take place after President Wilson had signed the bill, which has yet to go through the house.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

HERE was the golden age of literature and there was the silver age of politics. There was likewise the golden age of corporate icons. There was the golden age of the ponies and the attendant book maker. Pericles had his golden age so it would seem that the baseball players of the present day are entering into the effulgent area of the land of plenty.

"Ah!" we cried, upon picking up the paper (afternoon) and encountering large and flaming headlines and news of the activity of the Federal leaguers, and lamping the signing of another player. We have "ahed" and "ohed" for some several weeks.

It is reaching the point where the Majors are being forced to meet the proffered terms of the fatuous Feds, as some say. For the time being the ball player of ability holds the whip hand. He can pick and choose. Most of the spangled diamond stars of the present vintage are wise enough to take advantage of the opportunity that gives the high sign at the portals. Many of the players are signing with their old clubs for a term of three years—and their salaries are being antied nicely, thank you. This old war thing may not last forever. We remember the high jinks between the American and National leagues—and you can lay your wife's new furs that the ball players will rapaciously grab while the grabbing scenery is set.

Licked Again, by Gosh. ARTHUR PELKEY, we notice, has been licked again. Who did it, Sir? Kid Kenneth. Who he Kid Kenneth? Can't answer. Go to the foot of the class. Ah, but no one else is aware of the identity of Mr. Kenneth. Will Mr. Kenneth challenge the remainder of the white hopes? He will. What is the principal means of occupation of the majority of the white hopes? Challenging Jack Johnson. Why? Can't enter the U. S. Are white hopes an institution? No: a mental disease. What do the majority of the white hopes subsist upon? A combination of manager and of leech. Are white hopes carnivorous animals? No; they have seldom been known to hurt or molest one another. Why were they called white hopes in the first place? The public hopes that one of them would be able to lick Johnson. Why are they called white hopes at the present time? Because the general public hopes they will be exterminated. Who was it that proved the large bodies moved slowly? The white hopes. Who was it that proved the law of gravitation? Old Isaac Newton, a good ancient patient soul. Who, chiefly, have epitomized the apple and borne out this theory? The white hopes, as they always fall to earth. What would be something useful for them to follow? A plow.

One of the Real Ones. WE have in our midst Waino Ketonen, regarded by some critics of the wrestling game as the greatest legitimate 158 pound wrestler in the world.

Ketonen is the boy who defeated Chris Jordan in two straight falls at Salt Lake City a month ago. He is the same chap who offered to deposit in any bank in Duluth or with any specified individual $500 to be wagered on his chances against Walter Miller.

Before coming to America Ketonen defeated every bit of life size European. But that doesn't count. It is what he has done over here. Harvey Parker, from whom no greater wrestler of his weight ever lived, trained the famous little Finn a year before he would permit the boy to have one big contest in this country. The result has been that as yet Ketonen has never been defeated at the ring side weight of 158 pounds and he is open to meet any man in the world at that poundage.

Ketonen went to Salt Lake City with the hope of getting a match with Yokel. No one in this section of the country will believe Yokel fears any man in the world. Michael isn't that kind of breed. He is one of the real wrestlers. But Ketonen beat Jordan and beat Turner and beat all the rest of 'em he has met. For some reason the contest with Yokel has been deferred from time to time.

Ketonen comes to Duluth to meet Joe Carr. The little Finn, weighing 154 pounds, has agreed to let Carr come in at 158 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The contest will have to go to two falls, according to the contract that will be signed by the two men. In Ketonen the fans of this city will see a wrestler who has really beaten the best in the game. He defeated Chris Jordan in less time than it required Yokel to turn the trick.

Spike Kelly Again. ART ABRAMS is arranging for a number of bouts for Spike Kelly, one of the best of the welterweights. One of the propositions the Superior impresario is considering at the present time is the sending of Kelly against Billy Miske of St. Paul. Some of us are of the opinion that Kelly will give the St. Paulite a beautiful trimming. In any event this match would furnish some bout for the simple and logical reason that Miske wades in—and that is the kind of boys the Kelly person likes.

Regarding the Amateur. SOME of the interested and eminent followers of athletics have raised the question as to what is an amateur. To our notion he is an individual engaging in athletics who is skillful enough to receive money without anybody receiving information. Silver trophies look lovely on the

The Mind of the Mob.

PERHAPS Mike Gibbons and Packey McFarland will pull the largest house that has witnessed a boxing contest in Gotham since the repeal of the Horton glove law. Both men are among the best advertised boxers in the world.

Both are skillful. Both are marvelous boxers. On the face of the thing it should be a grand contest.

But—when two such rlove wonders meet sometime it happens that their very skill prevents what the general layman has come to look upon as the real stuff. Fans want to see some one swatted. No one can tell us different. Well it will prove mighty hard for Mike Gibbons to swat McFarland and it will likewise prove quite a difficult feat for Packey McFarland to land with telling effect upon Mr. Gibbons. Leastwise that is the way the majority of the critics look upon the thing.

But—number two—it should be that true lovers of boxing would appreciate superb blocking, wonderful ducking and agile sidestepping. That's all right in theory; but what the C. P. love to see is someone get it and get it good. Don't argue—that is true. There is something of the primitive, or animal or reversion to type stuff in all of us. In a crowded auditorium not one-half of the spectators understand or appreciate the finer points of boxing. But John Jones sitting next to Will Brown understands and appreciates with Finnish glee the fact that Kid Hennessy has just had his nose smeared over his countenance. John pokes Will and lets loose a strange and uncouth yell.

That is one of the reasons why two such expert boxers as Gibbons and McFarland are liable to disappoint the multitude of Joneses and Browns who will be on hand.

"He * * * * * John might say to Will as they were leaving the arena. "They never even got hurted."

That is why the great boxer practices for weary hours to make every move count.

Jim Corbett used to release one single step or a duck for hours at a stretch. Corbett was the world's champion and he doesn't head a mark.

P. S. Why do we think it strange that the Indians yell when they dance?

CLAIM FAILURE IN AGREEMENT

Players Fraternity and National Commission at Loggerheads Over Cincinnati Agreement; Adds to Trouble Possibilities.

New York, Jan. 26.—As a result of a disagreement between the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, which controls all the minor leagues, and the Baseball Players' Fraternity, all minor league players who are members of the fraternity have been notified not to sign 1914 contracts until further notice.

The latest development in the triangular struggle between the baseball players, the Federal league and organized baseball, is based upon the alleged failure of the National Association to live up to the so-called Cincinnati agreement, recently entered into by the representatives of organized baseball and the players' fraternity.

According to President David L. Fultz of the fraternity, the formal notification sent to members of the organization which might, for instance, because of the refusal of the National association authorities to accept the Cincinnati agreement in its complete form, and the clause in particular barring and declaring void any agreements not appearing specifically in the players' contract. Such outside agreements which might, for instance, provide for a special bonus under certain conditions were legislatively against at the Cincinnati meeting. A fine of $500 is the penalty provided against the club making such outside agreement and the player is immediately automatically released and becomes a free agent when such agreement is proved.

The National association demanded that the fraternity agree to a sliding scale of fines, according to the class of club affected, and a 60-day suspension of the player before he became a free agent. Mail and telegraph correspondence has been in progress for several days, but neither organization has been able to let the other stand.

Both organizations appear determined in the deadlock and fraternity officials have notified the players that the entire power of the new body will be used in their aid if the dispute is not satisfactorily adjusted within the next few days.

PORT ARTHUR WINS THE FINAL GAME OF SERIES

Canadian Hockey Players Show Superior Form and Set Curling Club Team Down By Score of 5 to 2.

Port Arthur won the second game of the series with Duluth Saturday evening, defeating Joe Linder and band by the score of 5 to 2. In some respects the contest was even faster than the one upon the previous evening.

In team work, in neat and clever passing and in splendid work on the defense, the visitors excelled the curling club team.

The contest was even most of the way, and the locals were in the hunt all the way. But the visitors knew the finer points of the game more thoroughly than the members of the Duluth team, and having the edge in skating, made the shade in playing ability count.

Duluth Scores First. Little Kahler was the first Duluthian to score, his net coming Saturday minutes of play, being the first score of the game. The Duluth center ended his score from a scrimmage in front of the net, shooting it by Nicholson by a precise shot.

In the two games played here Wellington has been the nemesis of the Duluth team. He has provided our Waterloo. In just five minutes after the score of Kahler had put the locals in the lead and provided joy and comfort for the followers of the team, Wellington scored another goal and ripped in one of those short and fast ones that this player is justly famous for making.

During most of the remainder of the first half the play was even. Spectators were treated to some of the best hockey that has been witnessed here. Just three minutes before the call of time Capt. Wilson of the Thunder Bay aggregation received a pretty pass from Whalen slightly to the side of the net, and without changing motion or slackening speed, shot one of the prettiest goals of the game.

Visitors Rush Play. Right at the start of the evening, in the second half the Canadians started with a rush. The rubber was kept in the Duluth territory and the skating of the visitors was the best seen here this season.

The dangerous and well perfected combination of Whalen and Wellington got the job in five minutes after the opening of the half and they shot one neat score. Shortly after the first one of the period the two came back and rushing the rubber up the ice, Whalen passed it neatly to Wellington and the speed boy shot the goal.

Barkell scored the final goal for Duluth and the final score of the game came when Whalen shot the puck to Whalen and the fast wing of the Thunder Bays made one of the prettiest shots of the evening.

It is probable that there will be another series of games between the two teams during the present season. Members of the Duluth team, it is reported, are anxious to meet with the strong Port Arthur team.

The Lineup:
Duluth—Position. P. Arthur, Bellock, Nicholson, Murray, Linder, Olson, Servais, Pryor, Whalen, Wilson.
Goals—Wellington, 2; Whalen, 2; Wilson, 1; Kahler, 1; Barkell, 1. Officials—Dietz and Fonten. Timekeepers—Penfold, Larson and Furler. Shower—Haig. Penalties—Port Arthur, 10 minutes; Duluth, five minutes.

POLLOK SAYS RITCHIE IS A NO-DECISION BOXER

Manager of Freddy Welsh Declares Lightweight Champion Wants to Box Only Bouts Where No Verdict Is Rendered.

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald: Willie Ritchie signs himself thusly: "Willie Ritchie, World's Lightweight Champion." Very truly, Correctly written, it should read: "Willie Ritchie, World's Champion Side-Stepper."

If the time ever arrived in a boxer's career when the followers of Flatina, who support the game at the box office, and the sporting writers who chronicle his life history, should rise up in wrath and cast him to the wolves, Mr. "No-Decision" Ritchie, pretender to the lightweight throne, has surely reached the jumping-off place.

When little Willie sneaked out of Vancouver last September in the middle of the night, without an excuse in the world, to avoid a meeting with Freddie Welsh, it was an almost impossible task to convince the sporting writers of the country that Ritchie had absolutely "run out cold." It was no wonder to me that they wanted to give the American champion the benefit of every doubt and were loath to believe that a little-holder could deliberately play the part of the coward. That was the truth, however, and in the face of the silly excuses that Ritchie has just put forward to avoid a meeting with Tommy Murphy, even the most ardent and patriotic supporters of the Californian must find it a hard matter to plead his cause.

When Ritchie was first matched to meet Welsh in Vancouver he wrote to me and asked that the contest be made "fifteen rounds, no decision."

Why? It might be good idea to ask him. That is one thing he has never attempted to explain away.

The moment that the Murphy-Ritchie contest in Erlise was first called off, going to a scratch on plim on Ritchie's nose or to a few drops of rain, he sent word to Billy Gibson asking for "no decision" bout in the Stadium at Madison Square garden. He didn't even, apparently, try to get a barber to remove the hair or wait to see if it would stop raining, before rushing a message to Gibson asking for one of his favorite matches, a "no-decision" affair.

Why? It might be a good idea to ask him that. "Decision" has scratched his heel. Tough, isn't it? Meantime Welsh is going along, fighting to a scratch on plim on Ritchie's nose or to a few drops of rain, he sent word to Billy Gibson asking for "no decision" bout in the Stadium at Madison Square garden. He didn't even, apparently, try to get a barber to remove the hair or wait to see if it would stop raining, before rushing a message to Gibson asking for one of his favorite matches, a "no-decision" affair.

If Jim Corbett wants a real "sporting" match, he will rush Tommy Murphy, "winner-take-all" and bet him $5,000 on the side. As for Ritchie, it is useless to even think of dragging him into a ring with Welsh. The memory of the beating that Welsh

BIG LEAGUES TRAIN SOON

Ignoring Activity of Federal League, Majors Are Going Ahead.

Athletics and Giants Sanquigne—Others Guessing on Lineup.

New York, Jan. 26.—Ignoring the activity of the Federal league managers in their quest for big league stars, the club owners of the American and National leagues have completed their plans for the spring training campaigns and are issuing formal calls for the gathering of veterans and recruits. Before another month has rolled around, the exodus to the various southern camps will be under way.

With the actual beginning of practice, a clearer idea of the status of organized baseball in its relation to the new organization will be possible, for, with a few exceptions, the 1914 personnel of the sixteen clubs forming the major leagues will be shown by the players who report for training. Certain of the clubs, such as the Athletics and Giants, do not anticipate any trouble in showing virtually 100 per cent attendance, but the average major league president will not feel assured of his full enrollment until each member of the club has donned a uniform and answered "present" to the roll call.

If, by that time, the Federal league has not announced some definite circuit, list of players and plans for training camps and parks, interest on the part of baseball fans may be expected to return to normal channels.

According to the veteran baseball promoters, once the preliminary playing season activity is under way, the new organization will find it difficult to hold the center of the baseball stage unless some radical move toward actual play is made.

In the older organizations, the situation, so far as the usual spring plans are concerned is much clearer. The dates and plans for the gathering of the players are known and the schedules for the ante-season exhibition games prepared. In several cases former camps have been abandoned for new fields and earlier dates selected for the annual reporting of both the recruits and veterans. While the batteries and untried materials will, as a rule, report a week or so ahead of the regulars, the opening days of the season will be favored for the initial workouts.

The St. Louis Americans are scheduled to lead the march to the South on Feb. 14, and should be in action at St. Petersburg, Fla., on or three days later. The Boston Red Sox will be the latest squad to report, not be-

ATTACKS HIS WIFE WITH HEAVY CLUB

Chisholm Man Who Married Joe Apich's Widow Held to Grand Jury.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—With two ugly looking clubs as evidence against him, Sam Rogie, an Austrian, was bound over to the grand jury Saturday by Judge William Master in municipal court, charged with having beaten his wife and threatening her life. One of the clubs was made from a heavy whip handle, and the other from a club from a pool table covering. To the other end was attached a leather loop, resembling a policeman's club. The other club was a plain hickory club, about two feet long, which Rogie admitted was the club he used on his wife. A bill was found under the bed.

Rogie, who is married with a lame foot which, he stated, was hurt while working in the mine. He was unable to tell Judge Masters when he worked the last time and where. He received a ransom scoring from Judge Masters for leaving around and spending his wife's money, which she earns working in a Chinese laundry.

Rogie married Rose Apich, the widow of Joe Apich, who died under circumstances which required investigation, in the spring of 1911. Mrs. Apich asked that Rogie be committed to jail for a short time until she could be examined by a physician. Rogie was released. She had a goodly sum of money following the death of her husband, and Rogie soon began paying attention to the widow. They were married some time afterwards, and from the date of their wedding to the present time Rogie is said to have been spending her money.

He claimed in court that when his wife left the house for work at the laundry, morning, she left a fire burning in the stove. He was afraid of the house burning and was forced to get up and close the drafts. For this he beat her. She also tried to feed him on state meat which, he said, was unfit for a dog. No divorce proceedings have been started and no mention was made of such.

Rogie was taken to the county jail late Saturday, where he will remain until the grand jury meets. His bail was set at $100 but he was unable to furnish it.

His wife made the complaint against him and called the police department. Rogie was released, but she is afraid of her life.

Ski Runners Try Out New Contrivance at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Between 500 and 600 ski enthusiasts took advantage of the Virginia ski club's invitation to test the new slide at Mitchell park Sunday. While the hill is in fairly good condition, there is still a lack of sufficient snow to set any new marks but this will be overcome before Feb. 14. Several riders, both professional and amateur, gave exhibitions yesterday, but while there were some good jumps, there was nothing of a sensational nature. Axel Hendrickson gave two exhibitions of his somersault on skis. Entries have already been received from some of the clubs in the association for the national meet here.

SUPERIOR'S QUINT PROVES TOO STRONG

Y. M. E. A. Five Defeats Two Harbors in Smashing Game.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a very interesting basketball game the local city team was defeated for the first time this season by the Y. M. E. A. team of Superior, Saturday evening by the score of 62 to 18. The visitors played the best team that has ever been in the city. Their play was wonderful and their shooting was wonderful. The local team could not refrain from giving them an occasional hard shot, but they were all clean players and this with the fact the local team were greatly out-weighted and had less experience, made defeat less annoying to the local fans.

Underhill for the visitors was the star, and although he held one of the guard positions he secured five field baskets and appeared to be everywhere at once, and always was in the right place.

Woodward and Freeman performed best for the locals although they were greatly handicapped by the weight and experience of the men who played against them.

The scores were made as follows: Y. M. E. A., 6 field baskets; 2 free throws; 5 foul throws; 18 points. Two Harbors—Kerzan, 3 field baskets; Freeman, 3 field baskets; Woodward, 2 field baskets and 4 foul throws.

The teams lined up as follows: Y. M. E. A.—Kerzan, Erickson, Kerman, Freeman, Underhill, Johnson, Peterson, Haller, Underhill. Referee—Conliff.

After its steady advance of last week, a reaction appeared in the wheat market today and the advance was lost during the first three hours' trading.

Decrease of $37,000 in the week shown in the American visible supply was a sustaining influence, as was the continuance of light receipts at all primary points.

World's shipments were lighter than expected, being 12,192,000 bu. against 14,624,000 bu. in the preceding week.

There was nothing new in the Argentine situation beyond that wheat shipments were advised to be light and that the weather is favorable there for the corn harvest.

Eastern inquiry on this market today was reported quiet, but some foreign business was advised in durum for milling purposes.

May wheat opened unchanged at 53 1/2c and July 54 1/2c. The market was quiet and steady up to the close at 53 1/2c and 54 1/2c.

Flaxseed opened at 11 1/2c and closed at 11 1/2c. The market was quiet and steady up to the close at 11 1/2c.

Cash Sales Monday. No. 1 northern wheat, 2 cars, 53 1/2c. No. 2 northern wheat, 1 car, 53 1/2c.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Steel Rises on Favorable Forecasts of Its Quarterly Report.

Prices Run Off Sharply at End Under Profit-Taking.

New York, Jan. 26.—The advance in stocks was resumed today, after a slight reaction in the early trading.

The strong showing of a few stocks, together with the inability of professional traders to force down the market, caused the rise to continue.

The market easily saluted the morning's advance, although during the morning the average remained below the highest of last week.

There was a slight downward drift at the opening today. Heavy profit-taking sales were resumed but losses were limited to small fractions.

The market closed easy, buoyancy of steel, which extended the gain to 2 points, intimidated the shorts still further.

Western Federation Lawyers Urge Quashing of Indictments.

If Overruled, They Will Ask for Change of Venue.

Moyer Is Expected to Plead at Houghton Next Week.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arguments on a motion to quash the conspiracy indictments against Charles H. Moyer, president, and more than thirty other officials and members of the Western Federation of Miners, will be heard late today by Judge O'Brien of the Houghton county circuit court.

Should the motion be overruled, attorneys for the labor leaders expect to make application for a change of venue in all of the more important cases.

Attorneys for the Federation also expect to renew their demands for a copy of the testimony given to the grand jury. Such a demand was refused yesterday.

President Moyer and Charles Tanner, auditor of the Federation, are expected to appear in court this week to answer the charges in the indictments. Two strikers were given jail sentences yesterday for carrying concealed weapons.

Women Plead Guilty.
Eleven women relatives of strikers appeared as defendants in strike cases and pleaded guilty. Three had been convicted on a charge of using indecent language. Three were charged with intimidation.

Mike Knez, a striker, was arrested under an indictment for perjury. The offense is alleged to have been committed at the trial of John Hollock, a deputy sheriff, at which time he repudiated a confession he is said to have given to Prosecutor Lucas.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED BY OKLAHOMA MOB

Citizens Take Salesman's Slayer From Jail at Purcell.

Minneapolis, Okla., Jan. 27.—Benjamin Dickerson, a negro charged with the murder of W. A. Chaffin, a traveling salesman, at Oklahoma City Sunday night, was removed from the Purcell jail early today by a mob, taken to Noble, nine miles north of Purcell, and hanged. The body was then riddled with bullets.

The lynchers rode in automobiles. Members of the mob are said to have come from Oklahoma City. Chaffin, the salesman, killed, was first robbed and then shot. Fifty men rode into Purcell in automobiles early today and half the men scattered about town to prevent interference. The other half went to the jail. No other citizens were within call, and O. W. Morgan, the jailer, made no resistance. The mob worked so quickly that none of the residents of Purcell save the jailer knew of the lynching until it was over.

Said to Have Confessed.
Dickerson is said to have confessed to having slain Chaffin before the mob hanged him. The body, full of bullets, was left hanging to a tree on the highway near Noble.

Dickerson was arrested in Oklahoma City yesterday morning, and hurried out of the city to avoid trouble. He had Chaffin's automobile in his possession when arrested. He told the officers that the coat and pin had been given him.

ICE MEN JOIN FIGHT AGAINST NEW RATES

Commerce Commission Is Seeking to Condense Testimony.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Specific objections of ice dealers to the granting of a general 5 per cent freight rate advance to the railroads in Eastern classification territory were laid before the interstate commerce commission today when shippers' hearings on the application of the transportation companies were resumed. Witnesses were ready to testify as to the proportion of the increase which would fall upon the trade if the suspended tariff were to become effective.

Although several hundred protests against the advanced rates have been filed with the commission by shippers, the mass of testimony may be reduced somewhat by the system governing the hearings. In some cases a single witness will present the protest of an entire industry.

ANGLICAN BISHOPS IN HERESY CASE

BISHOP PEEL OF MOMBASA. BISHOP WESTON OF ZANZIBAR The Accuser.

London, Jan. 27.—The Church of England is much stirred up over charges made by the Bishop of Zanzibar against the bishops of Mombasa and Uganda. The bishops of Mombasa and Uganda were in attendance at a meeting of all the Christian sects at Kikuyu in British Africa, where he recent growth of Mohammedanism was under discussion. During this meeting it was agreed to work together. A union service was held in the Scottish Presbyterian church and Anglicans, Presbyterians, Baptists and Congregationalists attended it.

The bishop of Zanzibar objected to the admission of representatives of other creeds to the English service, and especially to the communion. His formal charge is that the other two bishops were guilty of heresy in their teaching of the meaning and value of episcopacy. He has asked that the matter of the Kikuyu conference be heard and judged in the provincial court before the Metropolitan.

Many high authorities in the Church of England have been interviewed on the controversy, and the bishop of Oxford has expressed the opinion that the cohesion of the Church of England was never so seriously threatened as now. The controversy may spread to America, it is claimed.

Bishop Willis of Uganda, one of those charged with heresy, by the Bishop of Zanzibar was born in 1872, son of Sir William Willis. He is a Cambridge man. He went to Africa many years ago as a missionary, and has been bishop of Uganda since 1912.

Bishop Peel of Mombasa was born in India, a son of Capt. Peel. He went to India as acting principal of a college there, and after performing religious duties in that country was made bishop of Mombasa in Africa in 1899.

YOUTH TELLS ABOUT CRIMES

Admits Sixteen Bomb Outrages, Two Murders, Arson and Burglary.

Alfred Lehman Recounts Startling Story in New York Court.

New York, Jan. 27.—Alfred Lehman, an undersized youth scarcely out of his teens, sat in the witness chair today, and confessed to having taken part in sixteen bomb outrages, revealed knowledge of eight, cleared up the mystery of two murders and furnished information concerning a number of lesser crimes, including arson and burglary.

Lehman was called as a witness in the trial of Angelo Sylvester, accused of one of the bomb outrages. Lehman told the court of the burning of two Brooklyn houses for the insurance, and of many other lesser crimes. He said the bomb outrages usually brought the men doing the work $50.

One robbery, in which a Chinese was murdered, he said netted him $2; while the two men with him, who, he said, killed the Chinese, got the same amount.

Lehman said he had personally planted sixteen or eighteen bombs, causing much damage.

YALE FACULTY TOO

College Paper Demands Higher Scholarship Requirements.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 27.—A strong plea for higher scholarship requirements in college is made by the Yale Daily News, a student publication, today. It advocates the prompt expulsion from college of every student who has failed in his studies. The News declares:

"In the treatment of the deficient, Yale shows too much mercy. The passing mark is within the reach of every body not publicly confined. It is ridiculously low. Yet, for not achieving it, either through indifference or superhuman dullness, nobody is ever expelled. The drugs merely gravitate. The expulsion of the dregs might have a beneficial effect on those hearing that level."

CANAL ZONE ORDER SIGNED

President Designates Goethals to Be First Civil Governor.

New Government Will Be Installed There on April 1.

Washington, Jan. 27.—President Wilson today signed an executive order putting into operation on April 1 a permanent government for the Panama canal zone, and naming Col. George W. Goethals as the first civil governor.

Secretary Garrison made the announcement as he carried away the executive orders from the White House. He said Col. Goethals had not been officially informed, but that he would be as soon as his name was sent to the senate, probably some time today.

Mr. Garrison said the cabinet meeting was devoted largely to a discussion of the Panama canal government. He added that the question of tolls had not been discussed, and that the executive order merely made provision for the collection of such tolls as were provided by law.

The permanent government of the zone, headed by a civil governor, eliminates the commission which is now in charge. Members of the commission are to be retained, however, until the opening of the canal, as a committee in charge of the arrangements for the celebration incident to the opening, though without any administrative functions.

"GO BETWEEN"
ON THE STAND

New York Political Graft Inquiry Is Taken Up Again.

Sulzer to Talk at John Doe Hearing—Whitman Seeks Power.

New York, Jan. 27.—The special grand jury that is investigating alleged political graft resumed its hearings today. James C. Shaw, said to have been a go-between in money transactions, was the principal witness called.

With the aid of other witnesses, District Attorney Charles S. Whitman, it was said, hoped to refresh Shaw's memory on various points, among others the name of the man to whom he acknowledged giving a package containing $1,250 in bills. This money, Shaw admitted, was given to him by James G. Corcoran, a Pittsburgh contractor.

Quizzed Shaw Again.
Mr. Whitman today endeavored again to obtain from Shaw a statement that the $1,250 was given to James E. Gaffney as a political contribution from Patterson & Co., successful bidders in 1909 for an $85,000 aqueduct contract awarded by the board of water supply of New York city.

Another witness called was Charles N. Chadwick, commissioner of the board of water supply. Chadwick was a member of the board when the Patterson contract was awarded in 1909.

The John Doe investigation into state highway department affairs will be resumed tomorrow with William Sulzer, former governor, again a witness.

More Power for Whitman.
The movement in Albany to give District Attorney Whitman state wide powers to hunt for grafters is interesting Mr. Whitman. The first steps to that end were taken in the assembly last night when a resolution was introduced that Mr. Whitman or one of his associates be made counsel to any committee appointed by the assembly to investigate the state highway department. In that case Mr. Whitman will acquire powers equal to those of a special deputy attorney general, and will be thoroughly equipped to indict and prosecute grafting officials all over the state, as was former Governor Hughes in the insurance investigation.

KAISER KEEPS HIS BIRTHDAY

All Classes of His Subjects Join in the Celebration.

Berlin, Jan. 27.—Emperor William celebrated his fifty-fifth birthday today, hale and vigorous in body and mind and able still, as was shown by his recent wood-clopping exploits, to undertake the physical work of a man in the prime of life. All classes of his subjects joined in observing the day, celebrations being held by university and technical school students, the academies of arts and sciences, army and navy officers, civic organizations, municipalities and veteran associations throughout the empire.

The day in Berlin was ushered in at 7 a. m. with the traditional sounding of a chorus from the lantern of the castle, to the sound of the national anthem, the "Deutschland, Deutschland über alles," and the "grand reveille" of the imperial bands which marched from the castle to the Brandenburg gate, the whole length of the crowded Unter den Linden, came next.

Believes the Present Law Violates Treaty With England.

May Lift Embargo on Sending of Arms to Mexico.

Washington, Jan. 27.—That President Wilson is opposed to the exemption of American coastwise ships from Panama canal tolls was flatly asserted at the capitol today by those who know what took place at the conference last night between the president and senate foreign relations committee.

Senators who talked with the president said today that Mr. Wilson fully explained his position on the tolls question; that his views incline toward the contentions of Great Britain, and that he will make public his attitude in the near future. Several in view of the president's positive attitude he had not urged some action at the extra session of congress.

Thinks Treaty Violated.
What the president may recommend was not disclosed in today's reports of the White House conference, but one way would be to repeal the exemption provision of the act. Another would be the passage of the Adamson resolution to suspend for two years the exemption clause, and the president's positive attitude could be self-sustaining without tolls from American ships.

It was said today that the president was not opposed to toll exemption as such, but that he was strong-

Mine Workers' Convention Indorses Direct Legislation.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 27.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will arrive in Indianapolis Thursday morning and speak before the convention of United Mine Workers of America, according to announcement made by President John P. White today.

Mr. Gompers will explain the action of the executive council of the federation in connection with charges made in the convention yesterday by Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, that if the copper strike in Michigan is lost it will be due entirely to the inactivity of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. Mr. Gompers was asked, by vote of the convention, to appear before the miners.

President Moyer said he expected to remain here and hear Gompers' explanation.

Upheld Poggiani Action.
The convention upheld the action of the international executive board in its ruling in the Joseph Poggiani case. The international executive board permitted Poggiani, business manager of the Mine Workers' Journal, to remain in office after he had admitted that he signed two transfer cards illegally. Faternal Insurance Orders Requested to Purge Their Membership Rolls.

That fraternal organizations in Duluth are singularly free from fraudulent insurance policies is the opinion of lodge officials here. A letter forwarded to all fraternal orders of the state by Insurance Commissioner J. A. D. Proulx of St. Paul to investigate and purge their rolls, has been cancelled in many cases, and fraudulent policies cancelled.

The Modern Samaritans, which order had its origin in Duluth and has its headquarters here, has made a thorough investigation of its books with the result that forty names were recently dropped from the rolls. None of these, however, were from Duluth. "Most fraternal orders have been on their guard against 'fake' policies for some time," said Attorney A. E.

SHOWDOWN IS WANTED

West Duluth Club Asks City to Begin Proceedings Against Railroad.

Would Settle the Question of the Subway at Smithville Crossing.

The West Duluth Commercial club yesterday afternoon submitted a communication to the city council asking that the municipality institute mandamus proceedings against the Northern Pacific railroad to secure the construction of a subway under its tracks at Smithville.

Last fall the council passed a resolution directing the railroad company to build a viaduct over the right of way at that point before May 1.

Thus far the railroad has made no move looking towards the construction of the viaduct. At the time the proposition was discussed by the council, the club was of the opinion that the railroad at the expiration of the time limit the city will start suit against the railroad to cause the company to foot the bill.

The issue is a live one and the authorities recognize the necessity of securing an extension of the railroad line to the steel plant suburbs. They feel that a grade crossing at the dangerous Smithville crossing would be too hazardous and that either a viaduct or a subway should be built. The commissioners hope that some arrangement may be made whereby the work will not be entirely out of legal proceedings are settled. If this can be done the viaduct will be constructed this summer.

The communication of the West Duluth club was referred to Mayor Prince.

Will Accept Two-Thirds. The resolution of Finance Commissioner Voss directing the city treasurer to accept two-thirds of the assessments levied to pay for the paving of East Fourth street between Fourth and Twenty-third avenues and between Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth streets was accepted.

By this means the finance commissioner explains that the interests of the property owners will not be jeopardized because of their belief that the street car company should pay for the paving between its tracks. To save them the expense of taking an appeal in that ground the city treasurer directs the city attorney to start suit against the street car company to collect from the company its share of the paving cost.

Commissioner Voss said at the meeting yesterday that the statement of the New Tribune that the city had received a transfer of the street car company shall pay for the paving between its tracks is only a minor consideration, is incorrect. He said that many persons had informed him that the only reason they contemplated appealing was because of that issue alone. When he last heard from him he was living with Dominick Carlelino on Fifty-seventh avenue west, who wrote.

SAY LESSELYOUNG WORKED SWINDLE

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 27.—Simon P. Lesselyoung was brought here from Red Lake Falls where he was arrested by Postal Inspector R. M. Hugal of this city and arraigned before United States Commissioner Whaley and held in $2,000 bonds on the charge of using the mails to defraud.

It is alleged that operating under the name of the Farmers General Service company of Minneapolis Lesselyoung obtained the notes of farmers in Minnesota and North and South Dakota, to the amount of more than $125,000, without giving value received. He secured a long list of farmers around Genoa, Louisville, Red Lake Falls. It is alleged that he induced one farmer to ship his oats to him in Minneapolis and the farmer received 7 cents above market price. Another farmer was induced to ship his wheat to him in Minneapolis and the farmer received 28 cents a bushel, and with these two bright and shining illustrations of saving money for the farmers, the notes for $100 to $150 each came rolling in.

ROUGH SCALY-LIKE BREAKING OUT

On Face and Hands. Kept in Misery. Itched So Couldn't Sleep. Almost Wild. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Entirely Well.

R. F. D. No. 2, Box 50, Highbee, Mo.—

"Last winter I had a breaking out on my face and hands. It was rough, scaly-like and very red and just kept me in misery. My grandmother said it was tetter. My face and hands were just like they were chapped at first and they itched and I couldn't sleep at night. When I would put my hands in soap-suds or any kind of water it would almost make me wild they would burn and itch so badly. I found an advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in a magazine and I sent for a sample and bought some more. I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I would use them every night before going to bed and before breakfast. I used them for three months and I was entirely well." (Signed) Miss Telle Dennis, June 26, 1913.

Are your little ones suffering from itching, burning, eczema, or other torturing, disgusting skin troubles? Are you, yourself, worn out with long, sleepless nights and ceaseless anxiety in caring for them? Then you should know that a warm bath with Cuticura Soap and a gentle application of Cuticura Ointment will in most cases bring immediate relief, the little sufferers will sleep, tired, fretted mothers will rest and peace will fall on distracted households. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

EP Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

FORGER SENTENCED TO COUNTRY LIFE.

San Jose, Cal., Jan. 27.—Frank E. Murray, convicted forger, was sentenced by Superior Judge William Beasley to serve two years as a hermit in the mountains forty miles from here.

Because Murray is 58 years old, the judge was not inclined to give each a jail sentence. A deputy sheriff took the prisoner to the mountains. One of the conditions of the sentence is that Murray may accept employment, but he must not visit a city or town in two years. The court will keep in touch with him during that time.

SHARP UPTURN IN IRON ORE

Duluth Man in East Says That Great Optimism Prevails There.

Gets Big Contracts for Cuyuna Output—Mining Operators Active.

A sharp improvement has come about in the iron ore situation since the beginning of the year, and prices for the season are likely to be set next month as statements made in a communication received today from W. H. Locker, who is at present in New York.

Mr. Locker avers that the markets are gradually stiffening up, with blast furnace men and operators entertaining more optimistic views regarding the general trade outlook. The local men, also, advises that during his two weeks' trip in the East he has succeeded in contracting for a large proportion of the 1914 season outputs of the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs and the Cuyuna-Duluth iron companies. Eastern manufacturers, he finds, are evincing great interest in the Cuyuna range, and the larger independent interests are showing readiness to consider propositions looking to the taking over of promising mining locations on it.

Miners Becoming More Active. As a result of the improved outlook in the trade during the last ten days, increased activity is said to be evident in prospecting and drilling operations on the new range. A large number of drills are being continued at work during the winter months, and further gratifying results are reported to have been obtained.

The Cuyuna-Sultana company is advised to be in ore in its fourth hole on the Campbell forty, adjoining the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine. The company has also located ore at eighty feet in drilling on its property in section 16, 46-28.

The shaft at the Cuyuna-Duluth iron company's mine is now down 310 feet and a station is being cut at 280 feet. The new lens discovered to the east of the ore shown by drilling, is averred to be holding out well and to afford promise of a large tonnage from the Cuyuna mining and stockpiling simultaneously, and is employing a force of sixty men.

Cuyuna-Mille Lacs Mine. Officials of the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs iron company are counting upon running the stockpile at the mine up to 50,000 tons by the spring. Work is proceeding at four points on the main level and three sub-levels. Values in manganese ore are reported to be fully maintained.

At the Duluth-Bainard mine, the shaft is now down eighty feet, with its sinking progressing favorably. It will be sunk down to 150 feet when a drift will be run into the ore body about seventy-five feet distant. It is expected that the shipping stage will be reached early next June.

The Iron Mountain company will make a trial shipment of two cars of ore to a smelter at Philadelphia during the present week. Should the metallic content of the ore run as high as expected, it is thought that the company will be experienced in making a satisfactory contract at once for the ore's output for the coming season. Two offers of contracts are advised to have been already received. The company expects to be in position to make ore shipments early next summer. The building of the new boiler house at the mine will probably be started by Feb. 15 and as soon as it is ready the two new 150-horsepower boilers and other equipment now on order will be shipped out.

WILL PUT LID ON NATIONAL CAPITAL

House Passes Senate Bill to Curb Red Lights.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The Kenyon so-called red light bill, already passed by the senate and proposing to eliminate the segregated district in the capital by injunction, was passed by the house without amendment or opposition.

You may not do away with concubines and libertines," declared Representative Prouty of Iowa, in urging the bill, "but you can prevent vice from being a part of the life of a city. We hope to do away with the vice which is a part of the life of both men and women."

The bill, which is a memorial to the use of any property in the District of Columbia for immoral purposes may be enjoined, and would assess a tax on the owners of the buildings and make other provisions.

"There is nothing that has done so much to corrupt America," said Mr. Prouty during the debate, "as the winking at the law affecting these things. Every commission that has examined into the subject in every important city says this winking at the law lies at the very foundation of all or nearly all of the graft schemes that have been carried on by the police force to get money. Mann and others joined in favor of the bill, which now goes to the president for his signature."

VAN VLIET FOOLED BY HIS APPENDIX

Not Removed in $1,800 Operation, But It's Out Now.

New York, Jan. 27.—Clinton Van Vliet, president of the Goodyear Rubber Goods company, who underwent four years ago, suddenly became very ill the other day and the family physician, Dr. Charles B. Story on Bay-side, was summoned by the Van Vliet home in Douglaston, L. I. Dr. Story made an examination and announced that the trouble was appendicitis. He said that it would be necessary to remove the appendix.

Mr. Van Vliet could scarcely believe his ears when he heard Dr. Story that he had been without an appendix for four years. The operation was performed by the Van Vliet New York surgeons, and there certainly could be no doubt about the removal of the appendix.

Who had really happened four years before was that Mr. Van Vliet had been operated upon for an appendicular abscess, which had to be drained, but the operating surgeons at that time did not consider wise the removal of the appendix itself. In be introduced in congress shortly. Gen. Wood has just returned from Washington, where the bill was put into effect. He himself, according to information from Washington, took part in its preparation.

The long standing dispute between the war department and the militia men concerning the provisions of this bill has apparently been settled amicably and there is every reason to believe that the bill will become a law.

In regard to the Federal inspection of the militia companies during the months of March, April and May, Gen. Wood said that it was essential for regiment commanders to get their headquarters organizations in shape. This is the weak link in the Minnesota National Guard, he said.

IF YOU ARE A DRINKING MAN

You had better stop at once or you'll lose your job. Every line of business is closing its doors to "drinking" men. It may be your turn next. By the aid of ORRINE thousands of men have been restored to lives of sobriety and industry.

We are so sure that ORRINE will benefit you that we say to you that if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from its use, your money will be refunded.

When you stop "drinking" think of the money you'll save; besides, sober men are worth more to their employers and get higher wages.

RATHER HASTY ACTION ON THE WATER RATES.

The hearing on the schedule of new water rates proposed by Commissioner Merritt yesterday afternoon disclosed, it will be admitted, an abundance of good intentions on the part of the water and light department.

We should feel a great deal more comfortable about this very important matter—especially since the commission by a vote of three to two confirmed the new rates—if the justification of the changes had been more convincing than it was.

On the surface, and so far as mere superficial observation goes, what has happened is this:

The department found that the average cost of water service is, say, eight cents per hundred cubic feet, and that while the ordinary consumer is paying seventeen and a half cents, a few large consumers are paying from two and a half cents up. Believing, from this showing, that these large consumers were getting water at less than cost, and therefore at a loss to the city, the department proposed—and the commission confirmed—an increase of the minimum to eight cents and a reduction of the maximum to fifteen cents.

But in reality, the facts are very different, and it is to be feared that something very different has happened. The problem divides itself into five issues, on each of which a question of policy is involved:

First—Should the city reduce its maximum rate from seventeen and a half cents to fifteen cents? The answer to this is entirely a matter of business policy. Commissioner Merritt is strongly of the belief that the city is in a position to make this reduction. But with the city three million four hundred thousand dollars in debt for its plants, with practically no sinking fund in sight to retire this indebtedness, and with interest charges the largest item in the cost of service, the policy is very dubious, to say the least.

Moreover, the city must soon replace the single large main that brings water from Lakewood to the city.

Everybody, of course, wants water rates to be cheaper as quickly as possible. The surest way to do that, permanently, is through reducing the enormous bonded debt and, thereby, the interest charges that now constitute half the cost of water.

Second—Should the minimum charge for water be increased from two and a half cents to eight cents? Here again the issue is simply one of business policy. The view that the large consumers are getting water at less than cost, and therefore at the expense of smaller users, is manifestly superficial.

Consumers of water must be divided into two classes: First, those who MUST use city water because it is their only source of supply; second, those who will use city water for business and industrial purposes if it is cheap enough to make it possible, but who otherwise will take care of their needs in some other way. The primary function of the water department is to take care of the first class, and in order to do that it is necessary to have a plant so large that it can take care of the other class without any additional expense except that of pumping, which is about a cent per hundred cubic feet.

Obviously, whatever revenue the city gets out of this additional business, providing it is higher than the only item of cost that can properly be charged against it, is so much gain. It is so much to add to the sinking fund for the retirement of the large bonded debt.

Obviously, too, when the rates for this additional service are raised to a point where they compel such patrons to cease using city water and to provide for their needs in some other manner, the loss of revenue thus brought about must fall on those consumers who have no such alternative, but must continue to use city water.

The issue here is whether the increase in the minimum from two and a half to eight cents is such as to compel these large users to cease patronizing the city. The weight of the argument, it seems to The Herald, clearly indicates that that will be the effect of the increase. And if it has that effect, it seems equally clear that a necessary result is a loss to the plant of net revenues which ordinary consumers must make up.

Third—Should the rate for "leaks and bleeders"—where water is permitted to run to prevent pipes from freezing—be raised from two cents to eight cents? This is a small item, but it falls heaviest on the poorest classes, those who live in frail homes poorly protected against cold—the very class, constituting a third of the consumers—which will benefit not at all from the small reduction in ordinary rates because its consumption is less than the minimum of fifty cents per month.

Fourth—Should the rate for water used for sprinkling lawns be increased from five cents to six? The answer to this is that in all probability an increase of twenty per cent in the cost of lawn-sprinkling will induce many to let their lawns go brown and sere, the increase is not justified. Moreover, in a large measure, the revenue from this source is on a plane with the revenue from large consumers who can use city water or leave it alone—whatever comes in, since it increases no overhead charge whatever, and only affects the pumping cost of one cent per hundred cubic feet, is so much to the good.

Fifth—Should a service charge of a dollar an inch be made for sprinkler systems and standpipes? It seems so clear that this is against public policy that it is hard to see how anybody could favor it.

Director Frank A. Brewer of the school board showed, for instance, that this charge will cost the taxpayers about six to eight times as much as the saving in insurance rates gained by putting stand-pipes in the school buildings.

The city meets the cost of fire protection by paying the water department each year fifty dollars for each hydrant. Some property-owners voluntarily—by compulsion in the case of stand-pipes—increase this fire protection by using sprinkler systems and stand-pipes at their own expense. And, after they have done this, the city proposes to penalize them by its service charge!

What this means can be realized by a comparison. Across the street from each other are two industries of similar character and equal size. Between them runs a water main, near both is a hydrant. One equips its plant with a sprinkler system. The other doesn't. A fire breaks out in the plant that has the sprinkler system, and in seven cases out of ten the sprinklers automatically put it out. The fire department needs make no run, and wear and tear on the apparatus, the horses and the pavers are saved. The hydrant need not be turned on, and no water is wasted.

But when a fire breaks out in the unequipped plant, the fire department is called out and put at work, the hydrant is turned on and water is wasted, and the city put to expense that is avoided in the plant equipped with sprinkler system and stand-pipes.

Yet it is the equipped plant, which saves the city money, not the unequipped plant, which costs it money, that is to pay.

However, it is done, by a vote of three to two, Mayor Prince and Commissioner Voss voting—sensibly, we think—in the negative.

We shall hope that practice justifies these changes better than theory seems to us to justify them. It will be rather disastrous if it doesn't; though of course the city can change back any time it finds mischief in the effects of the new rates; though probably it can't get back the large consumers whom it forces to adopt other means of meeting their needs.

It should be remembered, too, that Commissioner Merritt, who is directly responsible for the changes, has given the matter such thorough study as his limited time in charge will permit, and that beyond doubt he is thoroughly convinced that the changes ought to be made. Otherwise, of course, he would not insist upon them.

We shall hope for the best, for the water department is of vital concern to everybody, and it is of the utmost importance that it should be on a sound financial basis, and that it should yield the widest possible benefits to the widest possible circle of people.

Now comes Senator Works with a plan to "relieve the congressmen of the burden of distributing patronage." Oh you burden!

A HINT TO INCOME TAX PAYERS.

The New York Sun points out an apparent fact which those subject to the income tax would do well to heed. This is that unless by Thursday they have filed a proper claim, they will not receive the benefits of the exemption of three thousand dollars if single and four thousand dollars if married.

Presumably, as the Sun says, "most persons subject to the tax are proceeding on the assumption that their duty to themselves will be performed when they file, by March 1, the tax return called for on form No. 1,040 devised by the treasury department." Because it believes this assumption to be an error, possibly a costly one, the Sun calls attention to this language in Paragraph E of Section 2 of the income tax law:

In all cases where the income tax of a person is withheld and deducted and paid or to be paid at the source . . . such person shall not receive the benefit of the deduction and exemption allowed in Paragraph C of this section except by an application for refund of the tax unless he shall, not less than thirty days prior to the day on which the return of his income is due, file with the person who is required to withhold and pay tax for him a signed notice in writing claiming the benefit of such exemption and thereupon no tax shall be withheld upon the amount of such exemption.

The "deduction and exemption" referred to in Paragraph C is solely the deduction of three thousand dollars for an individual and four thousand dollars for a married person living with his wife—or, for 1913, the five-thousand dollar, $2,500 for an individual and $3,333.33 for a married person.

The period referred to in the section quoted above ends Thursday, and if the authorities feel obliged to comply with the law as it stands, those who fail to file claims for exemption by that day will be compelled to pay the tax on their full incomes, or go through the troublesome and perhaps expensive operation of prosecuting claims for refunds.

The point seems highly technical, but the law is clear; and those whose incomes for the last ten months of 1913 were $2,500 if they are single and $3,333.33 if they are married will be wise if they file their claim for exemption at the sources of these incomes on or before Thursday.

Leslie Shaw says the impeachment of Lorimer was "the crime of the century." The general impression was that the impeachment was merely the result of the crime.

ANOTHER DULUTH VICTORY FOR THE NORTHWEST.

The interstate commerce commission has issued an order requiring the lake-lines to accept and carry butter, eggs and dressed poultry.

This widens greatly the market of the producers of the Northwest. It opens to them the cheap transportation facilities of the great water highway, where in the past they have been compelled to use the dearer rail highways.

It is another of the big victories for fair play and unhampered development that stand to the credit of the Duluth Commercial club and its traffic commission. This no less because the issue was decided in another case, and though the Duluth case was brought in the name of a local firm, it helps Duluth. It helps the whole Northwest.

Once more, in fighting its own battles, Duluth has fought and won the battle of the producers of the Northwest.

Somebody has discovered that Mme. Tenebris, the French long distance prophetic, predicted some things for 1913 that never occurred. It would be more to the point to tell which of her predictions for 1914 are a little off.

AS FOR COMPARISONS.

The Minneapolis Tribune, after commenting somewhat patronizingly upon The Herald's campaign for retrenchment in state expenditures, which it allows to be all right and needed—though Eberhart, it says, said it first—criticizes our comparison between the finances of Minnesota and Kentucky because Kentucky is a "stagnant" state and Minnesota is progressive.

Modesty forbids our discussing the question whether Eberhart or The Herald "said it first," and that makes little difference and is of small importance anyway.

And it may be granted that the comparison between Kentucky and Minnesota, if it were taken alone, is not quite fair. But why did the Tribune pick out the comparison with Kentucky for comment, when The Herald has compared Minnesota's finances with half a dozen states where there is criticism of state taxes? Why after singling out this particular instance for comment, and failing utterly to observe The Herald's comparisons with other states as progressive as Minnesota, should the Tribune say that "The Herald should be more happy in its comparisons?"

Minnesota is progressive, though it could be and will be more so. It is actually progressive, and then, too, it has been "progressive" after a fashion that has multiplied expenses alarmingly without proportionate returns.

If the Minneapolis Tribune—which has become so confirmed in the habit of apologizing for Eberhart that it strikes back when no blow is aimed at him—dislikes the comparison with Kentucky, and insists on overlooking the others that have been given by The Herald, here are some more:

In Michigan the state tax rate has increased eleven per cent from 1910 to 1914. In Minnesota the increase is EIGHTY-SIX PER CENT.

While the state tax rate in Minnesota has increased eighty-six per cent in four years, the state tax rate in

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The manager of the hotel in Washington where Vice President Marshall lives conceived the idea of having a room all fitted up with antique styles of furniture and draperies. He had a furniture dealer search about for all the most old-fashioned things to be found, and the result was a room thoroughly antique, unmarred by a single modern note.

One day the manager proudly exhibited the room to Marshall.

"Where did you get all this stuff?" asked Marshall.

"From Moses," answered the hotel man. Mr. Moses being the proprietor of a big furniture store.

"Now, suppose they give you got it from Noah," promptly remarked Marshall.

"No," insisted the hotel man, who is an Englishman. "I got it all from Moses."

When Senator John W. Kern was a bright and promising young lawyer out at Kokomo, Ind., he represented a case in which the whole controversy hinged on the identity and ownership of a certain calf.

The chief witness on the side against Kern was a noted expert. He contended that the calf belonged to his friend, Mr. Jones. When Kern examined him the conversation ran something like this:

"How do you know this was Mr. Jones' calf?"

"Well, I had seen it around his place so much that I jes' nat'ly got acquainted with it. I seen it there with the cow—its maw—and I noticed it p'ctyly because it had funny marks on it. When you see a calf ev'ry day you simply become familiar with it."

"What kind of a looking calf was it?"

"It was a red calf, sah, with white ears and a white nose."

"You're sure it had white ears and a white nose?"

"Yes, sah, that's what attracted my notice, sah, them white ears and white nose."

"And it belonged to Mr. Jones?"

"Yes, sah."

"And he had no other calf?"

"No, sah, jes' the one with the white ears and nose."

"Now, suppose that all the testimony here should show that the calf to this case was a white calf with red ears and a red nose. What would you say about that?"

"Well, sah, I reckon I'd say it belonged to Mistah Jones."

William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, had a great deal of commercial instinct as a small boy. He was always devising schemes by which he could gather to himself something negotiable. One of his early enterprises, when he was about ten years old, was a soda fountain. But the business did not net a profit. In fact, the books showed a loss right from the start.

One of the factors contributing to the failure of the business was the fact that they drank up more than five times as much soda as they sold.

McAdoo next tried selling newspapers and that was more profitable. But he yearned for even greater rewards and tried to hit upon a good side-line to sell to his subscribers. He had heard that some of the enterprising men were selling calendars and cards bearing verses of greeting. This he thought might be worth trying. He had no calendars, but he got his father to write him out some verses to have printed on neat little cards.

He did it, and the cards were very popular. He said more mean things about Lincoln than he had ever been brought together in verse or prose. Such stuff was popular in the South at that time.

Just a few days ago one of the buyers of the verses sent in a copy to the secretary of the treasury and twitted him about them. For here is the joke of it: McAdoo, now that he is grown, is a double of Abraham Lincoln. Give McAdoo a set of whiskers and photograph him and the picture would do for Lincoln. McAdoo might almost as well have sold mean verses about himself.

In front of a photographic establishment here in Washington is a large panel containing pictures of nearly all the members of the house of representatives. All are plain head and shoulder portraits with the exception of that of young Mr. A. W. Lafferty of Oregon. Lafferty appears in the midst of the collection with a silk hat, coat and cane. He is looking smart and jaunty. This one gets the impression that he is the proprietor of the rest of the aggregation. One day a stranger paused in front of the pictures for some moments and inquired:

"Is it a minstrel troupe?"

William Jennings Bryan has a peculiar way of gaining his rest when tired and travel sore. He will go to a hotel room, take off his coat and vest and lie down flat on the floor. The bed is there, all nicely made up, you understand, and looking soft and comfortable. But Mr. Bryan stretches out on his back on the floor. He doesn't sleep on the floor all night, of course, but he says that in moments of extreme fatigue there is nothing more soothing or restful than a nice hard floor.

The Postoffice Censorship

Chicago Evening Post: If Postmaster Burleson can spare a few minutes from the parcel post a little investigation into the censorship proclivities of his department and some of its subordinates would be grateful to a liberty-loving public.

In the last year there have been several instances of arbitrary interference on the part of the postoffice authorities with art and letters. Such instances are becoming too frequent, and manifest a nearly the existence of a reactionary spirit somewhere in the department that would impose its own narrow standards of morality upon the public conscience. The power employed by the postoffice authorities is being abused, and unless it is curbed Postmaster Burleson may find himself the center of a storm zone.

The attempt of the postmaster at New York to close the mails to a current magazine because it contained a beautiful reproduction of a work of art that offended his personal sense of propriety was an absurd example of official grandiosity. Washington saved the situation by overruling this vulgar censor. But Washington was test case in the case of the censored work for the International. Not only did the censor refuse to print on the magazine the reason for its defacement. This last exercise of authority is surely indefensible and intolerable.

Working Out a Political Grudge

The State Press on John Lind's Diamals.

To Satisfy a Grudge.

Detroit Herald: Governor Eberhart has appointed John Lind as a member of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota. He gives as a high public reason for this action the statement that John Lind intends to devote himself to diplomacy, that he will not return to the practice of his profession in his home city, and that he was anxious to be relieved of his duties as regent. This excuse is not only so lying and flimsy that the first application of truth shatters it, but it is also hypocritical.

It is interesting to note that Lind's resignation was received on the 20th, about a week after his removal from the board.

John Lind was not imposed from the board of regents because he had become detached from the state service and declined further to serve. He was deposed to satisfy a selfish political grudge.

Peanut Politics.

Albert Lee Standard: If Governor Eberhart had appreciated the value of Mr. Lind's membership in the board of regents, he would have been a quite lengthened absence, and if he had not seemingly harbored a political grudge against Mr. Lind, he would have declined to accept the resignation and reflecting the overwhelming sentiment of the people, would have insisted that Mr. Lind remain upon the board.

Instead Governor Eberhart grasps the excuse and opportunity to appoint a political favorite, a pseudo Democrat and reactionary who had long craved and sought the position, to administer the great concerns of the university in place of a man selected by Governor Johnson, of the eminent ability, national reputation and devoted services to the state and the institution such as John Lind.

Such an example of peanut politics has never before been known in the annals of the state.

Let the Punishment Fit the Crime.

Sandstone Courier: Governor Eberhart did not make many friends by dropping John Lind from the board of university regents for personal spite. To even up the score Mr. Lind ought to be entirely removed from the board, and with the badly split Republican ranks he would be assured of landing the job.

Darling Foolhardy!

Roseau Times: Governor Eberhart's appointment of George H. Partridge to the board of university regents aroused a storm of criticism and unfavorable comment not because Mr. Partridge is not worthy and capable, but because his appointment removes ex-Governor John Lind from the board of regents. Do we always think of the railroad conductor as more than a machine for taking tickets? Do we not often treat our fellow creatures like masks on flat cards without substance and personality? I have been striving for years to overcome in myself and in my medical fellows the professional habit of treating a person as a "case" or a walking disease. But the habit of impersonality persists like original sin, in myriad forms and unexpected ways. In law courts we treat a human being as a "prisoner at the bar" as the "plaintiff," or "defendant," to the exclusion of the fact that he is as real and sensitive as ourselves.

Farmers, Old and Young.

Henderson, Ky., Gleaner: The Corn Clearing boys are raising 100 bushels of the acre, but the old farmers feel that this is all wrong, as their grandfathers didn't do such things.

The Passing of Carl Browne

San Francisco Bulletin: Quiet old Carl Browne, apostle of the "octoplane" causes, is through with this terrestrial pilgrimage, which, for him, was like the long march of a Cossack's army. He will lead no more "armies" in the battle against poverty, make no more street-corner speeches, publish no more editorials on the "Lafayette Knight" and he will never fly the "octoplane" which was to have completed man's winning of the air, and the world is the poorer for his passing.

What Does Adolph Care for That?

Falmouth Sentinel: The refusal of Governor Eberhart to tender John Lind a reappointment on the board of regents of the state university will prove a costly blunder for that institution. It had no assets to spare and its chief officer has lost.

"HANDS OFF, HARVEY!"

To the Editor of The Herald:

I see by the Saturday News Tribune that City Attorney Clapp has assumed to issue a pronouncement on the tango and other modern so-called "social dances."

This man Clapp makes my blood boil when he attempts an excursion of this kind into regions of which he knows absolutely nothing—or less than nothing.

I am willing to concede that he is a competent attorney and counselor and perhaps a politician, but as a dance expert I take this occasion to denounce him.

Why, this man was born and partly raised in the rural village of Pine City on the banks of a river called the Snake.

The 24-figure quadrille was what those villagers were brought up on, with the heel-and-toe polka barred by the county commissioners on account of its immoral tendencies.

Under these conditions of birth and environment, how can he have gained that riper experience and outlook which should be the heritage of one who assumes to say whether my pastimes and those of my fellow beings are indecent or not.

The scheme to meet and fight it out on the order of battle Sir Walter Scott tells us about in "The Fair Maid of Perth." They were to battle till one side was exterminated; if the survivor or survivors were Jayhawkers then Kansas was to be a free state; if the Border Ruffians prevailed, Kansas was to be slave. And he was in earnest about it, too. Tradition hath it that Jim Lane was equaled in those days as a fervid, fiery, magnetic orator on the stump.

Pomeroy was Tarzuffe turned politician. They called him "old Subsidy Pom" because he was eternally after an appropriation. He was a Massachusetts Yankee and got much of his ideas from the Yankees. He was a mighty man to attend Sunday school and prayer meeting, and yet a painful episode in his career, that caused him to resign, was his discovery that he was somewhat laden with human frailty, like Fielding's "Tom Jones." He was elected in 1872, though he paid $6,000 for a vote that would have saved him. Exposure was had, and John Jayne, a lawyer, got the seat and held it eight years.

The Hon. Joseph L. Bristow rates himself a reformer. But he insists that he owes paramount allegiance to a party that got the country into the mess that all reformers are trying to get it out of. He regards Penrose and Cannon, Gallinger and Lodge, Foraker and the other standpaters as everything that is vile in politics, and yet he would act with them rather than Theodore Roosevelt and Victor Murdock.

Mr. Bristow is a tariff reformer—so he says—but he thinks it impossible to be a part of the Democratic party to even talk about tariff reform. He is a prototypical politician, a man of the people, and Penrose is that he talks reform and votes standpat, whereas Penrose's votes do not baffle Penrose's words. Mr. Bristow made a violent speech against the currency bill. He had the bad manners to challenge the vote of Senator Owen because that gentleman owns stock in a national bank. But when you come to analyze it you find that Owen was condemned by Wall Street, notably John D. Rockefeller's big bank, the biggest on our hemisphere, while Bristow's conduct was precisely what Wall Street would have been glad to see.

Now, nobody believes that Bristow was paid by Wall Street and said he would support the bill, but could Wall Street have marshaled a bunch of 'em of the Bristow ilk numerous enough to defeat the bill, Wall Street would have been willing to pay a big price for 'em.

Bristow got to be a senator because Kansas was too loyal to be a Democrat and too honest to be a standpatter. He beat Jerry Simpson's old antagonist, Chester L. Long, who was of the Old Guard of Kansas Republicanism, and who in the two branches of congress—for he was repeatedly a member of the house—was in the front rank of the elite of the Mark Hanna, Collier, hand-in-glove, with those leaders whose chief was Aldrich and whose dogma was Aldrichism.

But a time came when Kansas revolted against the standpatters and Kansas gave Long's seat to Bristow. Why? That is what we want to know. Bristow said that Long would not have cast? He voted for the Payne-Aldrich tariff. So would have Long. He beat Jerry Simpson's old antagonist, Chester L. Long, who was of the Old Guard of Kansas Republicanism, and who in the two branches of congress—for he was repeatedly a member of the house—was in the front rank of the elite of the Mark Hanna, Collier, hand-in-glove, with those leaders whose chief was Aldrich and whose dogma was Aldrichism.

Nobody can tell much about Kansas. As I now recollect it, "Subsidy Pom" and John James Ingalls were the only senators from that state who were favored by re-election. And some years ago Kansas chose a senator in congress and a full term. Kansas was not a legal voter of that state, I mean Mr. Harris, a Democrat, who had been a Confederate soldier, the state constitution having a clause disfranchising Confederates.

In 1858 Horace Greely insisted that the then infant Republican party take Abraham Lincoln off the track and join in returning Sumner to the senate from Illinois because Douglas and the Buchanan administration were then at bitter feud. There was some good policy in the suggestion when we reflect that nobody at that time knew what a giant Lincoln was.

And if I had my way I would run no Democrat against Bristow, but would endorse Victor Murdock. Send that red-headed rooster to the senate and he will do a heap to force the Republican party to stay in the grave yard where the people sent it in 1912. When I contrast what Bristow says with what Bristow does, I am reminded of a rather profane and altogether ungrammatical exclamation of Andy Johnson. One morning when Franklin Pierce was president, Johnson came out of the White House in a towering rage and meeting a friend delivered himself of this: "There's too damned many great men in this country that ain't fit for nothing!"

GOVERNMENT ARMOR PLANT RECOMMENDED

Admiral Strauss Says It Would Save $124 Per Ton.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Construction of a government armor plant, a step advocated by Secretary Daniels as the only means of getting real competition on contracts for battleship armor plate, was recommended to the house committee on navy affairs by Rear Admiral Strauss, chief of ordnance. Admiral Strauss estimated the cost of the heavier grades of armor at a government plant at $276 a ton, as compared with more than $400 a ton under the present private concern contracts with the government. He said a need to produce 20,000 tons of armor a year would cost the government $11,000,000; one of 10,000 tons

The Doctor's Helps

By DONALD McCASKEY, M. D.
Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

THIS MAN WANTS HELP FOR MORPHINE HABIT

A Western man writes: "My case is that of using morphine over a period of twenty years. I have reduced the quantity used to about one-fourth the original, which was eight grains, and I do not get the support I need. I have spells of being terribly weak from my heart action and my kidneys and liver are bad. I am always constipated. What method would you suggest to aid in overcoming the habit? Would it help to add strychnine to a solution of morphine? I have anemias and poor blood, and am now taking morphine, three grains; water, two ounces, and one ounce of compound syrup of hypophosphites. Would it do any good to add hemoglobins for the blood or any nerve tonic? Won't you please answer at once? I have waited for months for your suggestions, but have not yet seen any bearing on my case."

My office mail has been steadily growing with inquiries and the newspaper space is limited. You must wait your turn. To put you on your feet by mail is utterly impossible. No method which I could suggest would work out to your satisfaction at the long range between us. Morphine ill health is different from just ordinary disorders.

If I could have you under personal observation in the Lancaster general hospital, an institution that I know from top to bottom, likewise every nurse and official, I would be glad to get your system back to where it feels the support you now crave. But by mail it is out of the question.

I'm sorry, but this is the truth. You might as well write and thus save yourself a lot of future disappointment from false hopes about mail treatment.

FOR TROUBLE IN HER SIDE AND HIP.

An Ohio lady writes, stating she has been suffering with sciatic rheumatism for two years.

"Would you please tell me the cause? It is worse in my side and hip. I am also constipated unless I take a pill. The doctor says my lungs have been affected, but not bad. Will you please tell me what to do, and do you know of a good climate where I will be safe? The doctor thinks a change would be good for me, but he does not seem to know what to do for my side and hip, although he says it is my run-down condition and will come all right. I am 40 years old, very nervous, and have not been around for three years."

Study very closely the principles of treatment laid down in the former Doctor's Helps articles on "TREATMENT WILL DEPEND UPON YOUR URINE CONDITION" and in the article "FOR EXHAUSTED NERVOUSNESS AND INDIGESTION." While you may not suffer from any indigestion, so that you are annoyed with unpleasant symptoms, yet your letter indicates that a good deal of the food you are eating is being improperly assimilated and is accumulating in your system, and hence you are complaining of it. Get your system cleaned out once a week with five grains of calomel followed four hours afterward by two ounces of castor oil, say every Saturday morning.

If there is nothing organic causing your annoying ailments you will soon be afforded a very gratifying relief.

Secretary Daniels is expected to outline the administration's naval policies to the committee on navy affairs.

Ask Dewey to Talk.

Admiral George Dewey, as the head of the general board of the navy, has been invited by the committee to give his views on the naval program proposed by the administration.

The general board recommends the construction of four battle ships, sixteen destroyers and eight torpedo boats, a much more extensive program than that recommended by Secretary Daniels.

Admiral Dewey has been indisposed for some time, and if he is unable to appear before the committee, the general board, probably will represent the body.

WHEN IS AN INDIAN ONLY PART INDIAN?

Minnesota Case Is Taken Before the Supreme Court.

Washington, Jan. 27.—How much white blood it takes to convert a full-blood Indian into a mixed blood is to be decided by the supreme court.

Solicitor General Davis has asked the court, because of the large amount of land ownership turning upon the answer, to consider the question at an early date.

The question has arisen specifically in the case of the Chippewa Indians of White Earth reservation in Minnesota, where, under the law, "mixed bloods" are permitted to sell their allotted lands at once.

The question is whether a "mixed blood" is one who has one-fourth Indian blood, or one who has a larger amount of Indian blood, and the government, seeking to set aside sales by Indians with one-fourth Indian blood.

BACKACHE A WARNING YOU SHOULD HEED

It Is One of the First Signs of Kidney Troubles, If Neglected, Serious Diseases Follow.

No one can be well and healthy unless the kidneys work properly and the blood is pure. When they do not, the body is clogged up and inactive, nature has a way of warning you.

Backache is one of the first symptoms. You may also be troubled with disagreeable, annoying bladder disorders; have attacks of lumbago or rheumatism; become nervous, tired, and feel all worn-out; puffy swellings show under the eyes or in the feet and ankles; and many other symptoms are noticed. If they are neglected, dropsy, diabetes, or Bright's disease, which so often prove fatal, may result.

It is not only dangerous, but needless for you to suffer and endure the tortures of these troubles, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely ends all such misery.

There is no more effective remedy known for the prompt cure of all such troubles than this new, scientific preparation, because it removes the cause. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the clogged up pores; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and waste matter that lodge in the joints and muscles and cause those terrible rheumatic pains, and makes the kidneys healthy and active again.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It is not a drug, but it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can secure an original package of Croxone at retail cost from any first-class drug store. All drug stores are authorized to personally return the purchase price of Croxone should fail in a single case. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache, relieve rheumatic pains, or overcome urinary disorders.

THREE KILLED BY UTAH AVALANCHE.

Storeis, Utah, Jan. 27.—An avalanche, sweeping down the mountain side here yesterday, instantly snuffed out three lives and seriously injured three others. Four houses were ground to splinters. Every tree in the path of the icy mass was snapped off at the roots.

The bodies of Mrs. Anna Packovich and two Greek miners were recovered shortly after they met their deaths. All had been trapped in their houses, where they were crushed almost beyond recognition.

An hour after the slide came W. T. Storey, who said yesterday that his real name is Chas. P. Storey, is held in jail here for the Chicago police, charged with embezzling from a restaurant concern in Chicago. It is said the act was committed two years ago. P. Storey was arrested on a charge of having advertised jobs in Canada, collected deposits from applicants, and then gave nothing in return.

Our process of selecting the grain, blending the best oats from different parts of the country, steam-cooking to dextrinize the starch, sterilizing the finished product—these are some of the things which make H-O such a delicious, satisfying breakfast food.

The whole family is benefited by eating H-O, the one oatmeal that is different; and where it differs—it is better.

No other oatmeal, or rolled oats, has the flavor—the nourishment—or the value, per package. Don't expect it, don't look for it. Eat H-O. It will prove itself.

What is Woman's Beauty but Health

And the Basis of Her Health and Vigor Lies in the Careful Regulation of the Bowels.

If woman's beauty depended upon cosmetics, every woman would be a picture of loveliness. But beauty lies deeper than that. It lies in health. In the majority of cases the basis of health, and the cause of sickness, can be traced to the action of the bowels. The headaches, the lassitude, the sallow skin and the listless eyes are usually due to constipation. So many things that women do habitually conduce to this trouble. They do not eat carefully, they eat indigestible foods because the foods are served daintily and they do not exercise enough. But whatever the particular cause may be, it is important that the condition should be corrected.

An ideal remedy for women, and one especially suited to their delicate requirements, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of women endorse highly. Among them Mrs. C. S. Vance, of 511 S. Bay St., New Castle, Pa. At times she had spells of indigestion so severe that she thought she would die. She was unable to eat, her stomach and bowels, and she attributes her excellent health today to this remedy.

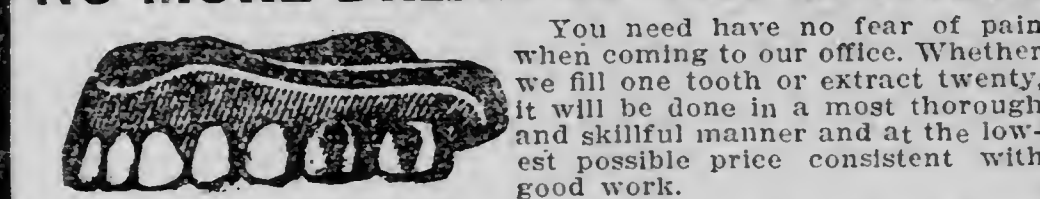

All the family can use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, for it softens the bowels of children and children. It is also admirably suited to the requirements of elderly people, in fact, to all who by reason of age or infirmity cannot stand harsh salts, cathartics, pills or purgatives. These should always be avoided, for at best their effect is only for that day, while a genuine remedy like Syrup Pepsin acts mildly but permanently. It can be conveniently obtained at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. You will find it gentle in action, pleasant in taste, and free from grating, and its tonic properties have a distinct value to women. It is the most widely used laxative-remedy in America today, and thousands of families are now never without it. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. E. Caldwell, 419 West Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 2½ pints of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful in a family where there is much cold, whooping cough, bronchitis, asthma and whooping cough.

The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in gualacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy has often been imitated, though never successfully. It is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CORNER HAS BEEN TURNED

Financiers Look Forward to Steady Improvement in Business Conditions.

In the opinion of business men and financiers of national reputations, there is no longer any belief that the corner has been turned in the trade situations. One important factor in the more active trade movement, is the easier money situation. This is reflected in a decrease in the domestic centers, in the East as well as in the West, are flush with money, leading to an inclination on the part of the financial institutions to increase their line of credit to the banks.

The money that had been hoarded as a result of the Balkan war, is coming out of hiding and going back into general commercial channels. This is reflected in a decrease in the Bank of England rate last week and recent reductions in rates at Paris and Berlin. Attention is being drawn to the fact that everywhere sentiment is growing stronger, and that is considered to be the greatest stimulus that business can have.

Touching upon the stock market and trade outlook, J. F. A. Clark, a prominent New York broker, said in a recent interview in the Wall Street Journal: "We are going into a period of active business, regardless of the voice of the pessimist. We have waited more than a generation for a change in our currency laws. We now have a law that will assist every legitimate business enterprise in this country, and give the farmer the ability to till his land, instead of only a part of it, as in years past, both the business man and the farmer knowing that they will not be forced to pay loans at a time when they need their credit extended. Under these conditions how can we feel that the rise represents only a squeeze of the shorts or a bubble that is too large? The entire business of this country is now on a new basis, and for that reason the present is the very much higher. Naturally, we do expect slight reaction, but now and on any stock this market should be bought."

No Hairy Growths After This Treatment (Beauty Notes)
After much experimenting it has been found that delatone is as effective for removing hairy growths as it is for removing freckles. The argument in favor of the new method is that it is inexpensive, painless and takes little time. Here is the treatment: With powdered delatone and water mix cream and apply to the hairy places. Rub off and with it comes every trace of hair. The skin should then be washed to remove the remaining delatone.

WILL PASS ON CITY PLANS

Wisconsin Professor Will Revise All Specifications for Street Work.

Is Also Scheduled to Give Two Free Lectures
in Duluth.

All the plans and specifications of the works division will be passed upon by Prof. L. S. Smith, director of the highway division of the University of Wisconsin.

Prof. Smith was recommended for this consultation work by Dr. B. M. Rastall, the efficiency expert who recently completed a survey of the city administration.

Prof. Smith is recognized as one of the most capable men in the country. For some weeks past City Engineer John Wilson has been engaged in revising the specifications for all kinds of special improvements, including all classes of paving, sidewalk construction and sewers. They will now be examined by Prof. Smith. It is expected that the specifications of Duluth for these classes of work will compare favorably with any in the United States.

Prof. Smith is expected to reach the city tomorrow or Thursday morning. At the request of Commissioner Murchison, Prof. Smith has agreed to give two lectures while in the city.

Thursday night Prof. Smith will give an illustrated lecture on the selection, construction and maintenance of roads and pavements.

Friday night he will give an illustrated lecture before the West Duluth Commercial club on city planning and housing.

These lectures are absolutely free of charge and Commissioner Murchison is hopeful that large audiences on both nights.

"GRAFT BOOK"

Sensational Testimony Is Expected In Unlawful Retainer Suit.

Some sensational testimony may develop in the unlawful retainer suit begun in municipal court yesterday by Mary L. Flobie, former prominent member of the underworld known as Madam Gain, against Daniel Rordan, lessee of the Elgin hotel, which is owned by the Alameda Real Estate company, of which Madam Gain is the head.

It is expected that Rordan will make sensational charges against Madam Gain, and that he will refer to some of the statements which he is believed to have made regarding the "graft book" last week. Rordan is of the belief that Madam Gain has brought this lawsuit to the city to oust him from the building, out of spite.

Just what testimony Rordan gave, he refuses to disclose at this time but will tell the court when he comes to trial. James A. Hanks, attorney for Rordan, also refused to divulge any of the defendant's story, except to say that it will be sensational.

According to the complaint in the unlawful retainer suit brought before Judge Winton yesterday by Mary L. Hanson, attorneys for Madam Gain, the plaintiff claims that Rordan failed to pay of the $210 rent on the hotel for the month of December and that he has paid $5 on the rent for January. He still owes $20 on the December rent.

In his answer filed by Mr. Hanks, Rordan denies the charge and claims that he does not owe the woman anything.

GETS FREE MEALS ON UNCLE SAM

Youth Works Ruse on Army Recruiting Officer in Duluth.

Declaring that he was of age and that he wanted to join the army, Francis R. Call, 15 years old, managed to obtain several meals and some clothing free of charge from the local army recruiting office.

Yesterday afternoon the officers in charge went to Call and told him that he would soon be ordered East and that he should begin to prepare for his departure. It was then that they learned the boy did not call to join the army at all. They had him arrested.

They brought to police headquarters following his arrest. Call told the police that he was only 15 years old and that he had attempted the ruse just to get some food and clothes. After the latter were taken away from him, he was allowed to leave, on his promise to behave in the future.

LADIES and gentlemen, kindly step this way. Next on the program we have the games between the Duluth Curling club hockey team and the team of the Canadian Soo. The first of the strength and weakness of the team of the Soo, let us state that it was defeated in one game from the Duluth team, and won one game from the local seven, the count at the present time standing even.

There being much desire upon the part of the members of the Duluth hockey team to travel out of the last place in the race for Northwestern hockey honors, those who follow with interest all details pertaining to the sport, may rest assured that both of the games will be generously sprinkled over with paprika and the tabasco sauce of lively interest.

Hockey is one grand sport. Who said it wasn't? No one. Go on. In Duluth we are endeavoring to put the game up to a high level of interest. There is reason to believe that the local team will improve with the progress of the season. Some of the sport we have had in this town is to be witnessed at these games, so therefore, we hail with acclaim the approaching ice tango with the boys from the Soo.

We Say Thanks.
To J. H. R. Care of the Minneapolis Journal, Minneapolis, Minn. Thanks awfully.

Speaking of Hockey.
SPEAKING further along the ferocious subject of hockey, one is impelled to utterance along the line of clean play.

In the game of Saturday evening the spectators were treated to an exhibition particularly free from some of the objectionable features of some of the former contests. From the lavish praise that has been bestowed upon our players following the final game with the Duluth team, it seems to be the opinion that the clean style of play is what is desired by those who pay to see the games.

In all fairness it is not right to attach too much blame to any individual player upon the local seven or upon any particular player.

There have been times that the members of the Duluth team got it and it pained them away from the home roof tree. Upon these strenuous occasions, so we have been variously informed, the officials paid little attention to the complaints of the Duluth players, and the said players journeyed along the rough path as best they could.

Therefore and thereby it is perhaps not wholly unreasonable that at times there should come a feverish desire to go thout and do likewise.

This is merely a supposition upon our part, having tangled in the game sport called football upon numerous occasions and felt the classic heel of some artistic opponent upon the back of the neck.

Hockey is a dear sport, one far removed down the lane of strenuousness from the calm dells of ping pong and croquet, that other classic sport.

All of us cannot be satisfied, can we, Bill?

The Little Wonder.
THE other evening at Kansas City, Fred Bismark Beell calmly threw twice to the mat Ivan Manutoff, the largest wrestler of the present day.

Ivan weighed in the immediate vicinity of 140 pounds more than the little Wisconsiner. Butch, however, the mere matter of weight seemed not to make the least difference to Freddy, one of the most wonderful little men who ever stepped on the mat.

Never in the history of the wrestling game was there so peculiar a contest. Manutoff agreed to give Beell ten dollars for every minute he remained upon the mat; 10 and sweetly and pertubly he held. Fred swayed the large cheese twice to the padded floor.

The Other Parallel.
WE know of no parallel to the performance of Beell, which is faintly reminiscent of David and Goliath or Jack and the Giant.

When Joe Wolcott was the welter-weight champion of the world, he was to the fighting world what Beell has been to the wrestling world down through the past ten years or more.

Peeping through one of the old record books one can glean the information that Wolcott stood but an inch and a half over five feet. It is said that Tom Sharkey refused to fight the boy who weighed around the 145-pound mark. But that is one of those innumerable other stories.

Fred Russell was one of the sort of pre-historic white hopes. He was started before his time; in the present age he would have attracted immediate attention as one of the great white hopes of his day.

Russell stood six inches over six feet. He was around the two hundred and fifty mark. Wolcott offered to fight the giant, and the people laughed, as people do when they don't think.

If memory isn't playing hockey, the contest was fought at old Tattersalls, Chicago.

Wolcott was obliged to leap into the air to strike the large and open countenance of his adversary. Joe brought down the giant with his wonderful fighting ability, just as humble and meek little Freddy Beell conquered the huge Russian who came from faraway Moscow with the hope of getting on the canvas with Goch.

Wasn't it Bob Fitzsimmons who said, "The larger they are the harder they fall?"

Chicago Grand Jury Still Probing Alleged Bribery of U. S. Officials.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Grand jury investigation was continued yesterday into the rumors that attaches of the United States department had benefited by the disappearance of Jack Johnson, negro prize fighter, who fled to Paris after being convicted of violating the Mann act.

A search, it was stated, was being made for "Sol" Lewinsohn, a former professional bondman and private banker. Lewinsohn left here after being summoned into the state courts in connection with a questionable bond transaction. An investigation of his whereabouts was being made.

Neil Williams, for several years employed by Lewinsohn as a chauffeur, was before the grand jury for several days. He is a former agent for the department of justice, who brought Johnson back from France when Johnson first attempted to flee also testified. David Lewinsohn, brother of the missing bondman, and H. A. Ross, weighmaster of the board of trade, testified.

Myers told of his arrest of Johnson at Jackson, Mich., at the time of the pugilist's first attempted flight to Canada. He also told of a telephone conversation with Charles F. Dewdney, agent of the department of justice, as to whether Johnson should be taken to go to jail, or to his home under guard. He said Dewdney asked to talk to Johnson. Following this conversation, Dewdney, he said, instructed him to take the fighter to jail.

When Johnson was arraigned before Federal Judge Carpenter, a few hours later, Dewdney was represented for arresting Johnson, Myers said, and the judge was allowed to go free on the bond on which he was previously at liberty.

KOLEHMAINEN AND KIVAT—SUSPENDED.
New York, Jan. 27.—Hannes Kolehmainen and Axel Kivat, members of the Irish-American Athletic club, were last night suspended from membership in the amateur athletic union.

The suspension resulted from a fight between the two runners on Saturday night in which the runners ran a dead heat.

MINNEAPOLITANS RESIST TEMPTATION.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 27.—Four members of the Minneapolis American association club yesterday signed 1914 contracts and delivered them to President Cantillon. They are:

Otto Clymer, outfielder; James Williams, second baseman; David Altizer, shortstop; and Wade Killifer, outfielder.

It was also announced that Catcher Wilber Smith and Outfielder Claude Rossman had signified their intention to sign within the next day or two.

The names of the three players who signed yesterday, Clymer, Williams and Altizer, have been mentioned frequently within the past two weeks in connection with the Federal. Clymer was wanted by the Pittsburgh Federals, Altizer by Chicago and Williams by Kansas City, according to information given out at various times by the players.

SEVEN LEGISLATORS EX-PRIZE FIGHTERS.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 27.—The Massachusetts legislature includes seven former professional boxers, some of whom admitted they had made money in the ring. It was brought out during the session on bills proposing regulations for boxing exhibitions.

Representative Lewis Sullivan, after describing his own ring experiences, declared that boxing produced the best type of citizenship. Asked whether boxing ceased to be boxing and became fighting, he said, "when you take the gloves off."

Representative John P. Sheehan said he had won three boxing championships. To demonstrate to the committee what his idea of boxing is, he volunteered to put on the gloves with some of his colleagues, who had had ring experience, but his offer was declined.

With the Duluth Curling club hockey team occupying the last place in the American Association of Amateur hockey teams, fans may rest assured that the contest between the Duluth team and the Canadian Soo, which is scheduled for Thursday and Friday evenings of the present week will be one of the fastest contests that has been seen here during the present season.

Duluth wants to get out of the hole. Joe Linder believes that his team is in the best shape of the present season right now. The boys will win. The fans hope so.

SHOT FIRED AT HOLTER

Secretary Meyer of St. Paul Ski Club Makes Sarcastic Remarks.

The St. Paul Ski club has thrown down the gauntlet to Aksel Holter, secretary of the National Ski association.

The secretary of the St. Paul club declares that Aksel Holter is endeavoring to get Duluth back into the national association by fair means or foul, and run the national association as his more or less nickle fancy may dictate.

Truth to tell there is some curiosity around these parts as to whether Holter is the man who is dictating the policy of the national ski direct.

Here is what the St. Paul Pioneer Press hands Mr. Holter:

"The stern ukase of the National Ski association secretary that the St. Paul club is ineligible to membership in the National association does not bother the local jumpers who as a matter of fact, consider the edict as a big joke and refuse to take it seriously."

"St. Paul is a member of the International Amateur Ski association, a healthy organization, which is growing steadily in number and power. The organization has tournaments scheduled for Duluth, Feb. 2; St. Paul, Feb. 15, and Menominee, Feb. 22."

"H. Meyer, secretary of the International Ski association answers Aksel Holter's charges in the following communication:

"The attack made by Secretary Aksel Holter of the National Ski association upon the St. Paul club and the International Ski association came as a distinct surprise to us, however, so much on account of the animosity expressed as because of the unexpected courage shown by Mr. Holter in thus coming out in the open."

"The reason why the national body club withdrew from the association has been common knowledge and has been correctly and clearly set forth in the Pioneer Press."

Local Club a Veteran One.
"For years the St. Paul club has been fighting hard for clean sport. For years it has been recommending that the only means by which this could be attained, that skiing be put solidly upon an amateur basis."

For just as many years Mr. Holter has assured us of his undying friendliness for the amateur cause, and as regularly and promptly as these assurances were made they were broken. It finally became clear to us that no reforms could be effected within the National association as long as the present secretary held the reins, and the St. Paul club finally decided to withdraw, as also did the Duluth Ski club for substantially the same reasons."

Holter Playing Both Ends.
"Mr. Holter has been attempting to fight with both the amateur and professional factions in the ski sport,

WOULD MEET SUTER AND MILLER IN SAME RING

Waino Ketonen, Conqueror of Chris Jordan and Challenger of Yokel, Offers to Wrestle Two Men in Same Ring and Same Evening.

Yesterday afternoon Waino Ketonen deposited $500 in a local bank that he can defeat Walter Miller and Otto Suter in the same ring and on the same evening.

The money will be wagered evenly against the money of the two wrestlers.

Ketonen is the wrestler who defeated Chris Jordan in two straight falls at Salt Lake City on Dec. 1. The first fall was secured in 1 hour and 22 minutes and the second and deciding fall in exactly 6 minutes.

For three months Ketonen has been at Salt Lake City, endeavoring to get a match with Mike Yokel. The world's champion told Ketonen to go and beat Jordan, the wrestler it required something over three hours for Yokel to defeat. Waino secured two falls on the Cleveland Greek in less time than it took Yokel to get the first fall on the really wonderful little man from Ohio. But as yet there has been no contest in sight for Ketonen.

To Meet Joe Carr.
The conqueror of Chris Jordan has little hope of getting Walter Miller into a contest. During the past month Miller has wrestled Eugene Tremblay, a lightweight, three times. All of the matches have resulted in victories for Miller. But when Walter can get such easy picking it is but natural that he will steer clear of the wrestling shoes as represented in the person of Ketonen.

For nine months I have tried every possible way to get Miller on the mat," said Ketonen yesterday. "I will make terms of the match to suit Miller. I will make it winner take all or will split the purse to suit him. I have wrestled with him and I could get to meet me and am open to meet any man in the world at 168."

Ketonen is matched with Joe Carr and will allow the Minneapolis wrestler to weigh in at 155 pounds at 8 o'clock, though Ketonen weighs but 154. By the terms of the contest it will go to two falls if the men are required to wrestle all night.

Great Singers Must be "Tobacco Wise"

Tuxedo is the Tobacco Chosen by Opera Stars

MEN who depend upon their voices come to know tobacco as the ordinary smoker never knows it. A sensitive throat or mouth feels the slightest sting, bite or scorch of tobacco.

Tuxedo is the one tobacco which singers, actors, public speakers—all men who guard their throats zealously—can smoke with pleasure and safety.

Tuxedo tobacco cannot sting, bite or irritate the delicate membranes of the mouth or throat.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette
Tuxedo tobacco has made thousands of men converts to the pipe, because it has made pipe-smoking possible for them. Under the famous "Tuxedo Process" the mild, tender leaves of the highest grade Burley tobacco are so skillfully treated that Tuxedo burns slowly and affords a cool, mild, thoroughly enjoyable pipe smoke.

Leading men in all walks of life—well-known doctors, lawyers, ministers, lecturers, etc.—smoke Tuxedo and testify to its soothing influence on the throat.

The "Get-Together" Place

Want ads are the Aladdin's Lamp of reality. By using them you meet the person you want to meet and get the thing you want to get.

For example: You want to buy a cow—you fancy a medium size cow of the brand called Jersey. None of your friends who have cows for sale seems to have just this sort.

Without the want ads you might have a hard time finding that particular cow. But with the help of these little ads it's a simple matter. You read them and if you don't find what you want—then you put in an ad of your own, telling just what you want. Perhaps the man with the cow lives away out in Clouet or in Aitkin or Two Harbors. Anyway, no matter where he lives, he reads your ad and calls you up—you "get together" and you get the cow.

This is how it works, no matter what you want—a house, a farm, a job or an automobile, your ad in the want columns of The Herald puts you in touch with the man you want to meet and you "get together."

Truly this is the "get together" place of the Northwest.

GOVERNOR'S AID WAS SOUGHT TO BOLSTER ATTACK ON POLICE

Efforts By News-Tribune to Get Extraordinary Grand Jury.

State Asked to Step in Even Before Local Jury Reported.

Attorney General Has No Power in Blanket Prosecutions.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to information secured today by a local newspaper, and published here this evening, pressure has been brought to bear upon Governor Eberhart by representatives of the Duluth News-Tribune to induce the governor to take a hand in the newspaper's attack on the police force of Duluth, and order an extraordinary grand jury called to investigate the charges made against the Duluth police, the prosecution to be conducted by the attorney general of the state, thus taking it out of the hands of the local authorities.

Both Governor Eberhart and Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith are quoted as having advised today when interviewed, that they had been approached last week by John W. Nagle, managing editor of the Duluth News-Tribune, and urged to take a hand in the investigation of the charges which are now being made by a grand jury in the district court of St. Louis county, and which have not yet been reported on by that body.

The governor is reported to have admitted that Mr. Nagle was very urgent in his demands, even insisting that the attorney general should be ordered to take a hand in the investigation of the charges which are now being made by a grand jury in the district court of St. Louis county, and which have not yet been reported on by that body.

SENT FROM SUPERIOR TO FIND WORK

Mayor Says 200 Idle Men Have Been Dumped on Duluth.

Serious Problem Is Partly Solved By Lumber Company's Offer.

All Able Bodied Men Given Work in the Woods.

Probably 200 men of Duluth's army of unemployed have been dumped on this city by Superior in the last few days, according to Mayor W. I. Pritch.

Mr. Hicks has interviewed many of these men personally, said Mayor Pritch this morning. "He has gone along Michigan street and other centers where idle men have been congregating. A surprisingly large number of them have told him that they were sent over here from Superior. Most of them claimed that they were told to come over here because they would find plenty of employment or would be well taken care of."

Mayor Pritch had long conferences yesterday with Manager Hicks and Commissioner Murchison, head of the works division. The report of Mr. Hicks that the city has an unusually large number of men who are out of work and without funds satisfied the mayor that the city should be prepared to meet the situation.

CALENDAR CLEARED OF MAYBRAY CASES

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Jan. 28.—The last step of the prosecution of the members of the notorious Maybray "swindle syndicate," whose operations in Council Bluffs and elsewhere a few years ago cost its victims a million dollars, was taken in the United States court here today when Judge Smith McPherson ordered all the remaining cases stricken from the docket.

Of the eighty-four persons against whom indictments were returned in the case, fifty-four were convicted and sentenced, four discharged, four became state witnesses, seven died before being brought to trial, the identity of six was not fully established, and in one case the jury disagreed.

Of the remaining eight who were not tried, one was never located and the evidence against the others was not considered conclusive, partly because of the death or removal of witnesses.

SHELBY M. CULLOM.

DEATH ENDS HALF CENTURY OF UNBROKEN PUBLIC WORK

Former Senator Cullom Dies at Home in Washington.

Last Words Are Wish to Have Seen Lincoln Memorial.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Former Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois died here today after an illness of more than a week, during which he hovered between life and death. His last words were a wish that he had lived to see the completion of the National memorial to Abraham Lincoln, who was his personal friend.

Since his retirement from the senate last March, Mr. Cullom had been resident commissioner of the commission created by congress to build the $2,000,000 Lincoln memorial.

A little more than a week ago he was taken with grip. His advance age put his recovery beyond hope, but his wonderful vitality postponed the end from one sinking spell to another. He was 86 years old.

The former senator's last hours were divided between spells of unconsciousness and short intervals in which he recognized those at his bedside.

Funeral arrangements had not been made today, but he probably will be buried in Illinois.

Lower Project Would Raise the Level of Lake Superior.

Large Part of Park Point Would Be Submerged.

United States Engineer Collecting Information Regarding Possible Damage.

Park Point, for the first time in history, and without storms pending, faces the danger of being wiped out or at least reduced in size.

If the international joint commission having charge of all international waterways grants a request now before it, Park Point will, it is claimed, without doubt, be seriously damaged and portions of it obliterated.

The request is this: The Michigan Northern Power company has asked permission to construct in the rapids of St. Mary's river a dam so that the water now flowing uselessly down the rapids can be utilized for power purposes.

The idea is that the water could be controlled only by means of a dam and that would mean the backing up of water, affecting the whole level in Lake Superior. The request embodies the condition that the level shall be raised about one foot, but that during certain periods of the year for about five months the level may be raised to two feet higher than the usual level, and that the increased height of two feet shall be the maximum high level.

The commission has applied to Capt. E. J. Cook, United States engineer in charge of the Duluth district, for information as to what would be the result here and how people would look upon it. The captain is just now

BUSINESS MISTS ARE CLEARING AWAY

Conditions in the Northwest Are Good, Says James J. Hill.

New York, Jan. 28.—James J. Hill, who visited Wall Street yesterday for the first time in months, thinks that the outlook is bright.

The fogs and mists, if there were any, are clearing away, he believes. "While there have been no startling developments in the Northwest, conditions there are good, and fundamentals are sound. I do not expect what is generally called a boom, but I do expect for steady business. The improvement work under way is of a permanent character, and for investment, rather than speculation. Farmers are in good shape and what is most noticeable in Minnesota and the Dakotas, are changing from raising of grain to raising of livestock. This tendency is for the general betterment of the Northwest."

UNUSUAL OUTFIT GETS HIM IN CELL

Zanesville, Ohio, Jan. 28.—Harry Warner, who says his home is in Baltimore, Guernsey county, jumped off Baltimore & Ohio passenger train No. 10 this morning, wearing two overcoats and carrying a woman's handbag, in which was a man's gold watch, and was arrested. Warner is in the city prison pending an investigation. He said he had no accomplices.

POLICE FIGHT CHICAGO MOBS

I. W. W. Orators Arouse Crowds on West Side to Riots.

Shout "Remember the Haymarket" and "Lynch the Police."

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Riot calls were turned in at West Side police stations last night for help to quiet gatherings of hundreds of unemployed garment workers who were being harangued by men who said they represented the Industrial Workers of the World. Five of the leading speakers were arrested.

The open winter has thrown thousands of garment workers out of employment, and there has been much suffering reported in the West Side Ghetto districts.

The police were called when Morris Bernstein and Harry Wisniewski held the attention of 1,000 or more garment workers who had just left a meeting in Workingmen's hall. The speakers recalled the Haymarket riots, and a dozen fights were in progress when the first load of police reached the

Of the remaining eight who were not tried, one was never located and the evidence against the others was not considered conclusive, partly because of the death or removal of witnesses.

CALENDAR CLEARED OF MAYBRAY CASES

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Jan. 28.—The last step of the prosecution of the members of the notorious Maybray "swindle syndicate," whose operations in Council Bluffs and elsewhere a few years ago cost its victims a million dollars, was taken in the United States court here today when Judge Smith McPherson ordered all the remaining cases stricken from the docket.

Of the eighty-four persons against whom indictments were returned in the case, fifty-four were convicted and sentenced, four discharged, four became state witnesses, seven died before being brought to trial, the identity of six was not fully established, and in one case the jury disagreed.

Of the remaining eight who were not tried, one was never located and the evidence against the others was not considered conclusive, partly because of the death or removal of witnesses.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS WILL ELECT OWN COMMISSION

"MAYOR" JOHN DAVIS.

Students of the Duluth Industrial high school are in a fever of excitement over the school government election which will take place on Feb. 17. Already it is announced that at least six candidates will enter the "mayoralty" race, while at least twelve have so far announced their intention of becoming one of the eight commissioners.

John Davis, the present "mayor" is a candidate for re-election. He will have as one of his opponents John Nettleton, who ran against him last fall. In addition to these candidates will be Joseph McDonald, Page Cashin and Harry Randall. Another student intends entering the race later but as yet has not announced his candidacy. Among the candidates for commissioners will be a number of the girls of the four classes. Some of these are Daisy Wallace, May McKenize, Nora McAdams, Edith Works, Allan Forsberg, Russell Kilton, Robert Donald, Frank Martin, Eldon Morris, Leo Lemieux, Earl Donald, Vivian Nichols and Bessie McKinnon. It is expected that before the last day of filing at least another ten will enter the field.

The present commissioners are Page Cashin, Russell Kilton, Daisy Wallace, Isabelle Ellis, Bessie McKinnon, Marie Haney, Otto Blais and Chester Dunston. All of them will, it is said, get into the race before the final day.

Stump speeches will be held daily from now on, according to announcement made this morning. These talks are held after the school hours in the afternoon and during a short period in the early part of the forenoon. Each candidate or his or her campaign manager, is allowed ten minutes to talk. The school government has proved a success at the high school, according to S. A. Foster, principal of the building. The children are said to deport themselves in a more orderly fashion and maintain better discipline in the school. The students also take a greater interest in the school, said Mr. Foster.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

Dallas C. Wakeman is one of the hardest workers connected with the West Duluth curling club. No one disputes this and he admits it. As former secretary and one-time skip, he keeps busy during games directing play and different shots.

Mr. Wakeman is playing third this year for Walter M. Eversol. Occasionally he changes positions with his skip and then "some real" playing takes place.

Mr. Wakeman is one of the original members of the club and took an ac-live part in organizing it ten years ago. Since then he has been one of the staunchest followers of the game connected with the club.

The Brown and Zaufi, both met defeat at the hands of their opponents at the curling rink last night. Brown lost to Ellis by a score of 14 to 5 in the Union Match event, while Eversol piled up a 15 to 5 score against the Zaufi rink.

This evening Simpson will play Olson in the Esterly event. Wade will play Judson in the Hendricksen event, and Zaufi will play Mallory in the Bagley event.

LUMBER BARON HERE.

Isaac Baker Reports Business Outlook to Be Bright.

Isaac Baker of Chicago, the right hand man of Edward Hines in the gigantic lumbering operations of the millionaire magnate, is in the city today.

While the lumber business is very quiet at the present time, admitted Mr. Baker, "the outlook in all lines of business is very bright. In the various lines of commercial enterprise

Spirits for Rheumatism

The use of spirits in the treatment of rheumatism has proved an innovation among the medical profession. When mixed with certain other ingredients and taken in a certain way it is said to be an almost infallible cure for rheumatism and backache. Here is the formula: Take one ounce of spirits of turpentine, one ounce of spirits of camphor, one ounce of spirits of cedar, one ounce of spirits of cedar, one ounce of spirits of cedar. Take these two ingredients home and put them in a half-pint glass bottle. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and after each meal. If you do not get relief in a few hours from this medicine, do not be discouraged to take some patent medicine. Instead of this, insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original one ounce sealed yellow package. Filled by the Globe Pharmaceutical laboratories of Chicago. Advertisement.

there is the promise of a better feeling and a general improvement. The lumber market is not very clear now, but the future looks very bright, holding the promise of a very strong market.

OFFICE MAKES GOOD PROFIT

The annual report of Building Inspector S. M. Kelley shows that his department made a profit of $2,223.33 during 1913. The fees amounted to $5,728.75 and the expenses, including salaries, to $3,505.42.

During the year he issued 1,505 building permits, sixty-seven permits for electric signs, eighty-nine permits for electric signs, eighty-five permits for electric signs, and $49 electric meter tags.

The building inspector recommends to the city council that the city should without delay to amend the building ordinance. He declares that it was drafted eight years ago and that no changes have been made except to grant special privileges to fit individual cases. He asserts that many advances in building construction, look-alikes in both safety and convenience have been made since that time, and that they are prohibited under the present ordinance. As he expects the coming year will break all building records, he advocates necessary amendments before the active construction season opens.

Inspector Kelley says also that by centralizing the electrical, plumbing and heating inspections under the building department, efficiency will be increased and divided responsibility eliminated.

Arcaum Installation.

Tenbrook; chaplain, George H. MacFarlane; guide, Andrew Grouner; warden, W. E. Johnson; sentry, E. E. Burns; trustees, George E. Edlund, Nelson Hoople, William C. Burton.

C., Jan. 28.—Twenty-five thousand dollars, the largest verdict of its kind ever awarded in a British Columbia court, was given to Alvo van der Horst, a German count and millionaire real estate dealer in Vancouver, against two German doctors, Messrs. MADAM GAIN NOW ON TRIAL

Mary Le Flohic, alias Madam Gain, was this afternoon brought to trial a second time in district court on a charge of having been out on the case thirty days and holding the first trial ended on Nov. 21 last. The madam was indicted by the September grand jury but was not brought to trial until the November term of court. The first trial was held on the case in the case of the prosecution and B. M. Goldberg is attorney for Madam Gain. She has been at liberty since her arraignment under the indictment when she furnished bail to the amount of $2,500. The state law under which the indictment was drawn, makes the crime of keeping a house of ill fame punishable by an indeterminate sentence in the case of the first trial. The first jury is understood to have voted nine for conviction and three for acquittal on its last ballot. The first trial was held before Judge Dancer. The second will be held before Judge Cant.

TAKES ARMORY ROW TO CITY COMMISSION

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Demanding action on the part of the city of Fargo, N. D., in the case of the armory, J. M. Anderson filed a petition with the city commission this morning. Anderson is president of the Equity Co-operative exchange and is also president of the American Society of Equity for this state. He was until recently a resident of Fargo, but is now of Superior, Wis.

Anderson's request is the result of the disturbance Friday night when the Auditorium was restored to representation of the Chamber of Commerce of Minneapolis, which had rented the place for the evening program to receive a series of lectures by J. M. Anderson. The latter endeavored to hold the platform, but finally adjourned to another hall.

Anderson wants Chief Bingham investigated and removed, and asserts that the officer appeared at the Auditorium heading "L. J. Corcoran of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, W. W. Smith, president of the Armory, auditorium, and other rioters," and broke up a peaceful meeting of farmers, thereby insulting 60,000 farmers of North Dakota.

Anderson also alleges a personal assault on him by Chief Bingham. On motion of Police Commissioner Jordan, the case was referred to the city commission and the city attorney were appointed to investigate and report.

STEEL TRADE GAINING FAST

Earnings for 1913 Show Growth Despite Quarter Deficit.

First Appropriation Made Since Close of 1910.

New York, Jan. 28.—A deficit of slightly more than 4 million dollars after payment of fixed charges and dividends is disclosed in the statement of the United States Steel corporation for the last quarter of 1913. That the corporation more than earned its charges in the course of the year was shown in the surplus reported for the three previous quarters, amounting to $32,337,743.

Earnings for the quarter aggregated $25,509,568, with total earnings of $28,036,340 and net income of $17,563,625. These returns, while somewhat under forecasts, compare with $40,333,531 earnings, $38,450,400 total earnings and $29,422,186 net income in the preceding quarter. In the final quarter of 1913 earnings amounted to $27,725,312, total earnings to $35,185,557 and net income to $25,764,326.

Below 1912 Earnings. Earnings of the year 1913 aggregated $117,118,400 with total earnings of $137,133,368. In 1912 earnings were $117,926,492; in 1911, $112,343,161, and in 1910, $111,054,754.

Officials of the company say that business has increased in marked degree since the beginning of the year, and January's operations are expected to show decided improvement over the last two months of 1913.

After meeting all charges, thereby reducing the net balance to $30,539,215, the directors appropriated from the surplus the sum of $15,000,000 for expenditures made and to be made, leaving a balance forward of $15,539,215 as against $2,640,130 at the expiration of 1912.

First Order Since 1910. The appropriation order is the first of its kind since the final quarter of 1910, when $4,000,000 was set aside for additional property, new plants, etc., and advanced mining royalties in connection with the Hill ore lands, the lease of which has since been cancelled.

Regular quarterly dividends of 1 1/2 per cent on the preferred and 1 1/4 per cent on the common shares were declared. J. P. Morgan presided at the meeting in the absence of Chairman Elbert H. Gary. The vacancy in the board created by the recent resignation of Charles Steele of the Morgan banking house was not filled.

KELLY GUILTY OF POSTOFFICE ENTRY

Man Charged With Attempted Larceny at Cook Convicted.

Frank Kelly, charged with breaking into the postoffice at Cook on May 22, 1912, was found guilty by a Federal court jury early last evening, a sealed verdict having been returned about 7 o'clock.

Kelly was indicted by the grand jury on Jan. 14, 1913, charged with breaking into the postoffice at Cook for the purpose of committing larceny. The indictment was secret and Kelly, who was not in custody at the time, was arrested only a short time ago. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Morris last week.

The prisoner will not be sentenced for a day or two, according to the court. The maximum penalty is five years in the government penitentiary. Robert S. Oakley, assistant United States attorney, conducted the prosecution for the government, while Thomas McKeon represented the defendant.

The first of the series of district Sunday school conventions, which are being held in Duluth this week, took place yesterday afternoon and evening at St. Paul's Episcopal church. LIFER'S SENTENCE CUT TO THIRTY YEARS

Minnesota Farmer, Who Killed Another Soil Tiller, Is Favored.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 28.—The state pardon board late Tuesday afternoon commuted the life sentence of Gustav Metzger, sentenced in May, 1888, for the murder of Fritz Kuehne, to thirty years in state prison. It is probable he will be paroled at the next meeting of the board. The two men were farm-ers and got into an argument over a threshing bill when Metzger killed the other. Metzger has a wife and five children and his wife is said to be in precarious health. He wanted to be with her before she dies, and he gave this as one of his reasons for wishing a commutation of sentence.

St. Louis County Case.

Harry Towers, now on parole, advised the board of pardons that he wished to leave the state and his sentence of twenty-five years, which last year was commuted to twelve years, was reduced to ten years.

He was sent to the penitentiary from Crow Wing county for manslaughter. On condition that he return to his home in Canada, Gust Leino was granted a pardon. He was sentenced from St. Louis county to the state reformatory in 1910 for a battery offense. The board of parole recommended clemency.

Nick Methoff, sentenced to the reformatory in 1911 for a statutory crime, was granted a pardon on the recommendation of the trial judge and prosecuting attorney.

Two and a half years were cut from the sentence of Jovo Popov, sentenced to the reformatory from Dakota county in 1912. He was convicted of a statutory charge.

A conditional pardon was granted Arthur Kenyon, sentenced from Beltrami county in September, 1912, for grand larceny in the second degree.

Frederick E. Reusswig will have his sentence reduced thirteen months. He was convicted of knowingly auditing and consenting to the payment of a false claim, and was sentenced from Itasca county in January, 1913. Clemency was recommended by the trial judge and prosecuting attorney.

Hamlin, at present assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of customs, will take charge of the financial end of the department when John Skilton Williams, the incumbent, takes the oath of office as comptroller of the currency. Mr. Williams, who is comptroller in ex-officio a member of the Federal reserve board, will take the oath Feb. 2.

As assistant in charge of the official bureau, Mr. Hamlin will be acting secretary and will act in that capacity until Secretary McAdoo returns to Washington late in February.

FORMER DULUTH STUDENT HEROINE OF MICHIGAN TOWN

Miss Alice Goulette, who was a student at the normal school here taking the two-year course a few years ago, was the heroine of a recent fire which wiped out one whole block of the town of Trout Creek, Mich., 170 miles from Duluth, on the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad.

Miss Goulette is a school teacher in charge of the school there and she saw the fire as she was retiring for the night. She raised the blind in her room, looking out into the night, and saw the flames coming from the building. Putting on her shoes and kimono she ran out and aroused all the people in the hotel and the adjacent buildings. The report states that no doubt Miss Goulette saved many lives, as several were forced to flee in their night clothes to the neighboring houses.

Miss Goulette pulled her trunk out of the burning building and along the street to the depot, where she dressed. During the night she froze one of her feet.

Miss Goulette is looked upon as a heroine in the little town, and if the citizens have their way she will be awarded a Carnegie medal.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Be Temperate in the Matter of Eating.

"Food drunkenness," so it is said by a prominent authority, "is the greatest danger in the world. People eat more than they require. They take so much food that they are gorged. Air and water are the greatest life-giving things in nature. They are all we need. The time will come when we will have to further use for our stomachs." While I agree perfectly with the part of the above statement which declares that people eat more than they require, I am not so sure that the time will ever arrive when we can dispense with our stomachs. I am also in accord with the physician who maintains that it is safer to overeat than to eat too little. Surely this is demonstrated easily. If we do not eat enough it is not long before our bodies give evidence that they are not properly nourished. If we do not eat an amount of food

SOME IMPRESSIONS OF HELEN KELLER

Miss Keller and the Monkey—Audiences Strangely Affected by Blind Girl.

To the Editor of The Herald: In the spring of 1893 the writer had the pleasure of seeing Miss Helen Keller. The first time was at a reception, where he was introduced with many others. The second time was on a train between Baltimore and Washington.

Miss Keller, then a young girl, just becoming generally known, with Miss Sullivan and the superintendent of the Volta bureau, Mr. Holt, were en route to Washington. Our college baseball team had played the Naval academy at Annapolis and were bound for home, and the same train was to take them to Washington. The college mascot was a very cute little monkey with bows of buff and blue around its waist and all along its tail. The writer was in charge of his monkeyship. As he went through the car the monkey was on the crook of his arm. Suddenly the monkey hopped off and landed in Helen Keller's lap. Remember, Miss Keller could neither see nor hear, and it startled her slightly to have a monkey land in her lap.

Miss Sullivan, after being assured that the monkey would not bite, was quite glad to permit the monkey to land in Helen Keller's lap. Miss Keller and Miss Sullivan that lasted until Washington.

Helen Keller's appearance on the lecture platform as elsewhere impresses one with her sweet innocence and the fact that she is in touch with nothing that is not pure and good. Theaters full of people are so affected that they weep. They cannot be so sorry for Miss Keller for she is worlds above most of them in every way. It must be that they are sorry for themselves.

Years ago, a young girl, who afterwards married H. L. Stafford of Duluth, was so impressed upon meeting Miss Keller, the two being of about an age, that she has been unable to forget Mrs. Stafford is now dead and the poem is printed by permission of her husband.

JAY COOKE HOWARD.

The poem follows: "Helen of Troy was fair of face, Lovelier never was before. Were it not merely outward grace Divine she had been!"

"Why, sweetest child, her name on thee The fate let fall, I wonder, And as I ask thee comes to me A gentle thought and tender."

"Twas hers to charm earthly sense And cause mankind to rue it, This the spell of innocence While we are nobler for it."

"To see the bright and winsome smile Doth all evils thoughts affright; Thy sunny heart can naught defile, 'Thou'rt clad in God's pure light."

"Oh, ever in the coming years Be sweet content still thine; Thou shalt be glad of all thy tears From this restless heart of mine." March, 1893.

OUR BIRD FRIENDS

Some insects increase in size 10,000 times in thirty days, (a 10-pound baby, at the same rate, at maturity would weigh 80,000 pounds.)

The hop aphid, if left unchecked to the twelfth generation, would have multiplied to the inconceivable number of 1,000,000,000,000,000,000, which, Forbush says, if marshalled in line ten to the inch would extend to the farthest fixed star that has been brought into view—so remote that light from the head of the procession, traveling at the rate of 184,000 miles per second, would require 2,500 years to reach the earth.

What is the balance?

Prof. Forbush reports finding 5,500 eggs of the aphid in the crop of a single chickadee. This number represents what the bird had gathered for a single breakfast.

It will pay you big to think a lot before killing a single bird.

ASKS TO BE SHOWN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In The Herald for Tuesday, Jan. 27, in the report of the proceedings at the council meeting, at which action was taken revising the water rates, J. T. Armstrong is quoted as replying to A. A. Fider as follows:

"Which is better, for a man to buy water on the old schedule on First street, and support his wife and family, or for a washwoman to buy water and support her husband and family?"

It was right there that friend Fider missed a golden opportunity to put one over in favor of revised rates by handing out something like this:

"Evidently it is highly reprehensible for a man to live on the labor of one woman who is washing clothes on an old wash board in a kitchen. Such would be a case for the humane society and the police court, but to live upon the labor of twenty, thirty or more women who wash clothes by steam machinery is eminently respectable and outlives the gentleman to special privileges in water rates."

What is the difference anyway in the two cases, Mr. Editor?

Would some one please try to explain? Yours truly,

WILLIAM E. TOWNE.

Duluth, Jan. 27.

SPENDING DOLLARS TO SAVE PENNIES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I, as a small consumer of water, cannot see where our friend Mr. Merritt has done me any great favor. Those new rates that he has figured out on his narrow-minded, 2 times 2 is 4 basis affect me so little that I won't notice it, while they affect the large consumers to such an extent that it will better pay every one of them to construct a private water plant for themselves, thus cutting out one of the main revenues of the department. If Mr. Merritt's new rate saves me a few pennies on my water bill in the summer time when I run over minimum of 50 cents I am kind of worried that these pennies will be represented in dollars on my taxes, because they will have to get the money from somewhere when our large consumers discontinue. And we all can readily see that they cannot afford to pay such a price for water. Do not know but I kind of think our friend Mr. Merritt has got something personal against some of our large consumers, and he is trying to get back at them in this way, but should we poor fellows be made to suffer for this? I think when it comes right down to brass tacks, and Mr. Merritt makes a closer survey of his '99 per cent, which he claims to benefit that his percentage will be grossly cut. Because a small consumer is not always a small thinker, or a man with small reasoning power. I admire our mayor, Mr. Prince, and our finance commissioner, Mr. Voss, for their broad-minded stand on this subject, and I think I am avoiding the sentiment of the majority of Duluthians when I say that the old, tried and tested water rates shall be restored, if not sooner, I know they will be after the next municipal election. Would like to hear from some other small consumer, and if he don't agree with me, I would like to know why. Thanking you for valuable space, sincerely,

"ONE OF MERRITT'S 30 PER CENTS."

UNDER HIS SKIN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

When the person who signs himself "W. S. Telford" questions City Attorney Clapp's knowledge of the tango, he interests me not.

When he praises Mr. Clapp's abilities as a lawyer, I am indifferent.

But when this Telford person casts aspersions on the heel and toe polka and the quadrille, by the great wild goose of Canada he goes too far.

I come from Lenox and Addison county, province of Ontario, and in my younger days I was the best quadriller in all the county. I knew seventeen more figures than any other single dancer in the county. I knew all the other dancers knew and seventeen besides, and when this man Telford has the blatant indecency to flout the tango in my face and make fun of the quadrille, he goes too far. I repeat, he goes too far.

He says that our city attorney learned the quadrille in Pine City, and sneers at Pine City. I have looked up Mr. Telford's record and he comes from Vermont, where the only dance they have is called the Goat Scramble. They scramble from rock to rock down there, just like our Woodland friends learned to do in their early days in Scotland. What does a Goat Scrambler know about the tango, and what right has he to correct even a backwoodsman from Pine City? Your old friend,

TALK ZION MOVEMENT

Two Rabbis Address Adas Israel Synagogue, Urging Union of Jews.

Would Have City of Jerusalem Re-established and Palestine Developed.

Urging the international union of Jews for the establishment of Jerusalem as the mecca of the race, Rabbi Mayer Berlin of Germany and Rabbi H. S. Davidowitz of Minneapolis addressed a large gathering at the Adas Israel synagogue, Third avenue east and Third street, last evening, on the Zionist movement throughout the world.

Rabbi Berlin came to this country last November to attend the international convention of Zionists, and following the meetings held at Chicago, started on a tour of the United States here in the interest of the Mizrahi Association of Zionists, the largest in Germany, which is composed solely of orthodox Jews. He is now aiming to organize similar societies in this country and to then have the societies of the two nations amalgamate.

Rabbi Berlin spoke on "The Zionist Movement" and addressed his audience in German.

"The Zionist movement," he said, "is at the present day the only movement which can successfully give expression to the various strata of Jewish thought and tendencies. Its purpose is to modernize Palestine to make it the Mecca for the Jewish race. We do not want Palestine to be for merchants as much as for farmers. We want the resources developed, industries started, universities and colleges to be erected. This will have to be done before it can be made the spiritual center of the race. The younger element has fallen in line nobly, but the orthodox and more conservative Jews have not shown the interest they should."

Rabbi Davidowitz spoke in Jewish on "The Return to Palestine," declaring that Jerusalem would soon become the international center of the Jewish race.

"Seeing this function as it must be," he said, "it is of prime importance that both the body and mind be sound or it will have evil effects. Palestine will be to the Jewish race what the heart is to the limbs, when the Zionist movement is realized. In an organism, if one part be neglected, that part will become useless, so if anything is to be gained, it will be through universal action."

Rabbi Berlin will leave this afternoon for Winnipeg, where he will deliver a similar lecture. He expects to return to the United States within a few days. The speaker will be followed by Rabbi Davidowitz left this morning for Minneapolis. During their

DULUTHIANS LIVING LONGER HEALTH STATISTICS SHOW

Average Age at Which Death Occurs Jumps Six Years.

Live in Duluth and live longer. The mean duration of life in Duluth is steadily increasing, according to health department statistics prepared by Secretary Ruben Johnson for his annual report.

In four years the average age at which death occurred has jumped six years.

In 1910 the average between the ages of 5 years to 100 years was 44.867 years; in 1911 it was 44.868 years; in 1912 it was 45.881 years, and in 1913 it was 50.816 years.

The mean duration of the life of infants from the birth shows a pleasing gain. In 1910 the average age at which death occurred was 1.135 years; in 1911 it was 1.144 years; in 1912 it was 1.174 years, and in 1913 it was 1.210 years.

The secretary charges the high cost of living with the increased per capita expense of caring for patients at the city contagious hospital. In 1913 this was $2.54, as compared with $2.36 in 1912, an increase of 19 cents per day. For provisions alone the cost per meal system of patients at the contagious hospital was $1.25, as compared with $1.12 in 1912, an increase of 11 cents per day.

Changes in Department. The secretary states that the income of the new form of government has witnessed a decided change in the administration of the health department, due largely to the increased efficiency of the employees and the greater interest which they are displaying in their work. He comments on the fact that men formerly given appointments to pay political debts, with the result that they were more efficient in handling the work has been improved and that the inauguration of civil service has helped to improve the standard of the employees. His conclusion is that more has been accomplished, with less red tape and quicker results, in the last year than in the preceding years during which he has been connected with the department.

The report states that while many persons keep their back yards clean, a glance at the alley will disclose where they placed the cleanings, which transposition is of little or no benefit to the general health of the community. He believes that an arrangement could be worked out whereby low lots could be filled during the winter months, providing the owner of the property would agree to be responsible for the proper covering of refuse.

Secretary Johnson estimates that the approximate cost of fumigating a five-room house is $1.25; that the approximate cost of testing a sample of milk for butterfat is 6 cents; that the approximate cost of testing a cow for tuberculosis is 84 cents; that the approximate cost of testing a house for contagious disease and visiting it after quarantine is 70 cents; that the approximate cost of the average sanitary inspection is 25 cents, and that it costs 12 cents a yard to burn garbage and refuse at the incinerator, a decrease of 2 cents a yard over the cost the preceding year.

Justice Clark's theme was "government by judges." In warning his brother judges against overstepping

Smith & Smith's drug store, 101 West Superior street, on Jan. 13 last. Porter did not take the stand in his own defense. His attorney admitted that he had taken the pens in question and attempted to justify the act by offering evidence that the man was so drunk when he committed the larceny that he did not know what he was doing.

Mason M. Forbes, assistant county attorney, took up four minutes for his address to the jury. Noll E. Beaton, defendant's attorney, about six minutes and the court about the same length of time in charging the jury.

Porter will probably be sent to the state penitentiary, where he has served time before for a similar offense. The negro also has done time in Montana penitentiary at Deer Lodge.

A Plain Business Proposition

Can you afford to go on suffering from biliousness, sleeplessness, heart flutter and various other troubles so often brought on by coffee drinking, just because you like coffee?

Thousands have quit coffee and are using Postum, and to their joy find that the annoying coffee troubles have quickly disappeared. Not only that, but they find Postum a delightful beverage, with a rich flavor resembling that of Old Gov't Java.

Postum, unlike coffee, contains no caffeine nor other drug. Made only from clean hard wheat, with a small per cent of New Orleans molasses, it is a pure, wholesome food-drink which can be freely enjoyed with benefit by all the family.

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be boiled 15 to 20 minutes.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A scant teaspoonful to each cup of hot water; dissolves instantly.

The convenience of Instant Postum is apparent. But, when prepared according to directions both kinds are exactly the same. The cost per cup is about the same.

—Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.

If coffee don't agree, try POSTUM

LAKE SHORE AND BIG FOUR FACE STRIKE.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 28.—Refusal which has been made by the Lake Shore and Big Four railroads to grant the demands of 2,500 railroad telegraphers, telephone operators and station agents probably will result in a strike of these employees over 2,000 miles of road, officials of the Order of Railway Telegraphers here say. Strike ballots have been sent to members of the order from the office of Vice President J. A. Newman at St. Louis, and the vote is expected to be completed in two weeks.

TO EDUCATE FOREIGNERS

Co-operative Educational Committee of Commercial Club Takes Action.

"Make Good Americans Out of Immigrants." Is the Aim.

It is probable that every foreign laborer in Duluth will have an opportunity next year to learn the English language through the medium of an expert instructor. Other branches of learning may be included.

With this end in view a large body of Duluthians, representing the biggest manufacturing, mining, and railway interests of Duluth and the ranges voted unanimously last night to have the matter thoroughly studied and put before them for future action. This decision was reached after they had heard Dr. Peter Roberts of New York city, head of the International Y. M. C. A. department and reported to be the best authority in the country on the problem of the foreigner, speak on his subject, at a banquet at the Commercial club given under the auspices of the co-operative educational committee of the club.

Summary of Conditions.
Dr. Roberts, who has been in Duluth and the suburbs for several days for the purpose of studying the conditions of the foreign population here, gave a summary of his investigations. He spoke briefly and pointedly, and covered the practical sides of the question comprehensively.

The gist of his speech was this: There are now about 12,000 foreign born residents in Duluth, and the foreign population is increasing three times as fast as the native born population. The incoming immigrants are now from the southwestern part of Europe, including Austrians, Hungarians, Poles, Slavs, Italians, Greeks, Lithuanians and kindred races.

By consulting with the police department and the health department of Duluth, Dr. Roberts found that a large percentage of crime and disease was among the foreign population. These conditions, he said, could be remedied by instruction, as the causes of such conditions were from ignorance.

Dr. Roberts emphasized the fact that the American industries could not be operated without the help of the immigrant from southeastern Europe. He based his conclusions on statements made to him by some of the largest industrial capitalists in the country.

A Business Proposition.
The problem of making Americans out of these immigrants and making them efficient and patriotic, he said, was a business proposition, not a philanthropic or missionary question. He laid special stress on the fact that no attempt was being made through his instruction to change the religion of the immigrants. His work has been to make the men more efficient in their work and more patriotic to their new country. Work has progressed and he has assisted in both Catholic and Protestant communities.

In speaking of the future of the foreign population Dr. Roberts was extremely optimistic. He said the foreigners had the making of a great citizenship in them, and all that is needed is to bring out their best qualities.

The Real American.
"The real American has not yet come in the United States," continued the speaker. "The real American will come when all the races have mingled and become one. Then the American will be a greater man and the United States a more powerful nation than before."

In speaking of plans for work in Duluth, Dr. Roberts said that a man could be brought here for $3,000 a year and the work carried on successfully with the aid of the Y. M. C. A. Students could be recruited from boarding houses, camps, shops and wherever foreigners could be found.

After Dr. Roberts had finished his address several of those present asked questions and offered suggestions.

C. W. Andrews, general manager of the Zenith Furnace company, spoke of the great waste of time entailed in the use of men unable to speak English and said instructions such as Dr. Roberts recommended could be conducted with profit to employers of labor. The expenditure of $3,000 a year for such instruction when compared to the results is a mere bagatelle, he declared.

V. A. McGonagle, president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, gave Dr. Roberts' suggestions his heartiest approval and put forward a motion for definite action.

Levi J. Olcott, president of the Oliver Mining company, suggested a rising vote of thanks to Dr. Roberts and suggested the "Volvin building" be not overlooked when finances were needed.

AGREE TO MODIFY ANTHRACITE RULING

Government and "Trust" Lawyers Submit Plan to Supreme Court.

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—An agreement was reached in the United States court here yesterday by the government and the parties in interest, that certain anthracite coal contracts involved in the 65 per cent contract case, which the Federal supreme court decided were in violation of the anti-trust law in that they constituted a conspiracy to restrain interstate commerce, shall be excepted from the general decree handed down by the court as a result of the supreme court decision.

Counsel for the anthracite interests had made application that these contracts be excepted, and the government agreed that these contracts were not entered into as a part of the concerted scheme which the supreme court condemned.

MONTANA LAW DEFICIENT

Failure of Legislature to Act Hits Remarried Divorces.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 28.—Hundreds of marriages in Montana are rendered invalid by a decision announced yesterday by Judge Miller Smith of the district court in denying the application of Henry C. Cotter of Spokane for appointment of special administrator of the estate of Mamie Cruse Cotter, his former wife, daughter of Thomas Cruse, millionaire mining man of this city.

Judge Smith held that the marriage of Miss Cruse to Cotter was null and void because she had been divorced in New York in 1895, but failed because of a defect in the title of the repealing act. Since that time it had come to be so generally disregarded that few persons were aware that it was upon the statutes.

WANTS BROKER IN JAIL DURING TRIAL.

New York, Jan. 28.—A move to have John J. Meyers locked up in the Tombs during his trial in the Federal court on the charge of using the mails to defraud in promoting mining stock, has been made before United States Judge James L. Martin by Henry N. Arnold, a special assistant assigned by the United States attorney general to conduct the trial. The judge reserved decision on Mr. Arnold's motion, which was aimed at having Meyers' $12,500 bail bond cancelled.

Meyers and Archie L. Wisner, accused with him and also on trial, operated the brokerage firm of A. L. Wisner & Co., controlling capital stock of more than $25,000,000 in various companies. A year ago the jury at their

HOW I MADE MY HAIR GROW

Woman With Marvelously Beautiful Hair Gives Simple Home Prescription Which She Used With Most Remarkable Results.

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advertised hair preparations and various remedies, but they all failed. Many of them made my hair greasy so it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I think that many of the things I tried were positively injurious and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long life of failures, I finally found a simple prescription which I can unhesitatingly state is beyond doubt the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen. Many of my friends have also used it, and obtained wonderful effects therefrom. It not only is a powerful stimulant to the growth of the hair and for restoring gray hair to its natural color, but it is equally good for removing dandruff, giving the hair life and brilliancy, etc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp cool and in good condition. It also makes the hair easier to comb and arrange in nice form. I have a friend who used it two months and during that time it has not only stopped falling, but it has grown, and it practically restored all the hair of natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation at the drug store. The prescription is as follows:

1/2 oz. Menthol Crystals, 1/4 oz. Lavender Compound, 2 oz. If you like it perfumed add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This, however, is not necessary. Apply night and morning; rub thoroughly into the scalp.

The advertising tells you of the rug woven in the Orient, the shoes made at your door, the gowns designed in Paris, the furs caught in Alaska.

MICHIGAN FEDERATION OF LABOR SEEKS WAY TO AD COPPER MEN

Meets at Lansing; Will Not Talk of General Strike.

Tanner Plays Ferris, Grand Jury and Citizens' Alliance.

Gompers to Explain A. F. of L. Policy—Shaw Resents Probe.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The house committee considering plans for an investigation of the Michigan and Colorado strikes decided today that the investigators shall leave the capital Monday.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 29.—Labor leaders of Michigan, holding official positions in almost every vocation affiliated with the Michigan State Federation of Labor, united their forces in a conference at the state capital today to decide upon a plan for raising funds to assist the striking copper miners of the Calumet region, in continuing the industrial war which has been waged since last July.

Executive officials of the state federation authorized a statement denying a rumor that the conference might consider the advisability of recommending a state-wide strike. It was said practically all of the delegates were opposed to such action, and it was not expected that any delegate would bring the matter up even for informal discussion.

Hear Labor Leaders.
Although Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Charles H. McPherson, president of the Western Federation of Miners, were not able to attend the conference, several labor officials of national prominence were expected to deliver addresses. Among them were John H. Walker, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor; Charles H. Tanner, auditor of the Western Federation of Miners, who was deported from the Copper country with Mayor John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; and Dan Sullivan, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

TWO RURAL CREDIT BILLS INTRODUCED

Would Establish Federal Bureau of Farm Loan Banks.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Administration rural credit bills were introduced simultaneously in the senate and house today by Senator Fletcher of Florida and Representative Moss of Indiana, members of the committee President Wilson sent abroad last summer to study the foreign systems. The bills were for long term farm loans. Bills for short term loans will be introduced later. The introduction was a sequel to yesterday's conference at the White House.

The measure would establish in the treasury department a bureau of farm loan banks under the direction of a commissioner, and make provision for the formation of such banks in any state, under federal charter and Federal inspection.

DEMAND $41,800,000 WITHIN FIVE DAYS

Wabash Road Bondholders Seek for Foreclosure Decree.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 29.—A conference between the receivers and bondholders of the Wabash railroad was begun in the chambers of the United States circuit court here today, and was looked upon by local financiers as the "beginning of the end" of the road's receivership.

Lawrence Greer and George Murray, representing the Equitable Trust company of New York City, the largest bondholders of the railroad—submitted to Federal Judge Adams a form of foreclosure decree which, if granted, will order the sale of the Wabash properties at auction unless the $41,800,000 mortgage against the road held by the Equitable company is paid within five days.

Conference Not Public.
The conference was not public and the plans for reorganizing the railroad, which has been in the hands of receivers since December, 1911, have not been announced.

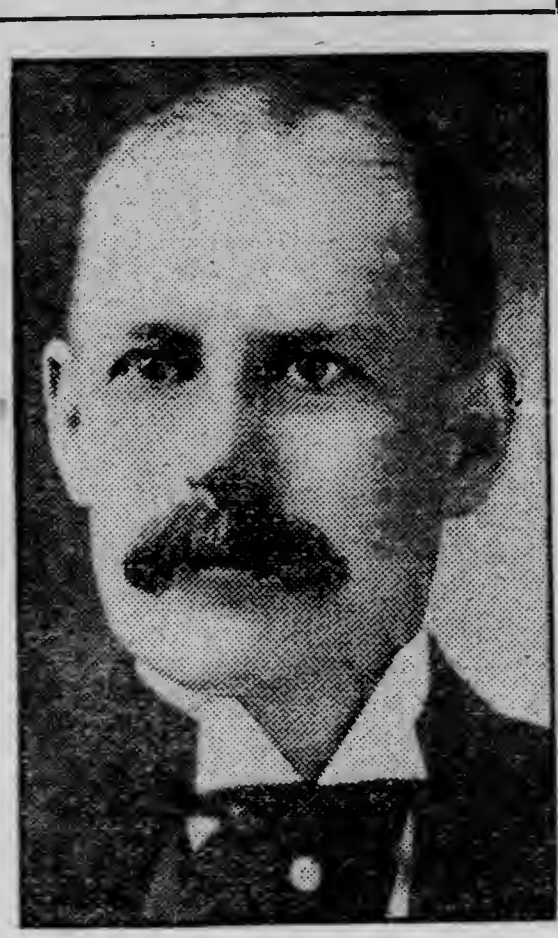

The Wabash was put into the hands of receivers on complaint of the Westinghouse Airbrake company, which had a claim of $18,000 against the road. Later the Equitable company filed suit, asking a foreclosure.

SAYS MEN NEGLECT SONS TO GET RICH

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 29.—"For all the money spent to improve our wheat, our cattle and our business industries, hardly a dollar is laid aside to assist the boy who has been handicapped by want of proper parental care," said Governor George H. Hodges of Kansas, addressing today's session of the annual convention of the Southwestern Lumbermen's association on the topic "Father and Son." Governor Hodges made a plea for a closer relationship between parent and child.

"Our country is money-mad," he said. "In our efforts to accumulate wealth we neglect the duties we owe our future citizens, the small boys."

GOETHALS NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR OF CANAL ZONE

Will Accept Unconditionally, Secretary Garrison Says.

Salary May Be Made $15,000 While He Holds Place.

Washington, Jan. 29.—President Wilson sent to the senate today the nomination of Col. George W. Goethals to be governor of the Panama canal zone after April 1.

As chairman of the Isthmian canal commission, Col. Goethals now is paid $15,000 a year. The Panama canal act fixes the salary of the governor at $10,000. Representative Britten today introduced a bill to increase the law to make the salary of the governor $15,000 so long as Col. Goethals holds the office.

Secretary Garrison announced today that Col. George W. Goethals had signified his intention of accepting the governorship of the Panama canal zone, to be proffered him by President Wilson. Mr. Garrison intimated that Col. Goethals' acceptance was unqualified.

"I am not able to give out the terms of Col. Goethals' acceptance at the present time," said Secretary Garrison, "but it was whole and complete. I probably shall be able later to make an interesting statement."

WHAT WILL SAVING BE?

How State Expenses May Be Reduced By Efficiency Commission.

Forestry Department Cited as One Example of the Possibilities.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—How much will the efficiency commission save per annum? Well, that is getting a little ahead of the story. The efficiency commission has not yet prepared any report and when does there still will be the legislature.

However—
In the last session of the legislature the committee on public accounts prepared a series of bills by which it was computed the state could save $185,000 a year in administrative expense. Six thousand dollars a day, of course, that isn't much but it would help some. The committee on public accounts did not pretend to cover the field. That was their calculation from a job here and there. A thorough reorganization should accomplish a good deal more.

But the amount saved by not spending it is only one side of economy. The forestry department.

Take as a concrete example the forestry department. In 1910 the forestry department consisted largely of a brave old gentleman in the state capital, a stenographer and an indefinite army of fire fighters. The organization beyond that was very slight. The department was spending $8,400 a year for regular organization and was allowed $10,000 more for emergency.

That was a very hard season. It was in October that year the Baudette fire swept the border. Town supervisors were calling out crews all through the place of the Chinese parliament, recently dissolved by President Yuan Shi Kai. That is apart from the bills which rolled in upon the legislature the next winter came to more than $100,000. That is apart from the emergency.

Count Witte said that the means for defending the country must be collected through the cultivation of a national weakness. During the discussion Count Witte exclaimed: "Help correct the mistakes which are leading Russia to her ruin."

He added that if he had the right of access, he would beg the emperor, without waiting for the decision of the council or the duma, to issue a ukase in the interest of the health of the people, limiting the revenues of the spirit monopoly and devoting the surplus to fighting the vice and drunkenness.

PLEADS WITH RUSSIA TO STOP DRUNKENNESS

COUNT SERGIUS WITTE.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 29.—The council of the empire was startled by a dramatic appeal yesterday from Count Sergius Witte, the former premier, to stop the consumption of spirits, which he declared was leading Russia to ruin.

The council of the empire recently was occupied with the discussion of a bill aimed at the suppression of the spirit monopoly which he created. His aim, he said, was to suppress drunkenness instead of doing this, they have built an enormous cash reserve for the country's defense and have only spent a small amount on national education.

Count Witte said that the means for defending the country must be collected through the cultivation of a national weakness. During the discussion Count Witte exclaimed: "Help correct the mistakes which are leading Russia to her ruin."

He added that if he had the right of access, he would beg the emperor, without waiting for the decision of the council or the duma, to issue a ukase in the interest of the health of the people, limiting the revenues of the spirit monopoly and devoting the surplus to fighting the vice and drunkenness.

STEAMER GOES BACK TO PORT FOR REPAIRS.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Jan. 29.—The bursting of a low pressure cylinder on board the Scandinavian-American liner United States, while on her voyage to New York today, forced the captain to turn back to Copenhagen for repairs. The vessel left here Jan. 26, and has 234 passengers on board. She broke down 200 miles to the west of Scotland. The passengers are to be transferred to another steamer, but it is not known when they will proceed to New York.

Minnesotans Take Part in Meeting at Madison, Wis.

Northern Wisconsin Methods Are Detailed at Length.

Peake of Fond du Lac, Wis.; Secretary G. L. Perkins of Clinton, Iowa, and Editor L. J. Boughner of Minneapolis, Minn.

Editor Nye, describing the Wittenberg way, said his town's success was due to corn, grain and vegetable contests, ending up with a minstrel show, free to all, which drew hundreds of farmers for miles around. Institutes and lectures also helped.

MERCURY HAS BAD TUMBLE

Goes Down From 40 to 50 Degrees in the Southwest.

North Dakota Gets Blizzard and Sub-Zero Temperature.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 29.—A drop of 40 to 50 degrees below yesterday's maximum temperatures was shown throughout Western Missouri, Kansas and Northern Oklahoma today. A 25-degree drop was registered in Northern Texas. A sharp north wind, blowing in some regions as high as 35 miles an hour, accompanied the lower temperatures.

The lowest temperature in the four states reporting it: the local United States weather bureau was 16 degrees above zero at Concordia, Kan. It was 20 degrees here, 18 at St. Joseph, Mo., and 30 at Oklahoma City.

Blizzard in North Dakota.
Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—A severe blizzard raged throughout the central, western and northern parts of North Dakota all last night, causing great suffering to livestock. Thermometers here showed a drop of 40 degrees in the last twenty-four hours, registering this morning 14 below zero, the coldest of the winter.

Fall 49 Degrees.
Omaha, Neb., Jan. 29.—The mercury at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 8 degrees above zero, a fall of 49 degrees since 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A high northwest wind was blowing.

Gets Into Chicago.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR CULLOM

Washington, Jan. 29.—After a brief funeral service at his home here, the body of former Senator Shelby M. Cullom was started for Springfield, Ill., on a train leaving at 11:45 a. m. After funeral services, during which his body will lie in the Illinois state house, he will be buried there.

Dr. Charles Wood, a Presbyterian clergyman and a close friend of the former senator, was telling today how Mr. Cullom had changed his belief in unity after writing his memoirs. The former senator concluded that work with an expression of doubt that he had found anything in his reading of the Scriptures to warrant belief in a hereafter.

"In the last few months his feelings changed completely," said Dr. Wood. "He told me he believed in God and Christ and immortality, and that he wanted to make at the first opportunity a statement of my simple creed, three lines that he had written in his recollections, to correct the doubt expressed on a dark day when the light was dim."

LONDON FINANCIERS WOULD FORCE ACTION BY U. S. IN MEXICO

Wilson's Policy Is Criticized By Pall Mall Gazette.

Washington May Soon Lift Embargo on Arms to Rebels.

Villa Denies He Has Any Personal Ambitions.

London, Jan. 29.—The relations of the United States with Great Britain in regard to the Panama canal tolls; the controversy between Washington and Tokyo over the California land ownership legislation; and President Wilson's policy toward Mexico are the subjects of lengthy dispatches today from British newspaper correspondents in Washington, but there is a singular lack of editorial comment on these questions.

The Pall Mall Gazette is the only newspaper to mention Mexico editorially. It says: "President Wilson has laid himself open to a charge of having chalked up 'No Huerta' and then run away. It is a position that becomes worse for the prestige of the Washington government every day on which nothing happens."

Financiers Impatient.
Financiers here interested in Mexico are becoming impatient at the lack of action shown by President Wilson. A meeting of the Mexican section of the London Chamber of Commerce is to be called shortly to discuss the replies to a circular recently sent out to its members asking them for their views "as to whether it would be advisable for Great Britain to join with France and Germany in asking President Wilson to take some steps to adjust the financial position of Mexico."

The summons sent to Sir Lionel Carter, British minister in Mexico, to come to London for a conference has caused surprise here, as it was announced on Jan. 3 that this would be the first step toward his transfer to Brazil. The story is that for he was appointed to Mexico expire in February. Thomas B. Hooley, an first secretary of legation in Mexico, will naturally act as charge d'affaires until the successor of Sir Lionel Carter is definitely appointed, which will occur after his transfer to Rio de Janeiro.

Charles Murray Marling, new counselor at embassy at Constantinople, is still the only diplomat in view for the appointment, although it is understood that he is disinclined to go to Mexico.

SAYS MILLIONAIRE IS HELD FOR RANSOM

Anonymous Writer Would Explain Clark's Disappearance.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 29.—According to an anonymous letter received by a morning paper, Francis Lewis Clark, the Spokane millionaire, is being held for ransom of $75,000 by "blackmailers" in or near this city. Clark disappeared from Santa Barbara Jan. 17 after seeking his wife off on a train. Clark thought to have committed suicide by throwing himself into the ocean.

Handwriting experts who examined the anonymous letter today asserted that part of the letter was written by a woman and part by a man.

The postal authorities were asked to assist in tracing the sender of the message. Mrs. Clark, who is in Paso Robles, is awaiting anxiously a reply to her request for further information regarding the alleged kidnapping.

HODS TRUST BILL HEARING

House Judiciary Committee Begins Its Public Work.

Representative Stanley Would Prohibit All Trade Restraint.

Washington, Jan. 29.—First public hearings on the new trust bills were begun today before the house judiciary committee. The bill defining restraint of trade prohibited by the Sherman law was taken up.

Representative Stanley, who has introduced a bill making every restraint of trade whether "reasonable or unreasonable," a violation of law, made a long argument for clearing up the "twilight zone." He contended that prior to the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases the supreme court had repeatedly held that it was outside of its province to determine whether a restraint was "due or undue, reasonable or unreasonable," and declared that in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases the "reasonable and unreasonable" feature of the decisions was merely incidental.

The only act that can be effective," said Mr. Stanley, "is an absolute prohibition of all restraints of trade."
